The proposal that the only representative period to be used for existing producers be prior to the effective date of the plan means that producers entering the market thereafter can have no history of production in the same period as other producers and thus cannot develop bases. Proponents' testimony at the hearing recognises the desirability of provisions whereby producers entering the market after adoption of the plan should have opportunity to establish bases on the market determined from their demonstrated ability to supply the market, as contained in their proposals. When, however, the question arose that this might possibly be accomplished only through some modification of their proposals with respect to producers presently supplying the market, the proponents insisted that bases of existing producers remain frozen at the preexisting level. They feared that if existing producers had opportunity to increase their production history, a new production race might result even though each such producer could under the statute maintain his prior history without producing milk at the excess price.

It appears that the only provisions that can be made for producers without base history prior to institution of the plan without also changing provisions for existing producer base contrary to the expressed wishes of the proponents is through the prior assignment of increased sales and forfeited bases. The Act provides that "any increase in class one base resulting from enlarged or increased consumption and any class one base forfeited or surrendered shall first be made available to new producers * * *". A reasonable conclusion is that a new producer is one without a history of production in a representative period provided in the order for which deliveries of producers generally are used in computation of bases. If such most recent period is one prior to adoption of the plan, producers entering the market subsequently will remain new producers so long as the plan is in effect. Under such a provision, such producers will not have any bases representing an assigned share of Class I utilization of the market so long as the plan is in operation.

Under this system the average price realized by new producers (and likewise by existing producers for milk for which "hardship adjustments" may apply) will depend each month entirely upon (1) the extent to which Class I sales increase and (2) the volumes of milk delivered by such producers. Unless Class I sales increases are fairly substantial, there will be opportunity for relatively few new producers to have returns equal to those they might expect under the committee proposal; on the other hand, substantial Class I sales increases might provide opportunity for more new producers to receive returns equal to or greater than under the committee proposal. The relative returns to new producers will be influenced to a much greater degree by the volume of deliveries of all new producers as well as by the extent of Class I sales increase, than would have been the case under the committee proposal. It is of course impossible to predict the course of either of these variables.

A comparison of Class I sales each month with those of the corresponding month of 1966 will provide a reliable means of prompt identification of increased Class I sales which may be assigned to new producers and hardship adjustment that month. Daily average sales in the calendar year 1966 are used in computing the Class I bases of existing producers. A month-to-month comparison will, however, reflect more accurately increases in Class I sales without distortion through the normal seasonal pattern of sales.

In view of the fact that Class I bases will not be computed for producer-handlers, the 1966 sales used in this comparison will include only those of producer-handlers for whom a Class I base as a producer has been computed and is in effect. The 1966 Class I sales of any plants which later become pool plants will also be included since Class I bases will be computed for those producers now delivering milk to such plants on the basis of past deliveries to such plants.

The increased sales, if any, determined from this comparison should be converted to a total quantity of milk for which the new producers involved may be paid the same price as other producers are paid for their base milk. This is a price to which location adjustments set forth in the order may be applied. Because 1966 daily average sales were increased by 20 percent in determining Class I bases of existing producers, any amount by which the current month sales exceed those of the same month of 1966 should be increased by the same factor. Forfeiture or surrender of Class I base may be measured on a monthly basis by comparison of the total of Class I bases converted to a monthly total with the actual deliveries of base milk by producers with Class I bases.

The total of the quantities computed for increased sales and bases forfeited or surrendered represents base milk (monthly quantity) for which new producers (and hardship adjustment) may be paid at the same base price as existing producers are paid. This quantity should be prorated among new producers and producers receiving hardship adjustments on the basis of the monthly deliveries of new producers, and deliveries in excess of base milk which are within the adjustment provided for hardship cases.

Any sales not assignable to new producers under these provisions will serve to increase the base milk price up to, but not to exceed, the Class I price. Any values in addition will accrue to the excess milk price. Such provisions are now in the order under the present base plan and will appropriately distribute the values involved.

3. Incorporation of producer-handlers in the Class I base plan. Producer-handlers should not have Class I bases computed for them. No change should be made in the provisions applicable to producer-handlers on the basis of this record, other than to provide means for computation of Class I base in the event a producer-handler subsequently becomes a producer, and forfeiture of Class I base in the event a producer subsequently becomes a producer-handler.

Producer-handlers, who process and distribute in the marketing area milk of their own production, are exempt from payment provisions of the order. As a condition for such exemption, control of production, processing and distribution facilities, and limitation of sources of milk not of own production are required to maintain producer-handler status for those whose disposition exceeds 110 pounds daily average.

It was proposed that the producer-handler exemption be deleted for all such persons with daily average disposition of more than 110 pounds daily, but that persons now holding producer-handler designation be given preferential treatment in the computation of Class I bases. The proposal would result in the Class I base of each producer-handler equaling his 1965 daily average Class I disposition of milk of his own production. As a group, the Class I bases of producer-handlers under this proposal would approximate 85 percent of their history of production as compared with approximately 53 percent for producers.

Counsel for an association of Puget Sound producer-handlers moved to exclude from the hearing any consideration that would relate to a change in the status of producer-handlers under the order. It was contended that section 104 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 (Public Law 89–321) precluded any such change. Section 104 states that "The legal status of producer-handlers of milk under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, shall be the same subsequent to the adoption of the amendments made by this title as it was prior thereto." Section 104 did not purport to change the previous law but merely reaffirmed it. The language is specifically directed to reaffirming legal status under the statute, rather than under the provisions of any order that has been issued under authority of the statute. The Congress rejected an amendment which would have specifically denied authority for regulation of producer-handlers. Thus, producer-handlers who were potentially subject to regulation under the statute prior to the 1965 amendment remain potentially subject to regulation thereafter. The motion to exclude from the hearing consideration of regulation of producer-handlers is therefore denied.

Producer-handlers have each year since 1962 distributed 5 percent or more of the total Class I sales within the Puget Sound marketing area. In 1962 producer-handler disposition was 5 percent of the total; this percentage increased each year through 1965 when it was 7.55 percent. For the first 6 months of 1966 producer-handlers distributed 7.02 percent of all Class I milk disposed of in the marketing area.

The production of producer-handlers has been a substantially smaller percentage of total production than the relationship of their sales to total sales. For 1965 their production was 3.83 percent of the total and for the first 6 months of 1966 it was 3.69. Producer-handlers disposed of about 85 percent of their production as Class I milk in 1965. This percentage has ranged from 83 to 87 percent since 1960. Meanwhile, 43.9 percent of the milk delivered by producers to regulated handlers was classified as Class I in 1965, and this percentage had declined each year since 1960 when it was 50.77.

The number of producer-handlers increased from about 22 in 1959 and 1960 to 43 in 1965, but dropped to 38 in early 1966. In July 1966 there were 39 producer-handlers operating in the market.

Proponents of regulation contended that producer-handler sales were currently a more disruptive factor than in 1965 even though a slightly smaller percentage of total sales in the market than formerly. Most producer-handlers had made no change in resale prices of their milk at a time in which the Class I prices paid by regulated handlers had increased. While the order Class I price increased 83 cents per hundredweight from $4.87 in April 1965 to $5.70 in August 1966, the actual increase to handlers was 50 cents per hundredweight due to elimination of premium pricing (except for a 10-cent service charge) in the market as order prices advanced.

It was also claimed that an increase from 1964 to 1965 in the amount that the order Class I prices exceeded the uniform price for base milk represented an increase in competitive advantage of producer-handler milk over milk priced and pooled under the order. For 1964 this difference was 83 cents, for 1965, 88 cents. For July 1966, however, the difference was only 76 cents. The decrease for July may be attributed to increased Class I sales of pool milk and to change in the Class II price of the order through amendment.

Basically, however, the proponents maintain that incorporation of producer-handlers in the Class I base plan of the order is a necessary complement of such a plan. Producers maintain that if each producer is to have his returns for Class I milk limited to what is essentially his present share of the market, each producer-handler should likewise be limited to the Class I sales that he has made of his own production as his share of the market. They claim that their proposal represents a means whereby producer-handlers may each retain the benefits of their present (1965 average in their proposal) sales, but would not be permitted to increase Class I sales of their own production without recompense to the pool.

It is estimated that the Class I base of existing producers may approximate 53 percent of their 1966 bases under present provisions. These Class I bases will not be subject to adjustment for either future production history or changes in Class I sales of the market. Not all present producers will find their Class I bases equal to their production resources. If present producer-handlers, representing about 2 percent of the total dairymen supplying the market, are free to increase their production and Class I sales, some present producers may seek to become producer-handlers.

In addition, no provision is made for computing Class I bases for new producers. Such producers must either acquire Class I base from existing producers, or depend upon sharing any increase in Class I sales with other new producers and existing producers qualifying for "hardship" adjustment. If new producer-handlers may enter the market without limit beyond the Class I sales they may make of their own production, this avenue may be used by dairymen as a means for entering the Puget Sound market.

In the recommended decision, it was proposed that Class I bases should be issued producer-handlers so that these incentives would not create a situation whereby producer-handler sales would disrupt the operations of the order to the detriment of other dairymen in the Puget Sound market.

It is clear that such potential incentives to increasing producer-handler operations are associated with the other provisions herein provided. However, as cited above, producer-handler numbers and the proportion of the total sales of the market represented by their Class I sales were less in the first 6 months of 1966, the latest period available in the record, than for the same period of 1965. Since the regulation proposed in the recommended decision was based upon the potential disruption to be expected under these incentives, rather than the volume of producer-handler sales shown on the record of hearing, it is concluded that no action should be taken to incorporate producer-handlers into the Class I base plan on the record of this hearing.

However, the position of producer-handlers in this market, both singly and in the aggregate, is especially significant in relation to the total Class I sales of the market. In such circumstances, the orderly marketing of milk in the area is particularly susceptible of being affected by producer-handler activities and any increase in producer-handler sales could substantially disrupt orderly marketing and the operation of the order to the detriment of other producers in the market. If, therefore, for any reason producer-handler activity in the market, singly or in the aggregate, increases, a public hearing should be held to give immediate consideration to the regulation of producer-handlers under the order.

Producer-handlers may become producers subsequent to the effective date of the Class I base plan, either through choices or by cancellations of designation. Class I bases should be computed for such producers on the basis of their production history in the same periods provided for producers, and by application of the same percentage used in computation of Class I bases for producers. This treatment of producer-handlers who become producers as though they had been producers in the representative period conforms to the present practice under the seasonal base plan. Since these producers, especially those for whom producer-handler designations have been canceled, may again become producer-handlers, provision must be made that such producer-handlers do not receive a windfall by having a Class I base so computed for them available for transfer and simultaneously have exemption as producer-handlers. It is therefore provided that bases so computed shall not be transferable in whole or in part for a period of 2 years after the baseholder last held designation as a producer-handler, except as such bases are transferred to a member of the baseholder's immediate family who continues delivery of producer milk from the same farm.

Provision should also be made to prevent similar windfalls for other producers who may later become producer-handlers. A person who has held Class I base within 12 months of the date upon which he becomes a producer-handler should receive designation as such only if he forfeits Class I base in an amount equal to the highest amount held at any time during such 12-month period. This forfeiture should also be required if producer-handler designation is to be issued to any member of such a producer's family, any affiliate of such a producer, or any business unit of which such a producer is a part. This is necessary in order to avoid windfall benefits through subterfuge.

The exemption provided for producer-handlers should not apply to the own-farm production or sales of handlers operating pool plants. One such handler with substantial own-farm production proposed that such production history should receive the same treatment as the production of producer-handlers. Own-farm production of handlers fully regulated, shares the market equally with other producers and should retain this position.

4. Base rules. It is necessary that the order specify conditions under which bases may be transferred from one producer to another, under which bases will be forfeited, and other conditions required for administration of the Class I base program.

(a) Transfers. Class I bases should be transferable in whole and partially in amounts of not less than 100 pounds under conditions that will insure that such bases will be held at all times by bona fide producers. Such transferability will be in the best interest of the public, existing producers and prospective new producers.

The Base Plan Committee proposed that base be transferable only to persons who were producers or become producers within the month of transfer, in minimum amounts of 100 pounds daily (production history) base (unless transferor's daily base was less than 100 pounds). They proposed that producers who had received base by transfer within 1 year be barred from making a further transfer except as they qualify under specified hardship conditions. Producers acquiring base under hardship provisions and new producers would have been ineligible to transfer base for a period of 2 years after it was acquired; new producers could no longer increase their base through deliveries if they acquired base by transfer. Written notice to the market administrator would be required with data sufficient to determine the bona fide nature of the transfer under the limitations proposed.

Proponents maintain that failure to provide relatively free transfer of base would tend to obstruct and delay changes toward more efficient organization of dairy farms and more economical production of milk. They point out that a phenomenal period of production adjustment is now occurring in which the size of production unit is a basic consideration in adopting new techniques for greater efficiency, and that this situation may be expected to continue. They claim that this situation makes transferability of bases in the interest of the public to provide opportunities for more economical production of milk; in the interest of existing producers because of their immediate concern in adjustment of size of production units, and as a means whereby retirement of marginal producers and expansion of others to more efficient units might be facilitated. The opportunity for new producers to acquire base by transfer instead of by earning it over a period of time as they proposed, was represented as an alternative accommodation to those who may wish to produce only base milk from the start.

The obstructions and delays to economic changes which base transfers might alleviate arise because producer bases are fixed on past history that cannot be changed to accommodate changes needed for more efficient operation. The more difficult it is for existing producers to change production history, or for new producers to establish such history, the greater the difficulty in responding to opportunities for change in size of production units to achieve efficiency.

Transferable bases may become an asset of value, which could be a windfall to existing producers who may wish to decrease production or cease entirely. Likewise the cost of acquiring base by transfer could become a capital cost to producers, either old or new, receiving it, which would tend to offset the economies in production that might result from change in size of production unit.

Despite these considerations, it is concluded that, in association with a Class I base plan such as herein provided, transferability of bases will be in the best interest of the public, existing producers and prospective producers. Under the plan provided existing producer Class I bases are frozen at the levels first computed, and no new producer Class I bases can be computed from future deliveries of milk to the market. There is thus substantial need for another method whereby adjustment of size of production units may be facilitated.

The proposals of the Base Plan Committee with respect to transfers of bases computed for existing producers provide safeguards to insure that bases will be held by bona fide producers. Transfers may be made only to a person who currently is a producer or who becomes a producer within the month of transfer. Producers who have received base by transfer are not eligible to make further transfers within a 12-month period except under circumstances which a Base Committee finds would otherwise result in substantial hardship to such producer. Producers who are issued hardship adjustment because deliveries in the base period were not representative may not transfer base for a 2-year period.

Bases computed for producers from their past deliveries to a nonpool plant which has subsequently become a pool plant should not be transferable in whole or in part for a period of 2 years after issuance except to a member of a base holder's immediate family continuing production on the same farm. This is necessary so that if such plant should lose its pool status the bases provided to accommodate entrance of these producers to the market will not become a windfall to them.

The Base Plan Committee had proposed that both production history base and Class I base be transferred. Under the plan herein provided production history base serves only for computation of the Class I base which is not thereafter recomputed. Transfer of production history base would serve no purpose under these provisions. It is provided that the producer transferring Class I base shall have his production history reduced in an equivalent amount.

(b) Forfeitures. It should be provided that a base holder who discontinues delivery of producer milk for a period of 60 consecutive days shall forfeit Class I base. An exception should be provided with respect to base holders entering the military service, who should be able to retain their bases until 1 year after being released from active duty.

The order presently requires forfeiture of base after 45 consecutive days of nondelivery of producer (Grade A) milk. Under the present plan, producers without a base are paid for substantial proportions (45 to 70 percent depending upon the month) of their current deliveries as base milk, and can reestablish a base in the next August–December period. Producers holding a base should be producers supplying the market currently. A reasonable period of nondelivery should be provided before forfeiture becomes effective to allow for emergency situations such as temporary degrading, quarantines, or loss of barns, etc. In view of the inability to reestablish a base under the Class I base plan proposed, forfeiture should not occur until after 60 consecutive days of nondelivery. Any justifiable reason for nondelivery of Grade A milk beyond this period may be recognized by a Producers' Base Committee through extension of the date of which forfeiture will occur.

Military duty represents a cause for nondelivery for which a producer should not be required to forfeit his base until 1 year after his return from service.

(c) Antidumping provisions. Provision should be made for reduction of the quantity of milk for which a producer is paid the base price if milk is sold to another fluid market.

The Act states that "In the case of any producer who during any accounting period delivers a portion of his milk to persons not fully regulated by the order, provision may be made for reducing the allocation of, or payments to be received by, any such producer * * * to compensate for any marketings of milk to such other persons for such period or periods as necessary to insure equitable participation in marketings among all producers".

The evident purpose of this provision is to discourage a producer selling base milk under a Class I base plan and who thus enjoys all the benefits of participation in one market from supplying his excess to another market for fluid use at a blend price or at some other price above the excess price of his own market. The injury would be to producers in the other market whose prices are diluted with or undercut by the producer's excess milk.

It was proposed that under any circumstances in which deliveries were made to plants other than Puget Sound pool plants, a producer should forfeit all base milk for the days on which such deliveries were made and that this forfeiture should permanently affect the Class I base of such producer.

The objective of this provision can be achieved if forfeiture of base occurs only with respect to deliveries to nonpool plants that engage in distribution of fluid milk products to wholesale or retail outlets or in supplying fluid milk products to plants so engaged. Forfeiture equal to the producer's adjusted base for days of delivery to such plants is appropriate as an administratively feasible quantity related to the producer's participation in the Puget Sound market. Such forfeiture, however, should be only for the month in which deliveries are made or in which it is first established that they had been made. Permanent forfeiture is not required to provide protection against dumping.

In order that substantial inequities may not occur under this provision in cases in which producers may not be aware that their milk deliveries are available for fluid use of unregulated plants, provision should be made that upon written application of the producer, the forfeiture may be rescinded or adjusted upon review by a Producer Base Committee.

(d) General rules. Certain general base rules should be established for the administration of the Class I base plan.

Provisions comparable to the notification rules concerning bases under the current order are incorporated in the amended order. These provide that the market administrator, will as soon as possible after computation, notify the producer, the handler receiving such producer's milk and the cooperative association of which the producer is a member, of the amount of each producer's production history base and Class I base. Following receipt of such notice, each handler must post, in a conspicuous place in his plant, a list showing the daily base and Class I base of each producer whose milk is received at the plant.

Only one quantity of base milk should apply where the land, buildings and other production resources are owned or operated jointly. Only one base will be recognized with respect to each farm. This will assist in maintaining the integrity of the plan by lessening the means available by which bases might be manipulated.

5. Provisions for alleviation of hardship and inequity. Administrative guidelines should be established for review of hardship claims and the alleviation of hardship and inequities to producers under the Class I base plan.

The 1965 amendments to the Act state briefly that "Any increase in class one base resulting from enlarged or increased consumption and any producer class one bases forfeited or surrendered shall first be made available to new producers and to the alleviation of hardship and inequity among producers".

The Class I Base Plan Committee proposed that any hardship among producers be alleviated whether or not additional Class I sales are available. The Committee proposed certain rules for determining hardship, that full publicity be accorded such cases, and that open hearing be held, which with other information would be used in determining the hardship adjustment. The market administrator, as agent of the Secretary, would be the deciding official in such cases.

Certain provisions are included in the order to define those circumstances in which a producer may apply for relief. A producer may apply for adjustment or alleviation of hardship or inequity if he has not received a Class I base; his production history base is not representative of his level of milk production in the base period because of loss of buildings, herd, or other facilities by fire, flood, or storms; official quarantine, or military service; he is subject to loss of base for failure to deliver or for delivery to other markets; or is limited in his opportunity to transfer base.

Hardship should be considered as any circumstance which was out of the control of a producer including military service obligations. However, conditions over which a producer could have exerted control through prudent precaution should not be cause for hardship adjustment of base. These conditions would include, for example, inability to obtain adequate labor, or equipment failure during the representative base period.

There are limitations on the transfer of base for which producers may apply for relief under certain conditions that may involve inequity. Such inequities might result from these limitations in case of death, disability, military service, sale of production unit, retirement, loss of lease, or other calamity affecting production facilities.

The producer must be responsible for filing a request for review of any hardship condition or inequity affecting him. This would be a written request to the market administrator to review a claimed hardship or inequity stating the conditions that caused such alleged hardship or inequity, the extent of relief or adjustment requested, the basis upon which the amount of adjustment requested was determined, the reasons why the relief or adjustment should be granted. Such request should be filed within 45 days of the date on which Class I bases are issued, or of the occurrence to which it is related.

The market administrator shall establish one or more "Producer Base Committees" consisting of five producers each to be appointed by him. Each committee shall review the requests for relief from hardship or inequity referred to it by the market administrator in a meeting in which the recording secretary shall be the market administrator or his designated representative. Recommendations on each request must be endorsed by at least three of such committee members to represent the action of the committee.

The committee shall either reject the request or indicate the nature and extent of relief granted and the date on which it is to be effective with respect to requests involving Class I base not issued to a producer, loss or potential loss of Class I base due to deliveries to a nonpool plant for fluid uses or discontinued deliveries, or inability to transfer base. With respect to requests claiming that production history base is not representative of milk production in the base period because of loss of buildings, herds, or other facilities by fire, flood, or storms, official quarantine, or military service, the committee shall either reject the request or provide a daily quantity of "hardship" adjustment milk. Such daily hardship adjustment milk, when delivered in excess of the producer's base, shall be included with deliveries of new producers in the computation of base milk to which increase in Class I sales may be assigned. As pointed out earlier, inadequate labor, or equipment failure will not be considered justification for issuance of a quantity of "hardship" adjustment milk.

Producer Base Committee recommendations to deny any request shall be final upon notification of the producer, subject only to appeal by such producer to the Director, Dairy Division within 45 days thereafter. Recommendations of the committee to grant a request, in whole or in part, shall be transmitted to the Director, Dairy Division, and shall become final unless vetoed by the Director within 15 days after transmitted.

The market administrator is authorized to reimburse committee members for their services at $20.00 per day, and for necessary travel and subsistence expenses incurred in carrying out their duties as committee members. Reimbursement to committee members shall be from monies collected under the administrative expense fund for the administration of the order.

6. Payments on other source milk. No change should be made in the provisions of the present order which relate to the obligations imposed on (1) unregulated milk distributed in this marketing area or received at a pool plant from a plant not regulated by any Federal order, and (2) milk distributed in this marketing area by a plant under another Federal order or received at a pool plant from a plant regulated under another Federal order.

The present order provisions relating to other source milk are designed to remove any competitive advantage handlers using other source milk in Class I may have over handlers using producer milk for such sales, thereby assuring equity among handlers in the sale of milk in the regulated market. Generally speaking, this objective is considered to be achieved by classified pricing and interorder alignment of Class I prices with respect to milk priced under other Federal orders. With respect to unregulated milk, a combination of allocation sequence, payments at the difference between the Class I and uniform price, and opportunity to demonstrate that dairy farmers have been paid for all their milk at the equivalent of order prices based on class utilization are provided.

The proposals to revise the treatment of other source milk were designed to reserve for Puget Sound producers the returns from all Class I sales in the marketing area (and elsewhere if by Puget Sound pool plants) as long as such sales did not exceed 80 percent of milk from producers. This would be accomplished by requiring a payment on all nonpool milk used in Class I at the difference between the Class I and Class II prices.

The present order provisions relating to other source milk payments were incorporated in the order August 1, 1964. The Supreme Court of the United States on June 4, 1962, issued a decision in the case of Lehigh Valley Cooperative Farms, Inc., et al., versus United States et al., which invalidated certain applications of the "compensatory payment" provisions of the New York-New Jersey milk order. Subsequently, on the basis of hearing in January 1963, revised provisions substantially uniform in all orders were developed to replace former provisions which might have been considered parallel to those invalidated under the New York-New Jersey order.

Other source milk, whether from unregulated plants or from other order plants, has not been a competitive factor in the Puget Sound market. There has been no route distribution of fluid milk products from such plants at least since 1951, the earliest period for which data are in the record. While some nonpool milk eligible for fluid use has been received at pool plants, there is no evidence in the record that any of such milk has been assigned to Class I use. Receipts of such milk have been less in 1963 and subsequent years than in 1961 and 1962. During the period January 1963 through July 1964, no payments were applicable with respect to any other source milk.

The adoption of a Class I base plan as the method of distributing among producers the value of pool milk used by regulated handlers in no way affects the competitive balance between costs of pool milk and nonpool milk. There is no reason to expect that other source milk will enter the market to any greater degree than has previously been the case. It is therefore concluded that no change should be made on the basis of this record in the provisions applicable to such milk.

7. Miscellaneous provisions—(a) Revision of excess milk location differential. The location adjustment to producers applicable to excess milk at plants in District 1, Kitsap, Mason, or Pierce Counties should be revised.

The order now provides that handlers with plants in District 1 or in these counties using producer milk in such products as ice cream and cottage cheese pay an additional 25 cents per hundredweight for the milk. A corresponding provision increases the excess price on producer milk delivered to such plants by 25 cents more than the price for excess milk received at other plant locations.

When this provision was first incorporated in the order the amounts of producer milk used in such products as ice cream and cottage cheese at District 1 plants was about equal to the amounts of excess milk received at such plants. However, the use of milk in such premium outlets has increased over the years while the receipts of excess milk at these plants have declined. Thus, handlers have paid more monies into the equalization fund on the premium uses than that required to cover the 25 cents per hundredweight location differential on excess milk. The remaining monies have been added to the base milk price paid to all producers.

The proposed Class I base plan will reduce the quantity of base milk assigned to producers. This can easily result in the delivery of a greater quantity of excess milk to handlers' plants in District 1, Kitsap, Mason, or Pierce Counties than the quantity of milk on which such handlers pay the 25 cents differential. This would require that the price for base milk delivered by producers be reduced by an amount necessary to fully cover the plus 25 cents location differential for excess milk at these plants. Reduction of the base milk price of all producers to provide the necessary funds to pay producers of excess milk the 25 cents differential at such plants would tend to destroy the effectiveness of the proposed base plan and would not be in the best interests of all producers on the market.

Handlers operating District 1, Kitsap, Mason, or Pierce County plants will continue to pay into the equalization fund the 25 cents per hundredweight differential on milk used in the higher-valued manufactured product uses. Such monies should be prorated to excess milk delivered to these plants to the extent they are available, but not to exceed the 25 cents per hundredweight maximum. If at any time more monies are available than needed to pay the additional 25 cents for such excess milk, the overage will be added to values used in computing the price for base milk.

(b) Continuation of present base and excess plan. The base and excess plan under the present order should continue in the event of producer rejection of the proposed Class I base plan or if the authority for it expires while it is in effect after its incorporation in the present order.

The Class I Base Plan Committee considered whether to retain the present base and excess plan or depend upon a blend pricing system for distributing producer returns for milk in each month if the Class I base plan failed of approval. The Committee proposed retention of the base and excess plan in that event.

The present base and excess plan has reduced the seasonal fluctuation of milk production in relation to fluid needs of the market, although there is some indication that it has contributed to a total increase of producer receipts at plants under the order. However, prior to any revocation of the base and excess plan under this order opportunity should be given for further consideration of such action at a public hearing.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreement and the order, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Exceptions were filed on behalf of more than 150 interested parties. All such exceptions were considered and reviewed in the light of the hearing record. Accordingly, the recommended decision is modified herein in many respects to accommodate the excepting parties wherever a basis for such modification exists in the hearing record and where such modification will effectuate the purposes of the Act.

Producer-handlers filed numerous exceptions to that portion of the recommended decision which proposed elimination of the producer-handler exemptions and which provided for special computation of Class I bases for such handlers. In the light of producer-handler exceptions and as stated elsewhere in this decision the present producer-handler exemptions are continued.

Accordingly, all motions by producer-handlers for a stay of proceedings, for reconsideration, for reopening of the hearing or official notice are denied.

MARKETING AGREEMENT AND ORDER

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Puget Sound, Wash., Marketing Area" and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Puget Sound, Wash., Marketing Area", which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

Referendum order; determination of representative period; and designation of referendum agent. It is hereby directed that a referendum in which each individual producer has one vote be conducted to determine whether the issuance of the Class I base plan of payment to producers as specified in the attached order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Puget Sound, Wash., marketing area, is separately approved or favored by the producers, as defined under the terms of the order, as amended and as so proposed to be amended, and who, during the representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing area.

The month of April 1967 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the conduct of such referendum.

Nicholas L. Keyock is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders (7 CFR 900.300 et seq.), such referendum to be completed on or before the 30th day from the date this decision is issued.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 17, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

Order [1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Puget Sound, Wash., Marketing Area

§ 1125.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Puget Sound, Wash., marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

ORDER RELATIVE TO HANDLING

It is therefore ordered, That, on and after the effective date hereof, the following provisions are substituted for specified order provisions as indicated below, and the handling of milk in the Puget Sound, Wash., marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended, through December 31, 1969, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on April 7, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 12, 1967 (32 F.R. 5838; F.R. Doc. 67-3986), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order, and are set forth in full herein, subject to the following revisions:

1. The amendments proposed to §§ 1125.8, 1125.9, 1125.10, 1125.11, 1125.13, 1125.14, 1125.30, 1125.33, 1125.44, 1125.46, and 1125.65 in amendments numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 11, 13, 14, and 15 are deleted.

2. Changes are made in the remaining amendments proposed as follows: In § 1125.110 in amendment renumbered from 7 to 1; in § 1125.111 in amendment renumbered from 8 to 2; in § 1125.120 in amendment renumbered from 17 to 6; in § 1125.121 in amendment renumbered from 18 to 6; in § 1125.122 in amendment renumbered from 19 to 6; in § 1125.123 in amendment renumbered from 20 to 6; and in § 1125.124 in amendment renumbered from 20 to 6.

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

3. Amendments are renumbered as follows: Amendment No. 9 is renumbered No. 3; amendment No. 12 is renumbered No. 4; and amendment No. 16 is renumbered No. 5.

Class I base plan provisions

1. Section 1125.110 is substituted for § 1125.17 as follows:

§ 1125.110 Production history base and Class I base.

(a) "Production history base" means a quantity of milk in pounds per day produced by a producer in a past period as computed pursuant to § 1125.120.

(b) "Class I base" means a quantity of milk in pounds per day as computed pursuant to § 1125.121 for which a producer may receive the base milk price.

2. Section 1125.111 is substituted for § 1125.18 as follows:

§ 1125.111 Base milk and excess milk.

(a) "Base milk" means:

(1) Milk received from a producer which is not in excess of his Class I base multiplied by the number of days in the month, except that if milk is received from a producer for only part of a month, base milk shall be milk received from such producer which is not in excess of his Class I base multiplied by the number of days of production of producer milk delivered during the month;

(2) Milk received from a producer to whom no Class I base has been issued, in the amount assigned pursuant to § 1125.122 (b) (1); and

(3) Milk received from a producer to whom a Class I base has been issued, in the amount assigned pursuant to § 1125.122(b) (2).

(b) "Excess milk" means milk received from a producer during the month that is in excess of base milk received from such producer during the month.

3. Section 1125.22(k) (2) is substituted for the present § 1125.22(k) (2), as follows:

§ 1125.22 Duties.

(k) * * *

(2) On or before the 13th day of each month, the weighted average and uniform prices computed pursuant to §§ 1125.71 and 1125.72, the location adjustment for excess milk computed pursuant to § 1125.81(a)(2), and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 1125.82, each applicable to milk received during the preceding month;

* * * * * * *

4. In § 1125.35(a), subparagraph (7) is added as follows:

§ 1125.35 Handler report to producers.

(a) * * *

(7) The Class I and Class II prices for 3.5 percent milk, and the marketwide percentage of producer milk utilized in each class during the month.

* * * * * * *

5. Section 1125.81(a) (2) is substituted for the present § 1125.81(a) (2) as follows:

§ 1125.81 Location adjustment to producers and on nonpool milk.

(a) * * *

(2) There shall be added to the uniform price for excess milk received from producers at plants located in District 1 or in the counties of Kitsap, Mason, or Pierce, a location adjustment not to exceed 25 cents per hundredweight, rounded to the nearest full cent, computed by dividing the amount computed pursuant to § 1125.54(c) by the total hundredweight of excess milk received at such plants.

* * * * * * *

6. Sections 1125.120, 1125.121, 1125.122, 1125.123, and 1125.124 are substituted for §§ 1125.60 and 1125.61 as follows:

§ 1125.120 Computation of production history bases.

The market administrator shall determine production history bases computed as follows:

(a) For each producer who delivered milk on 120 days or more during the months of August through December 1966, such production history base shall be the highest of:

(1) The total pounds of producer milk delivered by such person to a handler on 120 days or more during the months of August 1966 through December 1966, inclusive, divided by the number of days from the date of his first delivery within such period to the end of such 5-month period;

(2) The amount similarly computed with respect to such person's deliveries, during the months of August 1965 through December 1965, inclusive; or

(3) The amount similarly computed with respect to such person's deliveries during the months of August 1964 through December 1964, inclusive.

(b) For each person who held designation as a producer-handler for 120 days or more in the months of August through December 1966, the production history base shall be the daily average of his own production of milk for 120 days or more in the months of August through December 1964, August through December 1965, and August through December 1966, whichever is highest.

(c) Each person who becomes a producer as a result of a plant to which he delivers milk becoming a pool plant under the order pursuant to § 1125.8 shall have a production history base computed as though his deliveries of Grade A milk to such plant in the prior periods used for determining bases specified in paragraph (a) of this section had been deliveries of producer milk.

(d) With respect to computation of such bases the following rules shall apply:

(1) If a producer operated more than one farm at the same time during any specified August–December period, a separate computation shall be made with respect to producer milk delivered from each such farm for such period except that only one computation shall be made with respect to milk production resources and facilities of a producer-handler specified in § 1125.14(b) (1);

(2) Only one base shall be allotted with respect to milk produced by one or more persons where the land, buildings and equipment used are jointly owned or operated.

(3) Deliveries of milk during the months of August through December 1966 from a farm currently operated by a person who since August 1, 1966, has received a base by transfer pursuant to § 1125.61(a) shall be considered to be deliveries of the current operator for purposes of computation of production history base, and no production history base shall be computed for any other person from deliveries of milk from such farm.

(4) Deliveries of milk from a farm for which the producer has lost a base pursuant to § 1125.61(b) since February 1, 1967, shall not be used to compute a production history base for such producer.

§ 1125.121 Computation of Class I base for producers with production history bases.

(a) Each producer for whom a production history base pursuant to § 1125.120 (a) or (b) may be computed and who delivered milk regularly to a handler in May 1967 shall be issued Class I base as follows:

(1) The total of the Class I bases to be issued to such persons shall be the sum of:

(i) The average daily dispositions pursuant to § 1125.41(a) of producer milk for the year 1966 multiplied by 1.20; and

(ii) The total of the average daily dispositions of milk of their own production for the year 1966 by any such persons then holding designation as producer-handlers, multiplied by 1.20.

(2) The Class I base for each such person shall be determined by multiplying his production history base by a percentage rounded to the third decimal place obtained by dividing the total of Class I bases pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph by the sum of the production history bases issued to such producers.

(b) The Class I base for each person to whom no Class I base has been issued pursuant to paragraph (a) or (c) of this section who held designation as a producer-handler in May 1967 which is no longer effective, and who has become a producer shall be the production history for such person computed pursuant to § 1125.120 (a) or (b), multiplied by the percentage specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section. Such Class I base shall not be in effect for such person for any month for which such person holds designation as a producer-handler.

(c) The Class I base of each person for whom a production history base is determined pursuant to § 1125.120(c) shall be his production history base multiplied by the percentage specified in paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

§ 1125.122 Computation of base milk for new producers and hardship cases.

For each month a quantity of base milk shall be computed for each producer who does not hold a production history base pursuant to § 1125.120 and a quantity of additional base milk shall be computed for each producer to whom a "hardship" adjustment has been issued as follows:

(a) Compute the sum of:

(1) 1.20 times the pounds by which producer milk classified as Class I exceeds the sum of the following in the corresponding month of 1966:

(i) The pounds of producer milk classified as Class I;

(ii) The Class I disposition of producers with Class I bases who then held designation as producer-handlers; and

(iii) The Class I disposition of milk by pool plants described in § 1125.120(c); and

(2) The pounds by which the current monthly total of Class I bases issued to producers exceeds the total of base milk delivered pursuant to § 1125.111(a)(1) in the month.

(b) Assign the resulting pounds, if any, as base milk pro rata to:

(1) The pounds of milk delivered during the month by each producer without a daily base; and

(2) The pounds of milk delivered by a producer to whom a hardship adjustment is issued, that are the lesser of:

(i) The pounds of such adjustment times the number of days in the month; or

(ii) The pounds by which total deliveries of milk in the month by such producer exceed base milk pursuant to § 1125.111(a).

§ 1125.123 Base rules.

The following rules shall be observed in the determination of bases:

(a) A Class I base or a portion of a Class I base may be transferred from one person to another if the conditions listed below are met:

(1) The market administrator is notified in writing by the holder of the Class I base on or before the last day of the month of transfer of the name of the person to whom the Class I base is to be transferred, the effective date of the transfer and the amount of Class I base to be transferred if less than the entire Class I base held by the transferor;

(2) It is established to the satisfaction of the market administrator that the conveyance of such base is bona fide and not for the purpose of evading any provision of this order, and comes within the remaining provisions of this paragraph;

(3) A transfer may be made only to a producer (a person who is currently a producer on the market or who will become a producer under the terms of the order by the last day of the month of transfer);

(4) A transfer of Class I base may not be made in amounts of less than 100 pounds, or the entire base, whichever is smaller;

(5) A transfer of a portion of a Class I base shall be a partial transfer and shall be effective only on the first day of a month. A transfer where the transferee producer will combine the Class I base received with Class I base already held shall be considered a partial transfer;

(6) A transfer of a complete Class I base of a producer to a person who does not already hold a Class I base will be effective on the date of transfer of herd and farm, or on the date specified if no herd and farm is transferred;

(7) A person who has received Class I base by transfer pursuant to subparagraph (5) or (6) of this paragraph within the preceding 12-month period may not further transfer all or a portion of his Class I base except as permitted under the provisions of § 1125.124;

(8) A person who was issued hardship adjustment pursuant to the provisions of § 1125.124 may not transfer all or a portion of his Class I base to another person until 2 years after the hardship adjustment was issued. Such hardship adjustments are not transferable; and

(9) Class I base issued pursuant to § 1125.121(c) may not be transferred in whole or in part for a period of 2 years after it was issued to any person other than a member of the baseholder's immediate family who continues delivery of producer milk from the same farm from which such baseholder delivered producer milk;

(10) Class I base issued pursuant to 1125.121(b) may not be transferred in whole or in part unless such transfer is to a member of the baseholder's immediate family who continues delivery of producer milk from the same farm from which such baseholder delivered producer milk for a period of 2 years from the date upon which the producer to whom it was issued last held designation as a producer-handler.

(b) If a producer delivers milk for fluid use other than as diverted producer milk to a plant not regulated under this Part 1125, which is engaged in distribution of fluid milk products to wholesale or retail outlets or in supplying fluid milk products to a plant so engaged, such producer shall have his base milk reduced by an amount equal to his Class I base for each day's production from which any such deliveries were made to such nonpool plant during the month.

(c) A person who discontinues deliveries of producer milk for a period of 60 consecutive days after a Class I base is issued to him shall forfeit any Class I base held pursuant to the provisions of this order, except that a person entering military service may retain his Class I base until 1 year after being released from active military duty.

(d) As soon as production history bases and Class I bases are computed by the market administrator notice of the amount of each producer's production history base and Class I base shall be given by the market administrator to the producer, to the handler receiving such producer's milk, and to the cooperative association of which the producer is a member. Each handler, following receipt of such notice, shall promptly post in a conspicuous place in his plant a list or lists showing the Class I base of each producer whose milk is received at such plant.

(e) Only one quantity of base milk pursuant to either § 1125.111 (a) (1) or (3) shall be computed with respect to milk produced by one or more persons where the land, buildings and equipment used, are jointly owned or operated.

(f) A producer who transfers Class I base computed pursuant to § 1125.121 shall have his production history base reduced in the same proportion that the Class I base transferred was of the total Class I base held by the transferor producer.

(g) As a condition for designation as a producer-handler pursuant to § 1125.14, of any person who has held Class I base any time during the 12-month period preceding such designation or of any member of the immediate family of such a person, or of any affiliate of such a person, or of any business unit of which such a person is a part, such baseholder shall forfeit Class I base in an amount equal to the highest amount held at any time during such 12-month period.

§ 1125.124 Relief from hardship or inequity.

Requests of producers for relief from hardship or inequity arising under the provisions of § 1125.120 through § 1125.123 will be subject to the following:

(a) A producer may request review of the following circumstances because of alleged hardship or inequity:

(1) He was not issued a Class I base pursuant to § 1125.121;

(2) His production history base pursuant to § 1125.120 is alleged to not be representative of his level of milk production in the base period due to a loss of milk production beyond the control of the producer such as loss of buildings, herds, or other facilities by fire, flood, or storms, official quarantine, or military service of the producer or his son;

(3) Loss or potential loss of Class I base pursuant to § 1125.123 (b) or (c); and

(4) Inability to transfer base due to the provisions of § 1125.123(a) (7), (8), (9) or (10);

(b) The producer shall file with the market administrator a request in writing for review of hardship or inequity not later than 45 days after notice pursuant to § 1125.123(d) with respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a)(1) or (2) of this section, or not later than 45 days after the occurrence with respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a)-(3) or (4) of this section.

(1) Conditions that caused the alleged hardship or inequity;

(2) The extent of the relief or adjustment requested;

(3) The basis upon which the amount of adjustment requested was determined; and

(4) Reasons why the relief or adjustment should be granted.

(c) One or more Producer Base Committees shall be established and function as follows:

(1) Each Producer Base Committee shall consist of five producers appointed by the market administrator.

(2) Each committee shall review the requests for relief from hardship or inequity referred to it by the market administrator at a meeting in which the market administrator or his representative serves as recording secretary and at which the applicant may appear in person if he so requests.

(3) Recommendations with respect to each such request shall be endorsed at the meeting by at least three committee members and shall:

(i) With respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a) (1), (3), or (4) of this section, either reject such request or indicate the nature and extent to which the producer shall be granted exception to the provisions involved and the effective date thereof.

(ii) With respect to requests pursuant to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, either reject the request or provide adjustment in the form of a daily quantity of "hardship" adjustment milk which when delivered in excess of such producer's Class I base, may be included in the computation of base milk pursuant to § 1125.122 and the effective date thereof. In considering such requests the loss of milk production due to the following shall not be considered a basis for hardship adjustment:

(a) Loss of milk due to mechanical failure of farm tank or other farm equipment; and

(b) Inability to obtain adequate labor to maintain milk production, except that hardship adjustment may be granted in the case of a producer or the son of a producer who entered into military service directly from employment in milk production;

(4) Recommendation of the Producer Base Committee shall:

(i) If to deny the request, be final upon notification to the producer, subject only to appeal by the producer to the Director, Dairy Division within 45 days after such notification; or

(ii) If to grant the request in whole or in part, be transmitted to the Director, Dairy Division, and shall become final unless vetoed by such Director within 15 days after transmittal.

(5) Committee members shall be reimbursed by the market administrator from the funds collected under § 1125.88 for their services at $20.00 per day or portion thereof, plus necessary travel and subsistence expenses incurred in the performance of their duties as committee members.

(d) The market administrator shall maintain files of all requests for alleviation of hardship and the disposition of such requests. These files shall be open to the inspection of any interested person during the regular office hours of the market administrator.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

[16 CFR Part 414]

RADIO SETS INCLUDING TRANSCEIVERS OR CO-CALLED WALKIE-TALKIES

Deception as to Transistor Count

Notice is hereby given that the Federal Trade Commission pursuant to the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended, 15 U.S.C. 41-58, and the provisions of Part 1, Subpart B, of the Commission's procedures and rules of practice, 32 F.R. 8444 (June 13, 1967), has initiated a proceeding for the promulgation of a trade regulation rule regarding deception as to transistor count of radios which hereinafter shall include transceivers or so-called walkie-talkies.

The Commission has initiated this proceeding having reason to believe that: (1) Marketers of radios have engaged in the practice of representing, directly or by implication, that radio sets contain a certain number of count of transistors when in fact one or more of such transistors are either dummy or do not perform the recognized and customary functions of detection, amplification and reception of radio signals; (2) great emphasis is placed on the number of transistors both in advertising and labeling; (3) a substantial portion of the purchasing public does not distinguish between transistors which perform such primary functions and diodes or transistors which perform only auxiliary functions or which are dummy, but believes that the greater the number of transistors in a radio set, the greater will be its power of detecting, amplifying and receiving signals; (4) this practice has the capacity and tendency (a) to mislead and deceive purchasers into believing that radio sets possess capabilities, qualities, and characteristics which they do not in fact possess, a matter of importance to the consumer, and (b) to divert business from competitors who nondeceptively describe the transistor count of their radio sets; and that, therefore, (5) this practice constitutes an unfair method of competition in commerce and an unfair and deceptive act or practice in commerce, in violation of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

Accordingly, the Commission proposes the following trade regulation rule:

§ 414.1 The rule.

In connection with the sale of radio sets in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, it is an unfair method of competition and an unfair and deceptive act or practice to represent, directly or by implication, that any radio set contains a specified number of transistors when one or more of such transistors are either dummy transistors or do not perform the recognized and customary functions of radio set transistors in the detection, amplification and reception of radio signals.

All interested persons, including the consuming public, are hereby notified that they may file written data, views or arguments concerning the proposed rule with the Chief, Division of Trade Regulation Rules, Bureau of Industry Guidance, Federal Trade Commission, Pennsylvania Avenue at Sixth Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20580, not later than November 3, 1967. To the extent practicable, such written data, views or arguments should be filed in duplicate.

All interested parties are also hereby given notice of opportunity to orally present data, views, or arguments with respect to the proposed rule at a hearing to be held at 10 a.m., e.d.t., on October 4, 1967, in Room 532 of the Federal Trade Commission Building, Washington, D.C.

The data, views, or arguments presented orally or in writing relating to the proposed rule will be available for examination by interested parties at the Office of the Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C., and will be considered by the Commission in the establishment of a trade regulation rule.

All persons, firms, corporations, or others engaged in the sale or distribution of radio receiving sets in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, would be subject to the requirements of any trade regulation rule promulgated in the course of this proceeding.

Where a trade regulation rule is relevant to any issue involved in an adjudicative proceeding thereafter instituted, the Commission may rely upon the rule to resolve such issue, provided that the respondent shall have been given a fair hearing on the legality and propriety of applying the rule to the particular case.

Trade regulation rules express the experience and judgment of the Commission based on facts of which it has knowledge derived from studies, reports, investigations, hearings, and other proceedings, or within official notice concerning the substantive requirements of the statutes which it administers.

The labeling, advertising, and sales promotional literature used in connection with the sale of radio sets indicate that the practice which would be prohibited by the proposed rule is widespread, especially with respect to the less expensive sets. This proceeding is designed to inform all industry members of their obligation under the law and assure equitable treatment in complying with the law.

All interested parties, including the consuming public, are urged to express their approval or disapproval of the proposed rule, or to recommend revisions thereof, and to give a full statement of their views in connection therewith.

Issued: July 20, 1967.

By the Commission.

SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

[13 CFR Part 121]

SMALL BUSINESS SIZE STANDARDS

Definitions of Small Business Concerns in Certain Service Industries

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of the Small Business Administration proposes to amend Part 121 of Chapter I of Title 13 of the Code of Federal Regulations by establishing new definitions of a small business in certain service industries for the purpose of SBA loans and Government procurement.

For the purpose of SBA loans, a concern primarily engaged in the trailer court and parks industry presently is small if, together with its affiliates, its annual receipts do not exceed $100,000 provided that a minimum of fifty percent (50%) of the annual receipts is derived from the rental of space to tourist trailers for periods not in excess of thirty (30) days. In view of the competition which exists between hotels and motels (for which the applicable size standard is annual receipts not exceeding $2 million) and tourist trailer courts and parks, the Small Business Administration proposes to increase the size standard for trailer courts and parks for the purpose of SBA loans to $1 million.

For the purpose of Government procurement, a concern bidding on a contract for the services listed below is small if, together with its affiliates, its average annual sales or receipts for its preceding 3 fiscal years do not exceed the designated standard:

1. Engineering services other than marine engineering services—$5 million.
2. Motion picture production or motion picture services—$5 million.
3. Janitorial and custodial services—$3 million.
4. Base maintenance—$5 million.
5. Marine cargo handling—$5 million.
6. Naval architectural and marine engineering services—$5 million.

The annual receipts size standard applicable to contracts for all other services is $1 million. As a result of a study of the size structure of concerns that can and do bid on Government contracts for services, the Small Business Administration proposes to increase the size standard applicable to contracts for certain services as follows:

1. Laundries, laundry services and cleaning and dyeing plants—$3 million.
2. Computer programing—$3 million.
3. Computer maintenance—$5 million.
4. Flight training—$5 million.
5. Food services—$3 million.
6. Motor car rental and leasing—$5 million.
7. Truck rental and leasing—$5 million.
8. Tire recapping—$5 million.
9. Data processing—$3 million.

Interested persons may file with the Small Business Administration, within fifteen (15) days after publication of this proposal in the FEDERAL REGISTER, written statements of facts, opinions or arguments concerning the proposal.

SMALL BUSINESS SIZE STANDARDS

Definitions of Small Business Mining Concerns

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of the Small Business Administration proposes to amend Part 121 of Chapter I of Title 13 of the Code of Federal Regulations by establishing definitions of a small business mining concern for the purpose of Government procurement and receiving SBA loans.

Currently, no specific size standards are set forth in the Small Business Size Standards Regulation for the mining industries.

The proposed size standards for the purpose of SBA loans, are set forth in Schedule E, and the proposed size standards for the purpose of Government procurement are set forth in Schedule F. The employment size standard proposed for each industry is based on available information concerning the differing characteristics of the industries and other relevant factors such as the size of companies accounting for the major portion of production and the extent of integration with particular manufacturing facilities. In instances where large manufacturing operations control significant portions of mineral productions, the size structure of the complementary manufacturing industry was considered, and whenever the major mineral producers also are principal factors in the related manufacturing industry, the size standards for the mining industries are proposed at the same employment levels.

Interested persons may file with the Small Business Administration, within 15 days after publication of this proposal in the FEDERAL REGISTER, written statements of facts, opinions, or arguments concerning the proposal.

All correspondence shall be addressed to:

[13 CFR Part 121]

SMALL BUSINESS SIZE STANDARDS

Definitions of Small Business in Trucking, Warehousing, Packing, and Crating and/or Freight Forwarding and in Aircraft Preventive Maintenance

Notice is hereby given that the Administrator of the Small Business Administration proposes to amend Part 121 of Chapter I of Title 13 of the Code of Federal Regulations by establishing new definitions of a small business in trucking, warehousing, packing, and crating and/or freight forwarding for the purpose of Government procurement and SBA loans and in aircraft preventive maintenance for the purpose of SBA loans.

Trucking, warehousing, packing and crating and/or freight forwarding. For the purpose of both Government procurement and SBA loans the size standard presently applicable to trucking, warehousing, packing, and crating and/or freight forwarding is annual receipts for the concern's preceding fiscal year not exceeding $3 million. A study conducted by the Small Business Administration indicates that between 1959 and 1964 there has been an upward trend in transportation costs and revenues. Further, the number of Interstate Commerce Commission regulated motor carriers of property increased by 6 percent during such period while the number of such carriers with revenues within the $3 million annual receipts size standards remained virtually unchanged.

In view of the above, it is proposed, for the purpose of Government procurement and SBA loans, to increase the annual receipts size standard applicable to trucking, warehousing, packing, and crating and/or freight forwarding to $5 million.

Aircraft preventive maintenance. The size standard presently applicable to Government procurements for aircraft preventive maintenance, as defined in the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 1.1), is average annual receipts not exceeding $1 million for the concern's preceding 3 fiscal years. For the purpose of SBA loans, the size standard presently applicable to a concern primarily engaged in aircraft preventive maintenance is annual receipts not exceeding $1 million for the concern's preceding fiscal year. The term "preventive maintenance" as defined in the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 1.1) means "simple or minor preservation operations and the replacement of small standard parts not involving complex assembly operations." For the purpose of Government procurement, preventive maintenance is to be distinguished from "maintenance" which is defined in the Federal Aviation Regulations (14 CFR 1.1) as "inspection, overhaul, repair, preservation, and the replacement of parts, but excluding preventive maintenance." The procurement size standard for aircraft "maintenance," as distinguished from "preventive maintenance" is 1,000 employees.

Information obtained from Government procurement facilities indicates that the presently effective $1 million annual receipts size standard applicable to contracts for preventive maintenance is too low and bars from participation in set-aside procurements concerns that ought to be able to qualify as small business concerns.

In view of the above, it is proposed to increase the size standard applicable to procurements for aircraft preventive maintenance to average annual receipts not exceeding $3 million for the concern's preceding 3 fiscal years.

Interested persons may file with the Small Business Administration, within 15 days after publication of this proposal in the FEDERAL REGISTER, written statements of facts, opinions, or arguments concering the proposal.

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Article

The following is a decision on an application for duty free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651; 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder (32 F.R. 2433 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours, of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Department of Commerce, Room 5123, Washington, D.C. 20230.

Docket number: 67-00031-33-46040. Applicant: University of Louisville, School of Medicine, 101 West Chestnut Street, Louisville, Ky. 40202. Article: JEM 50 Electron Microscope. Manufacturer: Japan Electron Optics Laboratory Company, Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: Applicant states:

This instrument is intended for training of medical students and residents or fellows [in the use of an electron microscope] * * * We propose to use the instrument to screen routine biopsy material submitted to the laboratory. The simple operating procedure of this instrument would facilitate such examinations.

Comments. Comments were received from one domestic manufacturer; Radio Corporation of America (RCA), which alleged inter alia that the "RCA model EMU-4 Electron Microscope is of equivalent scientific value to the instrument for which duty-free entry has been requested for the purposes stated in the application for which the instrument is intended to be used." (See RCA comment, May 22, 1967, par. (3).)

Decision. Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to such article, for the purposes for which such article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States.

Reasons. The institution needs a relatively simple electron microscope which is intended to familiarize medical students with principles of electron microscopy, within the short time allocated in the curriculum. (See reply of applicant to comments of RCA, June 1, 1967.) The domestic manufacturer claims that predecessor models of similar complexity to the EMU-4 have been and are being used for training students and residents in electron microscopy. (See comments of RCA, immediately following par. (4)(c), page 2.) However, as stated by the applicant, training on the more complex instrument is feasible only if students are willing to spend from 6 months to a year mastering the techniques of the more complicated models available in this country. (See applicant's reply to comments of RCA.) Of course, training on the more refined domestic instrument would result over such longer period of time in a higher level of competence on the part of those students willing to undertake the longer training. This does not affect the conclusion that a more elementary training of a broader group of students may have clear scientific value in the overall education of medical students.

Simplicity of design and operation would usually be regarded as a convenience rather than a pertinent characteristic, as the latter term is defined in applicable regulations (15 CFR 602.1(b)(7)). However, in certain instances this characteristic is pertinent.

In our judgment, simplicity of operation and design in this instance are characteristics which are necessary for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the applicant intends to use the foreign instrument and thus are pertinent characteristics. As noted by the applicant (applicant's reply to comments of RCA), the foreign instrument would permit the institution to familiarise a large number of students with the principles of electron microscopy in a short period of time, whereas the RCA EMU-4 would permit instruction of significantly fewer students who would be required to spend a significantly greater amount of time in mastering the use of the microscope. Accordingly, we find that the RCA EMU-4 is not of equivalent scientific value to the foreign instrument with respect to simplicity of operation and design.

Therefore, the RCA EMU-4 is not of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for the purposes for which such article is intended to be used.

We note that our findings in this case are consistent with the discussions of scientific equivalency contained in the House and Senate Committee reports on the Act (See H. Rept. No. 1779, 89th Cong., 2d Sess., p. 18, and S. Rept. No. 1678, 89th Cong., 2d Sess., p. 12) and with the "Analysis of Florence Agreement Implementing Legislation." presented to the House Committee on Ways and Means by the Assistant Secretary of State for Congressional Relations. (See Hearings before the House Committee on Ways and Means on H.R. 8664 and H.R. 15271, 89th Cong., 2d Sess., June 6 and 7, 1966, Comm. print, p. 13.)

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus which is of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article for the purposes for which such article is intended to be used and which is being manufactured in the United States.

Director, Office of Scientific and Technical Equipment, Business and Defense Services Administration.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50-213]

CONNECTICUT YANKEE ATOMIC POWER CO.

Notice of Issuance of Facility License Amendment

The Atomic Energy Commission ("the Commission") has issued, effective as of the date of issuance, Amendment No. 1, as set forth below, to License No. DPR-14. The amendment restates subparagraph 2.B. of the license in order to allow the Connecticut Yankee Atomic Power Co. to use small quantities of special nuclear material in fission chambers in connection with reactor operations. License No. DPR-14 presently limits the receipt, possession, and use of 6,550 kilograms of contained U^{235} solely as reactor fuel.

The use of the fission chambers for flux detection in the reactor was evaluated in the original application for license for this facility and their use in the reactor does not involve significant hazards considerations not previously evaluated.

Within 15 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, the applicant may file request for a hearing, and any person whose interest may be affected by the issuance of this license amendment may file a petition for leave to intervene. A request for a hearing and petitions to intervene shall be filed in accordance with the provisions of the Commission's rules of practice, 10 CFR Part 2. If a request for a hearing or a petition for leave to intervene is filed within the time prescribed in this notice, a notice of hearing or an appropriate order will be issued.

For further details with respect to this issuance, see the application dated July 12, 1967, which is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Dated at Bethesda, Md., this 13th day of July, 1967.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

PETER A. MORRIS,
Director,
Division of Reactor Licensing.

[License No. DPR-14; Amdt. 1]

The Atomic Energy Commission having found that:

a. The application for license amendment dated July 12, 1967, complies with the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the Commission's regulations set forth in Title 10, Chapter 1, CFR;

b. The issuance of the amendment will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public; and

c. Prior public notice of proposed issuance of this amendment is not required since the amendment does not involve significant hazards considerations different from those previously evaluated.

Facility License No. DPR-14 is hereby amended by restating subparagraph 2.B., in its entirety, to read as follows:

"2.B. To receive, possess, and use at any one time 6,550 kilograms of contained uranium-235 in connection with operation of the facility pursuant to the Act and Title 10 CFR, Part 70, 'Special Nuclear Material'."

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY

PUBLIC ACCESS TO RECORDS

Procedures

1. Purpose. Pursuant to the requirements of the Public Information Section of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 552), the following are established as the rules of procedure with respect to public access to the records of the Central Intelligence Agency.

2. Organization and requests for information. The headquarters of the Central Intelligence Agency is located in Fairfax County, Va. Requests for information and decisions and other submittals may be addressed to the Assistant to the Director, Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, D.C. 20505.

3. Procedures for request of records. (a) Requests for access to records of the Central Intelligence Agency may be filed by mail addressed to the Assistant to the Director, Central Intelligence Agency, Washington, D.C. 20505.

(b) Requests need not be made on any special form but may be by letter or other written statement setting forth the pertinent facts with enough specificity that the requested record can be identified.

(c) If the request does not sufficiently identify the record, the Assistant to the Director shall so inform the requestor who may then resubmit his request together with any additional information which will help to identify it.

(d) When the requested record has been identified the Agency will determine whether it is exempt from public inspection under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(b). If it is exempt, the Assistant to the Director shall deny the request.

(e) If the Agency determines that the requested record is not subject to exemption, the Assistant to the Director will inform the requestor as to the appropriate reproduction fee and upon receipt of this fee, will have the record reproduced and sent to the requestor. Fees paid in accordance with this paragraph will be paid by check or postal money order forwarded to the Assistant to the Director and made payable to the Treasurer of the United States.

4. Appeals. Any person aggrieved by any determination made or action taken pursuant to the foregoing provisions of this notice may request the Executive Director of the Agency to review that determination or action. No specific form is prescribed for this purpose and a letter or other written statement setting forth pertinent facts shall be sufficient. The Executive Director reserves the right to require the person involved to present additional information in support of his request for review. The Executive Director will promptly consider each such request and notify the person involved of his decision.

5. Effective date. This notice shall become effective upon its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[Docket No. 19655; Order No. E-25428]

EASTERN AIR LINES, INC., ET AL.

Order Regarding Reservations Practices and Procedures in East Coast-Florida Market

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 17th day of July, 1967.

Agreement adopted by Eastern Air Lines, Inc., National Airlines, Inc., and Northeast Airlines, Inc., relating to reservations practices and procedures in the East Coast-Florida Market, Docket 18554, Agreement C.A.B. 19655, as amended.

An agreement has been filed with the Board pursuant to section 412(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (the Act) and Part 261 of the Board's Economic Regulations, between Eastern Air Lines, Inc., National Airlines, Inc., and Northeast Airlines, Inc., which establishes ticketing time limits in certain East Coast Markets[1] in an effort to alleviate reservation problems during peak holiday periods.[2]

[1] Between Fort Lauderdale, Fort Myers, Key West, Miami, Sarasota/Bradenton, Tampa/St. Petersburg, and West Palm Beach on the one hand, and, Baltimore, Boston, Hartford/Springfield, New Haven, New York/Newark, Philadelphia, Providence, Washington, D.C., and Wilmington on the other hand.

[2] Southbound from Dec. 15, through Dec. 26, 1967, and northbound from Dec. 30, 1967 through Jan. 7, 1968.

Under the agreement the following limits upon the time for ticketing and payment of the tariff fares would be applied to all reservations for transportation in these markets during peak travel periods.

Reservations accepted before departure date	Ticketing Time Limit
2 months or more	30 days from booking date.
1 month but less than 2 months.	18 days from booking date.
15 days but less than 1 month.	72 hours from booking date.
72 hours but less than 15 days.	24 hours from booking date.
Less than 72 hours	No later than 30 minutes before departure.

These ticketing limitations would apply to all bookings made by the three carriers and by travel agents, and would also apply to allocations of seats made to travel agents for peak period transportation in the markets involved.

The carriers have also requested authority to file the tariff revisions necessary to implement the agreement to become effective on less than 10 days notice.

This agreement has been reached after discussions authorized by the Board[1] in an effort to relieve the problems which the public has been experiencing in obtaining reservations for East Coast-Florida travel during peak travel holiday seasons. By establishing ticketing time limits and thereby requiring payment of transportation charges on each booking, the problem of multiple reservations should be alleviated and substantially more seats made available for advanced sale. A similar result should be obtained from the application of these ticketing time limits to seats allocated to travel agents while affording them a reasonable opportunity to promote travel and sell their allocated space.

It appears that the procedures to be adopted under the agreement are reasonably designed to resolve at least a part of the peak period reservation problem in this market. Whether it will succeed in resolving the entire problem can be ascertained only after we have had an opportunity to evaluate it on the basis of experience. Under these circumstances we do not find the agreement to be in violation of the Act or contrary to the public interest and have concluded that it should be approved.

We have also concluded that the carriers should be authorized to file tariff revisions necessary to implement the agreement to be effective on 10 days' notice.

According, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a), 412, and 414 thereof,

It is ordered, That:

1. Agreement C.A.B. 19655 be and is hereby approved.

2. Eastern Air Lines, Inc., National Airlines, Inc., and Northeast Airlines, Inc., are hereby authorized to file tariff revisions necessary to implement the agreement approved herein to become effective on 10 days' notice.

3. This order shall be served upon Eastern Air Lines, Inc., National Airlines, Inc., and Northeast Airlines, Inc.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Secretary.

[Docket No. 18800; Order No. E-25434]

WEST COAST AIRLINES, INC.

Order To Show Cause

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 17th day of July, 1967.

In the matter of an investigation to determine whether the certificate of public convenience and necessity for Route 77 of West Coast Airlines, Inc., should be amended so as to suspend or delete its authority to serve Port Angeles, Wash., Docket 18800.

Angeles Flying Service (AFS), an air taxi operator based at Port Angeles, Wash., has filed with the Board a letter[1] asking that the Board institute an investigation of the service rendered by West Coast Airlines, Inc. (West Coast), at Port Angeles. AFS requests further that West Coast's authority to serve Port Angeles be suspended. Communications have also been received from the city authorities of Port Angeles and from various persons in the community, all supporting AFS's informal petition.

As the result of a preliminary investigation, the Board has determined to institute an investigation to consider whether or not West Coast's certificate authority at Port Angeles should be suspended or deleted. Furthermore, we have tentatively concluded, for the reasons hereinafter set forth, that West Coast should be deleted at Port Angeles.

Port Angeles is located on the Olympic Peninsula some 68 air miles northwest of Seattle, from which it is separated by the waters of Puget Sound. West Coast was certificated to serve Port Angeles in 1946,[2] and since 1947 has provided the community with various patterns of service to Seattle, its principal community of interest, primarily with DC-3 aircraft. Until about 1960, West Coast provided Port Angeles with a two-daily-round-trip, commuter type of service to Seattle, and between 1949 and 1960 its passenger boardings at Port Angeles averaged around 7,300 a year, or some 20 a day—considerably in excess of the Board's "use it or lose it" standard. Beginning in 1961, however, West Coast made a number of shifts in its schedules, reducing its service from two daily round trips to one between April 1962 and January 1963 and again from April 1964 on. Schedule reliability also seems to have declined. As a result of these changes, West Coast's boardings at Port Angeles fell sharply, reaching a level of only 904 for the twelve months ending June 30, 1966.

Meanwhile, in May 1964, AFS commenced service between Port Angeles and Seattle, providing three daily round trips utilizing two twin-engine Piper Aztecs and a Beechcraft D-18. AFS's passenger boardings rose as West Coast's continued to fall, and soon were several times West Coast's.

This was the situation which prevailed until about a month ago. On May 25, 1967, however, West Coast inaugurated service between Port Angeles and Seattle with eight-passenger Piper Navajos on a three-daily-round-trip schedule, the flight times being almost identical with those of AFS. Like AFS's flights, West Coast's serve both Seattle's Boeing Field and the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. AFS charges its Port Angeles passengers a fare of $9 to Boeing Field and $11 to Sea-Tac; West Coast's fare to both points is $9. The reaction of the community to this development, as expressed to the Board by its representatives, has been not approval but fear that West Coast's new service will force AFS out of the market.[3]

The Seattle-Port Angeles segment has always been a stub-end on West Coast's system, having very little integration

[1] Order E-25128, May 15, 1967.

[1] Because AFS's letter did not comply with the requirements of the Board's Procedural Regulations with respect to form, number of copies filed, and service of affected parties, it was not assigned a docket number. This informality, however, does not affect the Board's power to undertake an investigation on its own initiative.

[2] West Coast Case, 6 C.A.B. 961 (1946).

[3] A copy of the letter received from the City Manager of Port Angeles, dated June 5, 1967, informing the Board of the unanimous vote of the Port Angeles City Council "to support AFS against West Coast," will be placed in the correspondence section of the docket in the investigation we are instituting herein, as will the letter of complaint from AFS dated Mar. 20, 1967.

with the rest of that system.[4] Not only is the hop a short one (68 miles), even by local service carrier standards, but West Coast's length of haul for Port Angeles passengers has also been exceptionally short, since few of them have utilized West Coast's services to any point beyond Seattle. Thus, in 1959, a typical year during the period when West Coast's Port Angeles traffic was at its height, out of 16,460 O&D passengers exchanged between Port Angeles and all other points, 13,570 (82 percent) were local passengers to Seattle, and a further 1,910 (12 percent) made connections there with other carriers; only 980 local and connecting passengers (6 percent) used West Coast's services to all other points on its system, or slightly over one passenger a day each way. By 1966, when West Coast's Port Angeles O&D traffic had fallen to 2,130, Seattle local and connecting passengers were still 73 percent and 14 percent of the total, respectively, while only 270—13 percent of the total and only a fraction of one passenger per day—moved to other points on West Coast's system.

Based on the foregoing considerations, most of which do not appear to be subject to material dispute, we tentatively find and conclude as follows:

(1) The air transportation needs of Port Angeles consist almost exclusively of a need for well-timed, convenient commuter service to Seattle. There exists no substantial public need for single-plane or single-carrier service to any other point.

(2) Because of Port Angeles' location and the nature of its air travel needs, neither the community nor the carrier serving it derives any material benefit from the fact that such carrier also serves other points in addition to Seattle.

(3) West Coast's service at Port Angeles in recent years, at the level of traffic which has prevailed and in the absence of any traffic support from other points, has been uneconomic.

(4) Since 1964, AFS has rendered a service at Port Angeles which in the opinion of the community's representatives has met the community's travel needs, and has done so without Federal subsidy support.

(5) The competition between AFS and West Coast which has prevailed since May 25, 1967, when West Coast inaugurated its small-plane schedules matching AFS's existing service, appears to be uneconomic and cannot be expected to continue.

(6) It appears that the representatives of the Port Angeles community fully understand the difference between air taxi service, which is permissive, and service by a certificated carrier, which carries with it a statutory duty of continuous and adequate service. Nonetheless, when faced with a choice between keeping AFS's service and losing West Coast's or keeping West Coast's and losing AFS's, the representatives of the community strongly prefer the former alternative.

(7) Deletion of West Coast at Port Angeles would not be detrimental to West Coast or to any other person.

(8) Under all the circumstances, there appears to be no justification for Federal subsidy support for West Coast's Port Angeles operation, and no possibility of continuing that operation without such subsidy support.

Upon consideration of the foregoing, the Board tentatively finds and concludes that the public convenience and necessity require, and the Board should order, the alteration, amendment or modification of West Coast's certificate of public convenience and necessity for Route 77 in such a manner as to delete the authority of West Coast to serve Port Angeles, Wash.

In granting interested persons the opportunity to show why our tentative findings and conclusions should not be adopted, we expect such persons to direct their objections, if any, to specific markets and to support such objections with detailed answers, specifically setting forth the tentative findings and conclusions to which objection is taken. Such objection should be accompanied by arguments of fact or law and should be supported by legal precedent or detailed economic analysis. General, vague and unsupported objections will not be entertained.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

1. A proceeding be and it hereby is instituted in Docket 18800 pursuant to section 401(g) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, to determine whether the public convenience and necessity require, and the Board should order, the amendment of the certificate of public convenience and necessity held by West Coast Airlines, Inc., for Route 77 in such a manner as to delete the authority of West Coast to serve Port Angeles, Wash.;

2. All interested persons are directed to show cause why the Board should not issue an order making final the tentative findings and conclusions stated herein and amend West Coast's certificate of public convenience and necessity in such a manner as to delete the authority of West Coast to serve Port Angeles, Wash.

3. Any interested persons having objection to the issuance of an order making final the proposed findings, conclusions and certificate amendments set forth herein shall, within 20 days after service of a copy of this order, file with the Board and serve upon all persons made parties to this proceeding a statement of objections together with a summary of testimony, statistical data, and other evidence expected to be relied upon to support the stated objections;

4. If timely and properly supported objections are filed, full consideration will be accorded the matters or issues raised by the objections before further action is taken by the Board.[5]

5. In the event no objections are filed, all further procedural steps will be deemed to have been waived, and the case will be submitted to the Board for final action; and

6. A copy of this order shall be served upon: West Coast Airlines, Inc., Angeles Flying Service, and the City of Port Angeles, Wash., who are hereby made parties to this case.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Secretary.

[4] For a time West Coast served Port Angeles and Bellingham, Wash., on the same flights—a circuitous service pattern which greatly increased Port Angeles-Seattle flight times—but this pattern terminated when Bellingham was deleted from West Coast's system in the West Coast "Use It or Lose It" and Route Realignment Case, Order E-21162, Aug. 7, 1964. The same order consolidated the Seattle-Port Angeles segment into West Coast's present segment 1, but this contributed nothing material to the carrier's operational flexibility since traffic between Port Angeles and West Coast points other than Seattle has been far too thin to support flights bypassing Seattle. West Coast has in fact not provided single-plane service beyond Seattle.

[5] All motions and/or petitions for reconsideration shall be filed within the period allowed for filing objections and no further such motions, requests or petitions for reconsideration of this order will be entertained.

NATIONAL AVIATION CORP.

Notice of Filing of Application for Order of Exemption To Permit Purchase of Securities During Underwriting

JULY 17, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that National Aviation Corp. ("Applicant"), 111 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10006, a closed-end, nondiversified management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), has filed an application pursuant to section 10(f) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of section 10(f) a proposed purchase by the Applicant at the public offering price of up to $2 million principal amount of the Convertible Subordinated Debentures due 1987 ("the debentures") which the Northrop Corp. ("the Issuer") proposes to issue. The proposed purchase is a portion of an offering of $30 million principal amount of the debentures expected to be offered to the public as soon as the registration statement on Form S–1 of the Issuer, filed June 30, 1967, shall be made effective pursuant to section 8(a) of the Securities Act of 1933. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations made therein which are summarized below.

The firm of Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes will probably be one of the principal underwriters for the issue. Howard E. Buhse, a director of Applicant and a member of the executive committee, is a partner of that firm. Section 10(f) of the Act, as here pertinent, provides that no registered investment company shall knowingly purchase or otherwise acquire, during the existence of any underwriting or selling syndicate, any security (except a security of which such company is the issuer) if a director of the registered investment company is an affiliate of the principal underwriter of such security. Since one of the Applicant's directors is an affiliated person of one of the principal underwriters offering the debentures, the purchase thereof by the Applicant is prohibited. The Commission may exempt a transaction from this prohibition if and to the extent that such exemption is consistent with the protection of investors.

The Applicant in support of its application asserts that the proposed purchase of the debentures is consistent with Applicant's investment objectives and policies, and is not proposed for the purpose of stimulating the market in the debentures or for the purpose of relieving the underwriters of securities otherwise unmarketable, that it will not purchase the debentures from Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes, that the terms of the proposed investment, if consummated, are fair and reasonable, that the amount paid will represent 1.7 percent of the Applicant's assets as of June 30, 1967, and that if the proposed investment is consummated, Applicant's interest in all of the securities of the Issuer will then be 3.3 percent of its total assets as of June 30, 1967.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than July 31, 1967, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon applicant at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0–5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

Notice of Applications for Certificates, Abandonment of Service and Petitions To Amend Certificates[1]

JULY 11, 1967.

Take notice that each of the Applicants listed herein has filed an application or petition pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for authorization to sell natural gas in interstate commerce or to abandon service heretofore authorized as described herein, all as more fully described in the respective applications and amendments which are on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before August 3, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on all applications in which no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein if the Commission on its own review of the matter believes that a grant of the certificates or the authorization for the proposed abandonment is required by the public convenience and necessity. Where a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or where the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given: Provided, however, That pursuant to § 2.56, Part 2, Statement of General Policy and Interpretations, Chapter I of Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as amended, all permanent certificates of public convenience and necessity granting applications, filed after April 15, 1965, without further notice, will contain a condition precluding any filing of an increased rate at a price in excess of that designated for the particular area of production for the period prescribed therein unless at the time of filing such certificate application, or within the time fixed herein for the filing of protests or petitions to intervene the Applicant indicates in writing that it is unwilling to accept such a condition. In the event Applicant is unwilling to accept such condition the application will be set for formal hearing.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

GORDON M. GRANT,
Secretary.

[Docket No. G-8294, etc.]

JOHN B. HAWLEY, JR., ET AL.

Findings and Order

JULY 12, 1967.

John B. Hawley, Jr., and G. S. Davidson, Trustees under John B. Hawley, Jr., Trust No. 1 (successor to John B. Hawley, Jr.), and other Applicants listed herein; Docket Nos. G-8294, et al.

Findings and orders after statutory hearing issuing certificates of public convenience and necessity, canceling docket numbers, amending certificates, permitting and approving abandonment of service, terminating certificates, terminating rate proceeding, substituting respondents, making successors co-respondents, redesignating proceedings, accepting agreements and undertakings for filing, requiring filing of surety bonds, and accepting related rate schedules and supplements for filing.

Each of the Applicants listed herein has filed an application pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale and delivery or natural gas in interstate commerce, for permission and approval to abandon service, or a petition to amend an existing certificate authorization, all as more fully described in the respective applications and petitions (and any supplements or amendments thereto) which are on file with the Commission.

The Applicants herein have filed related FPC Gas Rate Schedules and propose to initiate or abandon, add or delete natural gas service in interstate commerce as indicated by the tabulation herein. All sales certificated herein are at rates either equal to or below the ceiling prices established by the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended, or involve sales for which permanent certificates have been previously issued; except that the sales from the Permian Basin area of New Mexico are authorized to be made at the applicable area base rate and under the conditions prescribed in Opinion Nos. 468 and 468-A.

John B. Hawley, Jr., and G. S. Davidson, Trustees under John B. Hawley, Jr., Trust No. 1, Applicants in Docket Nos. G-9268 and G-9477, and John B. Hawley, Jr., and G. S. Davidson, Trustees under John B. Hawley, Jr., Trust No. 1 (Operator), et al., Applicants in Docket No. G-13570, proposes to continue the sales of natural gas heretofore authorized to be made in said dockets pursuant to John B. Hawley, Jr., FPC Gas Rate Schedule Nos. 2 and 3 and John B. Hawley, Jr. (Operator), et al., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 4, respectively. Said rate schedules will be redesignated as those of Applicants. The presently effective rates under said rate schedules are in effect subject to refund in Docket Nos. RI63-368, RI64-595 and RI62-522, respectively. A prior increased rate was collected under the predecessor's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 3 subject to refund in Docket No. G-18101. Applicants have filed motions to be substituted as respondents in all of their predecessor's rate proceedings and have submitted agreements and undertakings to assure the refunds of all amounts collected in excess of the amounts determined to be just and reasonable in said proceedings. Therefore, Applicants will be substituted in lieu of their predecessor as respondent in each proceeding, the proceedings will be redesignated accordingly, and the agreements and undertakings will be accepted for filing.

Glenn F. Thomas doing business as Thomas Petroleum (Operator) et al., Applicant in Docket No. G-18513, proposes to continue the sale of natural gas heretofore authorized in said docket to be made pursuant to Glenn F. Thomas, et al., doing business as Thomas & Brewer (Operator) et. al., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 1. Said rate schedule will be redesignated as that of Applicant. The presently effective rate under said rate schedule is in effect subject to refund in Docket No. RI63-43. Concurrently with the subject application Applicant filed a motion to be added as party respondent in the proceeding pending in Docket No. RI63-43 effective as of the date of transfer of the producing properties. In his certificate application Applicant indicates that he intends to be responsible for the total refund from the time that the increased rate was made effective subject to refund. An agreement and undertaking accompanied the application and motion but does not state the extent to which Applicant is assuming the refund obligation. Therefore, Applicant will be made a co-respondent with his predecessor in the proceeding pending in Docket No. RI63-43, the proceeding will be redesignated accordingly, and the agreement and undertaking will be accepted for filing to assure the refund of any amounts collected by Applicant in excess of the amount determined to be just and reasonable in said proceeding. If Applicant intends to assume the refund obligation of his predecessor, he should so advise the Commission.

V. F. Neuhaus, Applicant in Docket Nos. G-11172 and CI61-783, proposes to continue the sales of natural gas heretofore authorized in said dockets to be made pursuant to Shell Oil Company FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 193 and Shell Oil Co. (Operator) et al., FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 271, respectively. Said rate schedules will be redesignated as those of Applicant. The presently effective rates under said rate schedules are in effect subject to refund in Docket Nos. RI65-475 and RI63-411, respectively, and Applicant has filed motions to be made corespondent in said proceedings. Therefore, Applicant will be made co-respondent in the proceedings pending in Docket Nos. RI63-411 and RI65-475, said proceedings will be redesignated accordingly, and Applicant will be required to file a surety bond in each proceeding to assure the refunds of any amounts collected by him in excess of the amounts determined to be just and reasonable in said proceedings.

Continental Oil Co., Applicant in Docket No. CI67-1665, proposes to continue in part the sale of natural gas heretofore authorized in Docket No. G-12236 to be made pursuant to J. M. Huber Corp. FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 26. The contract comprising said rate schedule will also be accepted for filing as a rate schedule of Applicant. The presently effective rate under said rate schedule is in effect subject to refund in Docket No. G-20444, and Applicant has filed a motion to be made corespondent in said proceeding together with an agreement and undertaking to assure the refund of any amounts collected by it in excess of the amount determined to be just and reasonable in said proceeding. Therefore, Applicant will be made corespondent in the proceeding pending in Docket No. G-20444, the proceeding will be redesignated accordingly, and the agreement and undertaking will be accepted for filing.

The Commission's staff has reviewed each application and recommends each action ordered as consistent with all substantive Commission policies and required by the public convenience and necessity.

After due notice, no petitions to intervene, notices of intervention, or protests to the granting of any of the respective applications or petitions in this order have been received.

At a hearing held on July 6, 1967, the Commission on its own motion received and made a part of the record in these proceedings all evidence, including the applications, amendments and exhibits thereto, submitted in support of the respective authorizations sought herein, and upon consideration of the record,

The Commission finds:

(1) Each Applicant herein is a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act as heretofore found by the Commission or will be engaged in the sale of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale for ultimate public consumption, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and will therefore, be a "natural-gas company" within the meaning of said Act upon the commencement of the service under the respective authorizations granted hereinafter.

(2) The sales of natural gas hereinbefore described, as more fully described in the respective applications, amendments and/or supplements herein, will be made in interstate commerce, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and such sales by the respective Applicants, together with the construction and operation of any facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission necessary therefor, are subject to the requirements of subsections (c) and (e) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act.

(3) The respective Applicants are able and willing properly to do the acts and to perform the services proposed and to conform to the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the requirements, rules and regulations of the Commission thereunder.

(4) The sales of natural gas by the respective Applicants, together with the construction and operation of any facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission necessary therefor, are required by the public convenience and necessity and certificates therefore should be issued as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

(5) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that Docket Nos. CI67-1450, CI67-1550 and CI67-1655 should be canceled and that the applications filed herein should be processed as petitions to amend the certificates heretofore issued in Docket Nos. G-7408, G-4233 and CI63-730, respectively.

(6) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the public convenience and necessity require that the certificate authorizations heretofore issued by the Commission in Docket Nos. G-4233, G-4727, G-7408, G-8294, G-9143, G-9268, G-9477, G-11172, G-11838, G-12236, G-13103, G-13570, G-18513, CI60-189, CI60-193, CI61-763, CI61-783, CI61-957, CI62-845, CI61-1450, CI63-20, CI63-730, CI64-130, CI64-567, and CI65-603 should be amended as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

(7) The sales of natural gas proposed to be abandoned by the respective Applicants, as hereinbefore described, all as more fully described in the respective applications and in the tabulation herein, are subject to the requirements of subsection (b) of section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, and such abandonments should be permitted and approved as hereinafter ordered.

(8) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the certificates of public convenience and necessity heretofore issued to the respective Applicants relating to the abandonments hereinafter permitted and approved should be terminated.

(9) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the rate suspension proceeding pending in Docket No. RI65-596 should be terminated.

(10) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that John B. Hawley, Jr., and G. S. Davidson, Trustees under John B. Hawley, Jr., Trust No. 1, should be substituted in lieu of John B. Hawley, Jr., as respondents in the proceedings pending in Docket Nos. G-18101, RI62-268 and RI64-596; that John B. Hawley, Jr., and G. S. Davidson, Trustees under John B. Hawley, Jr., Trust No. 1 (Operator) et al., should be substituted in lieu of John B. Hawley, Jr. (Operator) et al., as respondents in the proceeding pending in Docket No. RI62-522; that said proceedings should be redesignated accordingly; and that the agreements and undertakings submitted by the successors in said proceedings should be accepted for filing.

(11) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that Glenn F. Thomas doing business as Thomas Petroleum (Operator) et al., should be a corespondent in the proceeding pending in Docket No. RI63-43, that said proceeding should be redesignated accordingly, and that the agreement and undertaking submitted by Glenn F. Thomas doing business as Thomas Petroleum (Operator) et al., should be accepted for filing.

(12) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that V. F. Neuhaus should be corespondent in the proceedings pending in Docket Nos. RI63-411 and RI65-475, that said proceedings should be redesignated accordingly, and that V. F. Neuhaus should be required to file surety bonds in said proceedings.

(13) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that Continental Oil Co. should be a corespondent in the proceeding pending in Docket No. G-20444, that said proceeding should be redesignated accordingly, and that the agreement and undertaking submitted by Continental in said proceeding should be accepted for filing.

(14) It is necessary and appropriate in carrying out the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the respective related rate schedules and supplements as designated in the tabulation herein should be accepted for filing as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Certificates of public convenience and necessity are issued upon the terms and conditions of this order, authorizing the sales by the respective Applicants herein of natural gas in interstate commerce for resale, together with the construction and operation of any facilities subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission necessary for such sales, all as hereinbefore described and as more fully described in the respective applications, amendments, supplements, and exhibits in this proceeding.

(B) The certificates granted in paragraph (A) above are not transferable and shall be effective only so long as Applicants continue the acts or operations hereby authorized in accordance with the provisions of the Natural Gas Act and the applicable rules, regulations and orders of the Commission.

(C) The grant of the certificates issued in paragraph (A) above shall not be construed as a waiver of the requirements of section 4 of the Natural Gas

Act or of Part 154 or Part 157 of the Commission's regulations thereunder, and is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been or may hereafter be made by the Commission in any proceedings now pending or hereafter instituted by or against the respective Applicants. Further, our action in this proceeding shall not foreclose nor prejudice any future proceedings or objections relating to the operation of any price or related provisions in the gas purchase contracts herein involved. Nor shall the grant of the certificates aforesaid for service to the particular customers involved imply approval of all of the terms of the respective contracts particularly as to the cessation of service upon termination of said contracts, as provided by section 7(b) of the Natural Gas Act. Nor shall the grant of the certificates aforesaid be construed to preclude the imposition of any sanctions pursuant to the provisions of the Natural Gas Act for the unauthorized commencement of any sales of natural gas subject to said certificates.

(D) The grant of the certificates issued herein on all applications filed after April 15, 1965, is upon the condition that no increase in rate which would exceed the ceiling prescribed for the given area by paragraph (d) of the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61–1, as amended, shall be filed prior to the applicable date, as indicated by footnote 4 in the attached tabulation.

(E) The initial rates for sales authorized in Docket Nos. CI65–603 and CI67–1572 shall be the applicable base area rates prescribed in Opinion No. 468, as modified by Opinion No. 468–A, as adjusted for quality, or the contract rates, whichever are lower; and no increases in rate in excess of said initial rates shall be filed before January 1, 1968.

(F) If the quality of the gas delivered by Applicants in Docket Nos. CI65–603 and CI67–1572 deviates at any time from the quality standards set forth in Opinion No. 468, as modified by Opinion No. 468–A, so as to require a downward adjustment of the existing rate, a notice of change in rate shall be filed pursuant to the provisions of section 4 of the Natural Gas Act; provided, however, that adjustments reflecting changes in Btu content of the gas shall be computed by the applicable formula and charged without the filing of notices of changes in rate.

(G) Within 90 days from the date of initial delivery Applicants in Docket Nos. CI65–603 and CI67–1572 shall file rate schedule quality statements in the form prescribed in Opinion No. 468–A.

(H) The initial price for the sale authorized in Docket No. CI67–1223 shall be 15.0 cents per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a.

(I) The acceptance for filing of the rate filing in Docket No. CI67–1660 is contingent upon Applicant's filing three copies of a billing statement as required by the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

(J) A certificate is issued herein in Docket No. CI67–782 authorizing Applicant to continue the sale of natural gas which was initiated without prior Commission authorization.

(K) A certificate is issued herein in Docket No. CI67–1676 authorizing Applicant to continue the sale of natural gas being rendered on June 7, 1964, by the predecessor.

(L) Docket Nos. CI67–1450, CI67–1550 and CI67–1655 are canceled.

(M) The certificates heretofore issued in Docket Nos. G–7408, G–11838, and G–13103 are amended by adding thereto or deleting therefrom authorization to sell natural gas to the same purchasers and in the same areas as covered by the original authorizations pursuant to the rate schedule supplements as indicated in the tabulation herein.

(N) The certificate heretofore issued in Docket No. CI65–603 is amended to include the sale of natural gas from the additional acreage and to include the interest of the nonsignatory coowners pursuant to the rate schedule supplements as indicated in the tabulation herein.

(O) The certificates heretofore issued in Docket Nos. G–4727, G–12236 and CI63–20 are amended by deleting therefrom authorization to sell natural gas from acreage assigned to Applicants in Docket Nos. CI67–1582, CI67–1665, and CI67–1596, respectively.

(P) The acceptance for filing of the related rate schedule in Docket No. CI67–1665 is contingent upon Applicant's filing three copies of a billing statement as required by the regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

(Q) The certificates heretofore issued in Docket Nos. Chapter IX—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruits, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

[Valencia Orange Reg. 212]

PART 908—VALENCIA ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

§ 908.512 Valencia Orange Regulation 212.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and this part (Order No. 908, as amended), regulating the handling of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Valencia Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Valencia oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on July 20, 1967.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of Valencia oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period July 23, 1967, through July 29, 1967, are hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: 135,000 cartons;

(ii) District 2: 365,000 cartons;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) As used in the section, "handled," "handler," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: July 21, 1967.

[Lemon Reg. 277]

PART 910—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

§ 910.577 Lemon Regulation 277.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for lemons and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on July 18, 1967.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period July 23, 1967, through July 29, 1967, are hereby fixed as follows:

(i) District 1: Unlimited movement;

(ii) District 2: 232,500 cartons;

(iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) As used in this section, "handled," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: July 20, 1967.

[Prune Reg. 5]

PART 924—FRESH PRUNES GROWN IN DESIGNATED COUNTIES IN WASHINGTON AND IN UMATILLA COUNTY, OREG.

Limitation of Shipments

Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement and Order No. 924 (7 CFR Part 924), regulating the handling of fresh prunes grown in designated counties in Washington and in Umatilla County, Oreg., effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674), and upon the recommendations of the Washington-Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee, established under the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of fresh prunes, in the manner herein provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that, as hereinafter set forth, the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient; a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective not later than July 24, 1967. A reasonable determination as to the supply of, and the demand for, prunes must await the development of the crop and adequate information thereon was not available to the Washington-Oregon Fresh Prune Marketing Committee until July 11, 1967, recommendation as to the need for, and the extent of, regulation of shipments of such prunes was made at the meeting of said committee on July 11, 1967, after consideration of all available information relative to the supply and demand conditions for such prunes, at which time the recommendation and supporting information were submitted to the Department; necessary supplemental information for consideration in connection with the specifications of the provisions were not available until July 14, 1967; shipments of the current crop of such prunes will begin on or about July 24, 1967, and this regulation should be applicable, insofar as practicable, to all shipments of such prunes in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act; and compliance with the provisions of this regulation will not require of handlers any preparation therefor which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

(a) Order: Prune Regulation 4, as amended (31 F.R. 10035, 10665), is hereby terminated on July 24, 1967.

(b) During the period July 24, 1967, through July 31, 1968, no handler shall handle any lot of prunes unless such prunes meet the following applicable requirements, or are handled in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph:

(1) Minimum grade requirement: Such prunes grade at least U.S. No. 1: Provided, That any prunes having not less than two-thirds (⅔) of the surface with purplish color may be shipped if they otherwise grade at least U.S. No. 1.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, any individual shipment which, in the aggregate, does not exceed 500 pounds, net weight, of prunes of the Brooks, Stanley, or Merton varieties of prunes, or 150 pounds, net weight, of prunes of any variety other than Brooks, Stanley, or Merton varieties of prunes, which meets each of the following requirements may be handled without regard to the restrictions of this paragraph, of § 924.41 (Assessments), and of § 924.55 (Inspection and Certification):

(i) The shipment consists of prunes sold for home use and not for resale; and

(ii) Each container is stamped or marked with the handler's name and address and with the words "not for resale" in letters at least one-half inch in height.

(3) The term "U.S. No. 1" shall have the same meaning as when used in the U.S. Standards for Fresh Plums and Prunes (§§ 51.1520–51.1537 of this title); the term "purplish color" shall have the same meaning as when used in the Washington State Department of Agriculture Standards for Italian Prunes (May 1954) and in the Oregon State Department of Agriculture Standards for Italian Prunes (July 1965); and, except as otherwise specified, all other terms shall have the same meaning as when used in the marketing agreement and order.

Chapter X—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Milk), Department of Agriculture

[Milk Order 127]

PART 1127—MILK IN SAN ANTONIO, TEX., MARKETING AREA

Order Suspending Certain Provision

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937 as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and of the order regulating the handling of milk in the San Antonio, Tex., marketing area (7 CFR Part 1127), it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provision of the order no longer tends to effectuate the declared policy of the Act for the period from July 1, 1967, through August 31, 1967: The provision contained in § 1127.11 which reads: "Provided, That if the days of production of such person for which milk is diverted exceed one-third of the days of production that milk is delivered to a pool plant during the month, such milk shall cease to be producer milk for the entire period of such diversions".

(b) Thirty days notice of the effective date hereof is impractical, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparation prior to the effective date.

(2) This suspension order is necessary to reflect current marketing conditions and to maintain orderly marketing conditions in the marketing area.

(3) This suspension order will continue for another 2 months an earlier suspension of such provision for April through June 1967 and is necessary to provide for the orderly disposal of producer milk excess to fluid milk needs by removing a limitation on diversions of such producer milk to manufactured product uses at nonpool plants. Much of the reserve milk for this market has been handled at pool plants operated by cooperative associations where it was used in the manufacture of semiprocessed cheese which is shipped to distant points for final processing. The outlet for this semiprocessed cheese is not currently available, so that larger quantities of producer milk must be diverted to nonpool plants under the producer milk diversion provisions of the order.

(4) Interested parties were afforded opportunity to file written data, views, or arguments concerning this suspension (32 F.R. 9697). None were filed in opposition to the proposed suspension. A cooperative association of producers filed views requesting continuation of the earlier suspension referred to hereinbefore to assist in disposing of excess milk on the market resulting from loss of some sales outlets and a continued seasonally high production this year.

It is therefore ordered, That the aforesaid provision of the order is hereby suspended for the period of July 1, 1967, through August 31, 1967.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Effective date: July 1, 1967.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 18, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

PART 1421—GRAINS AND SIMILARLY HANDLED COMMODITIES

Subpart—Tung Oil Warehouse-Stored Loan Program

1967 TUNG OIL SUPPORT RATE

The Commodity Credit Corporation will support the price of 1967-crop tung nuts by means of warehouse-stored loans on eligible 1967-crop tung oil under the terms and conditions set forth in the General Regulations Governing Price Support for the 1964 and Subsequent Crops (Rev. 1) (31 F.R. 5941) and any amendments thereto, as supplemented by the Tung Oil Warehouse-Stored Loan Program Regulations, 31 F.R. 11932. In order to provide a price support loan rate for 1967-crop tung oil, § 1421.3695 of the Tung Oil Warehouse-Stored Loan Program Regulations is hereby amended to read as follows:

Loans on eligible tung oil produced from 1966-crop tung nuts shall be made at the rate of 24 cents per pound. Loans on eligible tung oil produced from 1967-crop tung nuts shall be made at the rate of 24 cents per pound.

(Secs. 4, 5, 23 Stat. 32, as amended, secs. 1, 2, 32 Stat. 791–792, as amended, sec. 3, 33 Stat. 1265, as amended, sec. 2, 65 Stat. 693; 21 U.S.C. 111–113, 114a–1, 120, 121, 125; 29 F.R. 16210, as amended; 9 CFR 78.16)

Effective date. The foregoing amendment shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The amendment adds the following areas to the list of areas designated as modified certified brucellosis areas because it has been determined that such areas come within the definition of § 78.1(l): Lowndes County in Alabama; Iberia County in Louisiana; Coahoma, Calhoun, and Copiah Counties in Mississippi; Washita County in Oklahoma; Jim Hogg, Falls, and Milam Counties in Texas.

The following nine Counties in Texas were deleted from the list of modified certified brucellosis areas on the following dates: Bandera and Hudspeth, December 21, 1966; Floyd, Kerr, Lynn, and Sutton, March 17, 1967; Andrews, Real, and Reeves, April 29, 1967. Since said dates, it has been determined that such Counties again come within the definition of § 78.1(l); and therefore, they have been redesignated as modified certified brucellosis areas.

The amendment deletes the following area from the list of areas designated as modified certified brucellosis areas because it has been determined that such area no longer comes within the definition of § 78.1(l): Carson County in Texas.

The amendment imposes certain restrictions necessary to prevent the spread of brucellosis in cattle and relieves certain restrictions presently imposed. It should be made effective promptly in order to accomplish its purpose in the public interest and to be of maximum benefit to persons subject to the restrictions which are relieved. Accordingly, under the administrative procedure provisions of 5 U.S.C., section 553, it is found upon good cause that notice and other public procedure with respect to the amendment are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and good cause is found for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 19th day of July 1967.

E. E. SAULMON,
Director, Animal Health Division, Agricultural Research Service.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Airworthiness Docket No. 67-SW-15; Amdt. 39-446]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Aero Commander Models 500A, 500B, 560F, 680F, 680F (Pressurized), 680FL, and 680FL(P) Airplanes

A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive requiring the modification of the main landing gear upper retaining bearing on Aero Commander Model 500A, 500B, 560F, 680F, 680F (Pressurized), 680FL, and 680FL (P) airplanes was published in 32 F.R. 6099.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. No objections were received.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

AERO COMMANDER. Applies to Models 500A, 500B, 560F, 680F, 680F (Pressurized), 680FL, and 680FL(P) airplanes, serial numbers 871, 875, and 893 through 1535 except 1496, 1515, 1517, 1519, 1527, 1531, 1532, and 1534.

Compliance required within the next 25 hours time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless the modification has already been accomplished in accordance with Aero Commander Service Bulletin 83A dated June 25, 1965.

To prevent the main landing gear upper retaining bearing from rotating, accomplish the following:

Modify the main landing gear in accordance with Aero Commander Service Bulletin 83A dated June 25, 1965, or an equivalent approved by the Director, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration. Stamp the letter "B" after the design number on each landing gear data plate after the modification is made. Modification in accordance herewith obviates modification in accordance with Amendment 676 (29 F.R. 566), AD 64-2-1.

This amendment becomes effective August 28, 1967.

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on July 14, 1967.

HENRY L. NEWMAN,
Director, Southwest Region.

[Airworthiness Docket No. 67-WE-18-AD; Amdt. 39-445]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Boeing Model 727 Series Airplanes

There have been reports of failures of the main gear downlock rod assemblies on Boeing Model 727 Series airplanes which in two cases resulted in out-of-sequence operation of the door sequence valve and also in the gear falling on a closing door thus jamming the door and gear. With the door and gear jammed neither the normal hydraulic system nor the manual extension system can be used to extend the main gear. Since this condition is likely to exist or develop in other airplanes of the same type design, an airworthiness directive is being issued to require corrective action in the form of:

1. Inspection of the downlock rod and its attach bolts for wear on Boeing Model 727 Series airplanes having 800 or more hours time in service on the effective date of this AD;

2. Removal of the main gear uplock safety trigger cam, rework of the door sequence valve link, and replacement of the uplock switch link on affected airplanes; and

3. Replacement of the downlock rod attach bolts and nuts, installation of a reworked downlock rod with a metal-cal, and rework of the downlock rod or clevis holes on the main gear downlock torque shaft or tube as necessary on affected airplanes.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 F.R. 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

BOEING. Applies to Model 727 Series airplanes listed in Boeing Service Bulletin No. 32-123 (R-1 dated June 5, 1967).

Compliance required as indicated.

To detect visible wear and deformation of the main gear downlock rod and its attach bolts, to prevent wear and failure of the attach bolts caused by bolt rotation, and to prevent out-of-sequence operation of the door sequence valve following either rod failure or bolt failure, accomplish the following:

(a) For those airplanes having a main gear downlock rod assembly with 800 or more hours' time in service on the effective date of this AD, within the next 50 hours time in service, unless already accomplished within the previous 750 hours time in service, inspect each main gear downlock rod assembly for wear and deformation in accordance with Boeing telegraphic Service Bulletin No. 32-123 dated April 14, 1967, which is also repeated in the section entitled "I. Planning Information • • • C. Description • • • Part I • • •" of Boeing Service Bulletin 32-123 (R-1 dated June 5, 1967).

(b) If wear or deformation is detected during the inspection conducted in accordance with paragraph (a), unless already accomplished in accordance with subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, replace the affected part(s) before further flight (except that the airplane may be flown with the gear down in accordance with FAR 21.197 to a base where the replacement or modification can be performed) by accomplishing (1) or (2) below:

(1) Replace the affected part(s) with a new part(s) of the same part number and comply with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph within 750 hours time in service after this replacement; or

(2) Except as provided in this subparagraph, modify the main gear downlock rod assembly(ies) incorporating the replacement part(s) in accordance with the section entitled "II. Accomplishment Instructions • • • Part II • • •" of Boeing Service Bulletin No. 32-123 (R-1 dated June 5, 1967) or later FAA-approved revision or by an equivalent method approved by the Chief, Aircraft Engineering Division, FAA Western Region. Replacement of the downlock rod must be accomplished by installing downlock rod P/N 69-33654-2 with metal-cal BAC27DLG14 installed or P/N 69-33654-3 with metal-cal BAC27DLG14 installed. Provisions of the Boeing Service Bulletin referenced herein applicable to modification of the downlock pushrod are not incorporated by reference in this AD and the modification of this assembly need not be accomplished hereunder.

(c) For all airplanes, within the next 800 hours time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished, modify each main gear downlock rod assembly in accordance with that section entitled "II. Accomplishment Instructions • • • Part II • • •" of Boeing Service Bulletin No. 32-123 (R-1 dated June 5, 1967) and the main gear uplock assembly in accordance with that section entitled "II. Accomplishment Instructions • • • Part III • • •" of that Service Bulletin or later FAA-approved revision or by an equivalent method approved by the Chief, Aircraft Engineering Division, FAA Western Region. Replacement of the downlock rod must be accomplished by installing downlock rod P/N 69-33654-2 with metal-cal BAC27DLG14 installed, or P/N 69-33654-3 with metal-cal BAC27DLG14 installed. Provisions of the Boeing Service Bulletin referenced herein applicable to a modification of the downlock pushrod are not incorporated by reference in this AD and the modification of this assembly need not be accomplished hereunder.

NOTE: The absence of a requirement in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this AD to modify the downlock pushrod assembly is not intended to discourage operators from incorporating this modification. It merely indicates that the FAA does not deem this modification necessary to correct the unsafe condition described in this AD.

(d) Operators who have not kept records of hours time in service of individual main gear downlock rod assemblies shall substitute hours time in service of the airplane in lieu thereof.

(e) Upon request of the operator, an FAA Maintenance Inspector, subject to prior approval of the Regional Director, FAA Western Region, may adjust the compliance times herein if the request contains substantiating data to justify the increase for that operator.

This amendment becomes effective July 24, 1967.

(Secs. 313(a), 601, 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, 1423)

The manufacturer's specifications and procedures identified and described in this directive are incorporated herein and made a part hereof pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1). All persons affected by this directive who have not already received these documents from the manufacturer may obtain copies upon request to The Boeing Co., Commercial Airplane Division, Post Office Box 707, Renton, Wash. 98055. These documents may also be examined at FAA Western Region, 5651 West Manchester Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. 90045 and FAA Headquarters, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. A historical file on this AD which includes the incorporated material in full is maintained by the FAA at its headquarters in Washington, D.C., and at FAA Western Region.

Issued in Los Angeles, Calif., on July 12, 1967.

ARVIN O. BASNIGHT,
Regional Director, Western Region.

NOTE: The incorporation of reference provisions in this document were approved by the Director of the Federal Register on July 21, 1967.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-WA-12]

PART 75—ESTABLISHMENT OF JET ROUTES

Alteration and Designation of Jet Routes

On April 1, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 5473) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) was considering amendments to Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations which would realign and designate several jet routes to facilitate the provision of air traffic control service in the Chicago, Ill., and adjacent air route traffic control center areas.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. Only one comment was received in response to the notice. This comment, received from the Air Transport Association of America (ATA), concurred with the proposed actions with the exception of the new jet route proposed from Dubuque, Iowa, to Minneapolis, Minn. The ATA objection stated that there was insufficient justification to warrant the designation of this new jet route. The ATA contends Jet Route No. 30 adequately serves scheduled air traffic between Minneapolis and Chicago.

The present procedure when moderate to heavy traffic conditions prevail is to route southwest bound flights from Minneapolis via Jet Route No. 30. Northwest bound aircraft departing from Chicago for Minneapolis are provided radar vectors by Chicago Air Route Traffic Control Center to route them west of J–30 on a course towards Rochester, Minn. The Minneapolis Air Route Traffic Control Center continues the radar vectors west of J–30 towards Farmington, Minn., at which point the aircraft are handed off to Minneapolis Approach Control.

A comprehensive review of the high altitude traffic between Chicago and Minneapolis was conducted by the FAA on April 7, 1967, for a 24-hour period. This review showed a total of 81 aircraft movements between these two points. Of this total, approximately 60 movements are scheduled each day. The review showed a traffic control problem in the vicinity of Nodine, Minn., where opposite direction traffic must climb and descend through each other's altitude. Radar vectoring was required for 96 percent of the flights. We believe that a parallel route which provides navigational guidance for the pilot, in addition to our radar service, would be more efficient and desirable from both the user and ATC point of view.

The designation of the new jet route between Dubuque and Minneapolis will reduce the amount of radar vectoring required and will also provide an alternate high altitude route to be utilized by air traffic control when moderate to heavy traffic conditions prevail between Chicago and Minneapolis.

Several actions proposed in the notice were to designate new jet route segments from Hays Center, Nebr., to Dubuque via Wolbach, Nebr.; from Cimarron, N. Mex., to Garden City, Kans.; and to redesignate Jet Route No. 100 segment from Bryce Canyon, Utah, to Meeker, Colo. These proposals are being adopted herein and are being incorporated into existing or renumbered jet route alignments. These single number assignments will provide more flexibility for high altitude operations between Chicago and west coast terminals and will facilitate flight plan handling.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 75 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 75.100 (32 F.R. 2341, 3740, 5988, 7126), is amended as follows:

a. In Jet Route No. 82 all between "Fort Dodge, Iowa;" and "Joliet;" is deleted and "Dubuque, Iowa; INT of Dubuque 095° and Joliet, Ill., 317° radials;" is substituted therefor.

b. In Jet Route No. 84 all after "Des Moines, Iowa;" is deleted and "Dubuque, Iowa; to Northbrook, Ill." is substituted therefor.

c. In Jet Route No. 94 all between "Fort Dodge, Iowa;" and "Northbrook;" is deleted and "Dubuque, Iowa;" is substituted therefor.

d. Jet Route No. 96 is added:

JET ROUTE NO. 96 (LOS ANGELES, CALIF., TO JOLIET, ILL.)

From Los Angeles, Calif., via Ontario, Calif.; INT of Ontario 093° and Parker, Calif., 261° radials; Parker; Prescott, Ariz.; Winslow, Ariz.; Gallup, N. Mex.; Cimarron, N. Mex.; Garden City, Kans.; Salina, Kans.; Kirksville, Mo.; Bradford, Ill.; and to Joliet, Ill.

e. Jet Route No. 100 is amended to read as follows:

JET ROUTE NO. 100 (LOS ANGELES, CALIF., TO NORTHBROOK, ILL.)

From Los Angeles, Calif., via Hector, Calif.; Boulder, Nev.; Bryce Canyon, Utah; Meeker, Colo.; Sidney, Nebr.; Wolbach, Nebr.; Dubuque, Iowa; to Northbrook, Ill.

f. Jet Route No. 113 is added:

JET ROUTE NO. 113 (NORTHBROOK, ILL., TO MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.)

From Northbrook, Ill., via Dubuque Iowa; to Minneapolis, Minn.

g. In Jet Route No. 128 "(Los Angeles, Calif., to Denver, Colo.)" is deleted and "(Los Angeles, Calif., to Northbrook, Ill.)" is substituted therefor and "to Denver, Colo." is deleted and "Denver, Colo.; Hays Center, Nebr.; Wolbach, Nebr.; Dubuque, Iowa; to Northbrook, Ill." is substituted therefor.

Title 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter I—Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce

PART 60—PUBLIC INFORMATION

In order to further implement section 552, Title 5, United States Code, as amended by Public Law 90–23, June 5, 1967 (81 Stat. 54), and pursuant to Department Order 64, 32 F.R. 9734 of July 4, 1967, a new Part 60 is hereby added to Chapter I, Subtitle B, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations. The new part describes the arrangements whereby the materials specified in section 552(a)(2) are made available for public inspection and copying, and the procedures and other conditions whereby identifiable records requested by persons may be made available to them pursuant to section 552(a)(3). The new Part 60 reads as follows:

Sec.
60.1 Scope and purpose.
60.2 Policies.
60.3 Definitions.
60.4 Publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.
60.5 Availability of materials for inspection and copying.
60.6 Confidentiality of data collected by the Bureau of the Census.
60.7 Requests for identifiable records.
60.8 Agency determinations of availability of records.
60.9 Fees and charges.
60.10 Arrangements for public inspection and copying of available records.
60.11 Requests for reconsideration of nonavailability.
60.12 Subpoena or other compulsory process.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 60 issued pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552, 553; 5 U.S.C. 301; Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1950; other authorities vested by law in the Secretary of Commerce applicable to the dissemination of records and other information of the Department, including charges therefore; Department Order 64, 32 F.R. 9734 of July 4, 1967.

§ 60.1 Scope and purpose.

(a) This part contains the rules whereby the materials specified in 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2), and the identifiable records requested under 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3), are to be made publicly available by the Bureau of the Census.

§ 60.2 Policies.

Policies and other factors to be considered in issuing the rules in this part are set forth in Department Order 64.

§ 60.3 Definitions.

To the extent that terms used in this part are defined in 5 U.S.C. 551, they shall have the same definition herein.

§ 60.4 Publication in the Federal Register.

(a) Materials required to be published pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1) have been and shall continue to be so published, in one of the following ways:

(1) By publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the Department Orders of the Department of Commerce, including any supplements and appendices thereto, and of appropriate Secretary of Commerce Circulars and Department Administrative Orders;

(2) By publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of agency rules and regulations, and by their subsequent inclusion in the Code of Federal Regulations;

(3) By publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of appropriate general notices; and

(4) By other forms of publication, when incorporated by reference in the FEDERAL REGISTER with the approval of the Director of the Federal Register.

(b) Those materials which are published in the FEDERAL REGISTER pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1) shall, to the extent practicable and to further assist the public, be made available for inspection and copying at the facility identified in § 60.5(c).

§ 60.5 Availability of materials for inspection and copying.

(a) The Director, Bureau of the Census shall, as provided in 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) and subject to other provisions of law, establish and maintain a reference facility for the public inspection and copying of:

(1) Final opinions, including concurring and dissenting opinions, as well as orders, made in the adjudication of cases;

(2) Those statements of policy and interpretations which have been adopted by the Bureau and are not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER;

(3) Administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public;

(4) Current indexes providing identifying information for the public as to any matter which is (i) issued, adopted, or promulgated after July 4, 1967, and (ii) required to be made available or published by section 552(a)(2);

(5) Such additional materials as the Bureau of the Census may consider desirable and practicable to make available for the convenience of the public.

(b) The Bureau may, to prevent unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, delete identifying details when it makes available or publishes an opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, or staff manual or instruction, and shall, in each such case, explain in writing the justification for the deletion.

(c) The above materials may be inspected in the Bureau of the Census reference facility located at the Library Branch, Room 2455, f.o.b. No. 3, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233. This facility is open to the public Monday through Friday of each week, except on official Federal holidays, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. There are no fees or formal requirements for such inspections. Upon request, however, the facility will arrange to have copies of the above materials made at the cost shown in § 60.9(b)(3).

(d) Correspondence concerning the materials available in the facility should be sent to the above address. The telephone number of the facility is 440–1314, Area Code 301.

§ 60.6 Confidentiality of data collected by the Bureau of the Census.

(a) The Bureau of the Census is required by law to keep certain records confidential. Protection against unauthorized disclosures is provided by Title 13, U.S.C., section 9(a).

§ 60.7 Requests for identifiable records.

(a) The procedures of this section are applicable only to those records not customarily available to the public as part of the regular informational activities of the Bureau. The procedures and fees specifically do not apply to applications for personal census information. Applications for personal census information should be directed to the Bureau's Personal Census Service Branch at Pittsburg, Kansas.

(b) A person who wishes to inspect such a Bureau record should complete Form CD–244, "Application to Inspect Records," and submit this form, in person or by mail, to the facility identified in § 60.5(c). Copies of Form CD–244 are available from the reference facility.

(c) An application form shall be submitted for each record or group of records related to the same general subject matter. Each application form shall be accompanied by the nonrefundable application fee of $2.

(d) Detailed instructions for the completion of Form CD–244 are stated on the back of the form. Employees of the facility will assist the public to a reasonable extent in completing the form; however, the responsibility rests with the applicant for identifying each record sought in sufficient detail so that it can be located by personnel familiar with the filing of agency records. Each application shall clearly itemize, when there are more than one, each record requested so that it may be identified and its availability separately determined.

(e) The staff of the facility will review the application for completeness, and will record receipt of the fee. If the application appears in order, it shall be forwarded to the Bureau official who would appear to have official custody of the requested record to determine whether it is an identifiable and disclosable record. If the application is incomplete in some substantial and material respect, it shall be promptly returned to the applicant to complete.

§ 60.8 Agency determinations of availability of records.

(a) The official having custody of the record shall initially determine:

(1) Whether the requested record can be identified on the basis of the information supplied by the applicant. If he cannot identify the record, the application shall be transmitted to the facility for return to the applicant, specifying why it is not identifiable and what additional clarification, if any, the applicant may make to assist the facility in its identification.

(2) Whether the record, if identifiable, is still in existence or has been destroyed as provided by law, or is not in the possession of the organization. If the record no longer exists, the applicant shall be so notified, with the reason stated, via the facility. If the requested record is in another organization of the Department, or is the exclusive or primary concern of another executive department or agency, the application for such record shall be promptly referred to that other organization or agency for further action under its rules, and the applicant shall be promptly informed of this referral.

(b) If the requested record is identifiable and subject to the Bureau's determination as to its availability, the application shall be reviewed by an official authorized, pursuant to Department Order 64, to initially determine its availability. If he determines, as provided by law, that the record is not to be made available to the requesting person, said party shall receive in writing, the specific reason(s) why the record is not being disclosed, signed by the official making the determination.

(c) If the record is to be made available, and there are no further charges or fees, it shall be furnished to the requesting person. If, in accord with § 60.9, there are additional costs to be recovered from the applicant, they shall be estimated and the applicant notified that upon his payment of such estimated costs, subject to adjustment as provided in § 60.9, the record shall be made available to him.

§ 60.9 Fees and charges.

(a) In accord with Congressional policies that services performed hereunder are to be self-sustaining, as provided by law, appropriate fees and charges are hereby established to cover costs for application handling, record searching, reproduction, certification, and authentication, and for related expenses incurred by the Bureau with respect to records made available upon request under 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3).

(b) The following fees are hereby established and payable to the Bureau:

(1) Application fee—per application.. $2.00

This fee is nonrefundable, and covers costs of accepting and reviewing the application, and making a determination as to the availability of the requested record. The $2 application fee does not apply to requests for personal census information, which should be directed to the Bureau's Personal Census Service Branch in Pittsburg, Kans. The fee for personal census service is $4 for a search in turn (4 to 6 weeks) and $5 for expedited service (about 2 weeks).

(2) Records search fee—per hour per person $5.00

This fee covers the costs of locating the desired record, transporting it by government messenger service to a point of inspection, supervising the inspection, and returning the record to its regular file. It also includes the costs of any copies of records made at the Bureau's option. The minimum fee charged for records search will be one-half hour ($2.50).

(3) Copies of records, if requested by applicant:
(i) Xerographic or similar process—Up to 9 x 14 inches (each page) $0.25
(ii) Photocopy or similar process—
Up to 12 x 18 inches (each copy) 1.00
Over 12 x 18 inches, but less than 18 x 26 inches (each copy) 2.00
(4) Other forms of reproduction, as may be required by the nature of the original record ..... [1]
(5) Certification fee, if requested (applicable to each certification) ... 1.00
(6) Postage, registration, or other forwarding or packing fees—Applicable only if copies of records are requested to be shipped to a point other than the Bureau's reference facility ..... [2]

[1] Individual fee, sufficient to recover full cost.
[2] Actual cost.

(b) All fees and charges will be collected in advance. The applicant will be given an estimate of the cost of records search for each application where disclosure availability is authorized. If actual cost exceeds the estimate, the applicant will have the option of either paying any additional costs, or inspecting the requested record to the extent covered by his payment. If the advance estimated payment is $1 or more in excess of both the actual cost and the minimum charge, a refund will be made of the excess above the higher of these two amounts.

(c) The fees set forth above are based upon an initial estimate of the costs to be incurred in providing the indicated services and may be revised as necessary to insure the recovery of full costs by the Bureau.

(d) The above fees are established solely for services provided pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3), and do not affect fees charged for other Bureau services to the public, as may be performed under other authorities.

§ 60.10 Arrangements for public inspection and copying of available records.

(a) Upon receipt of the records search fee, and any fees for additional services requested by the applicant, the requested record which has been determined to be available shall, unless the applicant has otherwise indicated, be transferred to the Bureau's reference facility, where it will be held for inspection by the applicant for 5-work days. The address, and hours of operation, of this facility are stated in § 60.5(c).

(b) During his inspection of the record at the facility, the applicant may copy by hand any portion of the record, may request the facility to make a copy thereof, and may obtain certification of a machine-copied record in accordance with the fee structure in § 60.9(a)(3).

(c) No changes or alterations of any type may be made to the record being inspected, nor may any matter be added to or subtracted therefrom. Papers bound or otherwise assembled in a record file may not be disassembled during inspection. Staff of the facility shall provide assistance if disassembly of a record is necessary for copying purposes, and are authorized to supervise public inspection as necessary to protect the records of the Department. The public is reminded of Title 18, United States Code, section 2701(a), which makes it a crime to conceal, remove, mutilate, obliterate, or destroy any record filed in any public office, or to attempt to do any of the foregoing.

(d) If an applicant does not want to inspect a record by personal visit, he may request that a copy thereof be mailed to him, upon payment of the copying and postage fees set forth in § 60.9. Original copies of records shall not be sent to any location other than the reference facility for public inspection pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3).

(e) Copies of transcripts of hearings may be made available for inspection when not in use. When copies of such transcripts are requested, if the Bureau's contract with a nongovernmental contractor requires that copies be sold only by the contractor, the applicant shall be referred to the contractor.

(f) The Bureau in its discretion, when appropriate in the interests of its program, may make exceptions to established charges.

§ 60.11 Requests for reconsideration of nonavailability.

(a) Any person whose application to inspect a record has been rejected because the record was not to be made available for stated reason(s), may request a reconsideration of the initial denial, as set forth herein.

(b) The request for reconsideration should be made by completing the applicable section of the Form CD-244, and returning it to the reference facility within 30 days of the date of the original denial. (This date is shown on the Form CD-244.) No addition fee is required to obtain reconsideration. In submitting a request for reconsideration, the applicant should include any written arguments he desires to support his belief that the record requested should be made available. No personal appearance, oral argument, or hearing shall be permitted.

(c) The decision upon such review shall be made by the Director, Bureau of the Census, and shall be based upon the original application, the denial, and any written argument submitted by the applicant.

(d) The decision upon review shall be promptly made in writing and communicated to the applicant. If the decision is wholly or partly in favor of the applicant, the requested record to such extent shall be made available for inspection, as described in §§ 60.9 and 60.10. To the extent that the decision is adverse to the request, the reasons for the denial shall be stated.

(e) A decision upon review completed as provided by this section shall constitute the final decision and action of the Bureau as to the availability of a requested record, except as may be required by court proceedings initiated pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3).

(f) Reconsiderations resulting in final decisions as prescribed herein shall be indexed and kept available for public reference in the facility.

§ 60.12 Subpoena or other compulsory process.

Procedures applicable in the event of a subpoena, order, or other compulsory process or demand of a court or other authority are set forth in section 7 of Department Order 84.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary for the promulgation of this part since the rules contained herein are procedural rather than substantive in nature and relate to agency management.

This part shall become effective upon the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: July 7, 1967.

SUBCHAPTER C—DRUGS

PART 141—TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

PART 141a—PENICILLIN AND PENICILLIN-CONTAINING DRUGS; TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY

Diluting Fluid for Sterility Tests

Under the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U.S.C. 357) and delegated by him to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs (21 CFR 2.120), Parts 141 and 141a of the antibiotic drug regulations are amended as follows to provide for an additonal diluting fluid for use in certain sterility tests:

1. Section 141.2(c) is amended by adding thereto a new subparagraph, as follows:

§ 141.2 Sterility test methods and procedures.

* * * * * *

(c) * * *

(4) Diluting fluid D. To each liter of diluting fluid A add 1 milliliter of octylphenoxypolyethoxethanol. Dispense in flasks and sterilize as described in paragraph (b) of this section. Final pH=7.1±0.1.

* * * * * *

2. Section 141a.26(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 141a.26 Procaine penicillin.

* * * * * *

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e) (1) or (2) of that section, except if using the method in paragraph (e) (1) of that section, add sufficient penicillinase to diluting fluid A and swirl the flask to completely solubilize the procaine penicillin before filtration. If the product contains lecithin, use diluting fluid D in lieu of A. If using the method described in paragraph (e) (2) of that section, use medium B in lieu of medium A.

* * * * * *

3. Section 141a.29(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 141a.29 Procaine penicillin for aqueous injection.

* * * * * *

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e) (1) of that section, except add sufficient penicillinase to diluting fluid A and swirl the flask to completely solubilize the procaine penicillin before filtration. If the product contains lecithin, use diluting fluid D in lieu of diluting fluid A. If the preparation contains homogenizers or suspending agents that prevent solubilization, proceed as directed in paragraph (e) (2) of that section, except use medium B in lieu of medium A.

* * * * * *

4. Section 141a.39(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 141a.39 Penicillin-streptomycin; penicillin-dihydrostreptomycin veterinary.

* * * * * *

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e) (1) of that section, except if the product contains procaine penicillin add sufficient penicillinase to the diluting fluid to solubilize the procaine penicillin. Use diluting fluid A; if the product contains lecithin, use diluting fluid D instead. Swirl the flask to completely solubilize the procaine penicillin before filtration. If the preparation contains 1-ephenamine penicillin, or agents that prevent solubilization, proceed as directed in § 141.2(e) (2) of this chapter, using medium B in lieu of medium A.

* * * * * *

5. Section 141a.40(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 141a.40 Procaine penicillin in streptomycin sulfate solution; procaine penicillin in dihydrostreptomycin sulfate solution veterinary.

* * * * * *

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e) (1) of that section, except add sufficient penicillinase to the diluting fluid to solubilize the procaine penicillin. Use diluting fluid A; if the product contains lecithin, use diluting fluid D instead. Swirl the flask to completely solubilize the procaine penicillin before filtration. If the preparation contains homogenizers or suspending agents that prevent solubilization, proceed as directed in paragraph (e) (2) of that section, except use medium B in lieu of medium A.

* * * * * *

6. Section 141a.51(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 141a.51 Diethylaminoethyl ester penicillin G hydriodide.

* * * * * *

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e) (1) of that section, except add sufficient penicillinase either to diluting fluid A or, if the product contains lecithin, to diluting fluid D, and swirl the flask to completely solubilize the preparation.

* * * * * *

7. Section 141a.52(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 141a.52 Diethylaminoethyl ester penicillin G hydriodide for aqueous injection.

* * * * * *

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.2 of this chapter, using the method described in paragraph (e) (1) of that section, except add sufficient penicillinase either to diluting fluid A or, if the product contains lecithin, to diluting fluid D, and swirl the flask to completely solubilize the preparation.

* * * * * *

This order, which merely provides for use of an additional diluting fluid in certain sterility tests, presents no points of controversy and is nonrestrictive in nature; therefore, notice and public procedure are not prerequisites to this promulgation.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 30 days from its date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Title 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter V—Department of the Army

SUBCHAPTER B—CLAIMS AND ACCOUNTS

PART 536—CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES

Claims Arising From Activities of Military or Civilian Personnel or Incident to Noncombat Activities

Section 536.12 is revised; new § 536.12a is added; §§ 536.13, 536.15, 536.18, 536.19, 536.21, and 536.23 are revised; new § 536.23a is added; and §§ 536.23, 536.24, 536.24a, and 536.24b are revised, as follows:

§ 536.12 Statutory authority.

The statutory authority for §§ 536.12–536.24b is contained in the act of August 10, 1956 (70A Stat. 153, 10 U.S.C. 2733) commonly referred to as the Military Claims Act, and the act of September 8, 1961 (75 Stat. 488, 10 U.S.C. 2736).

§ 536.12a Definitions.

The definitions of terms set forth in § 536.3 are applicable to §§ 536.12–536.24b.

The regulations in §§ 536.12–536.24b are applicable in all places and prescribe the substantive bases and special procedural requirements for the settlement of claims against the United States for death, personal injury, or damage to or loss or destruction of property caused by military personnel of civilian employees of the Department of the Army acting within the scope of their employment, or otherwise incident to the noncombat activities of the Department of the Army.

§ 536.15 Claims not payable.

A claim is not allowable under §§ 536.12–536.24b which—

(a) Results directly or indirectly from action by the enemy, or by U.S. Armed Forces engaged in armed conflict, or in immediate preparation for impending armed conflict;

(b) Results wholly or partly from the negligent or wrongful act of the claimant or his agent. The doctrine of comparative negligence is not applied;

(c) Is for personal injury or death of a member of the Armed Forces of the United States or a civilian employee incurred incident to his service;

(d) Falls under the Federal Employees' Compensation Act (5 U.S.C. 8101–8150), or the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act (44 Stat. 1424, 33 U.S.C. 901) as made applicable to certain civilian employees of nonappropriated fund instrumentalities of the U.S. Armed Forces (5 U.S.C. 8171–8173).

(e) Arises in a foreign country and was presented by the claimant to the authorities of a foreign country and final action taken thereon under Article VIII of the NATO Status of Forces Agreement, Article XVIII of the Japanese Administrative Agreement, or other similar treaty or agreement;

(f) Is purely contractual in nature;
(g) Arises from private as distinguished from Government transactions;
(h) Is based solely on compassionate grounds;
(i) Is for patent or copyright infringement;
(j) Is for war trophies, and articles intended directly or indirectly for persons other than the claimant or members of his immediate family, such as articles acquired to be disposed of as gifts or by sale or other commercial transaction to another, voluntarily bailed to agencies of the Department of the Army. The preceding sentence is not applicable to claims involving registered or insured mail. No allowance will be made for any item when the evidence indicates that the acquisition, possession, or transportation thereof was in violation of Department of the Army or command directives;
(k) Is for precious jewels and other articles of extraordinary value, voluntarily bailed to agencies of the Department of the Army. This paragraph is not applicable to claims involving registered or insured mail;
(l) Arise from the operations of a nonappropriate fund activity, unless generated by military personnel performing assigned military duties. (See sec. III, AR 27–20 and AR 230–6.)
(m) Is based upon an act or omission of military personnel or a civilian employee, exercising due care, in the execution of a statute or regulation, whether or not such statute or regulation is valid, or in the exercise or performance of, or the failure to exercise or perform, a discretionary function or duty, whether or not the discretion is abused;
(n) Is cognizable under the Suits in Admiralty Act (41 Stat. 525–528, 46 U.S.C. 741–752), or the Public Vessels Act (43 Stat. 1112, 1113, 46 U.S.C. 781–790);
(o) Arises out of assault, battery, false imprisonment, false arrest, malicious prosecution, abuse of process, libel, slander, misrepresentation, deceit, or interference with contract rights;
(p) Is for rent, damage, or other payments involving the acquisition, use, possession, or disposition of real property or interests therein by and for the Department of the Army, except as authorized by § 536.14(c)(1). Real estate claims founded upon contract are processed under the provisions of § 552.16 of this chapter;
(q) Is for taking of private property by trespass as by a taking implied under local law resulting from the flight of aircraft (see § 552.16(b)(3) of this chapter). Actual physical damage is required. Claims for technical trespass, overflight of aircraft, or a taking of a type contemplated by the Fifth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution are not payable under §§ 536.12—536.24b;
(r) Is for damages caused by the fiscal operations of the Department of the Treasury or by the regulation of the monetary system;
(s) Is for damages caused by the imposition or establishment of a quarantine by the United States;
(t) Is not in the best interests of the United States, is contrary to public policy, or otherwise contrary to basic intent of the governing statute (10 U.S.C. 2733); e.g., claims by inhabitants of unfriendly foreign countries or by individuals considered to be unfriendly to the United States. When a claim is considered to be not payable for the reasons stated in this paragraph, it will be forwarded for appropriate action to the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service together with the recommendations of the settlement authority.
(u) Is for damage caused from or by floods or flood waters. See the act of 15 May 1928 (45 Stat. 535, 33 U.S.C. 702c).

§ 536.18 When claim must be presented.

(a) A claim may be settled under §§ 536.12—536.24b only if presented in writing within 2 years after it accrues, except that if it accrues in time of war or armed conflict, or if war or armed conflict intervenes within 2 years after it accrues, and if good cause is shown, the claim may be presented within 2 years after that cause ceases to exist but not later than 2 years after the war or armed conflict is terminated.
(b) As used in this section, a war or armed conflict is one in which an Armed Force of the United States is engaged. The dates of commencement and termination of an armed conflict shall be as established by concurrent resolution of Congress or by determination of the President.

So far as not inconsistent with §§ 536.12—536.24b, the procedures set forth in §§ 536.1—536.11c will be followed as to a claim under §§ 536.12—536.24b.

(a) As to claims arising in the United States, its Territories, Commonwealths and possessions, the law of the place where the act or omission occured will be applied in determining liability, except as it applies to absolute liability and except as provided in § 536.15(b).
(b) In claims arising in a foreign country, liability normally will be determined in accordance with general principles of American law as stated in standard legal publications, except as it applies to absolute liability and except as provided in § 536.15(b). Where applicable, rules of the road and similar locally prescribed standards of care will be followed in determining fault.
(c) In determining quantum and elements of damages, §§ 536.7 and 536.8 will be applied. Where there is no applicable rule established in §§ 536.1—536.11c, the law of the place where the act or omission occurred normally will be applied, except that in claims arising in foreign countries, the law of the state of legal residence of the person whose injury, property damage or death generated the claim may be applied.

§ 536.22 Claimants excluded.

A national, or a corporation controlled by a national, of a country at war or engaged in armed conflict with the United States, or of any country allied with such enemy country, is excluded as a claimant, unless the settlement authority of the command exercising claims supervisory authority of the area determines that the claimant is and, at the time of the incident, was friendly to the United States. A prisoner of war or an interned enemy alien is not excluded as to a claim for damage to or loss or destruction of personal property in the custody of the Government otherwise payable under §§ 536.12—536.24b.

If a claim is determined to be meritorious in amount less than claimed, or if a claim involving personal injuries or death is approved in full, a settlement agreement will be obtained prior to payment. A settlement agreement may be required in other instances when, in the opinion of the adjudicating authority, good legal practice so dictates, e.g., where family, or other multiple interests may be involved. Acceptance by a claimant of an award constitutes a release of any claims against the United States and against the military or civilian personnel whose act or omission gave rise to the claim.

(a) Settlement Authority. (1) Subject to appeal to the Secretary of the Army, The Judge Advocate General and The Assistant Judge Advocate General are delegated authority under §§ 536.12—536.24b to pay up to $5,000 in settlement of claims, and to disapprove claims regardless of the amount claimed.
(2) Subject to appeal to the Secretary of the Army and such limitations as may be imposed by The Judge Advocate General, the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service, and all officers of The Judge Advocate General's Corps assigned to the U.S. Army Claims Service, subject to such limitations as may be imposed by the Chief of that Service, are delegated authority under §§ 536.12—536.24b to pay up to $1,000 in settlement of claims, and to disapprove claims regardless of the amount claimed.
(3) Subject to appeal to the Secretary of the Army and such limitations as may be imposed by The Judge Advocate General, the commander, or the staff judge advocate, of each of the following commands is delegated authority to—
(i) Approve and pay in full or in part, or disapprove, claims presented for $1,000 or less.
(ii) Pay claims regardless of the amount claimed provided an award of $1,000 or less is accepted by claimant in full satisfaction and final settlement of the claim.
(a) Each of the numbered Armies within the continental United States;
(b) Military District of Washington, U.S. Army;
(c) U.S. Army Forces Southern Command;
(d) U.S. Army, Alaska;
(e) U.S. Army, Pacific;
(f) U.S. Army, Europe.
(4) The Judge Advocate General may delegate claims approving or settlement authority to other commands where the need for such authority can be demonstrated. Requests for delegation of authority will be forwarded to The Judge Advocate General, Attention: Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service, Fort Holabird, Md. 21219, through command channels, with justification and recommendations.

(b) Approving authority. (1) Each of the following is delegated authority to—
(i) Approve and pay in full claims presented for $1,000 or less.
(ii) Pay claims regardless of the amount claimed provided an award of $1,000 or less is accepted by claimant in full satisfaction and final settlement of the claim.
(c) The commander, or the staff judge advocate, of any command authorized to exercise general courts-martial jurisdiction.
(d) An officer of The Judge Advocate General's Corps assigned to a maneuver claims service or a disaster claims office when designated by the commander of a command listed in § 536.4a, and subject to such limitation as the designating commander may prescribe.
(e) Officers of The Judge Advocate General's Corps assigned to the U.S. Claims Office, France, subject to such limitations as the Commanding Officer, U.S. Claims Office, France, may prescribe.
(f) Officers of The Judge Advocate General's Corps assigned to the U.S. Army Claims Office, Germany, subject to such limitations as the Commanding Officer, U.S. Army Claims Office, Germany, may prescribe.
(g) Officers of The Judge Advocate General's Corps assigned to the U.S. Armed Forces Claims Service, Korea, subject to such limitations as the Chief, U.S. Armed Forces Claims Service, Korea, may prescribe.
(h) The chief of a command claims service established pursuant to § 536.4b.
(i) A district or division engineer, Corps of Engineers, or the Chief of Engineers.
(2) The commanding officer of a command not authorized to exercise general courts-martial jurisdiction, but having a judge advocate assigned to his staff, or his judge advocate, is delegated authority to—
(i) Approve and pay in full claims presented for $500, or less.
(ii) Pay claims regardless of the amount claimed, provided an award of $500, or less, is accepted by claimant in full satisfaction and final settlement of the claim.

§ 536.24 Claims over $5,000.

Claims cognizable under title 10, United States Code, section 2733 and §§ 536.12–536.24b which are meritorious in amounts in excess of $5,000 will be processed for action by the Secretary of the Army. If the Secretary of the Army considers such a claim meritorious, he may, after receipt of a settlement agreement in full satisfaction of the entire claim, pay the claimant $5,000 and report the excess to Congress for its consideration.

(a) Action by an approving authority. If an approving authority determines that a claim is not meritorious, or if a partial approval is rejected by a claimant, the claim and related file will be forwarded with a seven-paragraph memorandum of opinion through claims channels to the settlement authority of the command having claims supervisory responsibility for the area (§ 536.4a).
(b) Action by a settlement authority. (1) The disapproval of a claim, in whole or in part, is final unless the claimant appeals in writing to the Secretary of the Army. Upon disapproval of a claim, in whole or in part, the settlement authority will notify the claimant in writing of the action taken and reasons therefor. The letter of notification will inform the claimant that—
(i) He may appeal to the Secretary of the Army through the authority disapproving the claim.
(ii) No form for appeal is prescribed.
(iii) The ground for appeal should be set forth fully.
(iv) The appeal must be submitted within 30 days of receipt by the claimant of notice of action on his claim.

An appeal will be considered timely if postmarked within 30 days after receipt by the claimant of such notification. For good cause shown, the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service may extend the time for appeal.

(2) Action on appeal. Upon receipt, the appeal will be examined by the settlement authority and after any action deemed necessary it will be forwarded with the related file and a seven-paragraph memorandum of opinion to the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service, Fort Holabird, Maryland 21219. If the evidence in the file, including information submitted by the claimant with the appeal, indicates that the appeal should be sustained, it may be treated as a request for reconsideration under § 536.24b, and the processing of the appeal may be delayed pending the outcome of further efforts by the settlement authority to settle the claim. The Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service may take similar action in appropriate cases.

(a) An approving or settlement authority may reconsider a claim upon request of the claimant or someone acting in his behalf. In the absence of such a request, an approving or settlement authority may on his own initiative reconsider a claim. He may reconsider a claim which he previously disapproved in whole or in part (even though a settlement agreement has been executed) when it appears that his original action was incorrect in law or fact based on the evidence of record at the time of the action or subsequently received. If he determines that his original action was incorrect, he will modify the action and, if appropriate, make a supplemental payment. The basis for a change in action will be stated in a memorandum included in the file.
(b) A successor or supervisory approving or settlement authority may also reconsider the original action on a claim but only on the basis of fraud or collusion, new and material evidence, or manifest error of fact such as errors in calculation or factual misinterpretation of applicable law.
(c) A request for reconsideration should indicate fully the legal or factual basis asserted as grounds for relief. Following completion of any investigation or other action deemed necessary for an informed disposition of the request, the approving or settlement authority will reconsider the claim and attempt to settle it by granting such relief as may appear warranted. When further settlement efforts appear unwarranted, the entire file with a memorandum of opinion will be forwarded through claims channels, as outlined in § 536.10(d). If a claims supervisory authority (§ 536.4a) is unable to grant the relief requested, he will forward the claim with his recommendation to the Chief, U.S. Army Claims Service, Office of The Judge Advocate General, Fort Holabird, Md. 21219, and inform the claimant of such reference.

[General Emergency Transportation Order 1–67]

MA–ET–1—PRIORITY MOVEMENT TO BE ACCORDED TO MATERIALS AND PASSENGERS NECESSARY TO PROMOTE THE NATIONAL DEFENSE

Cancellation of Order

Whereas, in F.R. Doc. 67–8417 appearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of July 19, 1967 (32 F.R. 10568), it was ordered that certain priorities be given to transportation by water carriers operating vessels in the coastwise and intercoastal trades, excluding the domestic offshore and inland waterways, in the interest of national defense; and

Whereas, the resumption of rail service makes it unnecessary to continue the provisions of "General Emergency Transportation Order 1–67," issued pursuant to Executive Order 11342 (July 16, 1967) under authorities set forth in the order appearing as aforesaid, it is hereby ordered that MA–ET–1 of this title and chapter of the Code of Federal Regulations be and is hereby terminated effective as of the date hereof.

Dated: July 20, 1967.

Title 42—PUBLIC HEALTH

Chapter I—Public Health Service, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER D—GRANTS

PART 51—GRANTS TO STATES FOR COMPREHENSIVE HEALTH PLANNING AND PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

Notice of proposed rule making, public rule making procedures, and delay in effective date have been omitted as unnecessary in the issuance of the following revision of this part which relates solely to grants to States for comprehensive health planning. The purpose of this revision is to implement section 314(a) of the Public Health Service Act, as amended by P.L. 89-749 (42 U.S.C. 246(a), 80 Stat. 1180).

Pursuant to section 314(g)(1) of the Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 246(g)(1); 80 Stat. 1189), this revision is made after consultation with a joint conference of State health planning agencies designated or established as required by the Act.

These revised regulations shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Part 51 of Chapter I of Title 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations is revised to read as follows:

Subpart A—Grants to States for Comprehensive Health Planning

Sec.
51.1 Applicability.
51.2 Definitions.
51.3 Submission of State programs.
51.4 State program requirements.
51.5 State allotments.
51.6 Payments to States.
51.7 Equipment, supplies or personnel in lieu of cash.
51.8 Nondiscrimination on account of race, color, or national origin.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 51 issued under secs. 215, 314 of the Public Health Service Act; 58 Stat. 690, 80 Stat. 1180; 42 U.S.C. 216, 246.

§ 51.1 Applicability.

The regulations of this subpart apply to grants to assist the States, including the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam, and American Samoa, in comprehensive and continuing planning for their current and future health needs in terms of health services, health manpower and health facilities, as authorized pursuant to section 314(a) of the Public Health Service Act, as amended by P.L. 89-749 (42 U.S.C. 246(a)), hereinafter referred to as the "Act."

§ 51.2 Definitions.

(a) "State program" refers to the State plan for comprehensive health planning which contains the information, proposals, and assurances submitted by the State agency pursuant to section 314(a) of the Act and the regulations of this subpart.

(b) "State agency" means the single State agency (which may be an interdepartmental agency) designated in the State program for administering or supervising the administration of the State's health planning functions under the State program.

§ 51.3 Submission of State programs.

In order to receive funds from an allotment under this subpart, a State must submit to and have approved by the Surgeon General a State program which contains the information and meets the requirements specified in the Act and in the regulations of this subpart. Such program shall be submitted by the State agency officially designated and authorized to administer it and carry out the functions prescribed hereunder. The effective date for Federal financial participation in the costs of carrying out such a program from any State shall be that date, after the enactment of the first Federal appropriation act containing grant funds for the purposes authorized hereunder, on which the first State program submitted by the State is approved by the Surgeon General.

§ 51.4 State program requirements.

(a) Responsibility of State agency. The State program must provide that the State agency will either administer or supervise the administration of the activities to be carried out under it. In order to assure adequate supervision by the State agency of the administration of activities under the State program carried out by other agencies, institutions, organizations, or individuals, the State program must show with respect to any such activity that the State agency (1) is able to obtain from such other agency, institution, organization, or individual the data needed for formulation and evaluation of, and accountability for, planning activities; (2) has established methods for performing continuing professional and administrative evaluations of such activities; and (3) is in a position to take such steps as may be necessary to assure that such activities meet Federal and State requirements.

(b) State health planning council. The State program must provide for the establishment of a State health planning council to advise the State agency in carrying out its functions under the approved State program. Council membership shall include representatives of State agencies (other than the designated State agency) and local agencies and of nongovernmental groups concerned with health services in the State. A majority of the council members must be consumer representatives whose major occupation is neither the administration of health activities nor the performance of health services. The council shall meet as often as necessary and at a minimum twice a year for the purposes of consulting with and advising the State agency with respect to:

(1) Scope of planning activities to be undertaken by the State agency;

(2) The recommendations to be made by the State agency as a result of such activities; and

(3) Necessary review and modifications of the State program.

(c) Expenditure of grant funds. The State program must set forth policies and procedures for the expenditure of funds under the program, which shall provide that:

(1) The scope of comprehensive planning will encompass the health services, facilities, and manpower to meet the physical, mental, and environmental health needs of the people of the State, and the financial and organizational resources through which these needs may be met;

(2) Such planning will be concerned with both publicly and privately supported health services and activities;

(3) A method for determining priorities of planning activity will be established to ensure that the most critical planning problems are scheduled for early attention;

(4) Methods will be established for obtaining and utilizing, in the formulation of planning priorities and recommendations, effective and appropriate informational support, including statistical data and, where feasible, social, economic, demographic, and similar base data consistent with those to be utilized for other comprehensive planning activities in the State;

(5) To administer or supervise the administration of the planning functions under the State program and to provide staff assistance to the State health planning council, the State agency will establish positions, including the full time position of comprehensive health planning director, to be filled by persons with appropriate qualifications;

(6) The State agency will cooperate with and assist in the development of needed regional, metropolitan area and other local area health planning agencies and be prepared to act upon, and to make recommendations to the Surgeon General with respect to, grant applications under section 314(b) of the Act.

(d) Encouraging cooperative efforts. The State program must provide for encouraging cooperative efforts among governmental and nongovernmental agencies, organizations, and groups concerned with health and related services, facilities, and manpower. As a minimum, it must provide methods for:

(1) Coordinating the State agency's planning activities with specialized health planning and other related planning activities, such as the development of mental retardation plans, construction plans for health and medical facilities, community mental health plans, regional medical programs, and environmental control plans, and with State agencies concerned with physical and economic planning;

(2) Considering the most effective and efficient manner of meeting health needs in the fields of welfare, education and vocational rehabilitation; and

(3) Considering the special needs of high-risk population groups for preventive and health care services.

(e) Federal funds to supplement State funds otherwise available. The State program must contain satisfactory assurances that Federal funds will not supplant funds that would otherwise be made available by the State for the purpose of comprehensive health planning and that Federal funds will, to the extent practicable, be used to increase the level of non-Federal funds available for such purpose. Substantial compliance with such assurance will be deemed to have been met if the level of non-Federal funds made available to and spent by the State for comprehensive health planning is at least no lower for any fiscal year than it was in the immediately preceding fiscal year, except that the Surgeon General may also take into consideration the extent to which the level of such funds for any fiscal year may have included funds for an activity of a nonrecurring nature.

(f) Methods of administration. In addition to any methods of administration otherwise required by the Act and these regulations, the State program must provide:

(1) For the establishment and maintenance of personnel standards on a merit basis for persons employed by the comprehensive State health planning agency in carrying out the State program. Compliance with the Standards for a Merit System of Personnel Administration, 45 CFR, Part 70, issued by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, the Secretary of Labor, and the Secretary of Defense, including any subsequent amendments thereto, will be deemed to meet this requirement;

(2) Methods for informing interested public and private agencies and organizations and the general public about the agency's activities and recommendations;

(3) That no more than 50 percent of the funds available to the State agency under the State program shall be used for contracting with other agencies and organizations to conduct planning functions under the State program without specific approval from the Surgeon General;

(4) Methods by which criteria will be developed for reviewing applications for areawide health planning project grants under section 314(b) of the Act.

(g) Reports and records. The State program must provide, in addition to any other reports or records required by the regulations of this subpart, or which may reasonably be required by the Surgeon General under the Act, that:

(1) The Surgeon General shall be provided copies of each recommendation, plan or portion of a plan adopted by the State agency;

(2) An annual narrative summary of the planning activities undertaken during the preceding year will be submitted to the Surgeon General;

(3) Cumulative expenditure reports on forms prescribed by the Public Health Service will be submitted within 30 days after the end of the first half of any Federal fiscal year and within 60 days after the close of the Federal fiscal year;

(4) All records required by the Act and the regulations of this subpart shall be maintained for a period of 5 years, or until audits by representatives of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare have been completed and any questions arising from the audits have been resolved, whichever is sooner; and

(5) The State agency will afford access to the records maintained by it to the Comptroller General of the United States and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, or their authorized representatives, for purposes of audit and examination.

(h) Review and modification. The State program must provide that the State agency will review and evaluate its approved program at least once annually and submit appropriate modifications to the Surgeon General. As a minimum, the State agency shall submit annual modifications of the State program which will (1) reflect budgetary and expenditure requirements for the next fiscal year, (2) set forth priorities established for planning activity to be undertaken in the next fiscal year, and (3) update any assurances or other informational requirements included in the State program.

(i) Accounting procedures. The State program shall contain such fiscal control and fund accounting procedures as are necessary to assure the proper disbursement of and accounting for funds paid to the State under this subpart. Such procedures shall provide for an accurate and timely recording of receipts of funds from State and Federal sources, of expenditures made from such funds for comprehensive health planning purposes under the State program, and of any unearned balances of Federal funds paid to the State. Controls shall be established by the State agency to ensure that expenditures charged to comprehensive State health planning funds are for allowable purposes and that documentation is readily available to verify the accuracy of such charges.

§ 51.5 State allotments.

(a) Determination. The allotment of funds for any year to each State shall be the product of—

(1) The percentage which the State's weighted population bears to the total of the weighted populations of all States, multiplied by

(2) The amount of appropriated funds available for allotment for the fiscal year; except that the allotment for any State which, as a result of such computation, is less than one percent of the amount available for allotment shall be increased to one percent of such amount and the allotments to other States shall be proportionately reduced as necessary but not below an amount equal to 1 percent.

For the purposes of this section, the term "weighted population" means (1) the population of the State (as determined from the latest available estimate from the Department of Commerce) multiplied by (ii) the per capita income of the United States divided by the per capita income of the State (as determined from the latest available estimates from the Department of Commerce).

(b) Availability. The funds allotted to any State for a fiscal year shall remain available to the State for obligation in accordance with its approved State program during the fiscal year for which the allotment was made and the succeeding fiscal year. If the Surgeon General, after consultation with the head of any State agency, or the Governor of the State if such an agency has not been designated, determines that a State will not utilize all of its allotment during the period for which it is available, such balances shall be available for reallotment to other States in accordance with the provisions of subsection 314(a)(3)(B) of the Act. The Surgeon General shall make a determination as to the balances of funds available for reallotment as of the end of each 6-month period during which such allotments are available for expenditures by the States and shall reallot such balances as soon as possible after such a determination is made.

§ 51.6 Payments to States.

Each State for which a State program has been approved shall from time to time be paid from its allotment for the fiscal year amounts which equal the Federal share, as determined pursuant to section 314(a)(4) of the Act, of expenditures incurred during the period for which such allotment is available. For the first 2 fiscal years (1967-68), the "Federal share" for any State shall be all or such part of the expenditures for comprehensive State health planning made by or under the supervision of the State health planning agency as the Surgeon General may determine at the time of approval of the State program. Such payments will be made where practicable through a letter of credit system or, when such a system is not practicable, on the basis of payment requests from the State to meet its current needs. The Surgeon General shall make such adjustments in amounts of payments as may be necessary to correct under or over payments previously made (including expenditures which are disallowed on the basis of audit findings).

§ 51.7 Equipment, supplies or personnel in lieu of cash.

At the request of and for the convenience of the designated State agency, the Surgeon General may, in lieu of cash payments, furnish to the State agency equipment or supplies or detail to the State agency officers or employees of the Public Health Service whom he finds such equipment, supplies, or personnel would be used in carrying out the approved

State program. In such case, the Surgeon General shall reduce the payments to which the State agency would otherwise be entitled from its allotment for the fiscal year by an amount which equals the fair market value of the equipment or supplies furnished, and by the amount of the pay, allowances, traveling expenses, and other costs in connection with such detail of officers or employees. For purposes of determining the amount of the expenditures for any fiscal year made in carrying out the approved State program and the Federal share of such expenditures, the costs incurred by the Surgeon General in furnishing such equipment or supplies and in detailing such personnel to the State agency during the fiscal year shall be considered as expenditures made by and funds paid to the State.

§ 51.8 Nondiscrimination on account of race, color, or national origin.

Attention is called to the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (78 Stat. 252; P.L. 88-352) which provides that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance (Sec. 601). A regulation implementing such Title VI has been issued by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare with the approval of the President (45 CFR Part 80). Such regulation is applicable to comprehensive State health planning activities which receive Federal financial assistance and requires receipt and acceptance by the Surgeon General of the applicable documentation set forth therein.

Acting Surgeon General.

PART 107a—ADMINISTRATIVE COLLECTION OF ENFORCEMENT CLAIMS

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 17th day of July 1967.

The "Federal Claims Collection Act of 1966" (31 U.S.C. 951 et seq.), and the civil penalty and forfeiture provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act, Elkins Act and amendatory and supplemental legislation related to such acts being under consideration, with a view to (1) delegating administrative collection authority to a designee, and (2) promulgating administrative collection procedures pertaining to enforcement claims for money arising out of activities of this Commission or otherwise referred to this Commission:

Part 107a, which is set out below, shall be the administrative collection procedures pertaining to this Commission's enforcement claims.

It is ordered, That a new Part 107a be added to Chapter I, Subtitle B, of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations to read as follows:

Sec.
107a.1 Standards.
107a.2 Enforcement claims and debtors.
107a.3 Enforcement collection designee.
107a.4 Notice of claim and demand.
107a.5 Agreement and release.
107a.6 Method of claim payment.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 107a issued under sec. 3, 80 Stat. 309; 31 U.S.C. 952.

§ 107a.1 Standards.

The regulations issued jointly by the Comptroller General of the United States and the Attorney General of the United States under section 3 of the Federal Claims Collection Act of 1966 (31 U.S.C. 951 et seq.) and published in 4 CFR Parts 101 through 105 are hereby adopted by the Interstate Commerce Commission for the administrative collection of enforcement claims.

§ 107a.2 Enforcement claims and debtors.

(a) Enforcement claims are all separate civil penalty or forfeiture claims not exceeding $20,000 which may arise under the provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act or legislation supplementary thereto.

(b) Debtor is any person or corporation subject to civil penalties or forfeitures for violation of the provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act or legislation supplementary thereto.

§ 107a.3 Enforcement collection designee.

The Director, Bureau of Enforcement, Interstate Commerce Commission, is the Commission's designee to take all necessary action administratively to settle by collection, compromise, suspension or termination, enforcement claims within the contemplation of the Federal Claims Collection Act of 1966.

§ 107a.4 Notice of claim and demand.

Initiation of administrative collection of enforcement claims will be commenced by the enforcement collection designee mailing a letter of notice of claim and demand to the debtor. Such letter will state the statutory basis for the claim, a brief resume of the factual basis for the claim, the amount of the claim, and indicate the availability of the designee or his personal agent for discussion of the claim should the debtor so desire.

§ 107a.5 Agreement and release.

Upon the debtor's agreement to settle a claim, an Agreement and Release Form will be provided to the debtor in duplicate. This form, after reciting the statutory basis for the claim, will contain a statement to be signed in duplicate by the debtor evidencing his agreement to settlement of the claim for the amount stated in the agreement. Both copies of the signed agreement shall be returned to the collection designee. Upon final collection of the claim, one copy of the agreement and release shall be returned to the debtor with the release thereon signed by the enforcement collection designee.

§ 107a.6 Method of claim payment.

(a) Debtors: Debtors shall be required to settle claims by:

(1) Payment by bank cashier check or other instrument acceptable to designee.

(2) Installment payments by check after the execution of a promissory note containing an agreement for judgment.

(b) All checks or other instruments will be made out to "Interstate Commerce Commission," and after receipt will be forwarded to U.S. Treasury.

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective August 1, 1967.

And it is further ordered, That notice to the general public be given by depositing a copy hereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, Washington, D.C., and by filing a copy with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] H. NEIL GARSON,
Secretary.

Title 50—WILDLIFE AND FISHERIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

SUBCHAPTER B—HUNTING AND POSSESSION OF WILDLIFE

PART 10—MIGRATORY BIRDS

Open Seasons, Bag Limits, and Possession of Certain Migratory Game Birds

Section 3 of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918, as amended (40 Stat. 755; 16 U.S.C. 703), authorizes and directs the Secretary of the Interior, from time to time, having due regard for the zones of temperature and to the distribution, abundance, economic value, breeding habits, and times and lines of flight of migratory game birds to determine when, to what extent, and by what means, such birds or any part, nest, or egg thereof, may be taken, captured, killed, possessed, sold, purchased, shipped, carried, or transported.

By notice of proposed rule making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 6, 1967 (32 F.R. 5628), notification was given that the Secretary of the Interior proposed to amend Part 10, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations. These amendments would specify open seasons, certain closed seasons, shooting hours, and bag and possession limits for migratory game birds for the 1967-68 hunting seasons.

In this connection all interested persons were invited to submit their views, data, or arguments regarding such matters in writing to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 30 days following the date of publication of the notice.

Subsequently, after due consideration of migratory game bird survey data obtained through investigations conducted by the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and State game departments, and from other sources, the several State game departments were informed concerning the shooting hours, season lengths, and daily bag and possession limits proposed to be prescribed for the 1967-68 seasons on rails, mourning and white-winged doves, band-tailed pigeons, woodcock, and common snipe (Wilson's); on waterfowl, coots, and little brown cranes in Alaska; and on teal ducks in States in the Mississippi and Central Flyways. The State game departments were invited to submit recommendations for hunting seasons to conform to the shooting hours, daily bag and possession limits, and season lengths within frameworks of opening and closing dates, as established by this Department.

Accordingly, each State game department having had an opportunity to participate in selecting the hunting seasons desired for its State on those species of migratory game birds for which open seasons are now to be prescribed, and consideration having been given to all other relevant matters presented, it is determined that certain sections of Part 10 shall be amended as set forth below.

The taking of the designated species of migratory game birds is presently prohibited. These amendments will permit taking of these species within specified periods of time beginning as early as September 1, as has been the case in past years. Since these amendments benefit the public by relieving existing restrictions, they shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

1. Section 10.41 is amended to read as follows:

§ 10.41 Seasons and limits on doves and wild pigeons.

In all other areas of these States and in all other States in the Atlantic Flyway, scoter, eider, and old-squaw ducks may be taken only during the open season for taking other ducks. During the open season on other ducks in all States in the Atlantic Flyway, a daily bag limit of seven and a possession limit of 14 scoter, eider, and old-squaw ducks, singly or in the aggregate of these species, are permitted in addition to the basic daily bag and possession limits prescribed for other ducks.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of § 10.3(b)(4), the shooting of crippled waterfowl from a motorboat under power will be permitted on those coastal water areas open to sea duck hunting during the special open season and all waters of rivers and streams lying seaward from the first upstream bridge in the States of Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, and Connecticut; and in those coastal waters of New York State lying in Long Island and Block Island Sounds and the waters of Gardiner's Bay lying east of a line from the Long Beach Bay lighthouse to the most easterly point of Ram Head on Shelter Island to the Cedar Point light; (but not including any coastal waters of New York State lying south of Long Island); and the States of New Jersey, Maryland, and North Carolina, under the following conditions: Any person who cripples any migratory waterfowl while shooting from a fixed position may, within a 200-yard radius of such fixed position, pursue, shoot, and retrieve such crippled waterfowl from a motorboat under power.

PART 32—HUNTING

Clear Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Calif.

The following special regulation is issued and is effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 32.32 Special regulations; big game; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

CALIFORNIA

CLEAR LAKE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of big game on the Clear Lake National Wildlife Refuge, Calif., is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting, and is delineated on a map available at the refuge headquarters, Tulelake, Calif., and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 730 Northeast Pacific Street, Portland, Oreg. 97208.

Hunting of big game is permitted during the period August 19 through August 27, 1967, in accordance with all applicable State regulations subject to the following special conditions:

(a) Species permitted to be taken: Antelope.

(b) Other provisions:

1. The provisions of this special regulation supplement regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32.

2. A Federal permit is not required to enter the public hunting area.

3. The provisions of this special regulation are effective through August 27, 1967.

JOHN D. FINDLAY,
Acting Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

[43 CFR Subpart 2244]

EXCHANGES

Establishment of Uniform Procedures for Handling

Basis and purpose. Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by Revised Statutes 2478 (1875) (43 U.S.C. 1201) it is proposed to revise 43 CFR, Subpart 2244 as set forth below.

The purpose of this amendment is to establish uniform procedures for the handling of exchanges. Provision has been made for special requirements of specific exchange laws. The regulations provide that for all exchanges there must be preliminary negotiations with the Federal bureau or agency which would administer the offered land if the exchange were completed. This procedure has been used in several types of exchanges and has been found to result in economies of time and money for both the Federal Government and the persons with whom it makes exchanges. Further, because preliminary negotiations will eliminate applications for exchange which cannot be completed, no service or filing fees are required. Previous regulations required fees with certain exchange applications. These regulations also establish that no preliminary negotiations will be conducted and no application will be accepted for lands under jurisdiction of the BLM which have not been classified as proper for disposal in accordance with appropriate procedures.

Detailed procedures for types of exchanges that occur infrequently have not been included in these regulations, but provision has been made for handling any such exchanges under the general regulations.

The procedures for exchanges have been modernized; extraneous information, in some instances unrelated to exchanges, has been omitted in the revision.

The proposed revision relates to matters which are exempt from the rule making requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 1003). However, it is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested parties may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed regulations to the Bureau of Land Management, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Subpart 2244 is revised in its entirety to read as follows:

§ 2244.0–1 Purpose.

The regulations in this subpart provide procedures for processing exchanges of U.S. property for other property.

§ 2244.0–2 Objectives.

The discretionary authority of the Secretary of the Interior to make exchanges will be used to consolidate land holdings of the United States, and to establish land ownership and use patterns which will permit more effective administration of the public lands of the United States, the stability of communities and enterprises dependent on the public lands, and other program objectives described in Subpart 1725 of this chapter.

§ 2244.0–5 Definitions.

(a) As used in this part the term "person" includes any person or entity legally capable of conveying and holding real property under the laws of the States within which the property is located.

§ 2244.1 Provisions applicable to all exchanges.

Except where otherwise noted in the regulations of this Subpart 2244, the regulations in this § 2244.1 are applicable to all exchanges.

§ 2244.1–1 Basis for exchange.

The fair market value of the property conveyed to the United States in any exchange shall not be less than the fair market value of the United States property exchanged therefor.

§ 2244.1–2 Applications.

(a) Preliminary negotiations: Preliminary negotiations for exchanges must be conducted with the Federal bureau or agency which would administer the offered lands if the exchange were completed. Any person who holds an interest in property within the boundaries of the area of responsibility of such Federal bureau or agency and who desires to negotiate an exchange with the United States must file with the appropriate field officer of that bureau or agency an informal proposal, in writing, describing the property which is to be offered to the United States and the property which is desired in exchange. After consultation with the authorized officer of the bureau or agency which has jurisdiction over the property desired by the proponent, the appropriate field officer will notify the proponent in writing whether the proposal appears feasible and, if so, whether any adjustments appear necessary for its consummation.

(b) Formal application:

(1) Any person desiring to effect an exchange hereunder must file with the Bureau of Land Management an application, in duplicate, on a form approved by the Director, Bureau of Land Management, or its equivalent, properly describing the offered and selected property. If the selected property is surveyed, it must be described by legal subdivisions of the public land surveys. The documents must be filed in accordance with the provisions of § 1621.2 of this chapter. The application must be accompanied by the notice required by paragraph (a) of this section, stating that the proposal appears feasible.

(2) The application must also include a corroborated statement relative to springs and water holes on the selected property, in accordance with §§ 2321.1–1(a) to 2321.1–2(d) of this chapter.

(3) The application must state that the value of the selected property does not exceed the value of the offered property. In a case where, by statute, equalization of values is permitted by a cash payment, the amount of cash payment that must be made to equalize values shall be stated in the application.

(c) Classification of land: No preliminary negotiations will be conducted, and no application will be accepted for lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management which have not been classified as proper for disposal by exchange, consistent with the provisions of Part 2400 of this chapter. This does not, however, prevent an interested agency from requesting that the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management schedule classification action, in accordance with the provisions of Part 2400 of this chapter, for any lands which the interested agency considers may have value for exchanges.

(d) The applicant must be legally capable, under the laws of the State in which the offered property is located, of consummating the exchange. The application must state that the applicant is the owner of the interest in the property offered in exchange and that such offered interest is not the basis of any other exchange.

(e) Deed to the United States:

(1) Owners of private property will be required to submit a warranty deed of conveyance of the offered property to the United States, properly executed, acknowledged, and recorded in accordance with the laws of the State in which the property is situated. Revenue stamps required by Federal and State law must be affixed to the deed and canceled. A deed executed by an individual grantor must disclose his marital status. If married, the spouse of the grantor must join in the execution of the deed to bar any right of curtesy, dower, community interest, or any other claim to the property conveyed, or it must be fully shown that under the laws of the State in which the conveyed property is situated, the grantor's spouse has no interest, present or prospective, in the property. A deed executed by a corporation must recite that it was executed pursuant to a resolution or order of its board of directors, or other governing body, and a copy of such resolution or order must accompany the deed. The corporate seal must be affixed to both instruments.

(2) States will be required to submit a deed of conveyance of the offered property to the United States, properly executed, acknowledged, and duly recorded in accordance with the laws of the State making the exchange, together with a certificate of the proper State officer showing that the officer executing the conveyance was authorized to do so under the State law.

(3) Holders of unperfected claims and Indian trust patents will not be required to submit a deed of conveyance. In lieu thereof, they will be required to submit a relinquishment of the claim or trust patent to the United States, witnessed by two persons and acknowledged before a notary public or other official with a seal. The relinquishment must contain a statement that the applicant has not sold, assigned, mortgaged, or contracted to sell, assign, or mortgage the land covered by the unperfected claim or relinquished allotment.

(4) All deeds and relinquishments must state that they are made "for and in consideration of the exchange of certain lands, as authorized by" the appropriate act of the Congress.

(5) Where appropriate, the deed shall recite that the conveyance is made to the United States, "as grantee in trust" for the appropriate Indian tribe or group.

(f) Taxes and equalizing money: Where taxes which have been assessed or levied on the offered property constitute liens against the property although such taxes are not due and payable at the time of the recordation of the deed to the United States, the applicant may furnish a bond with a qualified surety for double the amount of taxes paid on the property for the previous year, or, in lieu of a bond, a cash deposit in like amount, to secure the payment of such taxes. When proper evidence of payment in full of such taxes is furnished by the applicant, liability under the bond will be terminated or the cash deposit will be returned to him. Cash deposit or bond for taxes and, where applicable, cash payment of the amount determined to be needed to equalize values, will be payable upon request of the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management.

(g) Evidence of title:

(1) Owners of private property offered in exchange must submit as evidence of title to the offered lands a policy of title insurance on the form prescribed by the Department of the Interior (Form 4–1202), or on the form approved by the Attorney General (See "Standards for the Preparation of Title Evidence in Land Acquisitions by the United States" issued by the Department of Justice, 1964 ed.); or a certificate of title issued by a title insurance company authorized by law to issue same, or an abstract of title prepared and authenticated by a licensed abstractor or abstract company or by the recorder of deeds or other proper officer of the State under his official seal.

(2) States must submit satisfactory evidence of title to the offered property. (i) If the offered property was ever held in private ownership, certificate of title, or an abstract of title as prescribed in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph must be submitted. (ii) If the offered property was never held in private ownership the State must submit a certificate of the proper State officer showing that the offered property had not been sold or otherwise encumbered by the State, and a certificate by the recorder of deeds or other proper officer under his official seal or by an abstrator or abstract company that no instrument purporting to convey or in any way encumber title to the offered property is of record or on file.

(3) Holders of unperfected claims and Indian trust patents must file a certificate of the recorder of deeds or other proper officer under his official seal or of an abstractor or abstract company that no instrument purporting to convey or in any way encumber title to the offered land is of record or on file.

(h) Segregation of the land: The filing of a valid formal application for exchange under the regulations of this subpart will segregate the selected public lands to the extent that they will not be subject to appropriation under the public land laws, including the mining laws, and that any subsequently tendered application, allowance of which is discretionary, will not be accepted, will not be considered as filed, and will be returned to the applicant. The segregative effect of an application on the lands covered by the application will terminate at 10 a.m. on the 30th day from and after the date a notice of the withdrawal or rejection of the application is first posted in the land office having jurisdiction over said lands.

§ 2244.1–3 Publication.

Upon a determination by the authorized officer of the bureau or agency having jurisdiction over the selected property and the authorized officer of the bureau or agency which will administer the offered property, if the exchange is completed, that the exchange is consistent with the law and regulations and is otherwise in the public interest, notice of the proposed exchange will be published by the Bureau of Land Management. The notice of publication will give the name and post office address of the applicant, the serial number and date of the application, a reference to the statute authorizing the exchange, and the description of the offered and selected property. It will also state that all persons asserting a claim to the selected property or having bona fide objections to the exchange may file their protests or other objections in the office designated in the notice, together with evidence that a copy of such protest or objections has been served upon the applicant. The notice will be published once a week for 4 consecutive weeks in a designated newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties in which the offered property is situated, and in the same manner in a newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties in which the selected property is situated. Proof of publication of notice shall consist of a certificate by the publisher or foreman or other authorized employee of the newspaper, specifying the dates of publication, attached to a copy of the notice as published.

§ 2244.1–4 Approval of exchange; right to reject; unperfected claims.

(a) Approval of exchange. (1) The criteria in Parts 1720 and 2410 of this chapter and the provisions of appropriate law shall be used in determining whether an application for exchange should be approved.

(2) After examination of the title and other evidence required of the applicant, if all be found regular and in conformity with the law and regulations, and there are no objections, the authorized officer may accept title to the property offered and conveyed to the United States. He will then issue a patent or other instrument of transfer for the property selected in exchange and, where authorized by law, will transmit to the applicant the cash payment, if any, necessary to equalize the values.

(b) Right to reject. (1) An application may be rejected at any time prior to the issuance of patent or other instrument of transfer. Exchanges will not be consummated, in the discretion of the authorized officer when, for example, after public notice—

(i) An appropriate public requirement for the selected property is identified, or

(ii) Information is received which establishes that the exchange is not in the public interest.

(2) Changes in values, after publication of the notice required by § 2244.1–3, will ordinarily not be a basis for rejection of an application, all other factors being equal.

(3) Prior to issuance of patent, no action taken shall establish any contractual or other rights against the United States, or create any contractual or other obligation of the United States.

(c) Unperfected claims. When the offered lands are embraced in unperfected claims, patents will not issue for the selected lands until the applicant complies with all the requirements of the law and regulations under which the unperfected claims have been held. The applicant will be credited with all acts of compliance whether earned in connection with the offered lands or selected lands or both.

§ 2244.1–5 Removal of improvements; return of title evidence.

(a) When any buildings, fencing, or other movable improvements owned or erected by an applicant on the land relinquished or conveyed are not a part of the offer to relinquish or convey, the applicant may remove such improvements from the land upon receipt of notice that the exchange has been approved, provided that such removal is accomplished within the time period specified in said notice.

(b) If an applicant has submitted deed and title evidence in connection with an exchange and his application is rejected, the evidence of title will be returned to the applicant. If the deed was recorded, a quitclaim deed for the land conveyed to the United States will be issued under section 6 of the Act of April 28, 1930 (46 Stat. 257; 43 U.S.C. sec. 872).

§ 2244.1–6 Costs and fees.

Whenever the law permits, the bureau or agency which will administer the offered lands if the exchange is consummated will be required to do the following:

(a) Appraisals. At the request and with the approval of the authorized officer of Bureau of Land Management, arrange, by contract or otherwise, for the services of appraisers, for the purpose of appraising both the offered and selected property.

(b) Publication and securing title evidence. Pay for costs of publication of the exchange and of securing title evidence for the offered property, except as provided otherwise in other sections of this subpart.

(c) Processing. At the request of authorized officers of Bureau of Land Management, reimburse the Bureau of Land Management and the bureau having jurisdiction over the selected lands, if other than the Bureau of Land Management, for any costs incurred by them in processing an exchange filed pursuant to the regulations in this subpart.

(d) Service or filing fees. Where the law permits, no service or filing fees shall be required in connection with an application for exchange.

§ 2244.2–1 Authority.

(a) Subsections (c) and (d) of section 8 of the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1272), as amended (43 U.S.C. sec. 315g), authorize exchanges of lands between the United States and a State, upon the application of the State, and provide for the issuance of patent for the selected lands upon acceptance of title to the lands conveyed to the United States in exchange therefor.

(b) Lands offered in exchange by a State may be State-owned lands within or without the boundaries of a grazing district, and the selected lands may be surveyed grazing district lands not otherwise appropriated or reserved, or unappropriated and unreserved surveyed public lands of the United States, within the same State. If, however, the selected lands are within a grazing district, the lands offered by the State must be within the same grazing district and the selected lands must lie in a reasonably compact body which is so located as not to interfere with the administration or value of the remaining lands in the district for grazing purposes.

(c) Unsurveyed school sections within or without the boundary of a grazing district may be offered by the State in an exchange based upon equal areas, but the Secretary of the Interior will consider and determine whether the values of the offered and selected lands are aproximately equal for the purpose of the exchanges. No mineral reservations to the State may be made in such unsurveyed sections, the identification of which will be determined by protraction or otherwise, the State by such selections waiving all rights to the unsurveyed sections.

(d) State-owned lands, as well as school sections surveyed and unsurveyed, the title to which has not yet vested in the State, located within national forests, national parks and monuments, Indian or other reservations or withdrawals, may be offered as a basis for an exchange under said section 8 of the Taylor Grazing Act as amended, where the selected lands are not within a grazing district. Where the selected lands are within a grazing district, lands within the exterior boundaries of the grazing district and also within such reservations or withdrawals may be offered as a basis for an exchange only if the authorized officer, Bureau of Land Management, determines that the exchange would not interfere with the administration or value of the remaining lands in the grazing district for grazing purposes.

(e) Either party to an exchange may make reservations of minerals, easements, or rights of use. The right to enjoy reservations made in lands conveyed to or by the United States shall be subject to such reasonable conditions respecting ingress and egress and the use of the surface of the lands as the authorized officer deems necessary.

(f) Lands conveyed to the United States pursuant to a State exchange under this section, upon acceptance of title thereof, become public lands. If the lands are located within the exterior boundaries of a grazing district, they become a part of that district.

(g) Where a State exchange under this section involves lands embraced in outstanding grazing leases under section 15 of the Taylor Grazing Act (43 U.S.C., sec. 315m) issued prior to the filing of the State exchange application, the Secretary of the Interior, upon the request of the State, may issue patent to the State, subject to such outstanding lease, in accordance with the Act of August 24, 1937 (50 Stat. 748; 43 U.S.C. sec. 315p).

(h) The State is responsible for payment of one-half the cost of publication.

§ 2244.2–2 Program.

The program of the Secretary of the Interior is to cooperate with the States to effect mutually advantageous exchanges and to process State proposals for exchange as rapidly as possible, consistent with the law and the regulations of this subpart.

§ 2244.2–3 Applicable regulations.

All the provisions of § 2244.1 apply to State exchanges except:

(a) States may file applications for exchanges without meeting the requirements for preliminary negotiations.

(b) State exchanges are not subject to the classification requirements of Parts 2410 and 2411 of this chapter.

§ 2244.3 National forest exchanges.

§ 2244.3–1 Authority.

The Act of March 20, 1922 (42 Stat. 465), as amended (16 U.S.C., sec. 485), and other acts authorise the United States to convey Federal lands or timber and in exchange therefor to accept title to non-Federal lands which thereupon become a part of the national forest system administered by the Secretary of Agriculture.

§ 2244.3–2 Applicable regulations.

All proposals for exchange for the consolidation or extension of national forests shall be filed with the appropriate officer of the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture in compliance with the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture. In addition, when an application involves the selection of public lands outside of national forests and under the administrative jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management, the proponents must comply with the regulations in § 2444.1.

§ 2244.4 Other exchanges.

The following exchanges are subject to the provisions of § 2244.1.

§ 2244.4–1 O&C exchanges.

(a) Authority. The Act of July 31, 1939 (53 Stat. 1144), authorizes and empowers the Secretary of the Interior, in his discretion, in the administration of the act approved August 28, 1937 (50 Stat. 874), to exchange any nonmineral land formerly granted to the Oregon and California Railroad Co., title to which was revested in the United States pursuant to the provisions of the Act of June 9, 1916 (39 Stat. 218), and any land granted to the State of Oregon, title to which was reconveyed to the United States by the Southern Oregon Co. pursuant to the provisions of the Act of February 26, 1919 (40 Stat. 1179), for lands of approximately equal aggregate value held in private, or State, or county ownership, either within or contiguous to the former limits of such grants, when by such action the Secretary of the Interior will be enabled to consolidate advantageously the holdings of lands of the United States. The act further provides that all lands and timber secured by the United States pursuant to any such exchange shall be administered in accordance with the same provisions of law as the revested and reconveyed lands exchanged therefor, and that parties to the exchange may make reservations of easements, rights-of-way, and other interests and rights. Both the offered and selected lands in Coos Bay Wagon Road exchanges must be in the same county.

(b) Program—(1) Forest management. The Act of August 28, 1937 (50 Stat. 874), provides for the conservation of land, water, forest, and forage on a permanent basis; the prudent utilization of these resources for the purposes to which they are best adapted; and the realization of the highest current values consistent with undiminished future returns. It seeks, through the application of the policy of sustained-yield management, to provide perpetual forests which will serve as a foundation for continuing industries and permanent communities.

(2) Exchanges. (i) Lands and timber to be acquired under authority of the Act of July 31, 1939, will be of a character and so located that the acquisition thereof will promote the conservation principles laid down by the Act of August 28, 1937. Lands and timber which will be disposed of by exchange will be of such a type and so located that the transfer of these resources will not interfere with those principles. Exchanges will not be authorized where the exchange would create a serious disturbance of existing economic conditions; or in cases where the exchange would operate materially to reduce the revenues which should accrue to the counties under authority of the Act of August 28, 1937. Neither can approval be given to the exchange of lands which would prevent the free and ready access of the Government in the development of the resources under its jurisdiction, nor the passing of title to which would in any way interfere with the policy of sustained-yield forest management which governs the administration of the O. and C. lands.

(ii) The primary objectives sought by the Act of July 31, 1939, include the following:

(a) Simplification of administration, improvement, and protection through the consolidation of holdings.

(b) The development of a balanced distribution of age classes of timber with a view to promoting the policy of sustained-yield forest management provided for in the Act of August 28, 1937.

(c) The establishment of sustained-yield management units, with a view to sustaining dependent industry, dependent labor and dependent communities.

(d) The effective administration of forest units.

(e) Aid in establishing economic operating units for combined agricultural and grazing enterprises, where such enterprises appear to provide the most desirable use of the land.

(f) The protection of recreational, open space, and natural beauty values against impairment or destruction.

§ 2244.4–2 Private exchanges under Taylor Grazing Act.

(a) Authority. Subsections (b) and (d) of section 8 of the Taylor Grazing Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1272), as amended (43 U.S.C., sec. 315g), authorize the Secretary of the Interior, when the public interests will be benefited thereby, to accept on behalf of the United States title to any privately owned land within or without the boundaries of a grazing district and in exchange therefor to issue a patent for not to exceed an equal value of surveyed grazing district land or of unreserved surveyed public land in the same State or within a distance of not more than 50 miles within the adjoining State nearest the privately owned land. Either party to an exchange may make reservations of minerals, easements, or rights of use. The applicant must pay one-half the cost of publication.

§ 2244.4–3 Indian reservation exchanges.

(a) Executive order reservations. The Act of April 21, 1904 (33 Stat. 211; 43 U.S.C., sec. 149), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to exchange any vacant, nonmineral, nontimbered, surveyed public lands located in the same State as the offered lands for any privately owned lands over which an Indian reservation has been extended by Executive order. The offered and selected lands must be approximately equal both in value and area. The applicant must pay all costs of consummating the exchange.

(b) San Juan, McKinley, and Valencia Counties, N. Mex. Section 13 of the Act of March 3, 1921 (41 Stat. 1239), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to exchange any vacant, surveyed public lands, including any lands reconveyed under this act, in San Juan, McKinley, and Valencia Counties, N. Mex., for any privately owned lands, State school lands (except those granted by the act of January 25, 1927, 44 Stat. 1026, as amended (43 U.S.C. 870)), and lands covered by valid unperfected claims, and by Indian allotments and Indian allotment selections in such counties. The exchange must serve to consolidate the holdings of the applicant, who must own land in the same township in which the selected lands are located.

(c) Apache, Coconino, and Navajo Counties, Ariz. Section 2 of the Act of June 14, 1934 (48 Stat. 961), as supplemented by the Act of May 9, 1938 (52 Stat. 300), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to exchange (1) any vacant, nonmineral, surveyed public lands in Apache, Navajo, and Coconino Counties, Ariz., for any privately owned lands in Apache and Coconino Counties and in that portion of Navajo County north of the townships line between Townships 20 North and 21 North, Gila and Salt River Meridian, and (2) any available lands within the reservation described in the above-mentioned act of 1934 for any lands covered by Indian allotments and Indian allotment selections in the three mentioned counties. Applicants may select public lands containing springs or other living waters only if the offered lands contain similar waters. If an applicant reserves oil, gas, and other minerals in the offered lands, a like reservation will be made in the selected lands.

(d) Reservations established by statute. Exchanges and lieu selections involving lands within Indian reservations occur infrequently. Regulations covering such transactions are, therefore, not codified. Any such transactions will be handled in a manner consistent with the authorizing laws and with the general regulations of § 2244.1 for exchanges, and of § 2244.2 for State lieu selections.

§ 2244.4–4 National Park System exchanges.

(a) General. Exchanges to eliminate private holdings from national parks and national monuments for which no specific provisions are made in this section have generally reached the limits allowed by enabling legislation. Regulations covering such transactions are, therefore, not codified. Any such transactions will be handled in a manner consistent with the authorizing laws and with the regulations in § 2244.1.

(b) Point Reyes National Seashore, Calif. The Act of September 13, 1962 (76 Stat. 538; 16 U.S.C., secs. 459c–459c–7), providing for the establishment of the Point Reyes National Seashore in the State of California, authorizes the Secretary of the Interior, when the public interest will be benefited thereby, to acquire land, waters, and other property within the boundaries of the Point Reyes National Seashore by exchange. He may accept title to any non-Federal property located within such area and convey to the grantor of such property any federally owned property under the jurisdiction of the Secretary within Arizona, California, Nevada, and Oregon, notwithstanding any other provision of law. The properties so exchanged shall be approximately equal in fair market value, provided that when such values are not equal the Secretary may accept cash from or pay cash to the grantor in such an exchange in order to equalize the value of the properties exchanged.

(c) Fire Island National Seashore. The Act of September 11, 1964 (78 Stat. 928; 16 U.S.C., secs. 459e–459e–9), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to establish an area to be known as the "Fire Island National Seashore" and to acquire by exchange lands within the boundaries of the seashore as specified in the act. When acquiring land by exchange the Secretary may accept title to any nonfederally owned land located within the boundaries of the national seashore and may convey to the grantor any federally owned land under his jurisdiction. The properties so exchanged shall be approximately equal in fair market value, but the Secretary may accept cash from or pay cash to a grantor in order to equalize the values of the lands exchanged.

(d) Lake Mead National Recreational Area. The Act of October 8, 1964 (78 Stat. 1039, 16 U.S.C., secs. 460n–460n–9) authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to revise the boundaries of the Lake Mead National Recreation Area and to procure property within the exterior boundaries of such area in such manner as he shall consider to be in the public interest. In exercising his authority to acquire property by exchange, the Secretary may accept title to any non-Federal property located within the boundaries of the recreation area and convey to the grantor of such property any federally owned property under the jurisdiction of the Secretary. The properties so exchanged shall be approximately equal in fair market value, provided that the Secretary may accept cash from or pay cash to the grantor in an exchange in order to equalize the values of the properties exchanged.

(e) Whiskeytown–Shasta–Trinity National Recreation Area, Calif. The Act of November 8, 1965 (79 Stat. 1295) authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to administer the Whiskeytown unit of the Whiskeytown-Shasta-Trinity National Recreation Area. The Secretary is authorized to accept title to any non-Federal property within any part of the recreation area and in exchange therefor to convey to the grantor any federally owned property under his jurisdiction within the State of California which he classifies as suitable for exchange or disposal. The properties so exchanged shall be approximately equal in fair market value, provided that the Secretary may accept cash from or pay cash to the grantor in an exchange in order to equalize the value of the properties exchanged.

§ 2244.4–5 Wildlife refuge exchanges.

(a) Section 303 of the Act of June 15, 1935 (49 Stat. 382; 16 U.S.C., sec. 715d–2), and Reorganization Plan No. II of May 9, 1939 (53 Stat. 813, 1431, 1433; 5 U.S.C., secs. 133s, 133t), authorize the Secretary of the Interior, in his discretion and when the public interest will be benefited thereby, to accept on behalf of the U.S. title to any lands which in his opinion, are chiefly valuable for migratory bird or other wildlife refuges, and in exchange therefor to patent not to exceed an equal value of surveyed or unsurveyed, unappropriated and unreserved nonmineral public lands in the same State, the value in each case to be determined by him. Section 304 of the Act of June 15, 1935 (49 Stat. 382; 16 U.S.C., sec. 715e–1) permits the private owners of lands offered in an exchange to retain such rights of way, easements and reservations in such lands as will not interfere with the use of the areas involved for the purposes of the Act of June 15, 1935.

(b) Section 2(b) of the Act of October 15, 1966 (80 Stat. 926), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to acquire by purchase, donation, or otherwise, lands or interests therein necessary for the conservation, protection, restoration, and propagation of selected species of native fish that are threatened with extinction.

(c) Section 4(b)(3) of the Act of October 15, 1966 (80 Stat. 926), authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to acquire lands or interests therein by exchange (1) for acquired lands or public lands under his jurisdiction which he finds suitable for disposition, or (2) for the right to remove, in accordance with such terms and conditions as the Secretary may prescribe, products from the acquired or public lands within the National Wildlife Refuge System. The values of the properties so exchanged either shall be approximately equal, or if they are not approximately equal the values shall be equalized by the payment of cash to the grantor or to the Secretary as the circumstances require.

§ 2244.4–6 Miscellaneous State exchanges.

Because of the infrequency of transactions involving State exchanges under the Acts of May 7, 1932 (47 Stat. 150), section 3 of the Act of June 14, 1934 (48 Stat. 962), Act of December 7, 1942 (56 Stat. 1042), and the Act of June 20, 1936 (49 Stat. 2026), regulations covering these transactions are not codified. Any such transaction will be handled in a manner consistent with the authorizing laws and with the regulations in § 2244.1.

§ 2244.5 Reclamation exchanges.

§ 2244.5–1 Applicable regulations.

(a) Regulations for exchange under the Act of August 13, 1953 (67 Stat. 566; 43 U.S.C. 451–451K), are in Part 406 of this title and for exchanges under the Act of May 25, 1926 (44 Stat. 648; 43 U.S.C. 423e), are in §§ 403.6–403.11 of this title.

(b) Applications for new entry under the provisions of the Act of March 4, 1915 (38 Stat. 1215; 43 U.S.C. 447), must be on the form provided for homestead applications, must refer to the serial number, and give the description of the former entry and a statement by the applicant showing the facts upon which he claims to come within the provisions of this act.

FIRE ISLAND NATIONAL SEASHORE, N.Y.

Proposed Vehicular Use

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by section 3 of the Act of August 25, 1916, as amended (39 Stat. 535, 16 U.S.C. 3), and in order to carry out the purposes of the Act of September 11, 1964 (78 Stat. 928, 16 U.S.C. 459e), authorizing the establishment of the Fire Island National Seashore, it is proposed to amend Part 7, Chapter 1, Title 36, Code of Federal Regulations, as hereinafter set forth.

The unrestricted use of motor vehicles in the Fire Island National Seashore conflicts with the purposes of the Act of September 11, 1964, authorizing the establishment of this Seashore, to conserve and preserve for the use of future generations certain relatively unspoiled and undeveloped beaches, dunes and other natural features within Suffolk County, N.Y., which possess high values to the Nation as examples of unspoiled areas of great natural beauty in close proximity to large concentrations of urban population; conflicts with the administration of the Seashore to be established with the primary aim of conserving the natural resources located there; is inconsistent with statutory limitations on access to that section of the Seashore lying between the easterly boundary of the Brookhaven town park at Davis Park and the westerly boundary of the Smith Point County Park; and is incompatible with the preservation therein of the flora and fauna and the physiographic conditions now prevailing; and conflicts with the preservation of such section and of the Sunken Forest Preserve in as nearly their present state and condition as possible.

The following regulations are proposed in order to protect the Federal lands and interests therein within the Seashore and to protect members of the public using such properties, and to provide for recreational use of Seashore lands by motor vehicles for activities such as sport fishing and hunting in areas and at times which do not conflict with the conservation of the natural resources of the Seashore.

The proposed regulations provide that, with certain exceptions, no motor vehicles shall be operated on lands owned or controlled by the United States except by permit issued by the Superintendent of the Seashore. Motor vehicles, commercial passenger vehicles, official vehicles, public utility vehicles, service vehicles, emergency vehicles, and school buses are defined and vehicular travel during certain periods and in certain areas is restricted. Official vehicles, emergency vehicles, and school buses may be operated without permit at all times. The Superintendent of the Fire Island National Seashore is authorized to establish a system of permits and to designate routes of travel, speed limits and to suspend the regulations during emergencies.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed regulations to the Director, National Park Service, within 15 days after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

STEWART L. UDALL,
Secretary of the Interior.

JULY 19, 1967.

Part 7 of Chapter I, Title 36 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended by the addition of a new section reading as follows:

§ 7.20 Fire Island National Seashore.

(a) Operation of motor vehicles.—(1) Definitions. The following terms or phrases, when used in this section, have the meanings hereinafter respectively ascribed to them:

(i) Seashore lands. Any lands owned or hereafter acquired by the United States or in which the United States possesses or hereafter acquires a proprietary interest.

(ii) Motor vehicle. Any self-propelled land vehicle.

(iii) Commercial passenger vehicle. Any motor vehicle carrying passengers for hire.

(iv) Official vehicle. Any motor vehicle while used on official business of the U.S. Government, the State of New York, the County of Suffolk and of towns, villages, and communities situated on Fire Island.

(v) Public utility vehicle. Any vehicle owned or operated by a public utility or a public service company enfranchised or licensed to supply Fire Island residents with electricity, water, or telephone service.

(vi) Service vehicle. Any vehicle owned or operated by or on behalf of an individual, partnership, or corporation engaged in the business of furnishing construction, maintenance, or repair services, including, but not limited to, building, plumbing, installation or repair of household appliances, carpentry, painting, landscaping, garbage collection and delivery service.

(vii) Emergency vehicle. Any hearse, fire engine, and any motor vehicle (including commercial passenger vehicles), while engaged in transporting, or bringing medical assistance to sick, injured, aged, or infirm persons.

(viii) School bus. Any motor vehicle owned or operated by or on behalf of a school district or other public or private entity maintaining elementary or secondary schools, while in use for transporting elementary or secondary school children to and from school activities.

(ix) Dune crossing. An access way over a primary or transverse dune designated and marked as a dune crossing.

(x) Superintendent. The Superintendent of the Fire Island National Seashore or his authorized representative.

(2) Permits. No motor vehicles, other than official vehicles, emergency vehicles, and school buses, shall be operated across Seashore lands, except under permit issued by the Superintendent.

(i) No permit shall be issued for any motor vehicle having a carrying capacity in excess of 1 ton: Provided, That application may be made to the Superintendent for a special trip permit for a vehicle of greater capacity to carry heavier loads for which water transportation is not feasible or available.

(ii) No permit shall be issued for any motor vehicle not equipped, in the judgment of the Superintendent, to travel over sand.

(iii) Permits may be issued for periods of 1 day or longer, depending upon the reasonable requirements of the applicant, but not to extend beyond December 31 of the year of issuance.

(iv) The Superintendent is authorized to establish a system of permits consistent with the requirements of these regulations. Permits shall be displayed at all times in such manner as to be readily visible on any motor vehicle.

(3) Authorized and prohibited travel. (i) Travel by official vehicles and emergency vehicles shall be permitted on Seashore lands at all times.

(ii) Travel by public utility vehicles and service vehicles over Seashore lands during the period May 1 to October 1, except in an emergency as determined by the Superintendent, shall be restricted to the hours between 6 p.m. of one day and 10 a.m. of the following day except that such vehicles shall not be permitted to travel over such lands between 10 a.m. on Saturday and 6 p.m. on the following Sunday.

(iii) Except as hereinafter provided, during the period May 1 to October 1, travel by all other motor vehicles on Seashore lands east of Robert Moses State Park to the westerly boundary of Smith Point County Park is prohibited.

(iv) Travel by motor vehicles, except official vehicles, emergency vehicles and school buses, across Seashore lands within that area extending from the easterly boundary of Ocean Ridge and the westerly boundary of Smith Point County Park is prohibited at all times: Provided, That owners and occupants of houses situated therein, their guests and business invitees may be issued special access permits by the Superintendent to afford them ingress and egress by motor vehicle via Smith Point County Park.

(v) All motor vehicles having a valid permit may be operated at all times on Seashore lands lying between the westerly boundary of Smith Point County Park and Moriches Inlet.

(4) Rules of travel. (i) So far as practicable, vehicles shall be operated in established tracks. When two vehicles approach from opposite directions in the same track, the operator with the water to his left shall yield by turning out of the track.

(ii) No vehicle shall be parked closer than ten (10) feet or farther than twenty (20) feet from the established track or designated route.

(iii) No person shall operate a motor vehicle on Seashore lands at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent, having regard to the safety and welfare of others, and to the objective of causing minimum damage to beach or other areas in which such vehicle is operated, and not in any event to exceed twenty-five (25) miles per hour.

(iv) No motor vehicle shall be operated on any portions of a dune except at posted dune crossings.

(v) The Superintendent may designate routes of travel across Seashore lands by the posting of appropriate signs. Where routes are so designated, vehicles shall be operated only within the designated routes.

(vi) No motor vehicle shall be operated by other than the holder of a valid operator's license.

(vii) No person who is under the influence of intoxicating liquor shall operate a motor vehicle on Seashore lands.

(viii) In an emergency, the Superintendent may suspend, for such period or periods as he shall deem advisable, any or all of the foregoing restrictions on vehicular travel, and he may announce such suspension by whatever means are available. In the event of high winds and waves, storms, or other adverse weather conditions, the Superintendent shall close all or any portion of the Seashore lands to vehicular travel for such period as he shall deem advisable in the interests of public safety.

(5) Violations. The Superintendent may suspend or revoke any permit for violation of any of the foregoing regulations.

[7 CFR Part 926]

[Docket No. AO 135-A6]

TOKAY GRAPES GROWN IN SAN JOAQUIN COUNTY, CALIF.

Notice of Recommended Decision and Opportunity To File Written Exceptions With Respect to Proposed Amendment of the Marketing Agreement, as Amended, and Order, as Amended

Pursuant to the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision with respect to proposed amendment of the marketing agreement, as amended, and order, as amended (7 CFR Part 926), regulating the handling of Tokay grapes grown in San Joaquin County, Calif., hereinafter referred to collectively as the "order." The order is effective pursuant to provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674), hereinafter referred to as the "act."

Interested persons may file written exceptions to this recommended decision with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 10th day after publication of this recommended decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate. All such communications will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Preliminary statement. The public hearing on the record of which the recommended amendment of the order was formulated was held in Lodi, Calif., on June 1, 1967, pursuant to a notice thereof which was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 10, 1967 (32 F.R. 7089). The notice contained amendment proposals which had been submitted to the Secretary of Agriculture by the Industry Committee, the administrative agency for the order.

Material issues. The material issues presented on the record of the hearing were concerned with amending the order to:

(1) Authorize the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, to prescribe rules, regulations, and safeguards deemed necessary to assure that grapes marketed as premium quality grapes meet the prescribed requirements for such grapes;

(2) Authorize the committee to borrow money;

(3) Authorize the establishment and maintenance of a reserve in an amount equal to approximately one season's operational expenses;

(4) Revise the provisions of the order with respect to marketing research and development projects to authorize any form of marketing promotion, including paid advertising; and

(5) Make conforming changes.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues, all of which are based on the evidence adduced at the hearing are as follows:

(1) The order should be amended as hereinafter set forth to authorize the committee, with the approval of the Secretary, to prescribe rules, regulations, and safeguards deemed necessary to assure that grapes designated and marketed as conforming to the requirements prescribed for premium quality grapes shall meet or exceed the requirements established for such grapes. Testimony adduced at the hearing indicates that there is a place in the market for premium packs of Tokay grapes. Such premium quality grapes will, when marketed with grapes of a lower quality, provide consumers with a choice as to which quality grape they will purchase. Confronted with this choice, consumers can reasonably be expected to buy more Tokay grapes than would be purchased when grapes of only one quality are offered. Premium quality grapes can reasonably be expected to sell for a higher price than lower quality grapes and without lowering the price of grapes which are not of premium quality. This price situation should result in an increase in growers' total returns. The order presently contains authority which permits the committee to prescribe the requirements as to grade, size, pack, and container for premium quality grapes. Such authority was for the purpose of identifying premium quality grapes so that such grapes could be exempt from volume regulations. Such authority has not been used, however. There is need to provide additional authority in the order governing the handling of premium quality grapes that are marketed in fresh form. Without such authority, handlers could freely market grapes depicted to be of premium quality when the grapes were actually of a lower quality. Such unfair competitive practice would advantage such handler, at least initially, over all other handlers in that such sales would probably be at higher prices. Because such grapes were of a quality below premium quality, consumers would probably not be satisfied with such grapes and would tend to refuse to buy additional quantities of Tokay grapes or buy grapes of standard quality and at the lowest price. Thus, the elimination or curtailment of this unfair trade practice would benefit the entire industry, would encourage more orderly marketing, increase the total quantity of fresh Tokay grape sales, increase total returns to growers, and be in the public interest.

The first step necessary to accomplish this objective is to provide authority for the Secretary to prescribe the requirements which premium quality grapes marketed in fresh form must meet or exceed. Record evidence clearly shows that the committee can recommend to the Secretary, and the Secretary issue, appropriate requirements which will provide the basis for easy identification of premium quality grapes. Through rules and regulation procedure the Secretary, on recommendation of the committee, should be authorized to establish procedure and methods of handling, including inspection and identification of premium quality grapes, that will permit handlers to market such grapes separately and distinctly from all other packs of grapes. Such authority for implementing regulations also should permit the delineation of what constitutes marketings as premium quality grapes, including, but not limited to, what constitutes a representation that grapes are of premium quality. This may be necessary to prevent evasion of the regulation by the use of descriptive terms other than "premium quality" which, nevertheless, may connote, represent, or imply that the grapes are of premium quality. Such procedure would not preclude, however, the marketing of packages of premium quality grapes with packages of grapes not identified as premium quality.

The prescribing of requirements for premium quality grapes by the Secretary and the issuance of rules and regulations with respect to procedure and method of handling premium quality grapes does not impose restrictions on any handler unless he chooses to pack and market a portion of his grapes in conformance with such requirements. The decision as to whether to pack to and request inspection on the basis of the established requirements for premium quality grapes is made by each handler for each lot of grapes. A portion of each lot of grapes can reasonably be expected to meet the requirements of premium quality grapes if good cultural, harvesting, and packing practices have been followed. The portion of a lot of grapes that may be marketed as premium quality grapes can reasonably be expected to return more money than a quantity of grapes packed to a lower standard. Should a handler pack to the premium quality requirements and upon inspection it was determined that such grapes did not meet the established requirements for premium quality grapes, the handler could, if such grapes met or exceeded the minimum grade requirement of the regulation in effect, market such grapes in the same manner as presently. Thus, the making available of a premium quality grade for use by any handler desiring to market grapes on such basis should increase the sales of Tokay grapes and improve returns to the growers. The order should be so amended.

(2) The provisions of the order relating to assessments should be amended to authorize the committee to borrow money. The season for Tokay grapes begins April 1 of each year and the shipment of grapes usually begins about the first of September. Thus, there is a period of approximately 5 months during which the committee will be incurring expenses prior to the time when assessment income from the current crop is available. During this period the committee will probably be engaged in its greatest activity. It will be surveying the crop to estimate the production and quality, establishing its marketing policy, and determining regulations that should be in effect for the season. Even though there is a proposal to establish and maintain a reserve in an amount not to exceed approximately one fiscal year's operational expenses, it was testified at the hearing that it may be desirable for the committee to borrow money and the order should be amended to authorize the committee to do so. While it is not expected that the committee will likely need to borrow money soon, the order should provide authority so that the committee's activities will be as flexible as possible to administer the provisions of the order. Therefore, the order should be amended to permit the committee to borrow money should it need to do so.

(3) In the operation of the order, the Industry Committee has found that the accumulation and maintenance of a financial reserve from excess assessment funds is a good business practice and contributes to efficient financial management in that it lessens the need for borrowing money and refunding any excess assessment money to handlers. The fund was established through rule making procedures on recommendation of the committee and with the approval of the Secretary. Such reserve should be covered by a specific provision of the order. The evidence of record shows that the reserve should be available to cover any expenses authorized under the order, including (i) expenses incurred during the preharvest period before assessment income is received, (ii) deficits incurred during any season when, as a result of miscalculation or crop failure or partial crop failure, assessment income is insufficient to cover expenses, (iii) a deficit is deliberately incurred so as to reduce the reserve, (iv) any expenses incurred during a period of suspension of any part or all of the order, and (v) costs of liquidation.

The rules and regulations establishing the reserve fund limit the amount that may be in the reserve to $20,000 and permits the transfer of not to exceed 10 percent of the season's annual budget to be placed in the reserve. Presently, the amount in the reserve is well within the prescribed limits.

Source of funds has been from excess assessments, and this should continue to be the source of such funds. However, the restrictions of $20,000 should be changed to an amount equal to approximately one season's operational expenses and the restriction that funds not to exceed 10 percent of one season's annual budget may be placed in the reserve should be eliminated. Record evidence shows that with the anticipated authority for any form of marketing promotion, including paid advertising, the committee's expenses are likely to be increased substantially. To effectively advertise considerable advanced planning, including obligation of expenses, is necessary. Thus, the amount of $20,000 may not be adequate. It is desirable that the amount in the reserve be maintained approximately at or below the expenses for one season. However, the order should permit the transfer of any excess assessment funds on hand at the end of any season into the reserve if, at that time, the reserve does not exceed approximately 1 year's expenses. It is not possible to estimate with exact precision the committee expenses, the total production of the crop or the quantity of such production that will be subject to assessments. Should one or more of these estimates be incorrect, the committee could have excess assessment funds that would have to be credited to handler accounts or paid to such handlers. With the reserve fund procedure in effect, there is little likelihood of any large excess assessment funds being on hand at the end of any season because the committee could adjust the assessment rate downward whenever the amount in the reserve approaches one season's expenses. For the same reason, the committee will probably never refund or credit excess assessment to handlers, although such provision should be in the order.

The reserve procedure is equitable to all concerned. Those who pay the assessment; namely, the handlers, usually are in a lifetime occupational pursuit and there is not frequent change in the identity of the person involved. Vines cannot be pulled and replaced rapidly as is the case with row crops and vineyards are not frequently sold. Under the reserve procedure, those who might pay slightly more than their proportionate share of the operating cost of the program in any given year are the same people who will benefit in a year of reduced assessments.

Upon termination of the order, reserve funds that are not needed for liquidation should be disposed of by returning them pro rata to those who contributed or by disposition in any other manner determined by the Secretary to be appropriate. Because the sums to be returned may be too small to justify the administrative expense of proration, or because of the time involved since their receipt, it might be impractical to return them to the contributors. Hence, the authorization for appropriate disposition by the Secretary.

(4) The provisions of the order which authorize the committee to establish or provides for the establishment of marketing research and development projects designed to assist, improve, or promote the marketing, distribution, and consumption of Tokay grapes should be amended to provide for any form of marketing promotion, including paid advertising. Tokay grapes are marketed in a highly competitive situation. They compete for shelf space and retail attention with a host of fresh and processed fruits, many of which are nationally advertised and promoted. Hence, authority for expanded promotional activities, including paid advertising, is needed in the order so the committee will possess the means to strengthen the position of Tokay grapes and to maintain or expand sales as the situation warrants.

The authority under the order for promotional programs, including paid advertising, for Tokay grapes should be broad and flexible, and available to the extent permitted under the act to facilitate timely development of programs suitable to the circumstance. Campaigns to expand demand and expansion of sales in low consumption areas would necessarily involve techniques designed to obtain such results. Stimulation of demand and expansion of sales in areas where Tokay grapes are already being used in volume, and where the objective would be to obtain a quick response, may need to employ different techniques. Thus, the committee should have the authority to decide, subject to the approval of the Secretary, the particular types of advertising and publicity or promotion projects that should be employed, singly or in combination, to obtain its objective. Such projects should include but not be restricted to such promotional techniques as publicity, education, merchandizing, dealer service work, and newspaper, radio, television, and magazine advertising as may be necessary considering the circumstances existing during the particular season or anticipated in future seasons.

Publicity and education involves suggestions for serving Tokay grapes, product information stories, recipes, and photographs designed to capture the attention of food page editors and stimulate their use in food page copy.

Merchandizing usually involves the development and distribution of attractive point of purchase material, recipe folders, brochures which identify the commodity and give information about it, or bulletins on handling and display methods. It may or may not employ the use of dealer service personnel to work with wholesalers and retailers to encourage them to feature the commodity. Merchandizing may also involve the staging of sales contests, in which wholesale and retail sales personnel are rewarded for outstanding displays or increased sales. Trade paper advertising usually is for the purpose of announcing the availability of the product. Its use may be necessary in gaining the editorial support of such papers which is generally accorded an advertiser.

Spot radio announcements have been found to have considerable value in gaining retailer support. Such announcements may be tied in with advertising financed by the retailer, thus enhancing the overall effect.

Television, network radio, and magazine advertising are relatively expensive. Such should probably be considered for Tokay grapes in a joint venture with one or more partners whose products may be used in recipes, salads, fruit bowls, or otherwise featured in ways that are complimentary to Tokay grapes. Sharing costs will extend the reach of the Tokay advertising program. The attractive color and catchy description—Flame Tokay—should be featured in color advertising media.

Any work in connection with marketing promotion, including paid advertising, should be submitted to the Secretary for his approval in the form of a project. While the committee is considering this matter and making its decision with respect thereto, it should give consideration to the following factors along with other factors which it considers pertinent: (1) The expected supply of Tokay grapes and the market requirements; (2) the supply and quality of competing fruits, and (3) the need for any marketing development activity and any tie-in with USDA's Plentiful Foods Program that may be available.

At the conclusion of each season during which the committee has engaged in a project pursuant to this section, it should make an appraisal of each such project and prepare a summary report of the status and accomplishments to its members and the Secretary. Such report should be of assistance to the committee in making plans for the continuation of such project.

In establishing and refining its objectives, the committee should be authorized to consult not only with those persons who are familiar with the marketing of Tokay grapes but also those who have knowledge and experience in promotional research and in the conduct of promotional and advertising programs so that it may conduct its program in the most advantageous manner possible. The committee should be authorized to conduct promotional and advertising work directly or, if deemed advantageous to it, to contract with or otherwise utilize other agencies or persons for the conduct of such work. The committee should, of course, supervise the performance of any person or agency it may so utilize to assure that the work performed is in accord with the plan of the committee.

The funds to cover the cost of any promotional program, including advertising, should be obtained by levying assessments on shipments of grapes in the same manner that such are levied to finance the administrative and other costs of the committee. Likewise, the anticipated expenses of advertising and promotion should be included in the budget of expenses submitted to the Secretary for his approval. Such expenses should include costs which may be incurred in the planning and development of the promotional programs, including the cost of any consulting services necessary. While the program should be submitted to the Secretary for his approval in the form of a project, it is recognized that considerable study and planning are involved in the determination of such a project, hence the incurring of expenses in connection with such development should be authorized on the basis of budgetary approval prior to the time such project is submitted. To facilitate the greatest degree of flexibility in the planning and conduct of promotional activity, including advertising, the reserve fund should be available to cover the costs of such activity in the manner that such reserve is available for use in covering any other cost under the order.

The inclusion of authority to engage in advertising should not lessen the need for other forms of research projects designed to assist, improve, or promote the marketing, distribution, or consumption of Tokay grapes. Rather, the inclusion of advertising could open up areas where research would be needed. For example, the committee may want to institute a research project to evaluate the effects of advertising, or to ascertain the most desirable approach to the advertising of Tokay grapes and the order should contain such authority.

(5) The amendment heretofore recommended will make it necessary to make certain conforming changes in §§ 926.50 and 926.51. The conforming changes will make clear the responsibility of the committee with respect to its recommendation concerning premium quality grapes and the manner in which the Secretary issues regulations for such grapes. Such will tie-in and clarify rules and regulations of the committee with respect to such grapes.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. June 14, 1967, was set by the Presiding Officer at the hearing as the latest date by which briefs would have to be filed by interested persons with respect to facts presented in evidence at the hearing and the conclusions which should be drawn therefrom. No brief was filed.

General findings. Upon the basis of the evidence adduced at the hearing, and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The marketing agreement, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The marketing agreement, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, regulate the handling of Tokay grapes grown in the designated production area in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, the marketing agreement and order upon which hearings have been held;

(3) The marketing agreement, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, are limited in their application to the smallest regional production area that is practicable consistently with carrying out the declared policy of the act; and the issuance of several orders applicable to subdivisions of the production area would not effectively carry out the declared policy of the act;

(4) There are no differences in the production and marketing of Tokay grapes grown in the production area which make necessary different terms and provisions applicable to different parts of such area; and

(5) All handling of Tokay grapes grown in the designated production area is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce or directly burdens, obstructs, or affects such commerce.

Recommended amendment of the amended marketing agreement and order. The following amendment of the amended marketing agreement and order is recommended as the detailed means by which the aforesaid conclusions may be carried out:

1. Add to § 926.17 a final sentence to read as follows:

§ 926.17 Premium quality grapes.

* * * The committee, with the approval of the Secretary, shall prescribe rules, regulations, and safeguards as it may deem necessary to assure that grapes marketed as Premium Quality grapes meet the prescribed requirements for such grapes.

2. Add to § 926.46 Assessments a final sentence to read as follows:

§ 926.46 Assessments.

* * * In order to provide funds for the administration of the provisions of this part during the first part of a fiscal period before sufficient operating income is available from assessments on the current season's shipments, the Industry Committee may borrow money for such purposes.

3. Amend § 926.47 Handler accounts to read as follows:

§ 926.47 Handler accounts.

(a) If at the end of a season, the assessments collected are in excess of expenses incurred, the Industry Committee, with the approval of the Secretary, may carry over such excess into subsequent fiscal periods as a reserve: Provided, That funds already in the reserve do not exceed approximately one season's expenses. Such reserve funds may be used (1) to cover any expenses authorized by this part, and (2) to cover necessary expenses of liquidation in the event of termination of this part. If any such excess is not retained in a reserve, each handler entitled to a proportionate refund shall be credited with such refund against the operations of the following season or be paid such refund. Upon such termination, any funds not required to defray the necessary expenses of liquidation shall be disposed of in such manner as the Secretary may determine to be appropriate: Provided, That to the extent practical, such funds shall be returned pro rata to the persons from whom such funds were collected.

(b) The Industry Committee may, subject to the approval of the Secretary, maintain a suit in its own name or in the names of its members for the collection of any handler's pro rata share of expenses.

4. Amend § 926.49 Research to read as follows:

§ 926.49 Research.

(a) The committee may, with the approval of the Secretary, establish or provide for the establishment of marketing research and development projects designed to assist, improve, or promote the marketing, distribution, and consumption of Tokay grapes. Such projects may provide for any form of marketing promotion, including paid advertising. The expenses of such projects shall be paid from funds collected pursuant to § 926.46.

(b) In recommending projects pursuant to this section, the committee shall give consideration to the following factors:

(1) The expected supply of grapes in relation to market requirements;

(2) The supply situation among competing areas and commodities; and

(3) The need for marketing research with respect to any marketing development activity and the need for a coordinated effort with USDA's Plentiful Foods Program.

(c) If the committee should conclude that a program of marketing research or development should be undertaken or continued pursuant to this section in any crop year, it shall submit the following for the approval of the Secretary:

(1) Its recommendations as to funds to be obtained pursuant to § 926.46;

(2) Its recommendations as to any marketing research projects; and

(3) Its recommendations as to promotion activity and paid advertising.

5. The provisions of § 926.50 are amended to read as follows:

§ 926.50 Recommendation of Industry Committee.

Whenever the Industry Committee deems it advisable (a) to limit the shipment of grapes to particular grades, sizes, packs, or containers, or any combination thereof, or (b) to prescribe the requirements in terms of grade, size, pack, or container, or any combination thereof, for premium quality grapes, and to require that grapes that are handled and designated as conforming to the requirements prescribed for premium quality grapes shall meet or exceed such requirements, it shall so recommend to the Secretary. At the time of submitting any such recommendation, the said committee shall submit to the Secretary the date and information upon which it acted in making such recommendation, including factors affecting the supply of, and the demand for, grapes by grades and sizes thereof, and such other information as the Secretary may request. The said committee shall promptly give adequate notice to the handlers and growers of any such recommendation submitted to the Secretary.

6. The provisions of § 926.51 are amended to read as follows:

§ 926.51 Establishment of regulations.

(a) Whenever the Secretary finds, from the recommendations and information submitted by the Industry Committee, or from other available information, that (1) to limit the shipment of grapes to particular grades, sizes, packs, or containers, or any combination thereof, or (2) to prescribe requirements in terms of grade, size, pack, or container, or any combination thereof, for premium quality grapes and to require that grapes that are handled and designated as conforming to the requirements prescribed for premium quality grapes shall meet or exceed such requirements, would tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, he shall so limit the shipment as set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph or require grapes to conform to such requirements as may be prescribed in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph during a specified period.

(b) The Secretary shall immediately notify the Industry Committee of the issuance of any such regulation, and the said committee shall promptly give adequate notice thereof to handlers and to growers.

MILK IN UPSTATE MICHIGAN MARKETING AREA

Notice of Hearing on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and Order

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held at the Park Place Motor Inn, Traverse City, Mich., beginning at 2 p.m., local time, on August 1, 1967, with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, regulating the handling of milk in the Upstate Michigan marketing area.

The public hearing is for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to the economic and marketing conditions which relate to the proposed amendments, hereinafter set forth, and any appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order.

The proposed amendments, set forth below, have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Proposed by Michigan Milk Producers Association:

Proposal No. 1. Change the present Class II and Class III milk price formulas by deleting paragraphs (b) and (c) from § 1043.51 and substituting the following:

§ 1043.51 Class prices.

* * * * *

(b) Class II milk. The Class II milk price shall be computed by adding 30 cents to the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price as described in present § 1043.51(b)(2).

* * * * *

(b) Class III milk. The Class III milk price shall be the butter-nonfat dry milk solids formula price as described in present § 1043.51(b)(2).

Proposed by the Dairy Division, Consumer and Marketing Service:

Proposal No. 2 Make such changes as may be necessary to make the entire marketing agreement and the order conform with any amendments thereto that may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing and the order may be procured from the Market Administrator, Mr. George Irvine, 3031 Parsons Road, Traverse City, Mich. 49684, or from the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or may be there inspected.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 19, 1967.

MILK IN CHATTANOOGA AND KNOXVILLE, TENN., MARKETING AREAS

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreements and to Orders

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Knoxville, Tenn., on May 24, 1967, pursuant to notice thereof issued on May 5, 1967 (32 F.R. 7133).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June 30, 1967 (32 F.R. 9977; F.R. Doc. 67-7848) filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, rulings, and general findings of the recommended decision (32 F.R. 9977; F.R. Doc. 67-7848) are hereby approved and adopted and are set forth in full herein:

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. The Class II price, and
2. Date for announcing class prices.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. The Class II price. The Class II price under the Chattanooga and Knoxville orders should be established at the level of the basic formula price for the month. For the year ending April 30, 1967, this would have resulted in an average Class II price of $4.06. In the same 12 months, the actual Chattanooga and Knoxville Class II prices averaged $3.59 and $3.54, respectively.

The basic formula price for the Chattanooga and Knoxville orders is the average price per hundredweight paid for manufacturing grade milk in Minnesota and Wisconsin as reported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, adjusted to a 3.5 percent butterfat test. This price series, which is used as a basis for determining Class I prices in most Federal orders, has also gained wide acceptance in the various orders as a formula for pricing milk used for manufacturing purposes.

The Class II price in the Knoxville order is now the average reported basic paying price at nine Tennessee milk manufacturing plants plus 10 cents in the months of February–August and 25 cents September–January. Such price, however, may not exceed the higher of (1) a formula based on the market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk or (2) a formula based on the market prices for butter and cheddar cheese. The average pay price of the nine Tennessee manufacturing plants adjusted by the fixed differentials has been consistently less than the two alternative prices. At no time in recent years has either of the two alternative prices been the effective Class II price.

The Chattanooga Class II price for February through August is the average reported basic paying prices of four local manufacturing plants. For other months, the Class II price is the higher of either the average paying price at such plants or a formula price based on market prices of butter and nonfat dry milk. The formula price generally has been the applicable Class II price in the September–January periods. For the year ending April 30, 1967, this formula price averaged $3.86; 20 cents less than the average Minnesota-Wisconsin price for the same 12-month period.

Under both the Chattanooga and Knoxville orders, the monthly Class II prices have been consistently below the Class II price that would have been obtained by using the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series as herein proposed.

The basic prices reported by local manufacturing plants are no longer appropriate for determining Class II prices under the two orders. The prices actually paid dairy farmers for milk delivered to these manufacturing plants are significantly more than the basic price quotations for such plants that are used in determining the orders' Class II prices. These basic price quotations do not include premiums for such things as volume, concrete floors, cooling, quality, bulk tank and hauling, some or all of which are paid to their patrons. Also, the formula prices now used in determining the Chattanooga and Knoxville Class II prices do not reflect the value of Class II milk in these markets under current conditions.

The major producer associations in the Knoxville and Chattanooga markets have for some time been disposing of their Class II milk, both to regulated and unregulated plants, at substantially more than the order Class II price. Such sales to local manufacturing plants have been at prices 50 to 70 cents above the Class II prices applicable under these orders. Also, since last September sales to regulated handlers of Class II milk in these markets have been negotiated at the level of the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series. On the other hand, however, the handlers receiving milk from producers unaffiliated with the cooperatives are required to settle with the pool only on the basis of the relatively low Class II prices that are now provided under the two orders.

The Class II price recommended herein is representative of the value of milk used for manufacturing purposes in the Chattanooga and Knoxville markets and will result in more equitable returns to producers for Class II milk. This formula is used for the same purpose in 44 other Federal orders. Utilizing it in the Chattanooga and Knoxville orders will return to producers a value for their milk consistent with the value of milk used in the manufacture of similar products in other markets. There was no opposition to the proposal for basing the Class II price on the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series.

Information on the prices paid at manufacturing plants in Wisconsin is assembled by the State-Federal Crop Reporting Service. A large number of manufacturing plants are included in the monthly sample on which average prices and butterfat content information is based. Plant operators report the total pounds of manufacturing grade milk received from farmers, the total butterfat content, and total dollars paid to dairy farmers for such milk, f.o.b. plant. Similar information is assembled for Minnesota manufacturing plants. These prices are available on a current month basis and are announced on or about the 5th day of the following month.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin price series for manufacturing grade milk reflects price information in each of the two States weighted by the proportionate amount of manufacturing milk produced in each State. The series is based upon a large sample of plants located in the remaining large production area of manufacturing grade milk in the United States. Competition for this milk is strong in both States. Consequently, no firm or group of firms can have a significant influence upon the level of prices.

The present Class II butterfat differential in the Chattanooga and Knoxville orders for adjusting the price for milk containing more or less than 3.5 percent butterfat should be retained. It is arrived at for each one-tenth percent of butterfat by multiplying the monthly average wholesale selling price per pound of 92-score butter at Chicago by 11.5 percent. Producers maintain that this differential has been satisfactory in the past and would be suitable in connection with the adoption of the Class II price herein proposed. Moreover, this differential is the same as that applied to Class II prices under many other Federal orders, including the order for the nearby Nashville market.

Both orders also provide that the Class II butterfat differential shall not exceed the result obtained by dividing by 40 the price on a 4 percent butterfat basis of each of the average reported paying prices or formula prices now used in determining the Class II price. It would be impractical to retain in the order these reported pay prices and formula prices solely for the purpose of computing this proviso, especially since it has never been effective in establishing a Class II butterfat differential in the orders. Moreover, there is no indication that it would have any different effect in the future. Accordingly, the producer proposal that it be removed from the orders should be adopted.

2. Date for announcing class prices. The Chattanooga and Knoxville Class I prices and butterfat differentials for the month should be announced by the market administrator not later than the 6th day of the month.

Both orders now provide for announcing the Class I price and butterfat differential by the 10th day of the month. The proposed earlier announcement date would be helpful to the industry by providing it with information concerning what the precise Class I price for the month would be at the earliest practicable date. Also, changing the Class I price announcement date from the 10th to the 6th day of the month will align the announcement dates in these orders with those provided in the great majority of the Federal milk orders and in all the nearby orders.

In determining the supply-demand adjustment applicable to their monthly Class I prices, the Chattanooga and Knoxville orders now use the producer milk deliveries and Class I sales data for the first and second preceding months. Since such data for the first preceding month would not be available by the proposed earlier announcement date (handler reports are not due until the 6th), it is necessary that the supply-sales data used in computing the supply-demand adjustment be those for the second and third preceding months. This requires that each 2-month utilization period and corresponding standard utilization percentages now used in computing the Class I price for a particular month be used instead for determining the following month's price. Thus, a price adjustment determined under the present provisions for a certain month would apply under the proposed change one month later. The level of adjustments on an annual basis, however, would not be affected by this change in the supply-demand provisions.

The Chattanooga order provides that the market administrator announce the Class II price and butterfat differential by the 10th day of the following month. Since the information for computing the Class II price will now be available on or about the 5th day of the month, it is practicable and desirable that it be announced by the 6th, the same date by which most orders, including Knoxville, announce their Class II prices. This change, which was proposed by producers, should be adopted.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. No briefs or proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of interested parties.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid orders and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing areas, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the marketing agreements upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on exceptions. No exceptions to the recommended decision were filed on behalf of interested parties.

Marketing agreements and orders. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are four documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chattanooga Marketing Area," "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chattanooga Marketing Area," "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Knoxville Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Knoxville Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreements, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreements are identical with those contained in the orders as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached orders which will be published with this decision.

Determination of representative period. The month of May 1967 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the attached orders, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Chattanooga and Knoxville marketing areas, is approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the orders as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing areas.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 18, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Chattanooga Marketing Area

§ 1090.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Chattanooga marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Chattanooga marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June 30, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1967 (32 F.R. 9977; F.R. Doc. 67-7848), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order and are set forth in full herein:

1. In § 1090.27(k), subparagraph (1) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1090.27 Duties.

* * * * * * *

(k) * * *

(1) The 6th day of each month, the Class I price and Class I butterfat differential, both for the current month; and the Class II price and Class II butterfat differential, both for the preceding month, and

* * * * * * *

2. Section 1090.51 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1090.51 Class prices.

Subject to the provisions of §§ 1090.52 and 1090.53, the minimum prices per hundredweight of milk containing 3.5 percent butterfat, to be paid by each handler for milk received at his pool plant from producers during the month, shall be as follows:

(a) Class I milk price. The price per hundredweight for Class I milk for the month shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, subject to the adjustments provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) Add $1.75, and plus 20 cents through April 1968;

(2) Add if the utilization percentage calculated pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph is less than, or subtract if it is more than, the standard utilization range, an amount determined by multiplying the net utilization percentage calculated pursuant to subparagraph (4) of this paragraph by 2 cents: Provided, That any addition or subtraction shall be limited to 50 cents per hundredweight;

(3) Calculate a utilization percentage for each month by dividing the net hundredweight of Class I milk (excluding the skim milk and butterfat in fluid milk products received during the month in the same product and same package from a plant fully regulated pursuant to Order No. 101 (Part 1101 of this chapter) regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville marketing area) disposed of from all pool plants for the second and third preceding months into the total hundredweight of producer milk for the same months, multiplying by 100, and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest whole number;

Month for which price applies	Months for which utilization is computed	Standard utilization range
		Minimum	Maximum
January	October–November	114	118
February	November–December	117	121
March	December–January	117	121
April	January–February	117	121
May	February–March	119	123
June	March–April	124	128
July	April–May	134	138
August	May–June	134	138
September	June–July	128	132
October	July–August	115	119
November	August–September	110	114
December	September–October	114	118

(b) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price shall be the basic formula price for the month.

3. Section 1090.52(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1090.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers.

* * * * * * *

(b) Class II milk price. Multiply the Chicago butter price for the month by 0.115.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Knoxville Marketing Area

§ 1101.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Knoxville marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June 30, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1967 (32 F.R. 9977; F.R. Doc. 67-7848), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order and are set forth in full herein:

1. In § 1101.22(j), subparagraph (1) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1101.22 Duties.

* * * * * * *

(j) * * *

(1) The 6th day of each month, the Class I price and the Class I butterfat differential, both for the current month;

* * * * * * *

2. Section 1101.51 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1101.51 Class prices.

Subject to the provisions of §§ 1101.52 and 1101.53, each handler shall pay producers, at the time and in the manner set forth in §§ 1101.80 through 1101.86, not less than the prices per hundredweight computed as follows for the respective quantities of Class I milk and Class II milk computed pursuant to § 1101.46:

(a) Class I milk price. The price per hundredweight for Class I milk for the month shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month, subject to the adjustments provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:

(1) Add $1.50; and plus 20 cents through April 1968;

(2) Add if the utilization percentage calculated pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph is less than, or subtract if it is more than, the base utilization range, an amount determined by multiplying the net utilization percentage calculated pursuant to subparagraph (4) of this paragraph by 2 cents: Provided, That any addition or subtraction shall be limited to 50 cents per hundredweight;

(3) Calculate a utilization percentage for each month by dividing the net hundredweight of Class I milk disposed of from all pool plants for the second and third preceding months into the total hundredweight of producer milk for the same months, multiplying by 100, and rounding the resultant figure to the nearest whole number;

(4) Calculate a "net utilization percentage" by determining the amount by which the utilization percentage calculated pursuant to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph exceeds the higher figure or is less than the lower figure of the base utilization range in the following table:

Pricing month	Second and third preceding months	Base utilization range
January	October–November	114–118
February	November–December	114–118
March	December–January	114–118
April	January–February	114–118
May	February–March	115–119
June	March–April	124–128
July	April–May	131–135
August	May–June	130–134
September	June–July	124–128
October	July–August	116–120
November	August–September	112–116
December	September–October	110–114

(b) Class II milk price. The Class II milk price shall be the basic formula price for the month.

3. Section 1101.52(b) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1101.52 Butterfat differentials to handlers.

* * * * * * *

(b) Class II milk. Multiply the average price per pound of butter for the month as described in § 1101.50 by 0.115.

MILK IN CENTRAL ILLINOIS MARKETING AREA

Notice of Proposed Suspension of a Certain Provision of the Order

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), the suspension of a certain provision of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Central Illinois marketing area is being considered for the months of July and August 1967.

The provision proposed to be suspended is in § 1050.14(b)(2) and reads as follows, "during the months of May and June and in any month for not more than 8 days of production of producer milk by such producer", relating to diversion of producer milk to nonpool plants.

This suspension action was requested by a handler regulated under the order. It is contended that abnormal seasonal increase in production requires removal of the diversion limit for the July and August period this year if many producers regularly associated with the market are to maintain producer status. This suspension is requested to allow the movement of such producers' milk direct from their farms to nonpool manufacturing plants.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed suspension should file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than 3 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All documents filed should be in quadruplicate.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 20, 1967.

PROVISION OF CONTROLLED VISUAL FLIGHT IN POSITIVE CONTROL AREAS

Extension of Comment Period

On May 13, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7220) and circulated as notice No. 67-21, stating that the Federal Aviation Administration is considering a proposal to permit the implementation of Controlled Visual Flight (CVF) operations within the positive control areas to be designated in accordance with Airspace Docket No. 67-WA-16.

The Air Transport Association has requested an extension to the comment period, stating that certain important details of the proposal have been brought to their attention that require a recircularization and reexamination by its membership. Since the potential effect this proposal may have on aviation is substantial, good cause exists to extend the comment period to insure that all interested parties have an opportunity to submit their comments in full. Therefore, the time period for the submission of comments on notice No. 67-21 is extended to July 28, 1967.

Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. All comments submitted will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons.

This extension of comment period is issued under the authority of section 307 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 19, 1967.

H. B. HELSTROM,
Acting Director,
Air Traffic Service.

INITIAL FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARDS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The National Highway Safety Bureau is considering amending § 255.21 of Part 255, Initial Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards, by adding Standard No. 109, New Pneumatic Tires—Passenger Cars; and Standard No. 110, Tire Selection and Rims—Passenger Cars.

In drafting these proposed standards, the Bureau considered the comments received in response to the Advance Notice of Proposed Rule Making published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 3, 1967 (32 F.R. 2417) and consultation with the National Motor Vehicle Safety Advisory Council and with representatives of the Federal Trade Commission, the General Services Administration, the National Bureau of Standards, and tire and auto industry associations, both domestic and foreign.

Proposed Standard No. 109 applies to new tires for use on passenger cars manufactured after 1948, since the Bureau determined it to be impractical and unreasonable to regulate tires for use on cars manufactured before the date that marked the change to tire sizes still being used today as original equipment. The proposed standard does not reflect the current usage of "ply rating," for which there is no accepted definition, nor any similar system, but uses instead maximum permissible inflation pressure, which is related to the test loads. The labeling requirements satisfy the requirements of section 201 of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966 (80 Stat. 718) and also the Tire Advertising and Labeling Guides of the Federal Trade Commission. The testing procedure reflects the approach used in Society of Automotive Engineers Recommended Practice J918b, "Passenger Car Tire Performance Requirements and Test Procedures", December 1966, with load values compatible to both 1967 Tire and Rim Association and European Tire and Rim Technical Organization values. Specific prohibition against modification of tires, such as changing a blackwall tire into a whitewall tire, was not included, since a modified tire will have to meet all the requirements of the standard.

Proposed Standard No. 110 applies to passenger cars manufactured after the effective date and requires that the tires may not be loaded in excess of those load values actually tested. Requirements, which would have specified the top speed of a fully loaded tire and prohibited the intermixing on original equipment of tires with diagonal performance characteristics, were not included. These will be the subject of future rule making related to the grading of tires.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the standards by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Comments must identify the docket number and the notice number and be submitted in 10 copies to the National Highway Safety Bureau, Attention: Rules Docket, Room 405, Federal Highway Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation, Washington, D.C. 20591. All comments received on or before the close of business August 23, 1967, will be considered by the Secretary before taking action upon the proposed standards. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed if warranted by comments received. All comments will be available in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons both before and after the closing date for comments.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend section 255.21 of Part 255, Initial Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards, by adding the standards set forth below, to become effective January 1, 1968.

This notice is issued under the authority of sections 103 and 119 of the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966 (15 U.S.C. 1392, 1407) and the delegation of authority of March 31, 1967 (32 F.R. 5606), as amended April 6, 1967 (32 F.R. 6495).

Issued in Washington, D.C. on July 17, 1967.

LOWELL K. BRIDWELL,
Federal Highway Administrator.

MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARD No. 109

NEW PNEUMATIC TIRES—PASSENGER CARS

S1. Purpose and scope. This standard specifies minimum tire dimensions and laboratory test requirements for bead unseating resistance, strength, endurance, and high-speed performance; defines tire load ratings; and specifies labeling requirements.

S2. Application. This standard applies to new pneumatic tires for use on passenger cars manufactured after 1948.

S3. Definitions.

"Bead" means that part of the tire made of high-tensile steel wires, wrapped and reinforced by the plies, that is shaped to fit the rim.

"Bead separation" means a breakdown of bond between components in the bead area.

"Bias ply tire" means a pneumatic tire in which the cords in the tire body are laid at alternate angles substantially less than 90° to the centerline of the tread.

"Carcass" means the tire structure, except tread and sidewall rubber.

"Chunking" means the breaking away of pieces of the tread.

"Cord" means the strands forming the plies in the tire.

"Cord separation" means cords parting away from adjacent rubber compounds.

"Groove" means the space between two adjacent tread ribs.

"Load rating" means the maximum load a tire is rated to carry for a given inflation pressure.

"Maximum permissible inflation pressure" means the maximum cold inflation pressure to which a tire may be inflated.

"Maximum load rating" means the load rating at the maximum permissible inflation pressure for that tire.

"Measuring rim" means a rim for a particular tire size designation of the dimensions specified either in the 1967 Tire and Rim Association Year Book, pages PC-10-F or PC-10-H of its Engineering Supplement dated October 28, 1966, or the 1967 Tire and Rim Association Data Book, for the applicable width specified in Table I.

"Ply" means a layer of rubber-coated parallel cords forming tire body.

"Ply separation" means a parting of rubber compound between adjacent plies.

"Pneumatic tire" means a mechanical device made of rubber, chemicals, fabric, and steel or other materials, which, when mounted on an automotive wheel, provides the traction and contains the fluid that sustains the load.

"Radial ply tire" means a pneumatic tire in which the body ply cords which extend to the bead are laid at substantially 90° to the centerline of the tread.

"Rim" means a metal support for a tire or a tire and tube assembly upon which the tire beads are seated.

"Section width" means the linear distance between the exteriors of the sidewalls of an inflated tire, excluding elevations due to labeling, decoration, or protective bands.

"Sidewall" means that portion of a tire between the tread and the bead.

"Size factor" means the sum of the section width (on its measuring rim) and the outer diameter of a tire.

"Tread" means that portion of a tire that comes into contact with the road.

"Tread rib" means a tread section running circumferentially around a tire.

"Tread separation" means pulling away of the tread from the tire carcass.

S4. Requirements.

S4.1 Design and construction. Each tire shall be designed to fit each rim specified for its size designation in the 1967 Tire and Rim Association Year Book, pages PC-10-F and PC-10-H of its Engineering Supplement dated October 28, 1966, and the 1967 Tire and Rim Association Data Book.

S4.2 Performance Requirements.

S4.2.1 General. Each tire shall conform to each of the following:

(a) It shall meet the requirements specified in S4.2.2 for its tire size designation, type, and maximum permissible inflation pressure.

(b) Its maximum permissible inflation pressure shall be either 32, 36, or 40 psi.

(c) Its maximum load rating shall not exceed that specified in Table II of Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 110 for the applicable maximum permissible inflation pressure for its tire size designation and type.

(d) If manufactured after June 30, 1968, it shall incorporate a tread wear indicator that will provide a visual indication that the tire has worn to a tread depth of 1/16 inch.

S4.2.2 Test requirements.

S4.2.2.1 Test sample. For each test sample use—

(a) One tire for physical dimensions, resistance to bead unseating, and strength, in sequence;

(b) Another tire for tire endurance; and

(c) A third tire for high-speed performance.

S4.2.2.2 Physical dimensions. Each tire, when mounted on its measuring rim, shall conform to the applicable minimum size factor, and maximum section width dimensions specified in Table I. These dimensions shall be determined in accordance with S5.1.

S4.2.2.3 Tubeless tire resistance to bead unseating. When tested in accordance with S5.2, the applied force required to unseat the tire bead at the point of contact shall not be less than 2,500 pounds for tire sizes listed in Tables I-A, I-B, and I-C, and not less than 2,000 pounds for tire sizes listed in Table I-D.

S4.2.2.4 Tire strength. Each tire shall meet the requirements for minimum breaking energy specified in Table II when tested in accordance with S5.3.

S4.2.2.5 Tire endurance. After completion of the laboratory test wheel endurance test specified in S5.4, no tire shall have tread, ply, cord, or bead separation; tread chunking; or broken cords.

S4.2.2.6 High-speed performance. After completion of the laboratory high-speed performance test specified in S5.5, no tire shall have tread, ply, cord, or bead separation; tread chunking; or broken cords.

S4.3 Labeling requirements. Except as provided in S4.3.1, after January 1, 1968, each tire shall be conspicuously labeled on both sidewalls with each of the following permanently molded into the tire:

(a) Size designation.

(b) Maximum permissible inflation pressure.

(c) Maximum load rating.

(d) Identification of manufacturer by—

(1) Name; or

(2) Brand name and an approved code mark.

(e) Composition of the material used in the ply cord.

(f) Actual number of plies in the sidewall area, and the actual number of plies in the tread area, if different.

(g) The word "tubeless" or "tube-type", as applicable.

(h) The word "radial", if a radial ply tire.

(i) An approved recital or an approved symbol that the tire conforms to applicable Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standards.

S4.3.1 Until July 1, 1968, the labeling requirements of S4.3 may be met with a permanent label on each sidewall that incorporates all specified information not permanently molded into the tire:

S5. Test procedures.

S5.1 Physical dimensions. Determine tire physical dimensions under uniform ambient conditions as follows:

(a) Mount the tire on its measuring rim and inflate it to the applicable pressure specified in Table III.

(b) Condition it at ambient room temperature for at least 24 hours.

(c) Readjust pressure to that specified in (a).

(d) Caliper the tire section width at 6 points approximately equally spaced around the tire circumference.

(e) Record as section width the average of the 6 measurements taken in accordance with (d).

(f) Calculate the tire outer diameter by measuring the outer circumference of the tire at the center of the tread and dividing this dimension by pi.

S5.2 Tubeless tire bead unseating resistance.

S5.2.1 Preparation of tire-wheel assembly.

S5.2.1.1 Wash the tire, dry it at the two beads, and mount it without lubrication on a clean, painted measuring rim.

S5.2.1.2 Inflate it to the applicable pressure specified in Table III at ambient room temperature.

S5.2.2 Test procedure.

S5.2.2.1 Apply a load through the block to the tire sidewall at the maximum section width of the tire at a rate of 2 inches per minute, with the load arm parallel to the tire and rim assembly at the time of engagement.

S5.2.2.2 Increase the load until the bead unseats or the applicable value specified in S4.2.2.3 is reached.

S5.2.2.3 Repeat the test at least four places equally spaced around the tire circumference.

S5.3 Tire strength.

S5.3.1 Preparation of tire.

S5.3.1.1 Mount the tire on its measuring rim and inflate it to the applicable pressure specified in Table III;

S5.3.1.2 Condition it at room temperature for at least 3 hours; and S5.3.1.3 Readjust its pressure to that specified in S5.3.1.1.

S5.3.2 Test Procedure.

S5.3.2.1 Force a ¾-inch-diameter cylindrical steel plunger with a hemispherical end perpendicularly into the tread rib as near to the centerline as possible, avoiding penetration into the tread groove, at the rate of 2 inches per minute.

S5.3.2.2 Record five measurements of force and penetration at five break points equally spaced around the circumference of the tire. If the tire fails to break before the plunger is stopped by reaching the rim, record the force and penetration as the rim is reached.

S5.3.2.3 Compute the breaking energy for each test point by means of the following formula:

$$W = \frac{F \times P}{2}$$

where:
W = Energy at break, inch-pounds;
F = Force at break, pounds;
P = Penetration at break, inches.

S5.3.2.4 Determine the breaking energy value for the tire by computing the average of the five values obtained in accordance with S5.3.2.3.

S5.4 Tire endurance.

S5.4.1 Preparation of tire.

S5.4.1.1 Mount a new tire on its measuring rim and inflate it to the applicable pressure specified in Table III.

S5.4.1.2 Condition it at 95° F. or more for at least 3 hours.

S5.4.1.3 Readjust tire pressure to that specified in S5.4.1.1 immediately before testing.

S5.4.2 Test procedure.

S5.4.2.1 Mount the tire and wheel assembly on a test axle and press it against a flat-faced steel test wheel 67.23 inches in diameter and at least as wide as the section width of the tire to be tested or an approved equivalent test wheel, with the applicable test load specified in Table II of Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 110 for the tire's size designation, type, and maximum permissible inflation pressure.

S5.4.2.2 During the test, the air surrounding the test area shall be 95° F. or more.

S5.4.2.3 Conduct the test at 50 miles per hour in accordance with the following schedule without interruption:

Maximum permissible inflation pressure (p.s.i.)	Load (from table II Standard 110)—
	for 4 hours	for 6 hours	for 24 hours
32	24 p.s.i. column.	28 p.s.i. column.	32 p.s.i. column.
36	28 p.s.i. column.	32 p.s.i. column.	36 p.s.i. column.
40	32 p.s.i. column.	36 p.s.i. column.	40 p.s.i. column.

S5.5 High-speed performance.

S5.5.1 After preparing the tire in accordance with S5.4.1, mount the tire and wheel assembly in accordance with S5.4.2.1, and press it against the test wheel with the load specified in Table II of Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 110 for the tire's size designation and the applicable pressure specified in Column B of the following table:

A Maximum permissible inflation pressure (p.s.i.)	B Load from Table II Standard 110
32	24 p.s.i. column.
36	28 p.s.i. column.
40	32 p.s.i. column.

S5.5.2 Break in the tire by running it for 2 hours at 50 m.p.h.

S5.5.3 Allow it to cool to 100° F., and readjust the inflation pressure to the applicable pressure specified in Table III.

S5.5.4 Without readjusting inflation pressure, heat at 75 m.p.h. for 30 minutes, 80 m.p.h. for 30 minutes, and (except deep-tread, winter-type tires) 85 m.p.h. for 30 minutes.

MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARD NO. 110

TIRE SELECTION AND RIMS—PASSENGER CARS

S1. Purpose and scope. This standard specifies requirements for tire selection to prevent tire overloading when the vehicle is operated at the designed maximum passenger and luggage carrying capacity.

S2. Application. This standard applies to passenger cars.

S3. Definitions.

"Accessory weight" means the combined weight (in excess of those standard items which may be replaced) of automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, power windows, power seats, radio, and heater, to the extent these items are available as factory-installed equipment (whether installed or not).

"Bias ply tire" means a pneumatic tire in which the cords in the tire body are laid at alternate angles substantially less than 90° to the centerline of the tread.

"Curb weight" means the weight of a motor vehicle with standard equipment including the maximum capacity of fuel, oil, and coolant, and, if so equipped, air conditioning and additional weight optional engine.

"Designated seating capacity" means the number of designated seating positions provided.

"Designated seating position" means any plan view lateral position intended by the manufacturer to provide seating accommodation for a person at least as large as a 5th percentile adult female, except auxiliary seating accommodations such as temporary or folding jump seats.

"Maximum loaded vehicle weight" means the sum of—

(a) Curb weight;

(b) Accessory weight;

(c) Vehicle capacity weight; and

(d) Production options weight.

"Normal occupant weight" means 150 pounds, times the number of occupants specified in the second column of Table I.

"Occupant distribution" means distribution of occupants in a vehicle as specified in the third column of Table I.

"Production options weight" means the combined weight (in excess of those standard items which may be replaced) of installed regular production options weighing over 5 pounds, not previously considered, including heavy duty brakes, ride levelers, roof rack, heavy duty battery, and special trim.

"Radial ply tire" means a pneumatic tire in which the body ply cords which extend to the bead are laid at substantially 90° to the centerline of the tread.

"Vehicle capacity weight" means the manufacturer's rated cargo and luggage load, plus 150 pounds, times the vehicle's designated seating capacity.

"Vehicle maximum load on the tire" means that load on an individual tire that is determined by distributing to each axle its share of the maximum loaded vehicle weight and dividing by two.

"Vehicle normal load on the tire" means that load on an individual tire that is determined by distributing to each axle its share of the curb weight, accessory weight, and normal occupant weight (distributed in accordance with Table I), and dividing by two.

S4. Requirements.

S4.1 General. Passenger cars shall be equipped with tires that meet the requirements of Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 109, "New Pneumatic Tires—Passenger Cars."

S4.2 Tire load limits.

S4.2.1 The vehicle maximum load on the tire shall not be greater than the applicable load rating specified in Table II for the tire's size designation, type, and maximum permissible inflation pressure.

S4.2.2 The vehicle normal load on the tire shall not be greater than the test load used in the high-speed performance test specified in S5.5 of Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 109 for that tire.

S4.3 Placard. A placard, permanently affixed to the glove compartment door or an equally accessible location, shall display the—

(a) Vehicle capacity weight;

(b) Designated seating capacity (expressed in terms of total number of occupants and in terms of occupants for each seat location);

(c) Vehicle manufacturer's recommended tire inflation pressure for maximum loaded vehicle weight and, subject to the limitations of S4.3.1, for any other manufacturer—specified vehicle loading condition; and

(d) Vehicle manufacturer's recommended tire size designation.

S4.3.1 No inflation pressure other than the maximum permissible inflation pressure may be specified unless—

(a) It is less than the maximum permissible inflation pressure;

(b) The vehicle loading condition for that pressure is specified; and

(c) The tire load rating from Table II for the tire at that pressure is not less than the vehicle load on the tire for that vehicle loading condition.

S4.4 Rims. Each rim shall—

(a) Be constructed to the dimensions of one of the rims specified in the 1967 Year Book of the Tire and Rim Association, Inc., 34 N. Hawkins Avenue, Akron, Ohio 44313, or in pages PC–10–F or PC–10–H of the Engineering Supplement dated October 28, 1966 of the 1967 Tire and Rim Association Year Book for the applicable tire's size designation; and

(b) In the event of rapid loss of inflation pressure with the vehicle traveling in a straight line at a speed of 60 miles per hour, retain the deflated tire until the vehicle can be stopped with a controlled braking application.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[10 CFR Part 50]

LICENSING OF PRODUCTION AND UTILIZATION FACILITIES

Financial Qualifications

On June 13, 1967, the Atomic Energy Commission published for public comment in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 8433) proposed amendments to its regulation 10 CFR Part 50 pertaining to financial qualifications of applicants for and holders of licenses to construct and operate production and utilization facilities. Paragraph 3 of the amendments, which would have added an Appendix C, A Guide for the Financial Data and Related Information Required to Establish Financial Qualifications for Facility Construction and Operating Licenses, to Part 50 and Appendix C are hereby withdrawn. A revised guide will be published for public comment.

(Sec. 161, 68 Stat. 948; 42 U.S.C. 2201)

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 18th day of July 1967.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

P. T. Hosss,
Acting Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Rural Electrification Administration

ORGANIZATION AND FUNCTIONS

The organization and functions of the Rural Electrification Administration are as follows:

Central Organization. The principal office of the Rural Electrification Administration is at Washington, D.C. The function of the Agency is the carrying out of a program of rural electrification and rural telephony, as provided for by the Rural Electrification Act of 1936, as amended (7 U.S.C. 901–15, 921–924).

The Administrator. The Administrator is appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for a term of 10 years. He functions as the chief administrative official of the Agency under the general supervision and direction of the Assistant Secretary, Rural Development and Conservation. He is aided directly by a Deputy Administrator, a Deputy Administrator for Policy and Program Review and Assistant Administrators for the Electric Program, for the Telephone Program, and for Borrower Development. The work is carried on through the offices and divisions described in succeeding paragraphs.

Office of Legislative and Interagency Consultant. This office counsels and advises the Administrator as to policy, program and procedural implications of Federal and State legislation relating to the REA program. Maintains liaison with agencies of the Department of Agriculture and other Government agencies concerning such legislative matters.

Office of Budget. This office administers the administrative and loan budget program of the agency and participates in program planning and evaluation. Maintains liaison on budgetary matters with Congressional Committees, the staff of the Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of the Budget, and other Government agencies.

Office of Program Analysis. This office analyzes and evaluates economic and statistical data concerning agency programs. Provides advice and assistance to the Office of the Administrator and to divisions and area offices to facilitate sound and effective program planning and appraisal. Conducts special program studies and analyses.

Information Services Division. The division administers the information services program of the agency to provide borrowers and the public with information concerning the operations, status, progress, and accomplishments of the rural electrification, rural telephone, and rural areas development programs.

Personnel Management Division. The division administers the personnel program of the agency involving classification and wage administration; conduct of organization studies and surveys; development of recommendations for organization changes required to administer agency problems; preparation of organization charts; employment and placement functions; employee relations; training; safety; and health activities.

Program and Administrative Services Division. The division administers agency activities concerned with: administrative and loan accounting and centralized statistical activities of the Agency; the determination of the power requirements of rural electrification borrowers; management analysis, cost reduction and improvement; loan review; and the general administrative service functions of the Agency pertaining to procurement, space, records management and communications.

Electric Distribution Area Offices. The rural electrification program for electric distribution borrowers is administered through five area offices designated as: Northeast Area Office administering the program in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia, and North Carolina; Southeast Area Office administering the program in the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and Florida; North Central Area Office administering the program in the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois; Southwest Area Office administering the program in the States of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona; and Western Area Office administering the program in the States of Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, and California. Each area office within its assigned geographic area: appraises loan applications and prepares loan recommendations; approves the advance of loan funds to borrowers; reviews the financial and operating performance of borrowers; analyzes engineering plans, specifications, and construction contracts; reviews and approves completed construction; provides advice and assistance to borrowers concerning loans and the design, construction, management, operation, and maintenance of systems.

Electric Operations and Standards Division. The Division administers staff activities pertaining to: The development of proposed policies, standards, and procedures concerning engineering, loans, and retail rate aspects of the rural electric distribution program; the development of standards, criteria, specifications, and technical data relating to rural electric distribution systems; advice and assistance, in the subject matter field to the Electric Distribution Area Offices and, as requested, to borrowers; liaison with Government and non-Government organizations on matters within the functional responsibility of the Division.

Power Supply Division. The rural electrification program for generation and transmission borrowers is administered through the Power Supply Division. The Division appraises loan applications and prepares loan recommendations; reviews the financial and operating performance of borrowers; analyzes engineering plans, specifications and construction contracts; reviews and approves completed construction; approves advances of funds to borrowers; analyzes feasibility and benefits of generation and transmission systems; provides advice and assistance to borrowers concerning loans and the design, construction, management, operation, and maintenance of systems; and conducts studies and negotiations related to procurement of purchased power for all electric borrowers.

Telephone Area Offices. The rural telephone program is administered through five area offices designated as: Northeast Area Office administering the program in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, West Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia, and North Carolina; Southeast Area Office administering the program in the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and Florida; North Central Area Office administering the program in the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois; Southwest Area Office administering the program in the States of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona; and Western Area Office administering the program in the States of Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Nevada, and California. Each area office within its assigned geographic area: appraises loan applications and prepares loan recommendations; reviews the financial and operating performance of borrowers; analyzes engineering plans, specifications, and construction contracts; reviews and approves completed construction; approves advance of funds to borrowers; provides advice and assistance to borrowers concerning loans and the design, construction, management, operation, and maintenance of systems.

Telephone Engineering and Operations Division. The Division administers staff activities pertaining to the development of proposed policies, standards and procedures concerning engineering, loans and technical operations aspects of the rural telephone program. This includes studies and analyses regarding rates, toll traffic agreements, and valuation and acquisition of facilities; solutions concerning the engineering problems of existing telephone systems; the review of telephone system cost estimates and the engineering requirements of loan applications. Provides advice and assistance to the area offices and, as requested, to borrowers concerning the above activities.

Telephone Standards Division. The Division administers staff engineering activities concerned with the development of standards, criteria, specifications, and technical data relating to rural telephone systems and facilities; provides advice and assistance to agency officials, and, as requested, to borrowers concerning telephone standards; maintains liaison with Government and non-Government organizations on matters concerning the functions of the division.

Borrowers' Financial Management Division. The division administers agency activities concerned with: Borrowers' accounting; borrowers' auditing and examination of borrowers' records; borrowers' insurance; and staff activities concerned with borrowers' management. Provides advice and assistance to agency officials and borrowers concerning these activities.

Rural Areas Development Staff. This staff provides assistance in agency activities and works with other agencies to promote the economic development of rural areas for the purpose of developing the maximum service potential and financial strength of REA borrowers.

Specialist Staff. This staff performs centralized staff activities relative to borrower development including labor relations, architecture, safety, member services, commission regulation and other related functions.

Delegations of authority. Appendix I hereto[1] sets forth the delegations of final authority to officials of the Rural Electrification Administration which have been made by the Administrator.

Submittals, requests, and information. Submittals, requests, and informational inquiries may be made to the Administrator, to any affected officer or organizational subdivision set forth above, or, where applicable, to the officer to whom has been delegated final authority as to the matter involved. The person or organizational subdivision should be addressed at the Rural Electrification Administration, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Issued this 17th day of July 1967.

NORMAN M. CLAPP,
Administrator.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Notice 423]

MOTOR CARRIER TEMPORARY AUTHORITY APPLICATIONS

JULY 19, 1967.

The following are notices of filing of applications for temporary authority under section 210a(a) of the Interstate Commerce Act provided for under the new rules of Ex Parte No. MC 67 (49 CFR Part 340), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of April 27, 1965, effective July 1, 1965. These rules provide that protests to the granting of an application must be filed with the field official named in the FEDERAL REGISTER publication, within 15 calendar days after the date of notice of the filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. One copy of such protest must be served on the applicant, or its authorized representative, if any, and the protests must certify that such service has been made. The protest must be specific as to the service which such protestant can and will offer, and must consist of a signed original and six copies.

A copy of the application is on file, and can be examined at the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and also in the field office to which protests are to be transmitted.

MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

No. MC 2202 (Sub-No. 321 TA) (Amendment), filed June 19, 1967, published in FEDERAL REGISTER, issue of June 27, 1967, amended, and republished as amended, this issue. Applicant: ROADWAY EXPRESS, INC., 1077 Gorge Boulevard; Post Office Box 471, Akron, Ohio. Applicant's representatives: William O. Turney, 2001 Massachusetts Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20036, and Douglas Faris (same address as above). Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over regular routes, transporting: General commodities (except those of unusual value, classes A and B explosives, livestock, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and those requiring special equipment), (1) between Washington, D.C., and Ocean City, Md., over U.S. Highway 50, and return over the same route, serving all intermediate points; (2) between Wilmington, Del., and Emporia, Va.: From Wilmington, over U.S. Highway 40 to junction U.S. Highway 301, thence over U.S. Highway 301 to junction U.S. Highway 13, thence over U.S. Highway 13 to junction U.S. Highway 58, thence over U.S. Highway 58 to junction U.S. Highway 301 at or near Emporia, Va., and return over the same route, serving all intermediate points in Maryland and Delaware; and (3) between junction U.S. Highway 50 and U.S. Highway 301 and junction U.S. Highway 13 and U.S. Highway 113, near Pocomoke City, Md.: From junction U.S. Highway 50 and U.S. Highway 301 over U.S. Highway 301 to junction Maryland Highway 300, thence over Maryland Highway 300 to junction Delaware Highway 300, thence over Delaware Highway 300 to junction Delaware Highway 44, thence over Delaware Highway 44 to junction Delaware Highway 8, thence over Delaware Highway 8 to junction U.S. Highway 113, thence over U.S. Highway 113 to junction U.S. Highway 13, and return over the same route, serving all intermediate points. NOTE: Applicant states that the purpose of this amendment is to restrict the application against service at points in Virginia and to more adequately describe specific routes. Applicant states that it will tack the routes sought at Washington, D.C., Wilmington, Del., and Emporia, Va., with other authority now held by applicant in order to provide service between points sought in this application, on the one hand, and, on the other, points presently served by applicant in the States of Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Georgia, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia. Supporting Shippers: There are 28 shippers' supporting statements attached to application, which may be examined at the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, D.C., or at the field office named below. Send protests to: G. J Baccel, District Supervisor, Bureau of Operations, Interstate Commerce Commission, 435 Federal Building, 215 Superior Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio 44114.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION

[Docket No. 50-271]

VERMONT YANKEE NUCLEAR POWER CORP.

Order Changing Location of Hearing

On June 27, 1967, the Atomic Energy Commission issued a notice of hearing to consider the issuance of a provisional construction permit in the captioned proceeding to Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. (Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Station) at a hearing before this Atomic Safety and Licensing Board to be held at 10 a.m., local time on August 1, 1967, at the County District Courthouse, 230 Main Street, Brattleboro, Vt. This notice was published in 32 F.R. 9334 on June 30, 1967.

At the prehearing conference held in Brattleboro, Vt., July 18, 1967, it was noted that the space available in the room provided might be inadequate to accommodate all of the participants and members of the public who might wish to attend the hearing. In order to provide additional space which would permit greater public attendance: It is hereby ordered, That the hearing shall be convened in the Federal Courtroom, 2d Floor, Post Office and Courthouse Building, Brattleboro, Vt., at 10 a.m., local time, on Tuesday, August 1, 1967.

It is further ordered, That this order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Issued: July 20, 1967.

ATOMIC SAFETY AND LICENSING BOARD,
VALENTINE B. DEALE, Chairman.

Humble Oil & Refining Co., Humble Oil & Refining Co. (Operator) et al., and Humble Oil & Refining Co., Agent for Henry C. Adams et al. (all referred to herein as Humble) request an effective date of June 1, 1967, the date of expiration of filing moratorium for rate increases to levels in excess of area rate ceilings pursuant to terms of company-wide settlement in Docket Nos. G-9287 and G-9288, et al., for their proposed rate increases, with the exception of Supplement No. 4 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule Nos. 154, 155 and 217, respectively, and Supplement No. 5 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 221 for which an effective date of July 1, 1967, is requested. Humble Oil & Refining Co. (Operator) et al., requests an effective date of June 19, 1967, for Supplement No. 4 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 307. Humble also requests that should the Commission suspend its rate filings that the suspension period be a maximum of 1 day, or as short a period as possible. Good cause has not been shown for granting Humble's request for earlier effective dates or for limiting to one day the suspension period with respect to such rate filings and Humble's request is denied.

Supplement No. 3 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 296 contains a "fractured" rate increase from 15c to 17c per Mcf for a sale of gas to El Paso Natural Gas Co. in Uintah County, Utah, where no formal guideline prices have been announced by the Commission for this area. Since the proposed rate exceeds the 16.384c per Mcf for other rate increases filed in the area which are now under suspension, we conclude that Humble's proposed rate should be suspended for 5 months from July 17, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice.

Concurrently with the filing of its rate increases, Humble submitted two contract amendments dated May 11, 1967, designated as Supplement Nos. 16 and 6 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule Nos. 197 and 207, respectively which provide for its proposed rate increases under the rate schedules involved. We believe that it would be in the public interest to accept for filing Humble's proposed contract amendments to become effective on July 17, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice, but not the proposed rates contained therein which are suspended as herein ordered.

All of Humble's proposed increased rates and charges exceed the applicable area price levels for increased rates as set forth in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR 2.56), with the exception of the rate increase filed in Supplement No. 3 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 296 for which there is no announced formal ceiling rate for the area involved, but is the highest filed rate in the area involved.

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds:

(1) Good cause has been shown for accepting for filing Humble's proposed contract amendments dated May 11, 1967, designated as Supplement Nos. 16 and 6 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule Nos. 197 and 207, respectively, and for permitting such supplements to become effective on July 17, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice.

(2) It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings concerning the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the above-designated supplements be suspended and the use deferred as hereinafter ordered (except for the supplements set forth in paragraph (1) above).

The Commission orders:

(A) Humble's contract amendments dated May 11, 1967, designated as Supplement Nos. 16 and 6 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule Nos. 197 and 207, respectively, are accepted for filing and permitted to become effective on July 17, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice.

(B) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), public hearings shall be held upon dates to be fixed by notices from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rates and charges contained in the above-designated supplements (except the supplements set forth in paragraph (A) above).

(C) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the above-designated supplements are hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until the date indicated in the above "Date Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until such further time as they are made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(D) Neither the supplements hereby suspended, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until these proceedings have been disposed of or until the periods of suspension have expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(E) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or August 30, 1967.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. CP67-168]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Supplemental Notice of Petition To Amend

JULY 20, 1967.

Take notice that on June 8, 1967, Southern Natural Gas Co. (Petitioner), Post Office Box 2563, Birmingham, Ala. 35202, filed in Docket No. CP67-168 a petition to amend the order issued by the Commission April 20, 1967, by authorizing Petitioner to construct the facilities originally authorized, in a different location, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the abovementioned order, Petitioner was authorized to construct and operate 31.84 miles of 24-inch O.D. pipeline loop along its existing White Castle-Franklinton Line, commencing at Mile Post 70.050. In the instant filing, Petitioner requests authorization to construct and operate the same 31.84 miles of 24-inch O.D. pipeline loop on the same White Castle-Franklinton Line but commencing at Mile Post 31.590, on the north side of the Mississippi River, a short distance downstream of White Castle Compressor Station. Petitioner states that additional surveys have indicated that the hereinproposed location will enable Petitioner to construct the pipeline loop in a less densely populated, less congested area which will also result in a lesser cost of construction. Petitioner further states that the location change proposed herein will not alter the system capacity provided by the pipeline loop.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (157.10) on or before August 8, 1967.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Office of the Secretary

[Dept. Order 106]

APPEALS BOARD

Organization and Functions

The following order was issued by the Secretary of Commerce. This material supersedes the material appearing at 25 F.R. 2603 of March 26, 1960.

SECTION 1. Purpose. The purpose of this order is to prescribe the authority and functions of the Appeals Board for the Department of Commerce.

SEC. 2. General. The Appeals Board for the Department of Commerce, initially established on August 18, 1953, by Department Order 106 of that date, and which serves as an impartial body to consider certain appeals from the public, is continued within the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Administration. It shall be composed of a chairman and other members as may be designated by the Assistant Secretary for Administration and approved by the Secretary.

SEC. 3. Authority and functions. .01 The Appeals Board is authorized to consider and decide appeals by contractors from decisions made by contracting officers under contracts which provide for such an appeal to the Secretary.

.02 The Appeals Board is also authorized to consider and decide appeals by persons affected by:

a. Any order, regulation or administrative action issued pursuant to the authority delegated to the Secretary of Commerce under the Defense Production Act of 1950, as amended (50 U.S.C. App. 2061 et seq.), and the authority of the Secretary of Commerce under Section 402 of the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended (40 U.S.C. 512);

b. Any regulation or administrative action of the Bureau of International Commerce in connection with its authority for the administration of export controls under the Export Control Act of 1949, as amended (50 U.S.C. App. 2021 et seq.); and

c. Other administrative actions taken pursuant to law and referred to the Board by appropriate authority.

.03 Decisions by the Appeals Board on appeals arising under paragraphs .01 and .02 of this section shall be final within the Department.

.04 No member may act for the Appeals Board or participate in a decision on appeal if he has otherwise been directly involved in the administration of the contract, regulation, or other subject matter of the appeal.

.05 The Chairman of the Appeals Board is authorized to issue rules governing the handling of appeals.

SEC. 4. Saving provision. All outstanding delegations, regulations, orders and other actions issued by or relating to the Appeals Board shall remain in effect until amended or revoked by proper authority.

Effective date: July 7, 1967.

DAVID R. BALDWIN, Assistant Secretary for Administration.

MANAGEMENT CONSULTING SERVICES

Procurement of Contracts

The following amendment to the order was issued by the Secretary of Commerce. This material amends the material appearing at 32 F.R. 6063 of April 15, 1967; 31 F.R. 8086 of June 8, 1966; 30 F.R. 6548 of May 12, 1965; and 29 F.R. 13541-13542 of October 1, 1964.

Department Order 46, dated September 16, 1964, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. SEC. 2. Delegations of authority. A new subparagraph .01d. is added to read:

"d. All documents in connection with the placing of advertising in any written medium for any purpose."

Paragraph .03 is deleted.

2. SEC. 3. General provisions. Paragraph .01 is amended to read:

".01 The Assistant Secretary for Administration is hereby authorized and directed to exercise the procurement authority (including authority to approve and execute contracts, and all documents in connection with the placing of advertising in any written medium for any purpose) delegated to him in Department Order 134, either through the Office of Administrative Services or as he otherwise directs, on behalf of the organizational units listed in Part II of Appendix."

Effective date: July 10, 1967.

DAVID R. BALDWIN, Assistant Secretary for Administration.

Guide to Record Retention Requirements

[Revised as of January 1, 1967]

This useful reference tool is designed to keep businessmen and the general public informed concerning published requirements in laws and regulations relating to record retention. It contains over 900 digests detailing the retention periods for the many types of records required to be kept under Federal laws and rules.

The "Guide" tells the user (1) what records must be kept, (2) who must keep them, and (3) how long they must be kept. Each digest also includes a reference to the full text of the basic law or regulation providing for such retention.

The booklet's index, numbering over 2,000 items, lists for ready reference the categories of persons, companies, and products affected by Federal record retention requirements.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Agriculture

[Import Reg. 1, Rev. 3; Amdt. 1]

PART 6—IMPORT QUOTAS AND FEES

Subpart—Section 22 Import Quotas

LICENSES FOR IMPORTATION OF AMERICAN-TYPE CHEESE, OTHER THAN CHEDDAR

Presidential Proclamation 3790, dated June 30, 1967, amended the provisions proclaimed by the President pursuant to section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act by placing a limitation on the quantity of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, which may be imported in a quota year and by increasing the quantity of Cheddar cheese which may be imported in a quota year. The beginning of the quota year also was changed from July 1 to January 1 and provision was made for the issuance of licenses on a semiannual rather than on a 4-month basis. Inasmuch as licenses to import commodities during the quota period beginning July 1, 1967, have been issued under the provisions of Import Regulation 1, Revision 3, heretofore in effect, the following § 6.32 is added to Import Regulation 1, Revision 3, to provide for the issuance of licenses for the importation of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, and the increased quantity of Cheddar cheese during the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967:

§ 6.32 Licenses for the importation of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, and increased quantity of Cheddar cheese during the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967.

(a) Country quotas: (1) American-type cheese, other than Cheddar: The 3,048,300 pound quota for American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967, is allocated among the countries of origin as follows: New Zealand, 1,680,000 pounds; Australia, 840,000 pounds; Ireland, 280,000 pounds; and Sweden, 62,500 pounds; and specified other countries (Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Canada, Denmark, Israel, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal, Switzerland, United Kingdom, and West Germany), 185,800 pounds.

(2) Cheddar cheese: The quantity of 3,016,200 pounds by which the quota for Cheddar cheese subject to license was increased for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967 is allocated among countries of origin as follows: New Zealand, 1,680,000 pounds; Australia, 840,000 pounds; Ireland, 280,000 pounds; Sweden, 62,500 pounds; and specified other countries (Austria, Belgium, Bulgaria, Denmark, Israel, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal, Switzerland, United Kingdom, West Germany), 153,700 pounds.

(b) New business quota share: (1) American-type cheese, other than Cheddar: For new business quota shares of not to exceed 10,000 pounds per share for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967, there are set aside 762,075 pounds of the quota for American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967, provided that not more than 25 percent of any country's quota share shall be used for new business licenses.

(2) Cheddar cheese: For new business quota shares of not to exceed 10,000 pounds per share for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967, there are set aside 754,050 pounds of the amount by which the Cheddar cheese quota was increased for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967, which shall be comprised of (i) the 153,700 pounds allocated for the specified other countries, and (ii) 600,350 pounds from New Zealand, Australia, Ireland and Sweden, provided that not more than 25 percent of any country's quota share may be set aside.

(3) In the event the total amount of new business quota shares requested exceeds the amount set aside for new business, the amount shall be pro-rated equally among persons eligible for a new business quota share. In the event licenses for the importation of the entire amount set aside for new business are not applied for by persons eligible therefor, the residual amounts shall revert to the country quotas for allocation among historical importers.

(c) Eligibility for licenses: (1) Historical:

(i) American-type cheese, other than Cheddar: Any person who imported American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, during the base period January 1, 1961, through December 31, 1965, is eligible to receive a license to import a share of the quota quantity for American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967 (less that set aside for new business), pro-rated among the eligible applicants on the basis of the quantities of such cheese imported by such persons from the country of origin during the base period. The specified "other countries" shall be treated as one for the purposes of this provision.

(ii) Cheddar cheese: Any person who, prior to July 1, 1967, had established his historical eligibility under § 6.25(a) for a quota share of Cheddar cheese is eligible to receive a license to import a share of the amount by which the quota for Cheddar cheese subject to license was increased for the period July 1, 1967, through December 31, 1967 (less that set aside for new business), pro-rated among such historical licensees on the basis of the quantities of such cheese imported by such persons from the country of origin during the base period January 1, 1961, through December 31, 1965. The specified "other countries" shall be treated as one for the purposes of this provision.

(iii) Limitation of historical quota share: The historical quota share of any person as determined under subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph may not exceed 30 percent of the total quantity of such cheese which may be imported from a particular country of origin. The specified "other countries" shall be treated as one for the purposes of this provision. The quantities of cheese not allocated due to this limitation shall be apportioned among other historical eligible licensees for a quota share of such cheese, based upon their imports of such cheese during the base period.

(2) Non-historical:

(i) American-type cheese, other than Cheddar: Any person who is not historically eligible under subparagraph (1)(i) of this paragraph to receive a license to import a quota share of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar, and was during the period July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1967, actively operating an independent business of importing cheese or cheese products is eligible to receive a license to import a new business quota share of American-type cheese, other than Cheddar.

(ii) Cheddar cheese: Any person who is not historically eligible under subparagraph (1)(ii) of this paragraph to receive a license to import a quota share of Cheddar cheese and was during the period July 1, 1966, through June 30, 1967, actively operating an independent business of importing cheese or cheese products is eligible to receive a license to import a new business quota share of Cheddar cheese.

(d) Application for licenses: (1) Applications for the issuance of licenses pursuant to this § 6.32 must be sent to the Chief, Import Branch, Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, and postmarked not later than August 4, 1967. Each application must state the type of cheese for which license is desired, the country of origin from which importation is to be made, and the port or ports of entry at which importations are to be made. Except for licenses for Cheddar cheese based on historical eligibility, applications must be accompanied by acceptable documentation, preferably duty paid copies of Customs Entry Form 7501 or Withdrawal from Warehouse Form 7505, establishing the applicant's eligibility for a license under this section, and, in the case of licenses for American-type cheese other than Cheddar based on historical eligibility, the quantities of such cheese imported during the base period January 1, 1961, through December 31, 1965. An applicant for a license to import a new business quota share must certify he is not a part of or affiliated with any other person eligible for an import license and that he is willing and able to import a licensed share in his own name and for his own account.

(e) Definitions: As used herein the following terms have the following meanings:

(1) Cheddar cheese means Cheddar cheese, and cheese and substitutes for cheese containing, or processed from, Cheddar cheese.

(2) American-type cheese means American-type cheese, including Colby, washed curd, and granular cheese (but not including Cheddar) and cheese and substitutes for cheese containing, or processed from, such American-type cheese.

(f) The provisions of §§ 6.20 to 6.31 of this part shall apply with respect to the licenses issued under this section except to the extent that they are inconsistent herewith.

It is hereby determined that the foregoing amendment 1 of Import Regulation 1, Revision 3, is necessary and must be made effective as soon as possible since the quotas established by Presidential Proclamation 3790 have become effective. Therefore, under section 553 of Title 5 of the United States Code it is found upon good cause that notice and other public rule making procedure concerning the amendment are impracticable, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest and that good cause exists for making the amendment effective less than 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Proposals for amendment or modification of this amendment are invited. They may be addressed to the Chief, Import Branch, Foreign Agricultural Service, Washington, D.C. 20250. All proposals should be accompanied by a written statement in explanation and support of such proposal.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 20th day of July 1967.

Administrator,
Foreign Agricultural Service.

SUBCHAPTER C—SPECIAL PROGRAMS

[Amdt. 4; Republication of Processor Wheat Marketing Certificate Regs.]

PART 777—PROCESSOR WHEAT MARKETING CERTIFICATE REGULATIONS

Definition of Non-Food Product and Deduction for Loss Due to Unsuitable Production

The following amendment is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (see sec. 379a to 379j, 52 Stat. 31, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 1379a to 1379j), to provide a change to the Republication of the Processor Wheat Marketing Certificate Regulations (31 F.R. 13502). Consideration has been given to the views and suggestions resulting from the 15-day notice given the public pursuant to section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 238, 5 U.S.C. 553).

Section 777.3(c)(4) as it now appears in the regulations reads as follows:

(4) Any product, being manufactured as a food product which in the course of processing inadvertently, and not by design or deliberate action on the part of the processor, becomes unsuitable for marketing as the food product originally intended to be produced, provided such product and all other products obtained from the wheat are destroyed, or prior to marketing or removal from the plant (whichever occurs first) are unsuitable for marketing as a food product and are used in or marketed as animal feed or other non-food products specified in this paragraph.

This provision was designed to cover only abnormal losses and not normal manufacturing losses which are expected to occur as part of the processing operations in the production of a food product. Processors have not been applying the provision of this subparagraph with uniformity. This amendment is issued to clarify the nonfood products which may be deducted on future processing reports under this provision of the regulations.

The Processor Wheat Marketing Certificate Regulations (31 F.R. 13502) are changed to read as follows:

The amendment reads as follows:

Section 777.3(c)(4) is amended to read as follows:

§ 777.3 Definitions.

* * * * *

(c) "Nonfood product" means:

* * * * *

(4) Any product being manufactured from wheat as a food product which becomes unsuitable for marketing as the food product originally intended to be produced provided the conditions prescribed in subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph are met.

(i) The loss is the result of (a) power failure, (b) strike, (c) fire, (d) Act of God, or (e) any unforseen circumstance which, upon application of the processor, is specifically approved in writing by the Director.

(ii) Such product and all other products obtained from the wheat are destroyed or prior to marketing or removal from the plant (whichever occurs first) are rendered unsuitable for marketing as a food product and are used in or marketed as animal feed or other nonfood products specified in this paragraph.

This subparagraph (4) does not, unless the loss is the result of circumstances described in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, cover undercooked or overcooked products; screenings or other residue from cleaning the wheat; dust; fines; floor sweepings or spillage collected in the processing plant; or any loss resulting from choke-up, starting up or shutting down processing operations.

* * * * *

Appendix II is amended by adding the following sentence to Item (12):

If a deduction is taken for loss due to unsuitable production, pursuant to § 777.3(c)(4), identify in the "remarks" space on Form CCC-160 the cause of such loss.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective with the beginning of the first processing report period 30 days following its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 18, 1967.

Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Chapter X—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Milk), Department of Agriculture

HANDLING OF MILK IN CERTAIN DESIGNATED MARKETING AREAS

Order Amending Orders

7 CFR Part—	Marketing area
1032	Southern Illinois.
1050	Central Illinois.
1062	St. Louis, Mo.
1067	Ozarks.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of each of the aforesaid orders and the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein. The following findings are hereby made with respect to each of the aforesaid orders.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the above designated marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

(b) Additional findings. It is necessary in the public interest to make this order amending the order effective not later than August 1, 1967. Any delay beyond that date would tend to disrupt the orderly marketing of milk in the marketing area.

The provisions of the said order are known to handlers. The recommended decision of the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, was issued June 2, 1967, and the decision of the Assistant Secretary containing all amendment provisions of this order was issued July 5, 1967. The changes effected by this order will not require extensive preparation or substantial alteration in method of operation for handlers. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby found and determined that good cause exists for making this order amending the order effective August 1, 1967, and that it would be contrary to the public interest to delay the effective date of this amendment for 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553(d)(1966)).

(c) Determinations. It is hereby determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of handlers (excluding cooperative associations specified in section 8c(8) of the Act) of more than 50 percent of the milk, which is marketed within the marketing area, to sign a proposed marketing agreement, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The issuance of this order, amending the order, is the only practical means pursuant to the declared policy of the Act of advancing the interests of producers as defined in the order as hereby amended; and

(3) The issuance of the order amending the order is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who during the determined representative period were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area.

ORDER RELATIVE TO HANDLING

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the respective hereinafter designated marketing areas shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid orders, as amended and as hereby further amended, as follows:

1. Paragraph (i) of the provision in each of the hereinafter designated orders entitled "Computation of uniform prices" is revised.

PART 1032—MILK IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS MARKETING AREA

1. Paragraphs (h) and (i) of § 1032.71 are revised to read as follows:

§ 1032.71 Computation of the uniform price.

(h) Subtract in the case of milk delivered during each of the months of March and July an amount equal to 15 cents per hundredweight and during each of the months of April, May, and June an amount equal to 25 cents per hundredweight of producer milk specified in paragraph (e)(1) of this section, except that the rate of deduction for each of the months of April through August 1967 shall be 10 cents;

(i) Add in the case of milk delivered during each of the months of September and December 20 percent and during each of the months of October and November 30 percent of the total amount subtracted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section, except that in the case of money deducted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section during 1967 one-fourth of the sum shall be added in each of the months of September, October, November, and December 1967;

* * * * *

PART 1050—MILK IN CENTRAL ILLINOIS MARKETING AREA

1. Paragraphs (h) and (i) of § 1050.71 are revised to read as follows:

§ 1050.71 Computation of the uniform price.

PART 1062—MILK IN ST. LOUIS, MO., MARKETING AREA

1. Paragraphs (h) and (i) of § 1062.71 are revised to read as follows:

§ 1062.71 Computation of uniform prices.

(h) Subtract in the case of milk delivered during each of the months of March and July an amount equal to 15 cents per hundredweight and during each of the months of April, May, and June an amount equal to 25 cents per hundredweight of producer milk specified in paragraph (e)(1) of this section, except that the rate of deduction for each of the months of April through August 1967 shall be 10 cents;

(i) Add in the case of milk delivered during each of the months of September and December 20 percent and during each of the months of October and November 30 percent of the total amount subtracted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section, except that in the case of money deducted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section during 1967 one-fourth of the sum shall be added in each of the months of September, October, November, and December 1967;

* * * * *

PART 1067—MILK IN OZARKS MARKETING AREA

1. Paragraphs (h) and (i) of § 1067.71 are revised to read as follows:

§ 1067.71 Computation of uniform prices.

* * * * *

(h) Subtract in the case of milk delivered during each of the months of March and July an amount equal to 15 cents per hundredweight and during each of the months of April, May, and June an amount equal to 25 cents per hundredweight of producer milk specified in paragraph (e) (1) of this section, except that the rate of deduction for each of the months of April through August 1967 shall be 10 cents;

(l) Add in the case of milk delivered during each of the months of September and December 20 percent and during each of the months of October and November 30 percent of the total amount subtracted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section, except that in the case of money deducted pursuant to paragraph (h) of this section during 1967 one-fourth of the sum shall be added in each of the months of September, October, November, and December 1967;

Title 13—BUSINESS CREDIT AND ASSISTANCE

Chapter III—Economic Development Administration, Department of Commerce

PART 301—ESTABLISHMENT AND ORGANIZATION

Disclosure of Information to the Public

In order to further implement section 552, Title 5, U.S.C. as codified by Public Law 90–23, June 5, 1967 (81 Stat. 54), and pursuant to Department of Commerce Order 64, July 4, 1967, Part 301 of Title 13 is amended as follows:

1. The authority citation is changed to read:

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 301 are issued under secs. 214, 302, 79 Stat. 17, 19; 40 U.S.C. App. A. 214, 302. sec. 701, 79 Stat. 570; 42 U.S.C. 3211. 81 Stat. 54; 5 U.S.C. 552, 31 U.S.C. 483a. Department of Commerce Orders 5A and 64, 31 F.R. 16728, 32 F.R. 9734.

2. The authority for Subpart C is deleted.

3. Section 301.63 of Title 13, is revised to read:

§ 301.63 Disclosure of information to the public.

This section describes the arrangements whereby the materials specified in 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) are made available for public inspection and copying, and the procedures and other conditions whereby identifiable records requested by persons may be made available to them pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3).

(a) Publication in the Federal Register. Those materials which are required to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER pursuant to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(1) have been and shall continue to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and shall, to the extent practicable and to further assist the public, be made available for inspection and copying at the facility identified in paragraph (b)(3) of this section.

(b) Availability of materials for inspection and copying. (1) In accordance with 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(2) and other provisions of law, a public information facility is established wherein EDA maintains a reference facility for the public inspection and copying of:

(i) Final opinions, including concurring and dissenting opinions, as well as orders, made in the adjudication of cases.

(ii) Those statements of policy and interpretations which have been adopted by EDA and are not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(iii) Administrative staff manuals and instructions to staff that affect a member of the public.

(iv) A current index providing identifying information for the public as to any matter which is issued, adopted, or promulgated after July 4, 1967, and required to be made available or published by section 552(a)(2).

(v) Such additional materials as the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development, in his discretion may consider desirable and practicable to make available for the convenience of the public.

(2) In order to prevent unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, EDA may delete identifying details when it makes available or publishes an opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, or staff manual or instruction, and shall, in each such case, explain in writing the justification for the deletion.

(3) The above materials may be inspected in the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, Room 6814 B, Commerce Building, 14th Street between Constitution and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C. 20230. In addition, for the convenience of the public, most of these materials may also be inspected at each of the EDA area offices listed in § 301.31. The Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, Washington, D.C., and the respective EDA area offices are open to the public Monday through Friday of each week, except on official holidays, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. There are no fees or formal requirements for such inspections. Copies of these materials may be obtained at these facilities at cost. In addition, copies of various EDA materials regularly available for sale by EDA may be purchased from the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, and EDA area offices.

(4) Correspondence concerning the materials available in the facility should be sent to the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division at the above address.

(c) Requests for identifiable records. (1) A person who wishes to inspect a record which is not customarily available to the public as part of the regular informational activities of EDA should complete Form CD–244, "Application to Inspect Records," and submit this form, in person or by mail, to the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, Room 6814 B, Commerce Building, Washington, D.C. 20230. Copies of Form CD–244 are available at the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division and each of the EDA area offices listed in § 301.31.

(2) An application form shall be submitted for each record or group of records related to the same general subject matter. Each application form shall be accompanied by the nonrefundable application fee of $2.

(3) Detailed instructions for the completion of Form CD–244 are stated on the back of the form. Employees of the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division and the EDA area offices will be available to answer questions concerning the application form and its filing. The applicant has the sole responsibility to identify each record sought in sufficient detail so that it can be located by personnel familiar with the filing of agency records. Each application shall clearly itemize, when there are more than one, each record requested so that it may be identified and its availability separately determined.

(4) All requests for agency records not customarily made available to the public received by EDA area offices shall promptly be referred, without further action, to the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division for a determination in accordance with paragraph (d) of this section.

(5) The Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, will review the application for completeness, and will record receipt of the fee. If the application is incomplete in some substantial and material respect, it shall be promptly returned to the applicant to complete.

(d) Determinations of availability of records. (1) Upon receipt of requests for information, the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division shall initially determine:

(i) Whether the requested record can be identified on the basis of the information supplied by the applicant. If it cannot identify the record, the application shall be returned to the applicant, specifying why it is not identifiable and what additional clarification, if any, the applicant may make to assist EDA in its identification.

(ii) Whether the record, if identifiable, is still in existence or has been destroyed as provided by law, or is not in the possession of EDA. If the record no longer exists, the applicant shall be so notified, with the reason stated. If the record is not in EDA's possession and its existence is not otherwise reasonably ascertainable, the applicant shall be so notified. If the requested record is in another organization of the Department of Commerce, or is the exclusive or primary concern of another executive department or agency, the application for the record shall be promptly referred to such other organization or agency for further action under its rules, and the applicant shall be promptly informed of this referral by the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division.

(2) If the requested record is identifiable and subject to EDA's determination as to its availability, the application shall be reviewed by an official authorized pursuant to Department Order 64 to initially determine its availability. If it is determined, after consultation with the Office of the Chief Counsel that, as provided by law, the record is not to be made available to the requesting person, said party shall receive in writing the specific reason(s) why the record is not being disclosed, signed by the official making the determination.

(3) If the record is to made available and there are no further charges or fees, it shall be furnished to the requesting person. If, in accord with paragraph (e) of this section, there are additional costs to be recovered from the applicant, they shall be estimated and the applicant notified that upon his payment of such estimated costs subject to adjustment as provided in paragraph (e) of this section, the record shall be made available to him at the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, or transmitted to him by it.

(e) Fees and charges. (1) In accord with Congressional policies that services performed hereunder are to be self-sustaining, and as provided by law, appropriate fees and charges are hereby established to cover costs for application handling, record searching, reproduction, certification, and authentication, and for related expenses incurred by EDA with respect to records made available upon request under 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3).

(2) The following fees are hereby established and payable to EDA:

(i) Application fee—per application... $2.00

This fee is nonrefundable, and covers costs of accepting and reviewing the application, and making a determination as to the availability of the requested record, or group of related records.

(ii) Records search fee—per half-hour, or any fraction thereof, per person $2.50

This fee covers the costs of locating the desired record, transporting it by government messenger service to a point of inspection, supervising the inspection, and returning the record to its regular file. It also includes the costs of any copies or records made at EDA's option. The minimum fee charged for records search will be one-half hour ($2.50).

(iii) Copies of records, if requested by applicant:

(a) Xerographic or similar process—
Up to 9 x 14 inches (each page)	$0.25
(b) Photocopy or similar process—
Up to 12 x 18 inches (each copy)	1.00
Over 12 x 18 inches but less than 18 x 25 inches (each)	2.00

(iv) Other forms of reproduction as may be required by the nature of the original records: Individual fee, sufficient to recover full cost.....

(v) Certification fee, if requested— Applicable to each certification	1.00
(vi) Postage, registration, or other forwarding or packing fees... Applicable only if copies of records are requested to be shipped to a point other than the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division.	(1)

[1] Actual cost.

(3) All fees and charges will be collected in advance. The applicant will be given an estimate of the cost of records search for each application where disclosure availability is authorized. If actual cost exceeds the estimate, the applicant will have the option of either paying any additional costs, or inspecting the requested record to the extent covered by his payment. If the advance estimated payment is $1 or more in excess of both the actual cost and the minimum charge, a refund will be made of the excess above the higher of these two amounts.

(4) The fees set forth above are based upon an initial estimate of the costs to be incurred in providing the indicated services and may be revised as necessary to insure the recovery of full costs by EDA.

(5) The above fees are established solely for services provided pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3), and do not affect fees charged for other EDA services to the public, as may be performed under other authorities.

(f) Arrangements for public inspection and copying of agency records subject to disclosure. (1) Upon receipt of the records search fee, and any fees for additional services requested by the applicant, the requested record which has been determined to be available shall, unless the applicant has otherwise indicated, be transferred to the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division where it will be held for inspection by the applicant for 5 working days. The address, and hours of operation, of this facility are stated in paragraph (b)(3) of this section.

(2) During his inspection of the record at the facility, the applicant may copy by hand any portion of the record, may use the coin-operated copying equipment at the facility to make a copy thereof, and may obtain certification of a machine-copied record.

(3) No changes or alterations of any type may be made to the record being inspected, nor may any matter be added to or subtracted therefrom. Papers bound or otherwise assembled in a record file may not be disassembled during inspection. Staff of the facility shall provide assistance if disassembly of a record is necessary for copying purposes, and are authorized to supervise public inspection as necessary to protect the records of EDA.

(4) If an applicant does not want to inspect a record by personal visit to the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, he may request that a copy thereof be mailed to him, upon payment of the copying and postage fees set forth in this section.

(5) No person may, without permission, remove any record made available to him for inspection or copying under this part, from the place where it is made available. In addition, no person may steal, alter, mutilate, obliterate, or destroy, in whole or part, such a record. See sections 641 and 2071 of Title 18 of the United States Code.

(g) Requests for reconsideration. (1) Any person whose application to inspect a record has been rejected because the record was not to be made available for stated reason(s), may request a reconsideration of the initial denial, as set forth herein.

(2) The request for reconsideration should be made by completing the applicable section of the Form CD–244, and returning it to the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division, within 30 days of the date of the original denial. (This date is shown on the Form CD–244). No additional fee is required to obtain reconsideration. In submitting a request for reconsideration, the applicant should include any written arguments he desires to support his belief that the record requested should be made available. No personal appearance, oral argument or hearing shall be permitted.

(3) The decision upon such review shall be made by the Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development and shall be based upon the original application, the denial, and any written argument submitted by the applicant.

(4) The decision upon review shall be promptly made in writing and communicated to the applicant. If the decision is wholly or partly in favor of the applicant, the requested record shall to the extent determined be made available for inspection, as described in paragraph (d)(3) of this section. To the extent that the decision is adverse to the request, the reasons for the denial shall be stated.

(5) A decision upon review completed as provided by this section shall constitute the final decision and action of EDA as to the availability of a requested record, except as may be required by court proceedings initiated pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3).

(6) Reconsiderations resulting in final decisions as prescribed herein shall be indexed and kept available for public reference in the Office of Public Affairs, Publications Division.

(h) Subpoena or other compulsory process. Procedures applicable in the event of a subpoena, order, or other compulsory process or demand of a court or other authority are set forth in section 7 of Department Order 64.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary for the promulgation of this part since the rules contained herein are procedural rather than substantive in nature and related to agency management.

Effective date. This section shall become effective July 4, 1967.

Dated: July 11, 1967.

ROSS D. DAVIS,
Assistant Secretary for Economic Development.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Airspace Docket No. 67-CE-90]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the Duluth, Minn., control zone.

Since designation of this control zone, the airport latitude coordinate for the Duluth, Minn., International Airport has been changed from "46°50'28" N." as recited in said designation to "46°50'30" N." Action is taken herein to reflect this change.

Since this amendment is minor in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967, as hereinafter set forth:

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071), the Duluth, Minn., control zone is amended to read:

DULUTH, MINN.

Within a 5-mile radius of Duluth, Minn., International Airport (latitude 46°50'30" N., longitude 92°11'25" W.); within 2 miles each side of the Duluth ILS west course, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the OM; within 2 miles each side of the Duluth ILS east course, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles east of the intersection of the Duluth ILS east course and the Duluth VORTAC 062° radial; within 2 miles each side of the Duluth VORTAC 197° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles south of the VORTAC; and within 2 miles each side of the Duluth VORTAC 033° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 9 miles northeast of the VORTAC.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Kansas City, Mo., on July 10, 1967.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the Waco, Tex., control zone.

On May 25, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7634) stating the Federal Aviation Administration proposed to alter the Waco, Tex., control zone.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967, as herein set forth.

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2143) the Waco, Tex., control zone is redesignated as follows:

WACO, TEX.

That airspace within a 5-mile radius of the Waco Municipal Airport(latitude 31°36'40" N., longitude 97°13'40" W.); within 2 miles each side of the Waco VORTAC 330° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles NW of the VORTAC; within 2 miles each side of the Waco ILS localizer N course, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the OM; within a 5-mile radius of James Connally AFB (latitude 31°38'20" N., longitude 97°04'25" W.); within 2 miles each side of the Waco VORTAC 098° radial extending from the James Connally AFB 5-mile radius zone to the VORTAC; within 2 miles each side of a 360° bearing from the Connally RBN extending from the 5-mile radius zone to the RBN, and within 2 miles each side of the James Connally TACAN 352° radial extending from the TACAN to 7 miles N.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on July 12, 1967.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-AL-6]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone, Revocation of Control Area Extension, and Designation of Transition Area

On May 15, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7290) describing the proposed controlled airspace in the Bethel, Alaska, terminal area.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through the submission of comments. The one comment received from the Department of the Air Force, Alaskan Air Command, stated that the proposed change to the Bethel terminal airspace structure would have no adverse effect on their operations.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001, e.s.t., September 14, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

1. In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2077), the Bethel, Alaska, Control Zone is amended as follows:

BETHEL, ALASKA

Within a 5-mile radius of the Bethel Municipal Airport (latitude 60°47'01" N., longitude 161°49'59" W.); within 3 miles each side of the BIA RBN 014° bearing extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles N of the RBN; within 2 miles each side of the BET RBN 293° bearing extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles NW of the RBN; and within 2 miles each side of the Bethel VORTAC 213° radial extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 8 miles SW of the VORTAC.

2. In § 71.165 (32 F.R. 2068), the Bethel, Alaska, Control Area Extension is revoked.

3. In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148), the following transition area is added:

BETHEL, ALASKA

That airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within a 22-mile radius of the Bethel VORTAC.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Anchorage, Alaska, on July 13, 1967.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-SO-69]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone and Transition Area

The purpose of these amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the Macon, Ga., control zone and transition area.

The Macon control zone is described in § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071) and the Macon transition area is described in § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148).

In each of these descriptions, reference is made to the Macon Municipal Airport. Since the name of this airport has been changed to "Lewis B. Wilson Airport," it is necessary to amend the descriptions accordingly.

Since these amendments are editorial in nature, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective immediately, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071), the Macon, Ga., control zone is amended by deleting the name "* * * Macon Municipal Airport * * " and substituting therefor " * * Lewis B. Wilson Airport * * *" wherever it appears.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148), the Macon, Ga., transition area is amended by deleting the name "* * * Macon Municipal Airport * * " and substituting therefor " * * Lewis B. Wilson Airport * * *" wherever it appears.

(Sec. 307(a) Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348(a))

Issued in East Point, Ga., on July 11, 1967.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Control Zone and Transition Area

The purpose of these amendments to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the Greensboro, N.C., control zone and transition area.

The Greensboro control zone is described in § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071) and the Greensboro transition area is described in §71.181 (32 F.R. 2148 and 7392).

In each of these descriptions, reference is made to the Greensboro-High Point Airport. Since the name of this airport has been changed to "Greensboro/High Point/Winston-Salem Airport," it is necessary to amend the descriptions accordingly.

Since these amendments are editorial in nature, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective immediately, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2071), the Greensboro, N.C., control zone is amended by deleting the name "* * * Greensboro-High Point Airport * * " and substituting therefor " * * Greensboro/High Point/Winston-Salem Airport * * *" wherever it appears.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148), the Greensboro, N.C., transition area (32 F.R. 7392) is amended by deleting the name "* * * Greensboro-High Point Airport * * " and substituting therefor " * * Greensboro/High Point/Winston-Salem Airport * * *" wherever it appears.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-WE-31]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Federal Airway

On May 11, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7133) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering an amendment to Part 71.of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate a 1,200 feet AGL North alternate to V-4 from the intersection of Yakima, Wash., 129° and Pasco, Wash., 276° true radials, via Pasco, to Pendleton, Oreg., excluding the airspace between the main and north alternate airway, and the airspace within R-6715. The purpose of this action was to simplify flight planning and to reduce the airway mileage between Yakima and Pasco.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

Subsequent to publication of the notice it was determined that the assignment of the number V-4 north to the segment would not facilitate flight planning as a flight from Yakima to Pasco would be required to stipulate flight along both V-4 and V-4 north alternate. The assignment of a single number to the segment between Yakima and Pasco would solve the problem. V-298 is designated from Pendleton eastward. Accordingly, the number V-298 could be assigned to the airway segment under consideration and would result in an extension of the present V-298 westward to Yakima. Such action is taken herein.

Since the renumbering of the airway segment as proposed herein is minor in nature and will impose no undue burden on any person, the Administrator has determined that notice and public procedure hereon is unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended effective September 14, 1967 as hereinafter set forth.

Section 71.123 (29 F.R. 2009) is amended as follows:

In V-298 "From Pendleton, Oreg.," is deleted and "From Yakima, Wash., 12 AGL INT Yakima 129° and Pasco, Wash.; 276° radials; 12 AGL Pasco; 12 AGL Pendleton, Oreg.," is substituted therefor. "The airspace within R-6715 is excluded." is added at the end of the description.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

On page 7463 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated May 19, 1967, the Federal Aviation Administration published a notice of proposed rule making which would amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the transition area at Dubuque, Iowa.

Interested persons were given 45 days to submit written comments, suggestions or objections regarding the proposed amendment.

No objections have been received and the amendment as so proposed is hereby adopted, subject to the following change, occasioned by the renumbering of federal airway V-63 to V-216 subsequent to publication of the subject notice:

That portion of the 1,200-foot floor transition area designation for Dubuque, Iowa recited in the subject Notice which reads "V-63" is deleted and "V-216" is substituted therefor.

This amendment shall be effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Kansas City, Mo., on July 10, 1967.

DANIEL E. BARROW,
Acting Director, Central Region.

Redesignate the Dubuque, Iowa, transition area as that airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 7-mile radius of the Dubuque Municipal Airport (latitude 42°24'10" N., longitude 90°42'55" W.), within 8 miles SW and 5 miles NE of the Dubuque VORTAC 321° radial, and within 8 miles NE and 5 miles SW of the Dubuque VORTAC 126° radial extending from the VORTAC to 12 miles NW and SE of the VORTAC; and that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within an area bounded by a line beginning at latitude 42°05'00" N., longitude 91°00'00" W., thence W along latitude 42°05'00" N., to and N along longitude 92°15'00" W., to and counterclockwise along the arc of a 29-mile radius circle centered on the Waterloo, Iowa, VORTAC, to and E along the S edge of V-100, to and clockwise along the arc of a 29-mile radius circle centered on the Dubuque VORTAC, to and SE along the SW edge of V-218, to and S along longitude 89°55'00" W., to and SW along the NW edge of V-216, to and W along the N edge of V-172, to and N along longitude 91°00'00" W., to the point of beginning.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-SO-80]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

On June 2, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7979) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would alter the Salisbury, N.C., transition area.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through the submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

Subsequent to the publication of the Notice, it was determined that the references to "a 003° bearing" and the direction "NE" should have read "the 003° bearing" and "N" respectively. Additionally, the geographic coordinate (latitude 35°38'30" N., longitude 80°31'10" W.) for the Rowan County Airport was obtained from the Coast and Geodetic Survey. Accordingly, action is taken herein to correct the technical discrepancies and to add the geographic coordinate for the airport in the description of this transition area. Since these changes are minor in nature and impose no additional burden on any person, they are incorporated in this rule.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.d.s.t., September 14, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148) the Salisbury N.C., transition area is amended to read:

SALISBURY, N.C.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 6-mile radius of the Rowan County Airport (latitude 35° 38'30" N., longitude 80°31'10" W.); within 2 miles each side of the 068° bearing from the Salisbury NDB (latitude 35°40'30" N., longitude 80°31'20" W.), extending from the 6-mile radius area to 8 miles north of the NDB.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the San Antonio, Tex., transition area.

The San Antonio, Tex., transition area is described in § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2249). A portion of the 700-foot transition area is described as "* * * within 5 miles northeast and 8 miles southwest of the 149° bearing from the Randolph AFB RBN extending from the RBN to 12 miles southeast * * *."

The Randolph AFB RBN is to be decommissioned and the instrument approach procedure based thereon will be canceled. It is necessary to amend the San Antonio, Tex., transition area by deleting airspace based on the RBN.

Since this amendment lessens the burden on the public, notice and public procedures hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.s.t., July 20, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2249) the San Antonio, Tex., transition area is amended by deleting "* * * within 5 miles northeast and 8 miles southwest of the 149° bearing from the Randolph AFB RBN extending from the RBN to 12 miles southeast * * *."

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

In the Matter of David Hoffman, an Individual Trading as Hoffman & Son

Consent order requiring a Worcester, Mass., producer of wool fiber stock to cease misrepresenting the fiber content of wool products on invoices, misbranding woolens, and furnishing false guaranties on textile fiber products.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent David Hoffman, an individual trading as Hoffman & Son, or under any other trade name, and respondent's representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the introduction or manufacture for introduction, into commerce, or the offering for sale, sale, transportation, distribution, delivery for shipment or shipment, in commerce, of wool products, as "commerce" and "wool product" are defined in the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, do forthwith cease and desist from misbranding such products by:

1. Falsely and deceptively stamping, tagging, labeling, or otherwise identifying such products as to the character or amount of the constituent fibers contained therein.

2. Failing to securely affix to, or place on, each such product a stamp, tag, label, or other means of identification showing in a clear and conspicuous manner each element of information required to be disclosed by section 4(a)(2) of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939.

It is further ordered, That respondent David Hoffman, an individual trading as Hoffman & Son, or under any other trade name, and respondent's representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of wool products or other products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from misrepresenting the character or amount of the constituent fibers contained in such products, on invoices or shipping memoranda applicable thereto or in any other manner.

It is further ordered, That respondent David Hoffman, an individual trading as Hoffman & Son, or under any other trade name, and respondent's representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, do forthwith cease and desist from furnishing a false guaranty that any textile fiber product is not misbranded or falsely invoiced under the provisions of the Textile Fiber Products Identification Act.

In the Matter of Mars Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Asheville, N.C., a Corporation, and Morry A. Bard, Ronald S. Bard, and Sally G. Bard, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporation

Consent order requiring an Asheville, N.C., distributor of textile products to cease misbranding textile fiber products and misrepresenting imperfect hosiery as first or perfect quality.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Mars Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Asheville, N.C., a corporation, and its officers, and Morry A. Bard, Ronald S. Bard, and Sally G. Bard, individually and as officers of said corporation, and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the introduction, delivery for introduction, manufacture for introduction, sale, advertising, or offering for sale, in commerce, or the transportation or causing to be transported in commerce, or the importation into the United States, of any textile fiber product; or in connection with the sale, offering for sale, advertising, delivery, transportation, or causing to be transported, of any textile fiber product which has been advertised or offered for sale in commerce; or in connection with the sale, offering for sale, advertising, delivery, transportation, or causing to be transported, after shipment in commerce, of any textile fiber product, whether in its original state or contained in other textile fiber products, as the terms "commerce" and "textile fiber product" are defined in the Textile Fiber Products Identification Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

A. Misbranding textile fiber products by:

1. Failing to affix a stamp, tag, label, or other means of identification to each such product showing in a clear, legible and conspicuous manner each element of information required to be disclosed by section 4(b) of the Textile Fiber Products Identification Act.

2. Failing to set forth all parts of the required information conspicuously and separately on the same side of the label in such a manner as to be clearly legible and readily accessible to the prospective purchaser.

3. Setting forth nonrequired information or representations on the label or elsewhere on the product in such a manner as to minimize, detract from, or conflict with information required by the said Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

B. Failing to maintain and preserve for at least 3 years proper records showing the fiber content of textile fiber products manufactured by them, as required by section 6(a) of the Textile Fiber Products Identification Act and Rule 39 of the Regulations promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That respondents Mars Manufacturing Co., Inc., of Asheville, N.C., a corporation, and its officers, and Morry A. Bard, Ronald S. Bard, and Sally G. Bard, individually and as officers of said corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the offering for sale, sale or distribution of hosiery, or other related "industry products", which are "irregulars," "seconds," or otherwise imperfect, as such terms are defined in Rule 4(c) of the Amended Trade Practice Rules for the Hosiery Industry (16 CFR 152.4(c)), in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

A. Selling or distributing any such product without clearly and conspicuously marking on each stocking the words "irregulars" or "seconds", as the case may be, in such degree of permanency as to remain thereon until the consummation of the consumer sale and of such conspicuousness as to be easily observed and read by the purchasing public.

B. Using the words "first quality" or words similar import on the package in which such product is sold or in reference to any such product in any advertisement or promotional material.

C. Representing in any other manner, directly or by implication, that such products are first quality or perfect quality.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Title 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T.D. 67-166]

PART 11—PACKING AND STAMPING; MARKING; TRADE-MARKS AND TRADE NAMES; COPYRIGHTS

Country of Origin Marking

There was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 11, 1967 (32 F.R. 2819), a notice of a proposed amendment of § 11.8(a) of the Customs Regulations. The purpose of the amendment is to prescribe a specific requirement for additional marking to avoid the possibility of misleading or deceiving the ultimate purchaser as to the origin of imported articles when the article or its container bears any inscription which could reasonably be construed to imply that the article was manufactured or produced in the United States or in a foreign country other than the country of manufacture or production. Interested persons were given an opportunity to submit relevant data, views, or arguments in writing regarding the proposed amendment. All comments received have been carefully considered. It has been decided that the word "American" on an imported article or container would be misleading unless the country of origin were clearly shown in proximity thereto, and that in some cases words other than "Made in" or "Product of" preceding the name of the country of origin may be acceptable. The proposed amendment, revised to conform with these views, is hereby adopted.

Accordingly, § 11.8 is amended by adding a sentence at the end of paragraph (a) as follows:

§ 11.8 Marking of articles and containers to indicate name of country of origin.

(a) * * * In any case in which the words "United States" or "American," the letters "U.S.A.," any variation of such words or letters, the name of any city or locality in the United States, or the name of any foreign country or locality other than the country or locality in which the article was manufactured or produced, appear on an imported article or its container, there shall appear, legibly and permanently, in proximity to such words, letters or name and in at least a comparable size, the name of the country of origin preceded by "Made in", "Product of", or other words of similar import.

* * * * * *

(Sec. 304, 46 Stat. 687, as amended; 19 U.S.C. 1304)

This amendment shall become effective 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Proration of Overtime Charges at Airports

A notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 9, 1966 (31 F.R. 15544). After consideration of the comments received, a second notice was published on May 17, 1967 (32 F.R. 7337). The proposals were designed to establish a standard formula for prorating among aircraft operators the charges for customs overtime services at airports under the customs overtime laws (19 U.S.C. 267, 1451) when such charges could not be readily attributed to a specific aircraft on a time basis.

After consideration of all comments received, the amendment as proposed in the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 17, 1967, is hereby adopted, effective 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Accordingly, § 24.16(j) is amended to read:

§ 24.16 Overtime services; overtime compensation; rate of compensation.

* * * * *

(j) Proration of charges—(1) General. If services are performed for two or more applicants during one continuous tour of overtime duty, the charge for the extra compensation earned shall be prorated equitably according to the time attributed to the services performed for each applicant. For the purpose of this paragraph the Government shall be considered the applicant for nonreimbursable overtime services.

(2) Aircraft. When any services performed by customs employees for two or more applicants during the 24-hour period of a Sunday or holiday or during the night hours of 5 p.m. of any day to 8 a.m. of the following day cannot be readily attributed on a time basis to specific aircraft in the judgment of the district director having customs supervision of the airport, the total charge of the overtime compensation for such services during the entire period of the Sunday, holiday, or night hours shall be prorated to the aircraft receiving such services during each such period on the following basis:

(i) Five percent of such total customs overtime charge for the period shall be distributed equally among the operators of the aircraft.

(ii) Ten percent of such total customs overtime charge for the period shall be distributed among the operators of the aircraft proportionally as the number of entrances and clearances made by each aircraft operator requiring customs service bears to the total number of entrances and clearances serviced during the period.

(iii) Eighty-five percent of such total customs overtime charge for the period shall be distributed among the operators of the aircraft proportionally as the number of passengers and/or crew serviced for each aircraft operator bears to the total number of passengers and/or crew serviced during the period.

This proration formula shall apply only to overtime services rendered aircraft carrying cargo and/or passengers for hire and in no case shall the prorated charge to an aircraft operator be more than the charge would have been had the services been rendered as a separate assignment for the aircraft operator.

(Sec. 5, 36 Stat. 901, as amended, secs. 451, 624, 46 Stat. 715, as amended, 759; 19 U.S.C. 267, 1451, 1624)

[SEAL] EDWIN F. RAINS, Acting Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: July 13, 1967.

TRUE DAVIS, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Title 38—PENSIONS, BONUSES, AND VETERANS' RELIEF

Chapter I—Veterans Administration

PART 1—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Release of Information

1. The center title immediately preceding § 1.500 is amended and a preamble is added to read as follows:

RELEASE OF INFORMATION FROM VETERANS ADMINISTRATION CLAIMANT RECORDS

NOTE: Sections 1.500 through 1.527 concern the availability and release of information from files, records, reports, and other papers and documents in Veterans Administration custody pertaining to claims under any of the laws administered by the Veterans Administration. As to the release of information from Veterans Administration records other than claimant records, see §§ 1.550 through 1.558. Sections 1.500 through 1.526 implement the provisions of 38 U.S.C. 3301, 3302.

2. In § 1.500, paragraphs (c) and (d) are added to read as follows:

§ 1.500 General.

(c) Each department, staff office, and field station head will designate an employee(s) who will be responsible for initial action on (granting or denying) requests to inspect or obtain information from or copies of records under their jurisdiction and within the purview of §§ 1.501 through 1.526 unless the regulations in this part currently contain such designations. The request should be made to the office concerned (having jurisdiction of the record desired) or, if not known, to the Manager or Contact Officer in the nearest Veterans Administration Regional Office or to the Veterans Administration Central Office, 810 Vermont Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20420. Personal contacts should normally be made during the regular duty hours of the office concerned, which are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for Veterans Administration Central Office and most field stations. Any legal question arising in a field station concerning the release of information will be referred to the appropriate Chief Attorney for disposition as contemplated by §13.401 of this chapter. In Central Office such legal questions will be referred to the General Counsel. Any administrative question will be referred through administrative channels to the appropriate department or staff office head.

(d) Upon denial of a request under paragraph (c) of this section, the responsible Veterans Administration official or designated employee will inform the requester in writing of the denial and advise him that he may appeal the denial. The requester will also be furnished the title and address of the Veterans Administration official to whom the appeal should be addressed. (See § 1.527.) In each instance of denial of a request, the denial will be made a matter of record and the record will contain a citation to the specific provision of Veterans Administration regulations upon which the denial is based.

3. Sections 1.501 and 1.502 are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.501 Release of information by the Administrator.

The Administrator of Veterans Affairs or the Deputy Administrator may release information, statistics, or reports to individuals or organizations when in his judgement such release would serve a useful purpose.

§ 1.502 Disclosure of the amount of monetary benefits.

The monthly rate of pension, compensation, dependency and indemnity compensation, retirement pay, subsistence allowance, or educational assistance allowance of any beneficiary shall be made known to any person who applies for such information.

4. Section 1.507 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.507 Disclosures to Members of Congress.

Members of Congress shall be furnished in their official capacity in any case such information contained in the Veterans Administration files as may be requested for official use. However, in any unusual case, the request will be presented to the Administrator, Deputy Administrator, or staff or department head for personal action. When the requested information is of a type which may not be furnished a claimant, the Member of Congress shall be advised that the information is furnished to him confidentially in his official capacity and should be so treated by him. (See 38 U.S.C 3301.) Information concerning the beneficiary designation of a United States Government Life Insurance or National Service Life Insurance policy is deemed confidential and privileged and during the insured's lifetime shall not be disclosed to anyone other than the insured or his duly appointed fiduciary unless the insured or the fiduciary authorizes the release of such information.

5. In § 1.508, paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows:

§ 1.508 Disclosure in cases where claimants are charged with or convicted of criminal offenses.

* * * * *

(b) When desired by a U.S. district court, the Chief Attorney or the General Counsel may supply information as to whether any person charged with crime served in the military or naval service of the United States and whether the Veterans Administration has a file on such person. If the file is desired either by the court or by the prosecution or defense, it may be produced only in accord with §§ 1.501 through 1.526.

6. Sections 1.509 and 1.510 are revised to read as follows:

§ 1.509 Disclosure to courts in proceedings in the nature of an inquest.

The Chief Benefits Director, Department of Veterans Benefits, Chief Attorneys, and station heads are authorized to make disclosures to courts of competent jurisdiction of such files, records, reports, and other documents as are necessary and proper evidence in proceedings in the nature of an inquest into the mental competency of claimants and other proceedings incident to the appointment and discharge of guardians, curators, or conservators to any court having jurisdiction of such fiduciaries in all matters of appointment, discharge, or accounting in such courts.

§ 1.510 Disclosure to insurance companies cooperating with the Department of Justice in the defense of insurance suits against the United States.

Copies of records from the files of the Veterans Administration will, in the event of litigation involving commercial insurance policies issued by an insurance company cooperating with the Department of Justice in defense of insurance suits against the United States, be furnished to such companies without charge, provided the claimant or his duly authorized representative has authorized the release of the information contained in such records. If the release of information is not authorized in writing by the claimant or his duly authorized representative, information contained in the files may be furnished to such company if to withhold same would tend to permit the accomplishment of a fraud or miscarriage of justice. However, before such information may be released without the consent of the claimant, the request therefor must be accompanied by an affidavit of the representative of the insurance company, setting forth that litigation is pending, the character of the suit, and the purpose for which the information desired is to be used. If such information is to be used adversely to the claimant, the affidavit must set forth facts from which it may be determined by the General Counsel or Chief Attorney whether the furnishing of the information is necessary to prevent the perpetration of a fraud or other injustice. The averments contained in such affidavit should be considered in connection with the facts shown by the claimant's file, and, if such consideration shows the disclosure of the record is necessary and proper to prevent a fraud or other injustice, information as to the contents thereof may be furnished to the insurance company or copies of the records may be furnished to the court, workmen's compensation, or similar board in which the litigation is pending upon receipt of a subpoena duces tecum addressed to the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, or the head of the office in which the records desired are located. In the event the subpoena requires the production of the file, as distinguished from the copies of the records, no expense to the Veterans Administration may be involved in complying therewith, and arrangements must be made with the representative of the insurance company causing the issuance of the subpoena to insure submission of the file to the court without expense to the Veterans Administration.

7. In § 1.511, paragraphs (d) and (e) are amended to read as follows:

§ 1.511 Judicial proceedings generally.

* * * * *

(d) Requests received from attorneys or others for copies of records for use in suits in which the Government is not involved, not accompanied by a subpoena or court order, will be handled by the service or division having jurisdiction over the subject matter. If the request is such as can be complied with under § 1.503 or § 1.504, the records requested will be furnished upon receipt of the required fee. If, however, the records cannot be furnished under such sections, the applicant will be advised of the procedure to obtain copies of records for court use as set forth in paragraph (c) of this section.

(e) In suits by or against the Administrator under 38 U.S.C. 1820, the files pertaining to the loan guaranteed, insured, or made by the Veterans Administration may be made available by the General Counsel or the Chief Attorney subject to the usual rules of evidence, after clearance with the Department of Justice or U.S. Attorney, if appropriate.

8. Section 1.512 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.512 Disclosure of loan guaranty information.

In general, the facts in loan guaranty files will be made available to any party privy to a loan guaranteed, insured or made by the Veterans Administration if deemed proper by a Loan Guaranty Officer or Chief Attorney. Information in the claims folder, insurance or other file, will be released to lenders or prospective lenders only in accord with §§ 1.501 through 1.526: Provided, That the fact of adjudication of incompetency by court or rating board may be made known in appropriate circumstances to a lender or prospective lender.

9. In § 1.513, the headnote and paragraphs (a) and (b) (1) (iv) and (2) are amended to read as follows:

§ 1.513 Disclosure of information contained in Armed Forces service and related medical records in Veterans Administration custody.

(a) Service records. Information received by the Veterans Administration from the Departments of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and the Department of Transportation relative to the military or naval service of a claimant is furnished solely for the official use of the Veterans Administration, but such information may be disclosed under the limitations contained in §§ 1.501 through 1.526.

(b) Medical records. Information contained in the medical records (including clinical records and social data) may be released under the following conditions:

(1) * * *

(iv) The Department of Transportation (Coast Guard).

* * * * *

(2) In addition to the authorizations in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, the Department of Justice, the Department of the Treasury, and the Post Office Department may, on request, be given pertinent information from medical records for use in connection with investigations conducted by these departments. Each such request shall be considered on its merits, and the information released should be the minimum necessary in connection with the investigation conducted by these departments.

* * * * *

10. In § 1.514(b), subparagraph (2) is amended and subparagraph (3) is added to read as follows:

§ 1.514 Disclosure to private physicians and hospitals other than Veterans Administration.

* * * * *

(b) Such information may be released without charge and without consent of the patient, his representative, or nearest relative when a request for such information is received from:

* * * * *

(2) Any fee basis physician or institution in connection with authorized treatment of the veteran as a Veterans Administration beneficiary, or

(3) Any physician or medical installation treating the veteran under emergent conditions.

11. Section 1.516 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.516 Disclosure of information to undertaker concerning burial of a deceased veteran.

When an undertaker requests information believed by him to be necessary in connection with the burial of a deceased veteran, such as the name and address of the beneficiary of the veteran's Government insurance policy, name and address of the next of kin, rank or grade of veteran and organization in which he served, character of the veteran's discharge, or date and place of birth of the veteran, and it appears that the undertaker is holding the body awaiting receipt of the information requested, the undertaker, in such instances, may be considered the duly authorized representative of the deceased veteran for the purpose of obtaining said information. In ordinary cases, however, the undertaker will be advised that information concerning the beneficiary of a Government insurance policy is confidential and cannot be disclosed; the beneficiary will be advised immediately of the inquiry, and the furnishing of the desired information will be discretionary with the beneficiary. In no case will the undertaker be informed of the net amount due under the policy or furnished information not specifically mentioned in this section.

12. In § 1.518, paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows:

* * * * *

(c) When an address is requested that may not be furnished under §§ 1.500 through 1.526, the person making the request will be informed that a letter, or in those cases involving judicial actions, the process or notice in judicial proceedings, enclosed in an unsealed envelope showing no return address, with the name of the addressee thereon, and bearing sufficient postage to cover mailing costs will be forwarded by the Veterans Administration. If a request indicates that judicial action is involved in which a process or notice in judicial proceedings is required to be forwarded, the Veterans Administration will inform the person who requests the forwarding of such a document that the envelope must bear sufficient postage to cover costs of mailing and certified or registered mailing fees, including cost of obtaining receipt for the certified or registered mail when transmission by this type special mail is desired. At the time the letter, process, or notice in judicial proceedings is forwarded, the station's return address will be placed on the envelope. When the receipt for certified or registered mail or the undelivered envelope is returned to the Veterans Administration, the original sender will be notified thereof: However, the receipt or the envelope will be retained by the Veterans Administration. This provision will be applicable only when it does not interfere unduly with the functions of the service or division concerned. In no event will letters be forwarded to aid in the collection of debts.

13. Section 1.523 is revoked.

§ 1.523 Veterans Administration installation from which authorized disclosure will be made. [Revoked]

14. Section 1.524 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1.524 Persons authorized to represent claimants.

A duly authorized representative will be (a) any person authorized in writing by the claimant to act for him, or (b) his legally constituted fiduciary, if the claimant is incompetent. Where for proper reasons no legally constituted fiduciary has been or will be appointed, his wife, his children, or, if the claimant is unmarried, either of his parents shall be recognized as the fiduciary of the claimant.

15. In § 1.525, paragraphs (a) (1) and (b) (5) and (6) are amended to read as follows:

§ 1.525 Inspection of records by or disclosure of information to recognized representatives of organizations.

(a) (1) The accredited representatives of any of the organizations recognized under 38 U.S.C. 3402 holding appropriate power of attorney may, subject to the restrictions imposed by subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, inspect the claims, insurance and allied folders of any claimant upon the condition that only such information contained therein as may be properly disclosed under §§ 1.500 through 1.526 will be disclosed by him to the claimant or, if the claimant is incompetent, to his legally constituted fiduciary. Under the same restrictions, it is permissible to release information from and permit inspection of loan guaranty folders in which a request for a waiver of the debt of a veteran or his spouse has been received, or where there has been a denial of basic eligibility for loan guaranty benefits. All other information in the files shall be treated as confidential and will be used only in determining the status of the cases inspected or in connection with the presentation to officials of the Veterans Administration of the claim of the claimant. The heads of field stations and the directors of the services concerned in Central Office will each designate a responsible officer to whom requests for all files must be made, except that managers of centers with insurance activities will designate two responsible officials, recommended by the division chiefs concerned, one responsible for claims and allied folders and the other for insurance files. The term "claimant" as used in this paragraph includes insureds.

(b) * * *

(5) Under no circumstances shall any paper be removed from a file, except by a Veterans Administration employee, for purpose of having an authorized copy made. Copying of material in a file shall not be permitted except in connection with the performance of authorized functions under the power of attorney.

(6) In any case involving litigation against the Government, whether contemplated or initiated, inspection, subject to the foregoing, shall be within the discretion of the General Counsel or Chief Attorney, except that in insurance suits under 38 U.S.C. 775, 784, inspection shall be within the discretion of the official having jurisdiction of the claim. Files in such cases may be released to the Department of Justice, but close liaison will be maintained to insure their return intact upon termination of the litigation.

16. In § 1.526, paragraphs (b), (e), (g), (i), (j), and (k) are amended to read as follows:

§ 1.526 Copies of records and papers.

* * * * *

(b) The types of services provided by the Veterans Administration for which a schedule of fees is established in paragraph (i) of this section are (1) copying, (2) certification, (3) search and (4) handling of files under court subpoena.

* * * * *

(e) The following are circumstances under which services may be provided free at the discretion of station heads or responsible Central Office officials:

(1) When requested by a court, when the copy will serve as a substitute for personal court appearance of a Government witness.

(2) When furnishing the service free saves costs or yields income equal to the direct costs of the agency providing the service. This includes cases where the fee for the service would be included in a billing against the Government (for example, in cost-type contracts, or in the case of private physicians who are treating Government beneficiaries at Government expense).

(3) To the extent of one copy, to those who require copies of records or information from the records in order to obtain financial or other benefits to which they may be entitled.

(4) When a service is occasional and incidental, not of a type that is requested often, and if it is administratively determined that a fee would be inappropriate in such an occasional case.

* * * * *

(g) In those cases where it is determined that a fee shall be charged, the applicant will be advised to deposit the amount of the lawful charge for the copy desired. The amount of such charge will be determined in accordance with the schedule of fees prescribed in paragraph (i) of this section. The desired copy will not be delivered, except under court subpoena, until the full amount of the lawful charge is deposited. Any excess deposited over the lawful charge will be returned to the applicant. When a deposit is received with an application, such a deposit will be returned to the applicant should the application be denied.

* * * * *

(i) Schedule of fees:

(1) Typewritten pages, each page or fraction thereof	$1.50
(2) Photocopy reproductions from all types of copying processes. Each reproduced page	.25
(3) Certification	.25
Seal, including certification	.50
(4) Searching, per hour (minimum charge one-half hour)	2.50
(5) Abstracts or copies of medical and dental records which are furnished by Veterans Administration hospitals and outpatient clinics to insurance companies. Per request	3.00
(6) Office handling of files under court subpoena.—(i) When the file is in the office served with the subpoena	3.00
(ii) When the file must be shipped from a different geographical area to the office served with the subpoena	10.00

(j) If the copy is to be transmitted by certified or registered mail, airmail, or special delivery mail, the postal fees therefor shall be added to the other fees provided in paragraph (i) of this section (or the order must include postage stamps or stamped return envelopes for the purpose).

(k) Those Veterans Administration installations not having copying equipment are authorized to arrange with the nearest Veterans Administration installation having such equipment to make the necessary authorized copies of records or documents.

17. Section 1.527 is added to read as follows:

§ 1.527 Administrative review.

(a) Any person may, in the event of a denial of his request to inspect or obtain information from or copies of records within the purview of §§ 1.501 through 1.526, appeal such denial. Such appeal, stating the circumstances of the denial, should be addressed, as appropriate, to the field station, department, or staff office head.

(b) A denial action not reversed by a field station, department, or staff office head on appeal, will be referred through normal channels to the Administrator.

(c) The final agency decision in such appeals will be made by the Administrator or the Deputy Administrator.

18. Sections 1.550 through 1.558 are added to read as follows:

RELEASE OF INFORMATION FROM VETERANS ADMINISTRATION RECORDS OTHER THAN CLAIMANT RECORDS

NOTE: Sections 1.550 through 1.558 concern the availability and release of information from files, records, reports, and other papers and documents in Veterans Administration custody other than those pertaining to claims under any of the laws administered by the Veterans Administration. As to the release of information from Veterans Administration claimant records, see §§ 1.500 through 1.527. Section 1.550 series implement the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552.

§ 1.550 General.

The Veterans Administration's policy is one of disclosure of information from agency records to the extent permitted by law. This includes the release of information which the Veterans Administration is authorized to withhold under 5 U.S.C. 552(b) (see § 1.554) if it is determined (a) by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs or the Deputy Administrator that disclosure of such information will serve a useful purpose or (b) by a department, staff office, or field station head or his designee under § 1.556(a) that disclosure will not adversely affect the proper conduct of official business or constitute an invasion of personal privacy.

§ 1.551 Publication in the Federal Register as constructive notice of information that affects the public.

(a) The Assistant Administrator for Management Engineering and Evaluation, with the approval of the Administrator, will submit to the Director of the Federal Register, for publication for the guidance of the public, descriptions of Veterans Administration organization and functional responsibilities, Central Office and field, and the designations of places at which the public may secure information, obtain forms and applications, make submittals or requests, or obtain decisions. Such descriptions and designations will be maintained current through submission, for publication, of all amendments, revisions, or repeals of the foregoing.

(b) Department and staff office heads will develop, with the approval of the Administrator, for submission by the Assistant Administrator for Management Engineering and Evaluation to the Director of the Federal Register, for publication for the guidance of the public, Veterans Administration regulations containing:

(1) Statements of the general course and method by which Veterans Administration functions are channeled and determined, including the nature and requirements of all formal and informal procedures available.

(2) Rules of procedure and instructions as to the scope and contents of all papers, reports, or examinations.

(3) Substantive rules of general applicability adopted by the Veterans Administration as authorized by law, and statements of general policy or interpretations of general applicability formulated and adopted by the Veterans Administration.

(4) Every amendment, revision, or repeal of the foregoing.

(c) Except to the extent that a person has actual and timely notice of the terms thereof, no person shall in any manner be required to resort to, or be adversely affected by any matter required by this section to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and not so published.

§ 1.552 Public access to information that affects the public when not published in the Federal Register as constructive notice.

(a) All final orders in such actions as entertained by the Board of Contract Appeals, those statements of policy and interpretations adopted by the Veterans Administration but not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and administrative manuals and staff instructions that affect any member of the public, unless promptly published and copies offered for sale, will be indexed. Both the index and the materials indexed as required by this paragraph will be made available to the public, for inspection and copying. Public reading facilities for this purpose will be maintained in Veterans Administration Central Office and Veterans Administration field stations, open to the public during the normal duty hours of the office in which located. Orders made in the adjudication of individual claims under laws administered by the Veterans Administration are confidential and privileged by statute (38 U.S.C. 3301) and so are exempt from this requirement.

(b) The voting records of the Board of Contract Appeals will be maintained in a public reading facility in the Office of the Board in Central Office and made available to the public upon request.

(c) When publishing or making available to the public any opinion, order, statement of policy, interpretation, staff manual or instruction to staff, identifying details will be deleted, and the deletion justified in writing, to the extent required to prevent a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(d) No final order, opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, staff manual or instruction which is issued, adopted, or promulgated after July 4, 1967, that affects any member of the public may be relied upon, used, or cited as precedent against any private party unless it has been indexed and either made available or published as provided in this section or unless that private party shall have actual and timely notice of the terms thereof.

§ 1.553 Public access to other identifiable records.

Identifiable records in Veterans Administration custody, or copies thereof, other than records made available to the public under the provisions of §§ 1.551 and 1.552, will be made promptly available, except as provided in § 1.554, to any person upon request. Such request must be in writing, over the signature of the requester and must contain a reasonably specific description of the record desired so that it may be located with relative ease. The request should be made to the office concerned (having jurisdiction of the record desired) or, if not known, to the Manager or Contact Officer in the nearest Veterans Administration Regional Office or to the Veterans Administration Central Office, 810 Vermont Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20420. Personal contacts should normally be made during the regular duty hours of the office concerned, which are 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday for Veterans Administration Central Office and most field stations.

§ 1.554 Exemptions from public access to agency records.

(a) The exemptions in subparagraphs (1) through (9) of this paragraph constitute authority to withhold from disclosure certain categories of information in Veterans Administration records.

(1) Specifically required by Executive order to be kept secret in the interest of the national defense or foreign policy.

(2) Related solely to internal Veterans Administration personnel rules and practices.

(3) Specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (see §§ 1.500 through 1.527).

(4) Trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from any person and privileged or confidential.

(5) Interagency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a private party in litigation with the Veterans Administration.

(6) Personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

(7) Investigatory files compiled for law enforcement purposes except to the extent available by law to a private party.

(8) Contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of any agency responsible for the regulation or supervision of financial institutions.

(9) Geological and geophysical information and data (including maps) concerning wells.

(b) Information in the categories exempted under paragraph (a) of this section, other than in subparagraph (3) which is applicable to Veterans Administration claimant records, will be released only as authorized in § 1.550. The release of information from Veterans Administration claimant records will be made only in accordance with §§ 1.501 through 1.526.

§ 1.555 Fees.

(a) Charges will not be made for the use of reading facilities for examination of materials which are to be available to the public under § 1.552. Charges will be made, except as provided in paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this section, in accordance with the schedule of fees in § 1.526, to recover the costs of duplicating, reproducing, certifying or authenticating copies of such materials in response to requests from the public. The desired copy will not be delivered, except under court subpoena, until the full amount of the lawful charge is deposited. Any excess deposited over the lawful charge will be returned.

(b) Charges will be made, except as provided in paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this section, on each request from the public to examine, copy, or to be furnished copies of other identifiable records under § 1.553. Such charges, in accordance with the schedule of fees in § 1.526, will be made to recover direct and indirect costs for searching requested records and, if requested, reproducing copies and certifying or authenticating them. Searches will not be undertaken until the requester has paid, or has provided sufficient assurance that he will pay, whatever fee is determined to be appropriate. Desired copies will not be delivered, except under court subpoena, until the full amount of the lawful charge is deposited. Any excess deposited over the lawful charge will be returned. When a deposit is received with a request, such a deposit will be returned if the request is denied.

(c) Where a contract with a reporting service requires that copies of transcripts be sold only by the service, the copy in Veterans Administration's possession may be made available for inspection. If a copy is requested, the requester will be referred to the reporting service.

(d) No charges will be made when services are rendered to or for other agencies or branches of the Federal Government, or State and local governments. When information, statistics, or reports are approved by the Administrator or the Deputy Administrator for release under § 1.550, the fee charge, if any, will be determined upon the merits of each individual application.

(e) Under the following circumstances services may be provided free at the discretion of station heads or responsible Central Office officials:

(1) When requested by press, radio, television, or other information representatives for dissemination to the general public.

(2) When furnishing the service free is in conformance with generally established business custom, such as furnishing personal reference data to prospective employers of former Government employees.

(3) To the extent of one copy, to those who require copies of records or information from the records in order to obtain financial or other benefits to which they may be entitled (e.g., employees with workmen's compensation claims).

(4) To an individual directly concerned in a hearing or other formal proceeding involving security requirements for Federal employment, one copy of any transcript made of such hearing or other proceeding.

§ 1.556 Requests for other identifiable records.

(a) Each department, staff office, and field station head will designate an employee(s) who will be responsible for initial action on (granting or denying) requests to inspect or obtain information from or copies of records under their jurisdiction and within the purview of § 1.552. Any legal question arising in a field station concerning the release of information will be referred to the appropriate Chief Attorney for disposition as contemplated by § 13.401 of this chapter. In Central Office such legal questions will be referred to the General Counsel. Any administrative question will be referred through administrative channels to the appropriate department or staff office head.

(b) Upon denial of a request, the responsible Veterans Administration official or designated employee will inform the requester in writing of the denial and advise him that he may appeal the denial. The requester will also be furnished the title and address of the Veterans Administration official to whom the appeal should be addressed. (See § 1.557.)

(c) The disposition of each request will be made a matter of record. For each denial of a request, the record will contain a citation to the specific provision of Veterans Administration regulations upon which the denial is based.

§ 1.557 Administrative review.

(a) Any person may, in the event of a denial of his request for information from identifiable agency records subject to release under § 1.552, appeal such denial. Such appeal, stating the circumstances of the denial, should be addressed, as appropriate, to the filed station, department, or staff office head.

(b) A denial action not reversed by field station, department, or staff office head on appeal, will be referred through normal channels to the Administrator.

(c) The final agency decision in such appeals will be made by the Administrator or Deputy Administrator.

§ 1.558 Judicial review.

Any person from whom the Veterans Administration has withheld information or records after proper request as provided in § 1.553 may file a complaint in the appropriate United States district court as provided in 5 U.S.C. 552(a)(3). The district court review is designed to follow final action at the agency head level.

Title 41—PUBLIC CONTRACTS AND PROPERTY MANAGEMENT

Chapter 1—Federal Procurement Regulations

PART 1-12—LABOR

Subpart 1-12.2—Convict Labor

APPLICABILITY OF CONVICT LABOR CLAUSE

This amendment of the Federal Procurement Regulations revises the provisions of Subpart 1-12.2, Convict Labor, for the purpose of clarifying the applicability of the Convict Labor clause to the employment of Federal prisoners. As revised, the subpart now provides that the clause does not prohibit the employment of Federal prisoners authorized by the Attorney General to work at paid employment during their term of confinement.

The introductory text of § 1-12.202 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1-12.202 Applicability.

The requirement set forth in § 1-12.301 applies, except as stated in this § 1-12.202, to all contracts involving the employment of labor within the United States. The requirement does not prohibit the employment of persons on parole or probation, Federal prisoners authorized by the Attorney General under 18 U.S.C. 4082(c)(2) to work at paid employment during the term of their imprisonment, or persons who have been pardoned or who have served their terms. Furthermore, the requirement does not apply to contracts:

Title 45—PUBLIC WELFARE

Subtitle A—Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, General Administration

PART 55—INTERCHANGE OF PERSONNEL WITH STATES

Sec.
55.1 Definitions.
55.2 Purpose and coverage.
55.3 Assignments of personnel.
55.4 Initiation of proposals.
55.5 Duration of assignment.
55.6 Nature and type of assignment.
55.7 Personnel provisions.
55.8 Modification of agreement.
55.9 Termination of agreement.
55.10 Reports and evaluation.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 55 issued under sec. 314, 58 Stat. 693, as amended by 80 Stat. 1190, 1189, 42 U.S.C. sec. 246(f)(3). Interpret or apply sec. 314(f), 58 Stat. 698, as amended by sec. 8, 80 Stat. 1161, 42 U.S.C. sec. 246(f).

§ 55.1 Definitions.

As used in this part:

(a) "Act" means the Public Health Service Act (amended by the Comprehensive Health Planning and Public Health Services Amendments of 1966; P.L. 89-749, 80 Stat. 1180).

(b) "Secretary" means (except when used in § 55.7(b)(6), (c)(2), and (d)(3)) the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, or his delegatee.

(c) "Department" means the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

(d) "State" includes, in addition to the several States of the Union, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, Guam, American Samoa, and the Virgin Islands.

(e) "State agency" means a State or a political subdivision of a State, or any agency of either (including State or local health or health planning agencies), engaged in any activities related to health or designated or established pursuant to section 314(a)(2)(A) of the Act.

(f) "Officers and employees" means officers of the Commissioned Corps of the Public Health Service and all civilian officers and employees of the Department in either the excepted or competitive service.

(g) "Commissioned Officer" means an officer, Regular Corps or Reserve Corps, serving on active duty, in the Commissioned Corps of the Public Health Service (i.e., officers appointed pursuant to section 205 of the Act (42 U.S.C. sec. 204)).

§ 55.2 Purpose and coverage.

(a) Authority for assignment. Under section 314(f) of the Act, the Secretary is authorized, through agreements or otherwise, to arrange for assignment of officers and employees of States to the Department and assignment of officers and employees of the Department engaged in work related to health to States, for work which the Secretary determines will aid the Department in more effectively discharging its responsibilities in the field of health as authorized by law, including cooperation with States and the provision of technical or other assistance. Such arrangements will be made by the Secretary in accordance with the provisions of section 314(f) of the Act, the regulations in this part, and any conditions and procedures which the Secretary finds necessary to carry out the purpose of the Act and the regulations in this part.

(b) Department's responsibilities in the field of health. "The Department's responsibilities in the field of health" are promotion of normal physical and mental development and well-being, and repair or containment of the effects of injuries and diseases, including rehabilitation of persons affected by disease or injury, development of basic scientific knowledge about the life processes and the nature of disease, augmentation of health resources and improvement of the utilization of these resources, control of environmental hazards and consumable products, and improvement of the quality and availability of health services. Activities in these areas may be focused on individuals, families, groups of people, communities, regions, or the population at large.

(c) Work related to health. "Work related to health" means any work which contributes to carrying out the Department's responsibilities in the field of health.

§ 55.3 Assignments of personnel.

Assignments of personnel between the Department and a State agency may include (a) assignments to the State agency of one or more officers or employees of the Department either considered to be on detail to a regular work assignment in the Department or on leave without pay from positions in the Department, (b) assignments to the Department of one or more officers or employees of the State agency either with or without appointment in the Department, or (c) interchanges of personnel involving any combination of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

§ 55.4 Initiation of proposals.

A proposal for an assignment of personnel between the Department and a State agency may be made by either the Secretary or the State agency.

(a) Department proposals. When the Secretary desires to effect with a State agency the assignment of personnel under section 314(f) of the Act, he will propose an arrangement for that purpose to the appropriate State agency. Upon acceptance of the proposal by the State agency, the Secretary and the State agency will enter into an agreement which meets the requirements of section 314(f) of the Act and the regulations in this part.

(b) State proposals. A State agency desiring the assignment of personnel under section 314(f) of the Act shall submit a proposal for an arrangement for that purpose in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary. Information on making such proposals may be obtained from the Department. The Secretary will notify the State agency in writing of his acceptance or rejection of the proposal. If he rejects the proposal submitted by the State agency, but modifications would make the proposal acceptable, he may suggest such modifications. If the proposal is accepted by the Department, the Secretary and the State agency will enter into an agreement which meets the requirements of section 314(f) of the Act and the regulations in this part.

§ 55.5 Duration of assignment.

Each agreement between the Department and a State agency for an assignment of personnel shall indicate the period of assignment of each officer or employee covered by the agreement. Such a period of assignment shall not exceed 2 years but may be extended or renewed for new 2-year periods.

§ 55.6 Nature and type of assignment.

Each agreement between the Department and a State agency for assignment of personnel shall indicate the type and describe the nature of the assignment of each officer or employee covered under the arrangement. Specifically, the agreement shall (a) indicate whether the officer or employee of the Department will be on detail to a regular work assignment in the Department or on leave without pay from his position in the Department, or whether the officer or employee of the State agency will be given an appointment in the Department or assigned to the Department without appointment; (b) describe the duties and responsibilities of the officer or employee while on his assignment; and (c) include the position title of the person responsible for the supervision of the officer or employee while on the assignment.

§ 55.7 Personnel provisions.

(a) Department personnel on detail to State agency. Each agreement for assignment to a State agency of an officer or employee of the Department on detail to a regular work assignment in the Department shall contain provisions with respect to compensation and allowances, travel and transportation expenses, and employee benefits which are consistent with his remaining an officer or employee of the Department. Such an agreement may provide that the compensation, travel and transportation expenses, and allowances (or any part thereof) of the officer or employee will be reimbursed by the State, including travel directed by a State.

(b) Department personnel on leave without pay. Each agreement for assignment to a State agency of an officer or employee of the Department on leave without pay from his position in the Department shall, in accordance with section 314(f) of the Act, contain provisions with respect to the following matters:

(1) Payment by the State of Compensation (including allowances) of the officer or employee during the period of assignment, which may include provisions for supplementary salary payments from the Department not in excess of the amount by which the Department rate of compensation (including allowances) exceeds the State rate of compensation (including allowances) and the agreement may also contain provisions for reimbursement by the State for such supplementary compensation;

(2) Payment by the Department of the expenses of travel of the officer or employee and transportation of his immediate family, household goods and personal effects to and from his initial place of assignment, which may include provisions for reimbursement by the State for such expenses;

(3) Payment by the State, under State law and implementing regulations and policies, of travel and transportation expenses incurred as a result of travel directed by the State;

(4) Entitlement to annual and sick leave to the extent authorized by Federal law if that officer or employee were not on leave without pay, but only in circumstances considered by the Secretary to justify approval of such leave;

(5) Coverage under Chapter 87 (life insurance), Chapter 89 (health insurance), and Chapter 83 (retirement) of Title 5 of the United States Code, including the collection and deposit into the respective Federal funds of all necessary contributions and the election of either benefits available under those provisions or similar benefits available through employment in the State agency;

(6) Coverage under Chapter 81 (compensation for work injuries) of Title 5 of the United States Code, except that the officer or employee so assigned (or his dependents in case of death) may elect either benefits available under that provision or similar benefits available through employment in the State agency for injury or death (such election shall be made within 1 year after the injury or death, or such further time as the Secretary of Labor may for good cause allow, and when made shall be irrevocable unless otherwise provided by law); and

(7) Crediting of the period of assignment toward eligibility for Periodic Step Increases under the provision of Chapter 53, Subchapter III of Title 5 of the United States Code and for retention and leave accural purposes under the provisions of Chapter 63, Subchapter I of Title 5, United States Code;

(8) The receipt of credit by a Commissioned Officer for his services while so detailed for pay, promotion, retirement, Social Security, and other purposes as an officer of the Uniformed Services of the United States;

(9) Entitlement of Commissioned Officers and/or their dependents and beneficiaries to medical care, commissary and post exchange privileges and other benefits as members of the Uniformed Services of the United States;

(10) The Federal program which will pay (with or without reimbursement by the State) monetary benefits to which the survivors of an officer or employee are entitled upon death (e.g., in the case of a Commissioned Officer, 6 months pay death gratuity, travel of dependents to a home of selection, shipment of household goods, transportation of remains to place of burial, transportation for escort to accompany remains, burial allowance, etc.).

(c) State personnel without appointment to Department. Each agreement for the assignment to the Department of an officer or employee of the State agency without appointment shall contain provisions with respect to compensation and allowances, travel and transportation expenses, and employee benefits which are consistent with his remaining an officer or employee of the State agency, except that, in accordance with section 314(f) of the Act, provisions shall be contained in the agreement with respect to the following matters:

(1) Payment by the Department of expenses of travel of the officer or employee (but not expenses of transportation of his immediate family, household goods, and personal effects) to and from the place of assignment or during the period of assignment;

(2) Coverage under the compensation for work injuries provision of Chapter 81 of Title 5, United States Code, except that the officer or employee so assigned (or his dependents in case of death) may elect either the benefits under that provision or benefits available through employment in the State agency for injury or death (such election shall be made within one year after the injury or death, or such further time as the Secretary of Labor may for good cause allow, and when made shall be irrevocable unless otherwise provided by law).

(d) State personnel with appointment to Department. Each agreement for appointment to the Department of an officer or employee of the State agency for the period of assignment shall, in accordance with section 314(f) of the Act, contain provisions with respect to the following matters:

(1) Payment by the Department of compensation in accordance with position classification provisions of Chapter 51 of Title 5, United States Code, and allowances as authorized by Federal law;

(2) Payment by the Department of expenses of travel of the officer or employee (but not expenses of transportation of his immediate family, household goods, and personal effects) to and from the place of assignment and during the period of assignment;

(3) Coverage under the compensation for work injuries provision of Chapter 81 of Title 5, United States Code, except that the officer or employee so appointed (or his dependents in case of death) may elect either the benefits under that provision or benefits available through employment in the State agency for injury or death (such election shall be made within one year after the injury or death, or such further time as the Secretary of Labor may for good cause allow, and when made shall be irrevocable unless otherwise provided by law);

(4) Exclusion of the officer or employee from coverage under the retirement provision of Chapter 83 of Title 5, United States Code, and the life insurance provision of Chapter 87 of Title 5, United States Code;

(5) Coverage under the health insurance provision of Chapter 89 of Title 5, United States Code, but only if appointment to the Department results in the loss of coverage in a group health benefits plan whose premium has been paid in whole or in part by a contribution of the State agency.

(e) General provisions. (1) Notwithstanding any other provision in this section, sections 203, 205, 207, 208 and 209 of Title 18 of the United States Code, relating to conflicts of interest, shall apply to all officers or employees on assignment pursuant to section 314(f) of the Act;

(2) Each agreement for the assignment of an officer or employee shall provide that the policies of both the Department and the State agency governing the standards of conduct of their personnel shall apply to the officer or employee assigned under the agreement; and, if any such policies conflict, the agreement shall include mutually acceptable provisions indicating which policies in the areas of conflict will prevail;

(3) Each such agreement for the assignment of an officer or employee shall provide that the rules and policies of the Department or State agency receiving the officer or employee on assignment with respect to the internal operation and management of the receiving agency (for example, hours of duty, building rules, and operating procedures) shall govern the employment and conduct of such employee or officer except as otherwise provided in the agreement through mutual consent;

(4) Each agreement for the assignment of an officer or employee may contain any other provisions not in violation of the Act or the regulations in this part which the Department or State agency finds necessary to carry out the assignment provided for therein and which are mutually acceptable.

§ 55.8 Modification of agreement.

Each agreement for an assignment of personnel between the Department and a State agency may be shortened, extended, or otherwise modified upon the mutual agreement of both parties. Such modifications shall be in accordance with section 314(f) of the Act and the regulations in this part.

§ 55.9 Termination of agreement.

Each agreement for an assignment of personnel between the Department and a State agency may be terminated by mutual consent or upon 60 days' notice in writing by either party of its intention to terminate the agreement.

§ 55.10 Reports and evaluation.

The parties to each agreement shall adopt such procedures and make such reports as the Secretary may find necessary for the evaluation of the progress of assignments under the agreement in light of the purpose stated in section 314(f)(2) of the Act and § 55.2. Such procedures and reports shall include, but not be limited to, (a) periodic consultations between the Department and the State agency, (b) exchange of reports, and (c) maintenance of records supporting such reports and mutual access thereto.

Effective date. This part shall become effective immediately.

Dated: July 12, 1967.

Title 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

[RM-1134; FCC 67-858]

PART 15—RADIO FREQUENCY DEVICES

Radiation Interference Limits

Order. 1. Section 15.63(c) of Part 15 of the Commission's rules provides, that for television receivers, the level of radio frequency radiation in the band 470–1000 Mc/s is increased from 500 uV/m to 1000 uV/m at 100 feet on a temporary basis until April 30, 1967. The Electronic Industries Association (EIA) has submitted a petition, RM–1134, requesting that this temporary increase be extended for a further period of 2 years until April 30, 1969.[1] Radiation in the band of frequencies 470–1000 Mc/s concerned here is that radiation which is liable to cause harmful interference to radio operations. This petition in no way relates to X-ray radiation or to the levels of radiation of X-rays.

2. EIA urges that before TV receiver manufacturers can reliably assure compliance with the desired specifications of 500 uV/m at 100 feet, a high degree of correlation between measurements must be obtained. In a "round robin" series of measurements on a group of television receivers, the correlation found between measurement sites is regarded by EIA as inadequate. EIA anticipates that adequate correlation may be achieved by use of a new antenna recently developed at the FCC Laboratory.

3. Although the Commission feels there is a need to reduce receiver radiation as part of the over all program to improve the efficiency of spectrum utilization, it recognizes merit in the EIA argument, and is amending Part 15 pursuant to EIA's request.

4. Since the amendment adopted herein relieves an existing restriction, it is found that compliance with the provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act as to notice, public procedure, and effective date is not necessary.

5. It is ordered, That, pursuant to authority contained in sections 4(i), 301, 303(f), and 303(r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the EIA petition, RM–1134, is granted and effective, July 28, 1967, § 15.63 of Part 15 is amended as follows:

§ 15.63 Radiation interference limits.

* * * * *

[1] To permit the orderly consideration of the petition, on May 1, 1967, the temporary limit was extended to July 31, 1967.

(c) For television broadcast receivers the limit 500 uV/m is temporarily increased to 1000 uV/m until April 30, 1969.

PART 64—MISCELLANEOUS RULES RELATING TO COMMON CARRIERS

Volume of Domestic Telegraph Messages

Order. In the matter of the amendment of § 64.221(a) of Subpart B of Part 64 of the Commission's rules and regulations governing domestic telegraph speed of service studies.

The Commission having under consideration a letter dated May 25, 1967, from The Western Union Telegraph Co. submitting the biennial traffic load study required by § 64.221(c) of the Commission's rules and regulations, which was adopted for the purpose of determining such revision by the Commission, as may be warranted, in the list of 75 cities at which speed of telegraph service studies are required to be made by Part 64 of the Commission's rules;

It appearing, that the cities presently specified in § 64.221(a) of the Commission's rules and regulations were last revised, effective January 1, 1966, and were selected on the basis of the 75 cities in the Western Union system handling the largest volume of terminating messages;

It further appearing, that according to traffic data submitted by Western Union, on the basis of the average weekly received trunk load for the year ending April 29, 1967, Bridgeport, Conn.; Jackson, Miss.; Raleigh, N.C.; and Wilmington, Del., non-FCC reporting cities, currently handle a larger volume of terminating messages than Mobile, Ala.; Palo Alto, Calif.; Shreveport, La.; and Tucson, Ariz., FCC reporting cities;

It further appearing, that revision of the list of cities on the basis of the traffic data submitted by the telegraph company would reflect the 75 cities handling the largest volume of terminating traffic;

It further appearing that Western Union is the only person subject to the amended rule adopted herein; that Western Union has agreed to such amended rule and the effective date thereof; and hence, that compliance with the public notice, procedural and effective date requirements of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is unnecessary:

It is ordered, That pursuant to sections 4(i), 201(b) and 218 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, § 64.221(a) of Subpart B of Part 64 is amended, effective September 1, 1967, in the following respects:

Section 64.221(a) is amended by deleting Mobile, Ala.; Palo Alto, Calif.; Shreveport, La.; and Tucson, Ariz.; from the list of cities specified therein and inserting in said list in alphabetical order Bridgeport, Conn.; Jackson, Miss.; Raleigh, N.C.; and Wilmington, Del.

PART 293—INVENTORIES OF VESSELS COVERED BY OPERATING-DIFFERENTIAL SUBSIDY AGREEMENTS

Miscellaneous Amendments

Effective upon date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, §§ 293.8 and 293.9 of this part are revised as follows:

1. Amend § 293.8 by deleting the existing heading and text and substituting therefor a new heading and text reading as follows:

§ 293.8 Waiver of inventory requirements.

The requirements for the taking of inventories as provided in § 293.3 may be waived by the Maritime Administrator whenever in his judgment it shall be determined that the rights of the United States will not be adversely affected thereby and that the taking of such inventories will serve no useful purpose.

2. Amend § 293.9 by changing the heading and text thereof to read as follows:

§ 293.9 Conflict of orders, effective date.

(a) To the extent that provisions of this part are in conflict with provisions of any regulations or instructions now in effect, the provisions of this part shall prevail.

(b) The provisions of this part are effective as of the date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER and are applicable to all inventories in process as of such date of publication.

(32) Turdidae (robins, thrushes, bluebirds, solitaires, and wheatears);
(33) Tyrannidae (tyrant flycatchers, king birds, pewees, and phoebes); and
(34) Vireonidae (vireos).

PART 13—IMPORTATION OF WILDLIFE OR EGGS THEREOF

§ 13.1 [Amended]

3. Section 13.1(d)(2) of this subchapter is amended to read: "(2) belong to one of the families of birds listed under § 1.11 of Subchapter A of this chapter;".

PART 14—IMPORTATION OF FEATHERS OF WILD BIRDS

PART 15—TRANSPORTATION OF GAME MAMMALS TO AND FROM MEXICO

PART 16—MIGRATORY BIRD PERMITS

4. Parts 13, 14, 15, and 16 of Chapter I of this title are amended by striking the words "Collector of Customs" wherever they appear and inserting in lieu thereof the words "District Director of Customs."

5. Subchapter B, § 16.1(a) is amended to read:

§ 16.1 Meaning of terms.

* * * * *

(a) "Migratory birds" refers to all those species of birds defined as migratory birds under § 1.11 of Subchapter A of this chapter, and includes all birds of these species which, whether raised in captivity or not, cannot be readily and visibly distinguished by general size or coloration from birds of the same species occurring in a wild state.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the Migratory Bird Conservation Act of February 18, 1929, as amended (45 Stat. 1222; 16 U.S.C. 715), and the Endangered Species Preservation Act of October 15, 1966 (80 Stat. 926, 16 U.S.C. 668aa), it is proposed to amend 50 CFR 32.11, 32.21, and 33.4 by the addition of San Luis National Wildlife Refuge, Calif., to the list of areas open to the hunting of migratory game birds and upland game, and to the list of areas open to sport fishing.

It has been determined that sport fishing and the regulated hunting of upland game and migratory game birds may be permitted as designated on San Luis National Wildlife Refuge, Calif., without detriment to the objectives for which the area was established.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections, with respect to this proposed amendment, to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

[Docket Nos. AO 347-A6, AO 286-A13]

MILK IN TAMPA BAY AND SOUTHEASTERN FLORIDA MARKETING AREAS

Decision on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreements and to Orders

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held at Tampa and Miami, Fla., on April 28 and May 1, 1967, pursuant to notices thereof issued on March 15, 1967 (32 F.R. 4313), and on March 28, 1967 (32 F.R. 5472).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June 22, 1967 (32 F.R. 9097; F.R. Doc. 67-7197), filed with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision containing notice of the opportunity to file written exceptions thereto.

The material issues, findings and conclusions, rulings, and general findings of the recommended decision (32 F.R. 9097; F.R. Doc. 67-7197) are hereby approved and adopted and are set forth in full herein subject to the following modifications:

In the discussion on the Class I price:

1. The second paragraph is deleted and two new paragraphs are substituted therefor;

2. The 17th and 18th paragraphs are deleted and three new paragraphs are substituted therefor;

3. The last sentence in the 23d paragraph is changed; and

4. The 26th paragraph is deleted and four new paragraphs are substituted therefor.

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. The Class I price;

2. Shrinkage allowance for producer milk;

3. Classification of milk moved to nonpool plants; and

4. Need for emergency action on Issue 3.

This decision deals with Issues 1 and 2. Issues 3 and 4 were dealt with in a separate decision issued May 18, 1967 (32 F.R. 7596) and resulted in amendments to the Southeastern Florida order effective June 1, 1967 (32 F.R. 7742).

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

1. The Class I price. The Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay Class I prices through June 1968 should be computed by adding $3.20 and $3, respectively, to a basic formula price (Minnesota-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price series). Such prices should be subject to a common supply-demand adjustor based on the relationship of producer milk supplies and Class I sales under the Southeastern Florida, Tampa Bay and Upper Florida orders.

At the time of the hearing, the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay Class I price provisions were due to expire June 30, 1967. This was the end of the 18-month period for which the Tampa Bay Class I price was initially provided when the order was promulgated. This expiration date was set also for the Southeastern Florida order when its Class I price provisions were amended in December 1966. It was therefore necessary that Class I prices to be effective after June 1967 be established for the two markets.

The recommended decision proposed pricing provisions for the two orders for the period of July 1967 through June 1968. The time remaining after the issuance of the recommended decision precluded the completion of the amendatory procedures by July 1, however, and the June 30, 1967, expiration date was suspended June 27, 1967 (32 F.R. 9300), to provide interim pricing for July 1967. Therefore, the period of pricing under consideration in this decision is limited to the months of August 1967 through June 1968.

Producers supplying about 75 percent of the milk in each market proposed that Class I price provisions be established for a 1-year period ending June 30, 1968. This date coincides with the end of the 18-month pricing period initially provided under the Upper Florida order. Before that date, as proposed by producers, a single hearing would be held to consider the Class I prices for all three Florida orders to be effective July 1, 1968.

Producers proposed Class I differentials of $3 and $3.20 for the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida orders, respectively, to be added to a basic formula price (Minnesota-Wisconsin price series). For computing Class I prices through April 1968, however, they proposed that the basic formula price be not less than $4.05.

Producers proposed also that the Class I price under the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay orders be subject to a supply-demand adjustment based on the relationship of the production and Class I sales for these markets and the Upper Florida order market for the most recent 3-month period. Although the same supply-demand formula would be used, a separate adjustment would be computed for each of the two markets by giving a weight of two to the production and sales figures for the market for which the price adjustment is being computed, and a weight of one to the figures for the other markets. The norm for computing the supply-demand adjustment would be a percentage based on the production and sales relationship under the Southeastern Florida order only for the years 1963 through 1966. A monthly adjustment would be made on the basis of any difference between the norm and the ratio of production to sales in the most recent 3-month period. As proposed by producers, the supply-demand adjustment would be made in units of 10 cents and would be limited to a maximum of plus or minus 30 cents.

Producers further proposed that a contraseasonal price provision be used in each order. The Class I price for April, May, and June would not be higher than the average Class I price for the preceding January, February, and March. Similarly, Class I prices for August through November would not be lower than the average Class I price for the preceding May, June, and July.

Handlers objected primarily to the method proposed by producers for computing the supply-demand adjustment. They argued that production-sales data for only the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida markets, without the double weighting of individual market data, should be used; and that any supply-demand adjustor adopted should employ production-sales data for a recent 12-month period rather than a 3-month period.

The Tampa Bay order now provides that $3 be added to a basic formula price (Minnesota-Wisconsin price series) to determine the Class I price. However, such price may not be higher than the Southeastern Florida Class I price for the same month. Some changes in the Class I price formula have been made since the inception of the order by the emergency actions of the Department on a national basis. Included in these changes was the establishment of minimum basic formula prices to be used in computing the Class I prices for July 1966 through July 1967. For the most recent 12 months for which data are available, July 1966–June 1967, the Tampa Bay Class I price averaged $7.17.[1]

The Southeastern Florida Class I price for July 1966–June 1967 averaged $7.30. For July through November 1966, the Southeastern Florida Class I price was determined by adding $3.20 to a basic formula price (Minnesota-Wisconsin price series). For these 5 months, a minimum basic formula price was effective as a result of the previously mentioned emergency actions of the Department. For December 1966 through June 1967, the Class I price was fixed at $7.25.

Southeastern Florida order producer receipts in 1966 (44.6 million pounds monthly) approximated those in 1965 (44.2 million pounds). Production in 1967, however, has been higher than a year ago. Average monthly producer deliveries of 49.2 million pounds in January–May 1967 were 5.9 percent more than the 46.5-million pound average in the same months in 1966.

Average monthly Class I sales of producer milk by Southeastern Florida handlers were 1.4 percent higher in 1966 (39.3 million pounds) than in 1965 (38.8 million pounds. In January–May 1967, average monthly Class I sales increased 3.5 percent over a year ago, from 41.2 million pounds to 42.7 million pounds. The Class I utilization of producer milk was 87 percent in January–May 1967 and 89 percent a year earlier.

Monthly producer receipts in the Tampa Bay market averaged 38.3 million pounds in January–May 1967 and 32.3 million pounds a year ago, an increase of 18.3 percent. These are the only months for which a comparison can be made for the newer order. Average monthly Class I sales of producer milk by Tampa Bay handlers in January–May 1967 declined 2.7 percent, from 27.9 to 27.0 million pounds, compared with last year. Of the total producer milk in January–May 1967, 71 percent was Class I, compared with 86 percent for the same months in 1966.

On the basis of the foregoing data, it it apparent that the current Class I prices for the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay orders have encouraged an adequate supply of milk for both markets. The relatively large increase in producer deliveries relative to Class I requirements in the Tampa Bay market in recent months (and the lesser increase in the Southeastern Florida market) raises the question of whether excessive supplies are being encouraged. It cannot be concluded at this time, however, that the current supply-demand relationship is indicative of what may be expected in the next 12 months.

Producers contended that the increased production in recent months relative to the needs of the market does not represent a trend. Instead, they stated it is a situation that will be corrected by the producers themselves as the lower Class I utilization continues to be reflected in the blend price returned to producers. As a further incentive, however, producers urged the adoption of the supply-demand adjustor proposed by them as a means of discouraging unneeded production.

Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida Class I prices through June 1968 determined by adding differentials of $3 and $3.20, respectively, to the basic formula price were supported by both producers and handlers. The differentials, which have recently been applicable in the two markets, should, in conjunction with the supply-demand provisions herein proposed, tend to encourage an adequate but not excessive supply of milk for the two markets.

Although the Upper Florida Class I price is not under consideration in this hearing, recognition must be given to the prices that will prevail under that order through June 1968 in establishing Class I prices for the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida orders. The Class I price under the Upper Florida order is the Minnesota-Wisconsin price plus $2.80 in the northern part of the market (Jacksonville and Tallahassee areas) and $2.90 in the southern part (Orlando area). Inclusion in the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay orders of the proposed Class I differentials and a basic formula price based on the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series will maintain an appropriate relationship of prices between the Southeastern Florida, Tampa Bay, and Upper Florida markets.

The minimum basic formula price of $4.05 proposed at the hearing by producers for computing Class I prices through April 1968 should not be adopted. The floor price extending into 1968 was incorporated May 1, 1967, in all Federal orders outside Florida that use the Minnesota-Wisconsin price in computing the Class I price. Producers contended that it likewise should be used in the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay orders. Handlers objected to the use of the floor price.

Producers did not show any need for utilizing a minimum basic formula price through April 1968. The Upper Florida order market is closely associated with the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay markets in both supply and sales. The proposed minimum basic formula price of $4.05 proposed to be applicable through April 1968 is not provided for in the Upper Florida order. To incorporate it in the other two Florida orders at this time could create a misalignment of Class I prices in the Florida order markets. In addition, it could result in diminishing the affect of the supply-demand provisions that are found by this decision to be appropriate for the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida orders.

The recommended decision proposed that in view of similar pricing under the Upper Florida order, the $4.05 floor price be used in the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay orders for computing the Class I price for July 1967 only. Because the pricing provisions proposed by this decision will not be applicable in July 1967, the amendatory language contained in the recommended decision regarding the basic formula price provisions is not included in the attached orders. Amendments that would remove obsolete language in those provisions are included, however.

As indicated, the Class I price under each order should be subject to a supply-demand adjustment. On the basis of the present marketing conditions, it is anticipated that the proposed fixed differential over a basic formula price will encourage an adequate supply of milk for fluid use in each market. However, changes may occur in the supply-sales relationship which warrant a change in the Class I price level. When milk supplies are more than adequate in relation to Class I sales, the Class I price should be lowered. Conversely, when supplies are less than adequate, the Class I price should be increased. A supply-demand adjustor will make price adjustments promptly and automatically without the need for a public hearing each time a price adjustment is warranted.

Such price adjustments are consistent with the criteria of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act which requires that the prices established under the Act be reasonable in view of market supply and demand conditions, assure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest. The supply-demand adjustor set forth in the attached order is designed to carry out the price objectives of the Act through encouragement of supplies at the levels needed for fluid requirements.

The supply-demand adjustor proposed herein:

(1) Bases the "normal" relationship of supplies to Class I sales on the production-sales data for the Southeastern Florida market for 1965 and 1966;

(2) Bases price adjustments on the change in the "current" supply-demand relationship from the "normal" relationship. The current relationship would be determined using producer receipts and Class I sales in the most recent 3-month period for the Southeastern Florida, Tampa Bay, and Upper Florida markets combined;

(3) Limits any monthly changes in the price adjustment to 10 cents and the maximum adjustment to plus or minus 30 cents; and

(4) Applies the same adjustment to the Southeastern Florida and the Tampa Bay Class I prices.

The "normal" supply-demand relationship against which current changes in the three markets are to be measured is based essentially on the 1965–66 producer receipts and Class I sales of producer milk of regulated handlers in the Southeastern Florida market. These data (and similar data for November and December 1964) were used to compute 3-month average ratios of producer receipts to Class I sales. From these ratios, minimum, and maximum "standard utilization percentages" were determined. These percentages are set forth in the following table:

Month for which price is being computed	Standard utilization percentage
	Minimum	Maximum
January	110	114
February	110	114
March	109	113
April	108	113
May	109	113
June	109	113
July	113	117
August	116	120
September	120	124
October	119	123
November	114	118
December	111	115

While the Tampa Bay order has been in effect since January 1966, production-sales data that may be considered representative of a normal supply-demand relationship in that market are not available for use in constructing standard utilization percentages. The Upper Florida order did not become effective until a year later and sufficient production-sales data thus are not available. The similarity of production and sales factors in all three markets, however, makes the use of Southeastern Florida data alone, as proposed by producers, appropriate for the pricing period under consideration.

The use of the most recent 2-years' data in determining the normal supply-demand relationship will provide an appropriate standard against which supply-demand changes in the three markets may be measured. The annual relationship of production to Class I sales of producer milk was virtually the same for these 2 years. For 1965 and 1966, producer receipts in the Southeastern Florida market averaged 114.7 percent and 114.2 percent, respectively, of the producer milk classified in Class I. Also, the seasonal patterns of supplies relative to sales were similar in both years. The average of the minimum-maximum standard percentages derived from the 1965–66 data is 112.6–116.8, with a midpoint of 114.6. This represents approximately the same supply-demand relationship proposed by producers and by handlers, and is indicative of an adequate but not excessive supply of milk for the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay markets relative to their Class I needs.

The proposed adjustor provides that a "current utilization percentage" be determined by dividing the total hundredweight of producer milk under the Southeastern Florida, Tampa Bay, and Upper Florida orders for the 3-month period ending with the second month preceding the pricing month by the total hundredweight of producer milk classified in Class I under the three orders in this period. The deviation of the current utilization percentage from the minimum or maximum standard utilization percentages is the basis for any price adjustments. The adjustment would be 3 cents for each percent of deviation, but could not vary from that for the previous month by more than 10 cents. The maximum adjustment of the Class I price due to the supply-demand adjustor would be limited through June 1968 to plus or minus 30 cents.

The supply-demand adjustment should be based on the quantity of producer milk classified in Class I instead of on handlers' "gross Class I utilization" as proposed by producers. The proposed gross Class I utilization includes the aggregate Class I classification of regulated handlers irrespective of the source of milk thus classified. It includes, for example, as a Class I disposition by a Southeastern Florida handler the transfer of Class I milk to a Tampa Bay or Upper Florida order plant. The same milk would likewise be classified as a Class I disposition from the plant of the Tampa Bay or Upper Florida plant.

Since the receipts and utilization of handlers under all three Florida order markets would be used in computing the supply-demand adjustment, there would be a duplication of Class I classification because of interorder transfers. Using the gross Class I utilization as proposed would thus overstate the total Class I utilization. Neither the record of hearing nor the official releases of the market administrator contain information relative to such interorder transfers.

There is no indication that price adjustments resulting from the supply-demand adjustor proposed herein would differ from price adjustments based on gross Class I utilization proposed by producers. For each of the months of January through May 1967, there was virtually no difference under any Florida order in the ratios of producer deliveries to producer milk in Class I and producer deliveries to regulated handlers' gross Class I utilization. With the rapidly increasing production in Florida relative to Class I needs, it can reasonably be expected that the requirements of milk from nonproducer sources will be of no significance in the immediate future. In the Southeastern Florida market, for example, no milk was received from nonpool sources at pool plants in February 1967. The 2.3 million pounds of such receipts at pool plants in February 1966 was 37 percent of the total receipts of such milk for the year. A similar situation existed in the Tampa Bay market.

As previously stated, Class I prices established under the Act must be such as to encourage a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk for the market. Producers regularly supplying the market are the most dependable source for such milk. The Class I price thus should be set at the level that tends to encourage the necessary production response by these producers relative to the market's need for fluid milk. It necessarily follows that changes in the Class I price level resulting from a supply-demand adjustor should be in response to a change in the demand for milk from the producers regularly supplying the market.

Utilizing the ratio of producer deliveries to producer milk in Class I in a supply-demand adjustor will best assure that changes in the demand for producer milk will result in changes in the Class I price. If, for example, handlers used other source milk for Class I purposes and then chose to rely instead on producer milk, the demand for producer milk for fluid use would increase. A supply-demand adjustor using data reflecting producer milk in Class I would translate this increased demand for producer milk into a higher Class I price. An adjustor utilizing the ratio of producer deliveries to gross Class I sales would not, however, cause a price increase in this situation since the relationship of gross Class I sales and producer deliveries would not have changed. Conversely, the replacement of producer milk with other source milk for fluid use would mean a lesser demand for producer milk. A supply-demand adjustor utilizing the ratio of producer deliveries to producer milk in Class I would translate this lesser demand for producer milk into a lower Class I price.

The use of production-sales data for all three markets in computing the current utilization percentage recognizes the close relationship of these markets. There is a significant overlap of the procurement areas for all three markets. Milk supplies may be shifted easily between these markets, either by handlers or by cooperative associations. Four of the major handlers in the State have distributing plants regulated under all three orders. The distribution of Class I milk likewise can be easily shifted from one market to another.

In computing the current utilization percentage, equal weight should be given to the supply-sales data for each of the three markets and, for the period through June 1968, the same supply-demand adjustment should apply to the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida Class I prices. As proposed by producers, double weight would be given to the data for an individual market in calculating price adjustments for that market. Thus, a market having a substantially greater change in the supply-demand relationship relative to the other market could have a greater price adjustment than the other market.

The idea embodied in a supply-demand adjustor that reflects changes in supplies relative to sales both in the local market and in a larger area of which the local market is a part has particular merit where there is a substantial overlap between sales or production areas of several markets in a region and where supplies and sales can be shifted easily among the several markets. Through the use of the "double" adjustor, each market's Class I price would be adjusted in response to changes in the over-all availability of milk supplies in the region relative to the total demand. This would recognize the interrelationship of the several markets in the region. At the same time, each market's Class I price would be adjusted by changes in the supply-sales relationship in the local market to encourage the desired supply-demand balance for the individual market. While the "double" adjustor is not incorporated in the Class I price provisions for the limited period proposed herein (through June 1968), favorable consideration may appropriately be given to such a supply-demand formula when more data for all three Florida markets are available and supply-demand formulas for the three markets are under consideration.

The current supply-demand relationship should be based on the production and sales data for a 3-month period rather than for a 12-month period as advocated by handlers. By using data for the most recent 3-month period, the supply-demand adjustor will be sufficiently responsive to current supply-demand conditions in the markets to indicate promptly the desired changes in production relative to Class I sales. Three months will be an adequate length of time, on the other hand, to minimize price adjustments that might be caused by temporary or erratic changes in supplies relative to sales.

The most current 3-month period should comprise the three months ending with the second month preceding the month for which the Class I price is being computed. The 1-month lag is necessary to allow the supply-demand adjustment to be calculated in time for the Class I price to be announced by the 5th day of the month as the orders now require.

Handlers were particularly concerned that a supply-demand adjustor might cause undue fluctuations in the Class I prices. On the other hand, the adjustor must be constructed so that changes in the supply-sales relationship will be adequately reflected in the Class I price to induce the desired production response. This is especially relevant in view of the relatively large quantity of producer milk in the three Florida markets (126.4 million pounds in May 1967).[3]

[3] Official notice is taken of "Market Statistics" for Upper Florida issued in the months of February through June 1967.

The 5-point range in the monthly minimum-maximum standard utilization percentages incorporated in the proposed adjustor will allow minor changes in the supply-demand relationship without a corresponding change in price. Also, the 10-cent limit on any monthly change in the the price adjustment will remove the possibility of violent changes in the Class I price as a result of the supply-demand adjustor.

Price adjustments of 3 cents for each percent of deviation of the current supply-demand relationship from the normal relationship will achieve the price response desired by producers, who proposed a 10-cent adjustment for each bracket of 2 percent deviation. This arrangement will result in the supply-demand adjustor reflecting more closely the changes in the production-sales relationship than would the producers' proposal. Also, less drastic price changes would result.

A maximum price adjustment of plus or minus 30 cents is necessary to maintain within a reasonable limit the difference between the Southeastern Florida and Tampa Bay Class I prices and the Upper Florida Class I price through June 1968.

Because the Upper Florida order has been fully effective only since January 1967, price adjustments resulting from the proposed supply-demand adjustor can be determined from available data only for May, June, and July 1967. Disregarding the applicable limits proposed herein, the price adjustments that would have been computed for the individual months are −21 cents, −23 cents, and −30 cents, respectively. Under the proposed limits, however, the supply-demand adjustment is limited to 10 cents in the first month the pricing provisions become effective. The maximum 30-cent limit cannot be reached until the third month in which the amended order is effective.

The contraseasonal price provisions proposed by producers should not be adopted in conjunction with the supply-demand formula herein proposed. Such provisions could nullify the effect of the supply-demand adjustor in these markets. If supplies relative to sales are such as to warrant a price adjustment, this should be reflected promptly in the Class I price. Contraseasonal pricing could preclude this from happening.

The Class I price provisions of the Upper Florida order will expire June 30, 1968. It will be necessary, therefore, to establish a Class I price to be effective after that date. To assure proper alignment of prices between all three Florida orders, it is desirable that the Class I price provisions of each order be reviewed at the same time. Thus, the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida prices proposed herein should be effective only through June 1968.

2. Shrinkage allowance for producer milk. The maximum allowable shrinkage in Class III of producer milk received at a pool plant should be continued at 2 percent of such receipts under both orders. The shrinkage provisions should be modified, however, so that the same classification treatment will be accorded milk received from producer members of a cooperative as is accorded milk received at a pool plant from nonmember producers.

The orders now provide a maximum allowable shrinkage in Class III of 2 percent of producer deliveries on milk received at a pool plant from producer members of a cooperative for which the cooperative is the handler. This 2 percent is allowed, however, only if the pool plant operator is purchasing the milk on the basis of farm weights. Otherwise, the maximum allowable Class III shrinkage to the pool plant operator is 1.5 percent.

With respect to milk received at a pool plant from a producer who is not a member of a cooperative association, a maximum shrinkage allowance in Class III of 2 percent of the producer milk is allowed. No differentiation is made on the basis of whether or not such milk is paid for on the basis of farm weights.

The change herein proposed, and which was requested by producers, would provide for the same treatment with respect to shrinkage allowances on producer deliveries to a pool plant whether such deliveries were from the farm of a cooperative member or a nonmember producer.

Rulings on proposed findings and conclusions. Briefs and proposed findings and conclusions were filed on behalf of certain interested parties. These briefs, proposed findings and conclusions and the evidence in the record were considered in making the findings and conclusions set forth above. To the extent that the suggested findings and conclusions filed by interested parties are inconsistent with the findings and conclusions set forth herein, the requests to make such findings or reach such conclusions are denied for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

General findings. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid orders and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) The tentative marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(c) The tentative marketing agreements and the orders, as hereby proposed to be amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and will be applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in, the marketing agreements upon which a hearing has been held.

Rulings on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision, each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions, and the regulatory provisions of this decision are at variance with any of the exceptions, such exceptions are hereby overruled for the reasons previously stated in this decision.

Marketing agreements and orders. Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are four documents entitled respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tampa Bay Marketing Area," "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tampa Bay Marketing Area," "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Southeastern Florida Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Southeastern Florida Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreements, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreements are identical with those contained in the orders as hereby proposed to be amended by the attached orders which will be published with this decision.

Determination of representative period. The month of May 1967 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the attached orders, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Tampa Bay and Southeastern Florida marketing areas, are approved or favored by producers, as defined under the terms of the orders, as amended and as hereby proposed to be amended, and who, during such representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale within the aforesaid marketing areas.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 19, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Tampa Bay Marketing Area

§ 1012.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Tampa Bay marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Tampa Bay marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders have been met.

22, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 27, 1967 (32 F.R. 9097; F.R. Doc. 67-7197), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order and are set forth in full herein except that § 1012.50 is changed:

PART 1012—MILK IN THE TAMPA BAY MARKETING AREA

1. In § 1012.41(c), subparagraph (5) is revised to read as follows:

§ 1012.41 Classes of utilization.

* * * * *

(c) * * *

(5) Skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in shrinkage at each pool plant (except in milk diverted to a nonpool plant pursuant to § 1012.16) but not in excess of:

(i) Two percent of producer milk (including that received from a handler pursuant to § 1012.13(d)) if the handler receiving such milk files notice with the market administrator that he is purchasing it on the basis of farm weights. Otherwise, the applicable percentage pursuant to this subdivision shall be 1.5 percent;

(ii) Plus 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products received from other pool plants;

(iii) Plus 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products received from other order plants exclusive of the quantity for which Class II or Class III utilization was requested by the operators of both plants;

(iv) Plus 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products received from unregulated supply plants exclusive of the quantity for which Class II or Class III utilization was requested by the handler; and

(v) Less 1.5 percent of bulk fluid milk products transferred to other plants; and

(a) Class I price. From the effective date of this order through June 1968, the Class I price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month plus $3, and plus or minus a supply-demand adjustment of not more than 30 cents, computed as follows:

(1) Determine the total hundredweight of producer milk pursuant to this part and Parts 1013 (Southeastern Florida) and 1006 (Upper Florida) of this chapter for the 3-month period ending with the second preceding month;

(2) Determine the total hundredweight of producer milk classified as Class I pursuant to this part and Parts 1013 and 1006 of this chapter for the 3-month period ending with the second preceding month;

(3) Determine the "current utilization percentage" by calculating the percentage, rounded to the nearest full percent, that the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is of the amount obtained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; and

(4) Add or subtract 3 cents for each percent that the current utilization percentage is, respectively, below the minimum or above the maximum standard utilization percentages for the month in the following table: Provided, That such adjustment shall not vary from that for the preceding month by more than 10 cents:

Order[1] Amending the Order Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Southeastern Florida Marketing Area

§ 1013.0 Findings and determinations.

The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order regulating the handling of milk in the Southeastern Florida marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order as hereby amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act;

(2) The parity prices of milk, as determined pursuant to section 2 of the Act, are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the order as hereby amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order as hereby amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as, and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial or commercial activity specified in, a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Order relative to handling. It is therefore ordered, that on and after the effective date thereof, the handling of milk in the Southeastern Florida marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended, as follows:

The provisions of the proposed marketing agreement and order amending the order contained in the recommended decision issued by the Deputy Administrator, Regulatory Programs, on June 22, 1967, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 27, 1967 (32 F.R. 9097; F.R. Doc. 67-7197), shall be and are the terms and provisions of this order and are set forth in full herein except that §§ 1013.50 and 1013.51(a)(2) are changed:

PART 1013—MILK IN THE SOUTHEASTERN FLORIDA MARKETING AREA

1. In § 1013.41(c), subparagraph (5) is revised to read as follows:

(a) Class I price. From the effective date of this order through June 1968, the Class I price shall be the basic formula price for the preceding month plus $3.20, and plus or minus a supply-demand adjustment of not more than 30 cents, computed as follows:

(1) Determine the total hundredweight of producer milk pursuant to this part and Parts 1012 (Tampa Bay) and 1006 (Upper Florida) of this chapter for the 3-month period ending with the second preceding month;

(2) Determine the total hundredweight of producer milk classified as Class I pursuant to this part and Parts 1012 and 1006 of this chapter for the 3-month period ending with the second preceding month;

(3) Determine the "current utilization percentage" by calculating the percentage, rounded to the nearest full percent, that the amount obtained in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph is of the amount obtained in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph; and

MILK IN MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL, MINN., MARKETING AREA

Notice of Proposed Suspension of Certain Provision of Order

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), the suspension of a certain provision of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn., marketing area is being considered for an indefinite period.

The provision proposed to be suspended is "not less than 30 percent of the total" as it appears in the second proviso of § 1068.9(b), relating to standards required to qualify a cooperative supply plant for pool status.

This suspension has been requested by the Twin City Milk Producers Association, representing the majority of producers on the market. The request is supported by seven other cooperatives. Petitioner requests that this provision be suspended for an indefinite period (pending a hearing on the matter) to reflect the changed milk marketing conditions in this market. The suspension will permit them to continue marketing and pooling milk regularly associated with the market on the most efficient and economical basis.

The suspension would permit all the milk of producer members of a cooperative association which is shipped directly from the farm to bottling plants located in the cities of Minneapolis or St. Paul to be assigned to country plants operated by such association for the purpose of meeting the shipping requirements of a pool supply plant during August, September, and October. The order presently provides that at least 30 percent of the member milk must be direct-shipped to plants in Minneapolis or St. Paul before any of it may be assigned to country plants for this purpose.

A continuing trend during recent years in the shift of sales from home delivery to stores has caused a shift also in the day-to-day demand for milk supplies by distributing plants. High volume purchases are now made by milk dealers on only about three days of the week, making it necessary for association plants to carry additional reserves to meet peak demands. Further, a relocation of a receiver of association direct-shipped milk to a location outside the city of St. Paul has eliminated one outlet for association milk so moved. These changes are now making it difficult for the association to meet the 30 percent direct-delivery requirement which they need in order to qualify certain of their supply plants for pool status. The association contends that without the suspension continuing pool status for certain of their supply plants cannot be assured unless they resort to uneconomical back-hauling of a portion of their milk delivered to city plants to country plants for reloading and transporting to other distributors, at a consequent additional cost to their producers.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed suspension should file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than 3 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All documents filed should be in quadruplicate.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

[Docket No. 8387; Notice 67-32]

SPIRAL STABILITY AND STALL DETERRENT DEVICES FOR SMALL AIRPLANES

Advance Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering rule making to require spiral stability and stall deterrent devices on all small airplanes type certificated under Part 23 of the Federal Aviation Regulations.

This advance notice of proposed rule making is being issued in accordance with the FAA's policy for the early institution of public rule-making proceedings. An advance notice is issued when it would be helpful to invite public participation in the identification and selection of a course or alternate courses of action with respect to a particular rule-making problem.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the regulatory docket or notice number and be submitted in duplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. All communications received on or before November 22, 1967, will be considered by the Administrator before taking action upon the proposed rule. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments will be available, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Rules Docket for examination by interested persons. If it is determined to be in the public interest to proceed further, after consideration of the available data and comments received in response to this notice, a notice of proposed rule making will be issued.

Spiral stability. The FAA is concerned over the number of accidents with small airplanes in which pilots who are not proficient in instrument flight become disoriented and lose control of the airplane when they encounter IFR weather conditions. It is believed that spiral instability may have been a factor in many of those accidents.

Airplanes are generally spirally unstable. While Part 23 of the Federal Aviation Regulations contains requirements concerning directional and lateral stability, there are no specific requirements covering spiral stability. Spiral divergence usually starts as a gentle spiral which gets progressively tighter and steeper if the motion is not checked. Spiral divergence generally develops so gradually that under VFR conditions, the pilot corrects for it unconsciously and is often completely unware that spiral instability exists. However, under IFR conditions, the gradual development of spiral divergence may go undetected until the airplane is in a steep, high speed spiral. In this situation the speed build-up for an aerodynamically clean airplane, is usually very rapid.

For the foregoing reasons, the FAA has carried out a program in the design, development, and demonstration of a stability augmentation system to achieve positive spiral stability. In this connection, in a report dated November 1966, and entitled "Flight Evaluation of a Stability Augmentation System for Light Airplanes" (FAA–ADS–83), which covered the evaluation of one airplane on which a system had been installed, it is concluded that there is a significant improvement in the ability of noninstrument rated pilots to cope with flight in IFR conditions and in the quality of performance of experienced instrument rated pilots on airplanes having positive spiral stability obtained by a stability augmentation system. (This report may be purchased for $3.00 from Clearinghouse for Federal Scientific and Technical Information, U.S. Department of Commerce, Springfield, Va. 22151.)

Several manufacturers are currently marketing lateral stability augmentation systems which list for from $500 to $2,000. The price may be less for factory installations. The more expensive autopilot systems which incorporate two or three axis control and stabilization are also available. Limited operational experience has been obtained with one type of small airplane in which a stability augmentation system is installed as original equipment.

For the foregoing reason, the FAA believes that rule-making action may be appropriate with respect to spiral stability for small airplanes. However, as indicated herein, the FAA does not at this time have sufficient information to select the appropriate course of action upon which a rule making proceeding might be undertaken. Therefore, the FAA solicits the views of all interested persons as to the need for positive spiral stability in small airplanes and on the availability and practicability of the various stability augmentation systems or of inherent aerodynamic means designed to achieve this stability. In particular, comments are requested in the following areas:

(1) Should the FAA require that all small airplanes have positive spiral stability? If not, what criterion should be used to determine the airplanes that must meet such a requirement? In this connection, consideration should be given to the possibility of differentiating airplanes on the basis of characteristics, such as speed buildup in a spiral or on the basis of the type of operation in which they are intended to be used, such as extended cross-country flight.

(2) What criterion should be used to measure the spiral stability of an airplane?

(3) If positive spiral stability is to be required, what speed range should it encompass?

(4) If a stability augmentation system is employed to achieve positive spiral stability, should a failure warning device be required?

(5) How much lead time would be required for installation of a stability augmentation system on airplanes currently being manufactured and on airplanes in current operation?

If a stability augmentation system is employed to achieve spiral stability, the FAA believes that the airplane should be required to meet all of the present flight characteristics in Part 23 with the system operative and inoperative, that system reliability should comply with the basic equipment requirements of Part 23, and that no hazards should result in the event of failure of the equipment.

Stall deterrent devices. Another area of concern to the FAA is the fact that stall type accidents continue to represent a relatively large percentage of the total accidents involving small airplanes. Up to the present time, means to prevent stall type accidents have presented a formidable challenge to safety experts in both government and industry. The basic effort has been aimed at pilot education and the utilization of stall warning means.

However, the FAA has recently conducted some tests with a device called the "stall barrier." This device is a simplified adaptation of the stick pusher used on some of the modern jet swept-wing airplanes. It consists of a small electric servo unit using a cable from the drum of the servo to the control stick. The magnetic clutch of the servo is wired into the airplane's conventional stall warning system so that, at a high angle of attack, the magnetic clutch is energized at the same time stall warning is triggered. This imposes a push force on the stick which, if unrestricted, will operate the elevators to reduce the angle of attack of the wing. The results of the preliminary testing is given in the Office of Aviation Medicine Report, AM 66–31 titled "The 'Stall Barrier' as a New Preventive on General Aviation Accidents," which may be obtained from the Aeromedical Education Division of the Federal Aviation Administration, AM–300, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. The FAA has not fully evaluated this device and plans are under way to carry out a more exhaustive test program. Nevertheless, in the light of the promise held out by this stall deterrent device, the FAA considers that the aviation community should be made aware of it at the earliest moment.

The FAA is aware that there may be other stall deterrent devices under development and that stall deterrence may be possible by utilizing new types of stall warning or by other techniques. The FAA solicits the views of all interested persons on the practicability and availability of the various devices and techniques. In particular, comments are requested from all interested persons in the following areas:

(1) Should the FAA require the installation of a stall deterrent device?

(2) What plans, if any, do the airframe and equipment manufacturers have for developing stall deterrent devices? Would these devices provide failure warnings to the pilot?

(3) What costs would be involved in installing a stall deterrent device of the type described above?

(4) What repeatability tolerance in actuation airspeed should be expected and what effect would such a tolerance have on performance?

(5) What effect would such a device have on present stall warning requirements?

(6) How much lead time would be required for installation of a stall deterrent device on airplanes currently being manufactured and on airplanes in current operation?

As stated above, the FAA is not at this time prepared to require the installation of any particular stall deterrent device. However, if any device should be proposed in future rule making, it should not be permitted to mask poor stall characteristics for any airplane and the airplane on which such a device would be installed should meet the flight characteristics requirements of Part 23 with the device operative and inoperative.

The agency realizes that comments on this Notice could conceivably take the form of a list of "yes" or "no" answers. However, since the purpose of an advance notice is to obtain public participation in the identification and selection of a course or courses of action, it is obvious that comments in such form would be of little value to the FAA. Therefore, it is requested that comments contain supporting statements and data, where available, to justify all recommendations and conclusions.

While the subjects of spiral stability and stall deterrent devices are covered together in this advance notice, they may not be considered concurrently in any future rule-making action.

This advance notice of proposed rule making is issued under the authority of sections 313(a) and 601 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a) and 1421).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 19, 1967.

CONTROL ZONE

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration proposes an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations which would alter the effective hours of the Gustavus, Alaska, Control Zone.

Installation of equipment is now in progress to remotely control the Gustavus Flight Service Station from the Juneau, Alaska, Flight Service Station on a continuous basis. Air-ground communications and operation and monitoring of air navigational aids will continue to be available on a 24-hours basis. Hourly and special weather observations which are a prerequisite to the continued designation of the control zone will be available only from 0600 to 1800 hours, local time daily. Therefore, the control zone hours of designation are proposed to be redescribed to coincide with the weather reporting service .

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Division, Alaskan Region, Federal Aviation Administration, 632 Sixth Avenue, Anchorage, Alaska 99501. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The public docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 632 Sixth Avenue, Anchorage, Alaska 99501.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Anchorage, Alaska, on July 11, 1967.

CONTROL ZONE AND TRANSITION AREAS

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to alter the Pine Bluff, Ark., control zone and transition area and the Little Rock, Ark., transition area to conform with present criteria and to provide airspace protection for aircraft executing an instrument approach procedure proposed for Grider Field, Pine Bluff, Ark.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Division, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Post Office Box 1689, Fort Worth, Tex. 76101. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Air Traffic Division. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The official Docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Office of the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, Tex. An informal Docket will also be available for examination at the Office of the Chief, Air Traffic Division.

The Pine Bluff, Ark., control zone described in § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2127) would be altered by adding "* * * and within 2 miles each side of the Pine Bluff VORTAC 185° (179° magnetic) radial, extending from the 5-mile radius zone to 10.5 miles S of the VORTAC."

The Pine Bluff, Ark., transition area described in § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2237) would be altered by redescribing it as "that airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 7-mile radius of Grider Field (latitude 34°10'35" N., longitude 91°56'55" W.); within 5 miles E and 8 miles W of the Pine Bluff VORTAC 006° (360° magnetic) radial, extending from the VORTAC to 12 miles N; and within 2 miles each side of the Pine Bluff VORTAC 185° (179° magnetic) radial, extending from 10.5 miles S of the VORTAC to 18.5 miles S."

The Little Rock, Ark., transition area 1,200-foot portion described in § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2213) would be altered by substituting "latitude 33°51'00" N., longitude 91°48'00" W." for "latitude 33°-53'00" N., longitude 91°56'00" W." wherever it appears.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Fort Worth, Tex., on July 11, 1967.

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the transition area at Missoula, Mont.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Central Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Building, 601 East 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Building, 601 East 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106.

The VOR/DME No. 1 public instrument approach procedure for the Missoula, Montana County Airport is being modified by adding a DME arc which is not completely protected with present controlled airspace designation. Therefore, it is necessary to alter the Missoula transition area to provide controlled airspace protection for aircraft executing this revised approach procedure.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as hereinafter set forth:

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148), the following transition area is amended to read:

MISSOULA, MONT.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within 5 miles northeast and 8 miles southwest of the Missoula VORTAC 122° and 302° radials, extending from 5 miles southeast to 19 miles northwest of the VORTAC; and that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within 8 miles southwest and 9 miles northeast of the Missoula VORTAC 118° and 298° radials, extending from 7 miles southeast to 16 miles northwest of the VORTAC; and within a 19-mile radius of the Missoula VORTAC, extending clockwise from the northeast edge of V-2 to the west edge of V-251.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued at Kansas City, Mo., on July 5, 1967.

DANIEL E. BARROW,
Acting Director, Central Region.

RESTRICTED AREA

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is considering an amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations which would establish a restricted area north of West Sister Island in Lake Erie, Ohio.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Eastern Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Building, John F. Kennedy International Airport, Jamaica, N.Y. 11430. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendments. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

The Department of the Navy, in October of 1966, submitted a request for the designation of restricted airspace over a portion of Lake Erie near Cedar Point, Ohio, to contain bombing and rocket firing exercises utilizing inert ordnance. This request was published as a notice of proposed rule making in the FEDERAL REGISTER dated March 21, 1967 (32 F.R. 4316).

In this NPRM it was explained that these exercises to maintain combat readiness are presently conducted within Restricted Area R-5502, Lacarne, Ohio, by naval aircraft operating out of the United States Naval Air Station, Grosse Ile, Mich. It was further explained that the Army, which is the designated user of R-5502 has indicated that this area may be reduced in size to accommodate ground firing only. However, that reduced area would not be large enough to meet the Navy requirements. Therefore, it was proposed to redesignate R-5502 as a smaller area than is presently designated, but large enough to accommodate the Navy's requirements.

This NPRM met with strong objections from shipping, boating, and conservation elements and, as a result, the NPRM was withdrawn on May 9, 1967. The notice of withdrawal stated that a new proposal was being proposed by the Department of the Navy.

Separate rule-making action is now being taken to divide Restricted Area R-5502, Lacarne, Ohio, into two areas, smaller overall, with a northern portion, R-5502B, being retained around the Navy target. This northern portion, however, is not large enough to contain the associated flight activities and the Navy has submitted another proposal that would adjoin this northern portion and would meet their requirements for operations from Grosse Ile NAS.

This proposal satisfies the minimum Navy requirements while accommodating the conflicting civil interests in Lake Erie. The new area requested would not include West Sister Island within restricted airspace, and would allow access to the Bass Island complex from Maumee Bay. The proposed area together with those portions of R-5502 being retained is smaller than that previously requested, smaller than the present R-5502, and avoids major shipping routes. The Navy has advised they are taking concurrent action through the Army Corps of Engineers to reduce the surface danger area to coincide with the restricted airspace set forth in this proposal. As a result, surface vessels will have free access to West Sister Island and unimpeded passage from Maumee Bay to the Bass Islands.

If this proposal is adopted, R-5502B would be revoked and the following would be added to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations.

R-5505 LAKE ERIE, OHIO

Boundaries: Beginning at latitude 41°44'-48" N., longitude 83°10'00" W.; thence to latitude 41°47'18" N., longitude 83°10'00" W.; thence to latitude 41°49'00" N., longitude 83°05'50" W.; thence to latitude 41°-46'15" N., longitude 83°00'00" W.; thence to latitude 41°44'48" N., longitude 83°00'-00" W.; thence to the point of beginning.

Designated altitude: Surface to 2,600 feet MSL.

Time of designation: 0800-2300 e.s.t., Wednesday through Saturday; 0800-1700 e.s.t., Sundays.

Controlling agency: Federal Aviation Administration, Toledo Airport Traffic Control Tower.

Using agency: Commanding Officer, U.S. Naval Air Station, Grosse Ile, Mich.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 18, 1967.

TARIFFS OF AIR CARRIERS AND FOREIGN AIR CARRIERS

Passenger Charges for In-Flight Service of Alcoholic Beverages in Interstate and Overseas Air Transportation; Supplemental Notice

JULY 21, 1967.

The Board in 32 F.R. 8921, June 22, 1967, and by circulation of EDR-112A, PSDR-17A, dated June 15, 1967, gave notice that it had under consideration proposed amendments to Part 221 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 221) and Part 399 of its Statements of General Policy (14 CFR Part 399), to require carrier tariffs to contain data with respect to in-flight service of alcoholic beverages to passengers in any or all classes of service in interstate or overseas air transportation. The Board invited comments on the proposal by July 24, 1967.

By letter received by the Board on July 20, 1967, Continental Air Lines, Inc., has requested an extension of time for filing comments in this proceeding. It asserts that, if an agreement among a wide group of carriers providing for effective control of service of alcoholic beverages on commercial aircraft could be achieved, such a broad industry approach would be preferable to requiring carriers to file tariff rules and charges on the matter. The carrier therefore requests the Board to afford all interested carriers the opportunity of attending such a meeting in the very near future to discuss this matter under the auspices of the Air Transport Association and, accordingly, seeks an extension of the date for filing comments in the rule making proceeding until after the intercarrier meeting and after the results of that meeting can be given to the Board. By telegram received July 20, Trans World Airlines, Inc., supports Continental's request for extension.

There has not been a sufficient showing to grant the extension of time requested; therefore, it is denied. The issue in this rule making proceeding is not, as Continental indicates, the effective control of service of alcoholic beverages on commercial aircraft. Rather, it is the more limited issue as to whether the Board should require carriers to set forth in their tariffs their charges and rules for service of alcoholic beverages and whether the Board should adopt a policy of requiring appropriate separate charges for all alcoholic beverages. No reasons have been set forth as to why this matter should be handled by intercarrier agreement rather than by the Board's rule making and tariff regulatory powers. The Board had occasion recently to consider this very issue in a similar matter relating to passenger charges for visual in-flight entertainment in interstate and overseas air transportation. There, it tentatively concluded[1] that an appropriate passenger charge should be assessed for the provision of visual in-flight entertainment, in what amount the minimum charge should be, and that the implementation of such a charge in interstate and overseas air transportation would more appropriately be accomplished by exercise of the Board's rate and rule making powers under the Act rather than in a section 412 proceeding for approval of an intercarrier agreement. Continental has made no showing that these conclusions are not similarly applicable to in-flight service of alcoholic beverages. Accordingly, there has been an insufficient showing to warrant the grant of the deferral of time requested.[2]

Nevertheless, because of the fact that comments on the proposed rule for passenger charges for in-flight service of alcoholic beverages will be due shortly and because some carriers may have delayed preparation of their comments in reliance on a potential grant of Continental's request for an extension of time, a one-week's extension of time for the filing of comments will be granted.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority delegated in section 385.20(d) of the Board's Organization Regulations, effective June 21, 1967, the undersigned hereby extends the time for submitting comments to July 31, 1967.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS UNDER INTERNATIONAL COFFEE AGREEMENT

Bond for Certificate of Origin or Reexport; Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice of proposed Amendment of Customs Regulations prescribed under the International Coffee Agreement Act of 1965:

Pursuant to section 12.70(d) of the Customs Regulations, a bond on customs Form 7551, 7553, or 7595, may be given for the production of a certificate of origin or reexport under the International Coffee Agreement within 3 months of the date of entry if such certificate is not available at the time of entry. The amount of the bond required is $5,000 or the estimated value of the coffee, whichever is lower, unless a larger amount is deemed necessary to insure compliance with the regulations.

The Department of State has expressed concern that since many coffee transactions involve over $100,000, the $5,000 ceiling on bonds in many cases is inadequate to insure compliance with the requirements of the International Coffee Agreement. It has suggested that a bond in an amount which represents a fixed ratio of the value of the coffee involved would more effectively secure such compliance.

The Department of State is also concerned that the provision allowing three months for the production of certificates of origin may tend to break down the International Coffee Agreement's quarterly quota controls, since it makes it possible for certificates of origin bearing coffee stamps issued to producing countries for one quarter to be furnished to customs for shipments of coffee actually made in the previous quarter.

Therefore, under the authority conferred upon the President by section 2, subsection (1) of the International Coffee Agreement Act of 1965 (19 U.S.C. 1356a (1)), which authority was delegated to the Secretary of the Treasury by Executive Order No. 11229, dated June 14, 1965 (30 F.R. 7741), it is proposed to amend § 12.70(d) of the Customs Regulations relating to the amount of the bond to be given for the production of missing certificates of origin or reexport, and the time allowed for the production of such certificates.

It is also proposed to amend § 12.70(b) of the Customs Regulations to incorporate the requirements of the International Coffee Organization for affixing coffee export stamps to certificates of origin and for issuance of certificates of origin on customs Form 4470 for green coffee grown in Hawaii and exported to a foreign country, other than a country listed in Annex B of the International Coffee Agreement.

The terms of the proposed amendments, in tentative form, are as follows:

Section 12.70(b) is amended to read as follows:

(b) Certificate of origin and reexport. (1) No coffee imported from a country which is a member of the International Coffee Agreement of 1962 and no coffee grown in a member country and arriving from a nonmember country or area shall be admitted to entry for consumption in the customs territory of the United States unless there is presented for such coffee a valid certificate of origin or certificate of reexport prescribed under the Agreement, or unless a bond for the production of a proper certificate is filed as provided in paragraph (d) of this section. Certificates of origin must bear coffee stamps issued by the International Coffee Organization and affixed thereto in accordance with the requirements of said organization in order to be valid. A certificate of origin on customs Form 4470 bearing the appropriate coffee export stamps and certified by a U.S. customs officer shall be required for green coffee grown in Hawaii and exported either directly or via the mainland United States to a foreign country other than a country listed in Annex B of the Agreement. A certificate of reexport on customs Form 4469 is required to be issued for coffee imported into the United States and subsequently exported to any foreign country. A certificate of origin or reexport shall not be required for shipments of coffee proceeding through the United States on a through bill of lading nor for coffee entered for consumption in or reexported to Puerto Rico.

Section 12.70(d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Acceptance of shipment without certificates of origin and reexport; bond. If a certificate of origin or reexport is not available at the time of entry, the entry shall be accepted only if (1) the district director is satisfied that the failure to produce the required certificate is due to a cause beyond the control of the person for whom the entry is tendered, and (2) such person or his agent gives a bond on customs Form 7551, 7553, or 7595, for the production of the required certificate. The amount of the bond shall be one-fourth the estimated value of the coffee involved or such larger amount as may be considered necessary to insure compliance with the International Coffee Agreement. If a valid certificate is not produced within 15 days of the date of entry, liquidated damages in the full amount of the bond shall be assessed, except that upon written application to the district director the period for producing the missing certificate may be extended for an additional 15 days. Such liquidated damages may be cancelled upon the payment of a lesser amount to be determined by the Bureau if the importer produces satisfactory evidence that the shipment was authorized in accordance with the International Coffee Agreement, and that the failure to produce a certificate was not due to negligence or lack of good faith on the part of any party to the transaction.

Prior to the issuance of the proposed amendments, consideration will be given to any relevant data, views, or arguments which are submitted in writing to the Commissioner of Customs, Bureau of Customs, Washington, D.C. 20226, and received not later than 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. No hearings will be held.

Acting Commissioner of Customs.

HIGH SPEED STEEL TWIST DRILLS FROM JAPAN

Antidumping Proceeding Notice

JULY 19, 1967.

On June 8, 1967, information was received in proper form pursuant to the provisions of § 14.6(b) of the Customs Regulations indicating a possibility that high speed steel twist drills and twist drill sets, short length, straight shank, as follows:

Drills:
Type B, class 1, fractional sizes ½" and under.
Type C, wire-gauge sizes 1 through 20.
Type D, letter sizes J-T-X-Y-Z.
Drill sets:
Type B, class 1, 6-piece set, 1/16" to ½" by 16ths.
Type B, class 1, 29-piece set, 1/16" to ½" by 64ths.

manufactured by Sonoike Tool Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 100, Maegawa, Tachibanacho, Ashigara-Shimogun, Kanagawa Prefecture, Japan; and Kobe Steel Limited, Nishioike Kanegasaki, Uosumi Cho Akashi City, Hyogo Prefecture, Japan, are being, or likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.).

Pursuant to a determination under § 14.6a of the Customs Regulations, the name of the person who raised or presented the question of dumping is withheld.

Ordinarily, merchandise is considered to be sold at less than fair value when the net, f.o.b. factory price for exportation to the United States is less than the net, f.o.b. factory price to purchasers in the home market, or, where appropriate, to purchasers in other counties, after due allowance is made for difference in quantity and circumstances of sale.

Having conducted a summary investigation pursuant to § 14.6(d)(1)(i) of the Customs Regulations and having determined on this basis that there are grounds for so doing, the Bureau of Customs is instituting an inquiry pursuant to the provisions of § 14.6(d)(1)(ii), (2), and (3) of the Customs Regulations to determine the validity of the information.

A summary of information received from all sources is as follows:

The information before the Bureau indicates the possibility that the above-identified twist drills from Japan are being sold to the United States at prices which are substantially below the prices at which comparable merchandise is beng sold in the home market.

This notice is published pursuant to § 14.6(d)(1)(i) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 14.6(d)(1)(i)).

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

IDAHO

Notice of Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

JULY 18, 1967.

The Department of Agriculture has filed an application, Serial No. I–1599, for the withdrawal of the lands described below, from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws, including the mining laws but not the mineral leasing laws, subject to valid existing rights.

The applicant desires the land for use as the Stanley Administrative Site by the Challis National Forest.

For a period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, Post Office Box 2237, Boise, Idaho 83701.

The authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management will undertake such investigations as are necessary to determine the existing and potential demand for the lands and their resources. He will also undertake negotiations with the applicant agency with the view of adjusting the application to reduce the area to the minimum essential to meet the applicant's needs, to provide for the maximum concurrent utilization of the lands for purposes other than the applicant's, to eliminate lands needed for purposes more essential than the applicant's and to reach agreement on the concurrent management of the lands and their resources.

He will also prepare a report for consideration by the Secretary of the Interior who will determine whether or not the lands will be withdrawn as requested by the Department of Agriculture.

The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record.

If circumstances warrant it, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place which will be announced.

The lands involved in the application are:

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket Nos. 18808 etc.; Order No. E-25435]

FRONTIER AIRLINES, INC.

Order of Investigation and Suspension Regarding Military Wives and Mothers Fare

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 20th day of July 1967.

Military wives and mothers fare, proposal of Frontier Airlines, Inc., Dockets 18806, 18722, 18728, 18729.

By Order E-25417 (July 13, 1967) the Board suspended the subject tariff proposal of Frontier Airlines, Inc., and ordered it investigated. Ordering paragraph 2 of aforesaid order inadvertently established the period of suspension to the expiry date marked in the tariff, instead of the customary 90-day period. This order will amend Order E-25417 to correctly state the suspension period.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

1. Order E-25417 dated July 13, 1967, be and it is amended to substitute the date October 29, 1967, for January 31, 1968, in ordering paragraph 2.

2. The investigation instituted by Order E-25417 dated July 13, 1967, as amended herein, be assigned Docket number 18806.

3. Copies of this order be filed with tariff CAB No. 101 issued by Airline Tariff Publishers, Inc., Agent and be served upon Frontier Airlines, Inc., Western Air Lines, Inc., Northwest Airlines, Inc., and Continental Air Lines, Inc.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Secretary.

[Docket No. 18808; Order No. E-25438]

SHULMAN, INC.

Order of Investigation and Suspension Regarding Fee for Advancing Charges

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 20th day of July 1967.

By tariff revisions filed on June 20, 1967, marked to become effective July 26, 1967, Shulman, Inc. (Shulman), an air freight forwarder, proposes a rule establishing a fee for advancing charges for services performed by others in connection with air freight service. The rule in question provides as follows:

Upon request, the forwarder will advance charges for transportation and cartage not performed by the forwarder. A handling charge equal to 10 percent of the first $50 advanced, and 1 percent of all amounts over the first $60 * * * of the amount advanced, subject to a minimum charge of 50 cents, will be assessed.

The charges indicated above would be advanced by the forwarder chiefly to cartage agents and truckers, which have performed cartage or transportation services in connection with a shipment.[1] The charges are advanced for shipments on which the forwarder will subsequently collect charges from the consignee. At present, fees are not imposed for advancing charges by most direct and indirect air carriers in domestic service.

Upon consideration of the tariff proposal and of all relevant matters, the Board finds that the fee proposed by Shulman may be unjust, unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and should be investigated. It is recognized that the advancing of charges is a service over and above that of providing air transportation and involves bookkeeping and administrative expenses to the forwarder. Such advances—when in cash—require use of forwarder funds pending final collection, usually from the consignee, and may involve some degree of risk to the forwarder from a consignee defaulting on the reimbursement of the advanced charges.

However, Shulman has presented no basis at all for the fee scale proposed. While the fee schedule appears modest for very small advances—for an advance charge of $5 the fee would be 50 cents—if the advances involve larger amounts, the fee is relatively large. Thus, for an advance of $50, the fee would be $5. This is much larger than the fee for a similar advance in the schedule approved in Order E-22954, dated December 1, 1965, involving IATA Resolution 509. This resolution established a fee schedule of 1 percent but not less than $2, provided that the charge need not be made where the amount to be collected is less than $50. Under the IATA Resolution, the fee for an advance of $50 is $2, the minimum charge. A fee of $5, applicable to a Shulman advance of $50, would pay for an advance of $500 under the IATA Resolution.

A number of major forwarders do not impose any fees at all for advancing charges. An exception is Emery Air Freight Corp. (Emery), whose fees are considerably lower than in Shulman's proposal. Emery's fees range from 25 cents for advances not exceeding $100 to 85 cents for advances between $400 and $500; an additional 5 cents is charged for each $100 of advance.

By Order E-25035, dated April 25, 1967, the Board set for investigation and suspended fees for advancing charges proposed by Mohawk Airlines, Inc. (Mohawk) and Ozark Air Lines, Inc. (Ozark), to have become effective April 28, 1967. These fees would have amounted to 5 percent of the amounts advanced, subject to a minimum of $1. Except for the differences in minimum charges, the fees would have been lower than those currently proposed by Shulman for advances up to $112.50. In suspending the proposals of Mohawk and Ozark, the Board noted that the carriers had not adequately justified the fee scale proposed. Subsequent to the Board's action, the foregoing carriers canceled their suspended tariffs and filed a fee schedule of 1 percent, subject to a $2 minimum, of the amount advanced. This filing has been permitted by the Board to become effective June 8, 1967.[2]

In view of the foregoing, the Board has decided to suspend the proposal pending investigation.[3] The Board, however, would consider proposals wherein the fee schedule is shown to be reasonably related to costs for both large and small advancements.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a) and 1002 thereof,

It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation be instituted to determine whether the charges and provisions in Rule No. 115 on 6th Revised Page 7 and the charges and provisions on 1st Revised Page 9 of Shulman, Inc.'s tariff CAB No. 38, and rules, regulations, and practices affecting such charges and provisions, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and if found to be unlawful, to determine and prescribe the lawful charges and provisions, and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such charges and provisions;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the charges and provisions in Rule No. 115 on 6th Revised Page 7 and the charges and provisions on 1st Revised Page 9 of Shulman, Inc.'s tariff CAB No. 38 are suspended and their use deferred to and including October 23, 1967, unless

[1] The advanced charge service is provided under two circumstances: (1) The forwarder pays cash at the time of acceptance of the traffic for services previously performed by some other party, such as a trucker, with such amount to be reimbursed to forwarder at destination by the consignee; or (2) the same charge would similarly be shown as an amount to be collected at destination from the consignee and then reimbursed to the other party at origin for whom such amounts were advanced. In the first instance, there is an actual cash advancement by the forwarder; in the second instance, the transaction does not involve advancement of funds, and in this respect is analogous to a c.o.d. service.

[2] The tariff provides for advances for transportation, cartage, storage, loading, unloading, packaging, and processing not performed by the carriers, and for government duties and customs fees. In contrast, Shulman's proposal involves only advances for transportation and cartage.

[3] While the proposed schedule would result in smaller fees than those put into effect by Mohawk and Ozark for advances under $50, the Board has considered the fee schedule as a unit for suspension purposes.

otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. The proceeding herein be assigned before an examiner of the Board at a time and place hereafter to be designated; and

4. Copies of this order shall be filed with the tariff and served upon Shulman, Inc., which is hereby made a party to this proceeding.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] HAROLD R. SANDERSON,
Secretary.

DIMETHOATE AND ITS OXYGEN ANALOG

Notice of Establishment of Temporary Tolerances

Notice is given that at the request of the American Cyanamid Co., Post Office Box 400, Princeton, N.J. 08540, temporary tolerances have been established for total residues of the insecticide dimethoate (O,O-dimethyl S-(N-methylcarbamoylmethyl) phosphorodithioate) including its oxygen analog (O,O-dimethyl O-(N-methylcarbamoylmethyl) phosphorothioate) at 0.1 part per million in or on wheat and at 0.5 part per million in or on wheat straw. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has determined that these temporary tolerances will protect the public health.

A condition under which these temporary tolerances are established is that the insecticide will be used in accord with the temporary permit issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

These temporary tolerances expire July 18, 1968.

This action is taken pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare by the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(j), 68 Stat. 516; 21 U.S.C. 346a (j)) and delegated by him to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120).

EAST ST. LOUIS BROADCASTING CO., INC., AND METRO-EAST BROADCASTING, INC.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Enlarging Issues

In re applications of East St. Louis Broadcasting Co., Inc., East St. Louis, Ill., Docket No. 17256, File No. BP-16579; Metro-East Broadcasting, Inc., East St. Louis, Ill., Docket No. 17257, File No. BP-16682; for construction permits.

1. This proceeding involves the applications of East St. Louis Broadcasting Co., Inc. (East St. Louis), and Metro-East Broadcasting, Inc. (Metro-East), each requesting authority to construct a new standard broadcast station at East St. Louis, Ill. The applications were designated for hearing by order, FCC 67-284, 7 FCC 2d 66, released March 9, 1967. Presently before the Review Board is a petition to enlarge issues, filed by Metro-East on March 29, 1967, requesting the addition of financial and site availability issues against East St. Louis. In a supplement to its petition, filed on June 8, 1967, Metro-East requests the addition of issues relating to the character qualifications of East St. Louis.[1]

2. In support of its request for financial issues, Metro-East alleges that East St. Louis will require $151,541 in order to construct and operate its station for 1 year ($115,000 in operating expenses plus $55,244 construction costs minus $18,703 already expended); that East St. Louis' application reflects that it has $144,184 available ($47,901 funds on deposit, $80,643 in bond obligations, and $15,640 deferred credit); and that part of the bond obligations will be paid in services rendered by individual stockholders, thereby further reducing the amount of cash available to East St. Louis to $115,933. In addition, Metro-East alleges that East St. Louis' allocation of $7,347 for its antenna system is far too low because its application reflects a guyed tower whereas its request for an FAA clearance reflects a self-supporting tower; the cost of a guyed tower would be $12,453; and the cost of a self-supporting tower would be $28,195.[2] Finally, Metro-East questions the availability of part of the $80,642 in bond obligations, pointing out that $28,250 of the amount will be paid in services to the corporation, and alleging that this amount cannot be relied upon because no showing has been made of the type of services to be performed. Moreover, Metro-East submits, various stockholders whose cash commitment totals $37,190 have not shown the ability to meet their commitments, and other stockholders, with cash commitments of $4,530 are able to meet their commitments only by a substitution of services in lieu of cash. To support its request for a site availability issue, Metro-East contends that the East St. Louis City Council adopted the "PACE Plan" (a comprehensive urban renewal plan) on March 22, 1967; and that the site specified by East St. Louis is located in the area covered by this plan. A statement from the Director of Urban Renewal and Planning was submitted with the petition, in which he states that East St. Louis must obtain a special use authorization for its proposed site, and that the proposed site is not in conformance with the "PACE Plan."

3. East St. Louis, opposing the requested financial issues, submitted updated financial information,[3] reflecting that it will require $159,061.31 in order to construct its proposal (including the cost of a self-supporting tower in lieu of a guyed tower) and operate for 1 year.[4] To meet this requirement, East St. Louis alleges that it has available funds in an amount of $213,225, consisting of $5,340 in stock commitments, $145,885 in bond commitments ($70,573 of the stock and bond commitments have been paid), and $62,000 in first year's operating revenues. The latter figure is supported by 45 letters of commitment from potential advertisers. With regard to the commitments of its stockholders, East St. Louis submitted updated balance sheets for all of the stockholders whose ability to meet their commitments was challenged by Metro-East, and avers that all except two have sufficient current assets in excess of liabilities to meet their commitments, without regard to the services they were to perform; and the remaining two have loan commitments to meet their obligations. Although the nature of the services to be performed by the stockholders was specified in a February 28, 1966, amendment to its application, East St. Louis states, the matter of services is now moot because all of the persons involved have indicated a willingness to pay cash instead of services if determined to be in the best interests of the applicant company. With regard to its proposed site, East St. Louis states that the site was purchased only after conversations with the Director of Urban Renewal and Planning (a stockholder in Metro-East), who stated that the area could be used for a broadcast station. To support its position, East St. Louis submitted two letters from a local attorney, who states in one that it is "inconceivable" that a special use permit will not be granted and that this use is not inconsistent with the PACE Plan; and, in the other, that he discussed the PACE Plan with one of the architects who designed it and was told that this plan was for future development, and was not intended to block present development. An affidavit from the President of East St. Louis was also submitted, in which he states that he and a consulting engineer visited the architect on May 4, 1967; that the architect told him that the station was consistent with existing zoning and, if properly designed, would "fit nicely" into the design of the PACE Plan; that he (the architect) would write a letter to that effect to the Chairman of the local PACE organization; that he returned to the architect's office later that day to pick up the letter, with local counsel, but was told by the architect that "after talking to certain persons," the architect had decided not to send the letter. With a supplement to its opposition, East St. Louis filed a letter from the Director of Urban Renewal and Planning, indicating that the Board of Appeals granted East St. Louis' request for "Special Use" for the purpose of erecting a radio station.

4. In reply, Metro-East concedes that East St. Louis has established reasonable assurance of the availability of its transmitter site, but asserts that the new financial information submitted does not show that East St. Louis is financially qualified. Metro-East computes East St. Louis' cash requirement to be $140,385 (taking into account expenses already paid) and the amount available at $117,472 (taking into account the remaining amount due from commitments and the funds presently on deposit); and challenges East St. Louis' estimate of construction costs; its reliance upon anticipated revenues; and the ability of its stockholders to meet their commitments. Specifically, Metro-East claims that although the East St. Louis application reflects that its studio will be leased for $1,200 per year, its President testified at the zoning hearing that a studio would be constructed, and that a "picturesque" tower would be erected; the architect contacted by East St. Louis' President anticipated that the building proposed would cost between $40,000 and $50,000; and it is doubtful if the tower could be erected for $12,841, as proposed. With regard to the advertising commitments, Metro-East points out that they are almost 2 years old; they are in varying degrees of firmness; and alleges that one of the commitments is from a business no longer in existence, and another was signed by a manager who lacked authority to bind the business. A third commitment is challenged in a letter from the "major owner" of a business, who states that while the commitment letter was signed by a stockholder, that stockholder does not remember either writing or signing the letter. Finally, Metro-East questions various items listed as "current

[1] The following pleadings are before the Review Board: (a) Petition to enlarge issues, filed on Mar. 29, 1967, by Metro-East; (b) Broadcast Bureau's comments, filed on May 8, 1967; (c) opposition, filed on May 8, 1967, by East St. Louis; (d) supplement to (c), filed on June 1, 1967, by East St. Louis; (e) supplement to (a), filed on June 8, 1967, by Metro-East; (f) reply to (b), filed on June 8, 1967, by Metro-East; (g) reply of Metro-East to (c), filed on June 8, 1967; (h) reply to (e), filed on June 30, 1967, by East St. Louis; (i) Broadcast Bureau's comments on (e), filed on June 30, 1967; and (j) reply to (h), filed on July 12, 1967, by Metro-East.

[2] Estimates from the Utility Tower Co. were submitted to support the alleged cost figures.

[3] The updated financial information, including new estimates from the equipment supplier, is contained in an amendment to East St. Louis' application accepted on June 8, 1967 (FCC 67M-951). The change from a guyed to a self-supporting tower (also contained in the amendment) was made, East St. Louis states, in order to conform to the wishes of the zoning authorities.

[4] A detailed breakdown of East St. Louis' operating costs is included in the petition, which reflects the increased tower costs.

assets" in the balance sheets of seven of the stockholders, contending that they have not shown the ability to meet their respective commitments.

5. The allegations contained in Metro-East's reply, together with certain new allegations form the basis of Metro-East's request for issues inquiring into the character qualifications of East St. Louis, contained in the supplement to the subject petition. First, Metro-East relies upon the alleged discrepancy between East St. Louis' application, wherein it is stated that the studio will be leased, and the testimony of East St. Louis' president at the zoning hearing to the effect that a new studio would be constructed. Next, Metro-East contends that in view of the representations made to the zoning authorities regarding the attractiveness of East St. Louis' proposed tower, the cost of constructing that tower has been understated. Reliance is also placed on a letter from the architect of the PACE Plan, who states that he did not inform counsel for East St. Louis that the tower was in conformance with present zoning laws (counsel told him), or that the PACE Plan was merely meant for the future, and was not told that East St. Louis was in a competitive situation. Metro-East alleges that East St. Louis represented in its February 28, 1966, amendment that it had $4,935.88 on deposit at a particular bank, whereas in fact it had only $467.95. Finally, Metro-East relies upon the letter disclaiming the advertising commitment (see par. 4, supra).[4]

6. In response to the allegations, East St. Louis submits that there is no conflict between the representations in its application and those made at the zoning hearing because the new studio will be constructed by one of the East St. Louis stockholders and leased to the applicant for $1,200 per year, as indicated in the application.[5] The proposed tower will be constructed as specified in its amended application, East St. Louis maintains, and the correct specifications were given to the zoning authorities. Various affidavits were submitted by East St. Louis relating to the details of the conversations with the architect. With regard to the bank balance, East St. Louis concedes that it did not correctly reflect a reduction of that balance in one of its amendments, but contends that this was an inadvertent error corrected in a subsequent amendment; and with regard to the challenged advertising commitment, states that it has no knowledge that the commitment was not authentic.

[4] Metro-East alleges that East St. Louis made certain other inconsistent statements, but we do not agree that those statements are inconsistent and therefore they will not be dealt with in detail. For example, East St. Louis stated in an amendment that it was changing the type of tower in order to get zoning approval, and told the zoning authorities that the change was for beautification.

[5] A letter from the stockholder was submitted to confirm these allegations. An amendment accepted July 20, 1967 (FCC 67M-1100), sets forth the details of the arrangements.

7. The Board is of the opinion that the only matter of substance raised in the voluminous pleadings before it relates to East St. Louis' financial qualifications. The request for a site availability issue is based upon alleged zoning difficulties, and, since East St. Louis has now obtained an appropriate use authorization, no question remains. The request for character issues is contained in an unauthorized supplemental pleading which could be dismissed on procedural grounds alone. However, in view of the serious nature of the charges (and countercharges) made by the applicants we have examined the allegations, and find that they are either based upon a combination of strained interpretations of facts and speculations, or have been adequately refuted by responsive pleadings. As to East St. Louis' estimated costs of construction, we do not regard the fact that this applicant attempted to show at a zoning hearing that its proposed tower would be attractive as an adequate basis for disputing the price quoted for the tower by an equipment supplier[6] in the absence of specific factual allegations indicating that representations were made that the tower would be different from that proposed in the application. The apparent inconsistency as to whether the studio would be built or leased is adequately explained by the stockholder construction and lease arrangement. We have carefully examined and compared the architect's version of his conversations with East St. Louis' principals and agents with those submitted by the other participants to these discussions, and we find that, except for certain minor details,[7] there is no conflict as to the substance of these conversations. Thus, all agree that the architect stated that the PACE Plan was to govern future development, that the use of the site as proposed would not be barred by the PACE Plan, that a letter to that effect was to be written by the architect, and that the architect subsequently changed his mind about writing the letter. Finally, we have no reason to suspect that the incorrect bank balance contained in one of the East St. Louis amendments was other than an inadvertent error, as East St. Louis claims, or that there was anything nefarious in the disputed commitment letter.

8. As previously indicated, we find no valid reason for adding an issue inquiring into East St. Louis' estimated costs of construction and operation. However, Metro-East has pointed out deficiencies in some of the showings made by East St. Louis' stockholders to meet their financial commitments. For example, Clifford Haworth has not shown the ability to meet his $1,750 commitment since more than $9,100 of the $10,521 listed on his balance sheet as current assets consists of accounts receivable and merchandise inventory, the liquidity of which has not been established; and Leon Namirr has not shown the ability to meet his $7,020 commitment since his balance sheet reflects only $5,663 in current assets over liabilities, and a $2,000 bank letter of commitment to Namirr is completely devoid of any of the terms and conditions for the loan. All of East St. Louis' bond commitments were made, in part, "in consideration of other subscriptions" and we therefore believe that a failure to meet any of them places them all in doubt. Cf. Lebanon Valley Radio, 1 FCC 2d 940 (1965). Moreover, even assuming that all of the subscribers could meet their commitments, we agree with Metro-East that East St. Louis would have to rely upon approximately $23,000 in anticipated revenues (see par. 4, supra) and that the letters of commitment, standing alone, are insufficient to permit such reliance. The addition of financial issues is therefore required. The burden of proceeding and the burden of proof under the added issues will be on East St. Louis.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the petition to enlarge issues, filed on March 29, 1967, by Metro-East Broadcasting, Inc., is granted to the extent indicated below, and denied in all other respects; that the supplement to petition to enlarge issues, filed by Metro-East Broadcasting, Inc., on June 8, 1967, is denied; and

It is further ordered, That the issues in this proceeding are enlarged by the addition of the following issues:

(a) To determine whether the stockholders of East St. Louis Broadcasting Co., Inc., are financially able to meet their respective commitments.

(b) To determine the basis of East St. Louis Broadcasting Co., Inc.'s estimated revenues for the first year of operation.

(c) To determine in light of the evidence adduced whether East St. Louis Broadcasting Co., Inc., has demonstrated a reasonable likelihood of construction and continuing operation of its proposed station in the public interest.

[6] The fact that another equipment supplier quoted a higher price is, in our opinion, meaningless in view of the price quoted by East St. Louis' equipment supplier.

[7] Whether or not the architect volunteered his estimate of the cost of the proposed studio, whether the statement regarding existing zoning was made by the architect or the lawyer, and the exact reference made to "future development" are questions which, however resolved, could not form the basis of significant conclusions regarding the applicants.

[Docket Nos. 17570-17573; FCC 67-789]

ELIM BIBLE INSTITUTE, INC., ET AL.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Elim Bible Institute, Inc., Lima, N.Y., requests: 1140 kc, 1 kw, Day, Class II, Docket No. 17570, File No. BP-16869; "What the Bible Says, Inc.," Henrietta, N.Y., requests: 1140 kc, 500 w, Day, Class II, Docket No. 17571, File No. BP-17001; Oxbow Broadcasting Corp., Geneseo, N.Y., requests: 1140 kc, 500 w, Day, Class II, Docket No. 17572, File No. BP-17399; John B. Weeks, Warsaw, N.Y., requests: 1140 kc, 1 kw, DA, Day, Class II, Docket No. 17573, File No. BP-17400; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it the above-captioned applications which are mutually exclusive in that simultaneous operation of the stations as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference.

2. An examination of the proposal of "What the Bible Says, Inc.," ("Bible Says") indicates that a total of $45,000 is needed to construct and operate the proposed station for a period of 1 year without revenue. This applicant has submitted an affidavit from a banking institution showing deposits of $10,450, and a letter from a second banking institution showing applicant to be the recipient of a legacy of $1,000. As to the remainder of its resources, applicant relies on a detailed statement of the president of the parent corporation, the Elim Tabernacle Church of Rochester, Inc., which is signed pursuant to a corporate resolution stating that "* * * out of the funds (cash) accruing to the church from the sale of its property to the city of Rochester, the sum of sixty thousand dollars ($60,000) will be made available and donated to "What the Bible Says, Inc.," to build the proposed radio station and to operate it for a period of at least 1 year." However, although applicant's statements indicate that the sale (as part of an urban renewal program currently in progress) will ultimately be consummated and the money forthcoming so as to be available for the applicant's needs herein, there is no indication in the application that the city is presently legally committed to the purchase of the property. Therefore, this potential source of funds cannot be considered as part of its available resources.

3. The Elim proposal is for the town of Lima, N.Y., which has a population of 1,366 and is located approximately 17.5 miles south of Rochester, N.Y., which has a population of 318,611.[1] On the basis of Commission studies there is a penetration of Rochester's City boundary by the applicant's predicted 5 mv/m daytime contour which raises a presumption under the Commission's policy statement on Section 307(b); Considerations for Standard Broadcast Facilities Involving Suburban Communities, 6 RR 2d 190, 2 FCC 2d 1901 (Dec. 22, 1965), that this applicant realistically proposes to serve Rochester rather than Lima. Applicant has not provided data or arguments which would overcome this presumption and an appropriate issue is therefore included.

4. The Bible Says proposal is for the town of Henrietta, N.Y., which has a population of 11,506 and is located 7 miles south of Rochester. In this case the applicant's predicted 5 mv/m contour completely encompasses the city of Rochester. Inasmuch as this applicant has not provided data or arguments which would overcome the presumption that the applicant intends to serve Rochester rather than Henrietta, a 307 (b) suburban community issue is included as to this applicant. Furthermore, this applicant's 25 mv/m groundwave contour may not provide satisfactory service to the business area of Henrietta and therefore a coverage issue is included.

5. Examination of the Elim and Bible Says applications indicates that they propose specialized religious programming. Since the other two applicants propose general programing formats, there appear to be substantial and material differences between the applicants' plans which should be accorded decisional significance. Therefore, these differences will be considered within the context of the comparative issue. Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcasting Hearings, 1 FCC 2d 393, 5 RR 2d 1901, at 1911, In re Ward L. Jones, FCC 67-82, released January 25, 1967.

6. The Commission finds that, except as indicated by the issues specified below, the applicants are qualified to construct, own and operate as proposed, but since the proposals are mutually exclusive, they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding upon the issues set forth below.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which would receive primary service from each of the applications and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine with respect to the application of "What the Bible Says, Inc.":

(a) Whether the $60,000 in proceeds from the sale of Elim Tabernacle Church is available to the applicant.

(b) Whether, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the above subissue, the applicant is financially qualified.

3. To determine whether the proposal of "What the Bible Says, Inc.," would provide coverage of the city sought to be served, as required by § 73.188(b)(1) of the Commission's rules, and, if not, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of said Section.

4. To determine whether the proposal of Elim Bible Institute, Inc., will realistically provide a local transmission facility for its specified station location or for another larger community, in light of all the relevant evidence, including, but not necessarily limited to, the showing with respect to:

(a) The extent to which the specified station location has been ascertained by the applicant to have separate and distinct programing needs;

(b) The extent to which the needs of the specified station location are being met by existing standard broadcast stations;

(c) The extent to which the applicant's program proposal will meet the specific unsatisfied programing needs of its specified station location; and

(d) The extent to which the projected sources of the applicant's advertising revenues within its specified station location are adequate to support its proposal, as compared with its projected sources from all other areas.

5. To determine, in the event that it is concluded pursuant to the foregoing issue (4) that the proposal will not realistically provide a local transmission service for its specified station location, whether such proposal meets all of the technical provisions of the rules for standard broadcast stations assigned to the most populous community for which it is determined that the proposal will realistically provide a local transmission service, namely, Rochester, N.Y.

6. To determine whether the proposal of "What the Bible Says, Inc.," will realistically provide a local transmission facility for its specified station location or for another larger community, in light of all the relevant evidence, including, but not necessarily limited to, the showing with respect to:

(a) The extent to which the specified station location has been ascertained by the applicant to have separate and distinct programing needs;

(b) The extent to which the needs of the specified station location are being met by existing standard broadcast stations;

(c) The extent to which the applicant's program proposal will meet the specific unsatisfied programing needs of its specified station location; and

(d) The extent to which the projected sources of the applicant's advertising revenues within its specified station location are adequate to support its proposal, as compared with its projected sources from all other areas.

7. To determine, in the event that it is concluded pursuant to the foregoing issue (6) that the proposal will not realistically provide a local transmission service for its specified station location, whether such proposal meets all of the technical provisions of the rules for standard broadcast stations assigned to the most populous community for which it is determined that the proposal will realistically provide a local transmission service; namely, Rochester, N.Y.

8. To determine, in the light of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of radio service.

9. To determine, in the event it is concluded that a choice between the applications should not be based solely on considerations relating to section 307(b), which of the operations proposed in the above-captioned applications would best serve the public interest.

[1] According to the 1960 U.S. Census.

10. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which, if any, of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That, in the event of a grant of any of the applications, the construction permit shall contain the following conditions:

Pending a final decision in Docket No. 14419 with respect to presunrise operation with daytime facilities, the present provisions of § 73.87 of the Commission's rules are not extended to this authorization, and such operation is precluded.

Permittee shall accept any overlap that may result from a grant of the application of Lawrence County Broadcasting Corp., File No. BP-16602, New Castle, Pa.

It is further ordered, That, in the event of a grant of the application of "What the Bible Says, Inc.," the construction permit shall specify the following:

Permittee shall assume responsibility for the elimination of interference due to external cross-modulation and for the installation and adjustment of filter circuits or other equipment in the antenna system of the proposed operation and of Stations WROC and WBBF or any other stations which may be necessary to prevent adverse effects due to internal cross-modulation and reradiation; and, prior to the erection of the antenna towers and subsequent thereto, sufficient field intensity measurements shall be made on these specified stations to establish that the radiation patterns have not been adversely affected due to reradiation. In addition, field observations shall be made to determine whether spurious emissions exist, and any objectionable interference problems resulting therefrom shall be eliminated.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible and consistent with the rules, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

KXYZ TELEVISION, INC., AND CREST BROADCASTING CO.

Decision and Remand Enlarging Issues

In re applications KXYZ Television, Inc., Houston, Tex., Docket No. 15826, File No. BPCT-3220; Crest Broadcasting Co., Houston, Tex., Docket No. 15827, File No. BPCT-3302; for construction permit.

Appearances: James A. McKenna, Jr., Robert W. Coll, and David S. Stevens on behalf of KXYZ Television, Inc.; Benedict P. Cottone and W. Ervin James on behalf of Crest Broadcasting Co.; and John F. Reilly on behalf of the Chief, Broadcast Bureau, Federal Communications Commission.

1. Here we are faced again with the threshold and troublesome questions relating to remand of a proceeding in the post-oral argument terminal stage of an already long, complex and extensive hearing.[1] As shown by paragraph 3, infra, KXYZ's successive and alternative requests looking toward remand were filed after the issuance of an initial decision (FCC 66D-31) by Hearing Examiner Chester F. Naumowicz, proposing a grant of the application of Crest, and a denial of the application of KXYZ. The Examiner's denial of the KXYZ application was dictated by his conclusion that KXYZ did not meet the Ultravision financial qualification standard which was placed in issue during the early stage of this proceeding, in that neither KXYZ's estimated cost figures nor its estimated first year revenues, upon which qualification depended, were shown on the record to be reliable.

2. The chief basis for the Examiner's determination that KXYZ failed to establish its financial qualifications was the fact that it relied for a major portion of its cost and revenue estimates upon programs to be supplied, without charge to KXYZ by an unestablished[2] network (Unisphere Broadcasting System, hereinafter UBS), whose projected operation was not only based upon an indefinite contingency, but whose programs were, likewise, based upon such indefinite contingency. While the Examiner held that his conclusion on the financial question was dispositive of the KXYZ application, he also reached conclusions on the comparative issue, and he predicated his grant to Crest on favorable resolution of a basic financial qualification issue directed against Crest, as well as on the comparative issue.

3. The successive and alterative post-initial decision and post-oral argument requests of KXYZ looking toward full remand of this proceeding are shown in the following chronology:

(a) In its exceptions, brief and oral argument, KXYZ requested that if the Review Board agreed with the Examiner that there was a substantial doubt as to the ability of UBS to provide the programs relied upon by it for its revenue estimate, the case be remanded to the Examiner with a special issue as to the legal and financial qualifications of UBS. KXYZ claimed that the Examiner's findings and conclusions relative to the ability of UBS to furnish programs went beyond the proper scope of the issues in this proceeding and deprived KXYZ of any fair or reasonable opportunity to meet and establish the qualifications of its proposed network.

(b) At the conclusion of the oral argument before a panel of the Board on February 9, 1967, counsel for KXYZ stated that a motion to reopen the record on matters not involved in the argument would be filed.

(c) On February 10, 1967, KXYZ filed a motion to reopen the record and remand the case for further hearing on additional issues relative to the financial and character qualifications of Crest on the grounds that Bernard Calkins, a 25-percent stock subscriber of Crest, no longer had a bank loan commitment of $250,000 on which he relied to fulfill his subscription commitment to Crest; and that Crest failed to notify the Commission of changes in Mr. Calkins' financial circumstances and business interests.

(d) On February 24, 1967, KXYZ filed a petition for leave to amend its application to permit consideration of an alternative programing and financial proposal, which amendment, if accepted, would by its very nature, require a remand of KXYZ's application for rehearing on the same basic issue of its financial qualifications under the Ultravision standard, on which the application was previously heard.

4. For the reasons detailed in paras. 40-45, infra, the Board has concluded that KXYZ was aware of or could, with due diligence, have presented the alleged new facts set forth in paragraph 3(c) above, concerning Mr. Calkins of the Crest Co. at an earlier date and in any event, prior to the scheduled oral argument before the Board held on February 9, 1967; nevertheless, it is the Board's view that KXYZ's post-oral argument pleadings relating to Mr. Calkins create substantial questions with respect (a) to possible misrepresentations or concealment of material facts by Mr. Calkins, if not Crest, concerning his personal bank loan; (b) to the knowledge, if any, of Crest's remaining six stockholders of these newly alleged facts concerning the alleged unavailability of Calkins' bank loan; and (c) if so (i) to the failure of Crest to report these changed circumstances in accordance with § 1.65 of the Commission's rules; and (ii) to the resultant effect of these circumstances, upon the applicant's financial, as well as other, qualifications. In view of these substantial questions, the Board believes it must, of necessity, reopen and remand the proceeding for further hearing on the Crest application on new issues specified, infra, relating to the availability of Calkins' bank loan. As our reasons are discussed infra, they need not be repeated here; however, we note in passing that these newly alleged facts concerning Calkins and Crest, make a further evidentiary hearing mandatory because on the basis of this new development, it cannot be determined in accordance with the requirements of section 309 of the Communications Act, whether public interest would or would not be served by a grant of Crest's application.

5. In passing the Board further notes that the present situation with respect to Crest is markedly different than the situation concerning KXYZ. As will be more fully shown in paragraphs 34-39, infra, there are no new developments or changed circumstances as to KXYZ arising after the close of the record or after the initial decision which impair the evidentiary facts adduced at the hearing, foreclosing at this time, as in the case of Crest, the required public interest determination. As will also be shown below, KXYZ had adequate notice under the Ultravision financial qualification issue, of the requirements of the issue, and of its own burden of proof established by law on the applicant in accordance with section 309(e) of the Communications Act,[3] to prove, among other matters, that it, KXYZ would receive from UBS the programs it had represented as being available to it without cost and as being available as its source of revenues.

6. However, apart from introducing the affiliation agreement with UBS (an unestablished network), KXYZ stood apart from this vital aspect of its case as if KXYZ had nothing to do with it. In pursuing this hard position throughout the course of this hearing irrespective of developments during the evidentiary process, KXYZ maintained steadfastly—albeit erroneously—that the status of UBS as an unestablished network is no different than that of a long-time existent network, and that the KXYZ-UBS affiliation agreement, per se, established the availability of its proposed programs. It is true, as urged by KXYZ that, under some circumstances not involved here, the Commission has noticed the commonly recognized fact that longtime existing networks are, in fact, program suppliers based on their established practices, as well as the plethora of information in the Commission's files which establishes that they are, in fact, program suppliers. This is done by the administrative practice known as the official notice doctrine, following the traditional judicial notice concept long familiar in court proceedings. As stated in the Attorney General's Manual on the Administrative Procedure Act, page 79, the purpose of the official notice doctrine is to avoid "laborious proof of what is obvious and notorious," subject to opportunity by opposing parties for rebuttal or explanation. As stated in Jones on Evidence, Volume 1, Chapter IV, paragraph 105, page 188 (a) "The maxim that what is known need not be proved, manifesta (or notoria) * * * may be traced far back in the civil and the canon law; indeed, it is probably coeval with legal procedure itself * * *"; and (b) "the fundamental guide in determining the facts which may be judicially known is notoriety or the common and general knowledge" of well-informed persons.

7. Applying these tests relating to judicial or official notice, it is evident that notice cannot be taken of the ability of an unestablished network to supply programs because the essential element—common recognition—is lacking. Before going any further perhaps it should be emphasized that the Commission, the Hearing Examiner, and the Board are not originating lawmakers with respect to the rules of evidence relating to the doctrine of judicial or official notice, or to the tests set forth above regarding these doctrines. And perhaps it should be emphasized too that at no point during this proceeding did KXYZ ask that official notice be taken of any information in the Commission's files which would establish the availability of its assumed UBS network programs. As indicated above, apart from the common recognition of longtime existing networks as program suppliers, there is a plethora of information in the Commission's files which establishes that longtime existent networks are, in fact, program suppliers. However, except for the existence of its name, the Commission's files are devoid of any information whatsoever concerning UBS. Hence, in the absence of competent evidence establishing the availability of such UBS network programs, it is impossible to make a finding that KXYZ will have these programs available for a substantial portion of its revenues.

8. In short, it is the Board's view as shown by paragraphs 12-32 below, that KXYZ's position in its exceptions, brief, and oral argument, is totally lacking in merit because it stems from KXYZ's own disinclination to sustain its own burden of proof under the Ultravision financial qualification issue and to establish on this record by convincing evidence that it has reasonable assurance of the availability of the bulk of the programs upon which it relied for its cost and revenue estimates. Under this circumstance, the Board finds no justification whatsoever for KXYZ's belatedly filed restorative amendment which by its very nature, if granted, would require a remand of KXYZ's application for rehearing on the identical issue on which it has already been accorded one fair and full hearing. Certainly, if the impasse with respect to Crest's application had not occurred, it cannot be doubted that there would have been no justification for a successive retrial of KXYZ's application, and the doctrine of administrative finality would have required a denial of the KXYZ's application on the basis of the present record. Analagous cases support our conclusion in this regard.[4]

9. Stated another way, it is the Board's view that if a successive retrial of KXYZ's application was permitted solely because of the further hearing required on Crest's application, we would, in effect, be granting extraordinary relief to KXYZ and rewarding it for its own voluntary inactions and delays, and its voluntary nonacceptance of (a) notice of the issue; (b) elementary principles of law governing the doctrine of official notice; and (c) well established hearing principles and procedures. This we cannot do. Although retention of a choice of applicants is undoubtedly a public interest benefit, which we have weighed in reaching our conclusions with respect to KXYZ, we have also weighed the public interest benefits in the fair, orderly and sound administration of the Commission's business which would be frustrated and thwarted effectively if such a reward of rehearing was to be granted to KXYZ, under the circumstances of this case. Thus, while the Board has considered a full remand of this proceeding on the basis of KXYZ's belatedly filed successive and alternative petitions, we have concluded that the principles of fair, orderly and sound administration of the Commission's business compel (a) a conclusion which would preclude KXYZ from entangling captiously its own application in the further hearing with respect to Crest's application; (b) a denial of the KXYZ application on the basis of the present record; and (c) severance of KXYZ's application from this consolidated proceeding.

[1] This proceeding involves two conflicting applications, both seeking a construction permit for a new UHF television facility on Channel 26, at Houston, Tex. The applications were filed in 1964, designated for hearing in 1965, and were heard in a consolidated proceeding commencing May 26, 1965, continued on several days in December 1966, and January and March 1966, when the record was closed on March 26, 1966. On June 22, 1966, Hearing Examiner Chester F. Naumowicz, Jr., released his initial decision (FCC 66D-31). Exceptions to the initial decision were filed on August 5, 1966, by KXYZ and by the Broadcast Bureau; reply of Crest was filed on August 24, 1966, and oral argument was held before a panel of the Board on February 9, 1967. Thereafter, KXYZ filed successive petitions which if granted would result in a full remand of this proceeding both with respect to Crest's, as well as KXYZ's own application. (See, par. 3, infra.) Pleadings concerning these post-oral argument petitions were completed on March 27, 1967.

10. Finally, the Board finds no immediate or acute public need for additional television service in Houston at this time which might outweight any of the aforementioned public interest considerations requiring the denial of such extraordinary relief as a successive retrial to KXYZ. As indicated in paragraph 3 of the Examiner's initial decision, Houston has three operating VHF television stations; two outstanding UHF construction permits for television stations which are not as yet in operation; and numerous AM and FM stations. Another UHF channel is allocated to Rosenberg, Tex., which is located near Houston. A construction permit is outstanding for that channel, and Houston is within the Grade A coverage area of the proposed Rosenberg UHF station. Thus, assuming arguendo that the new issues with respect to Crest cannot be resolved in its favor after the further hearing, the Board believes that in this event public interest would best be served by the reopening of this channel for the filing of new applications, rather than at this time permitting KXYZ to have a successive retrial. In sum, we find no equities in KXYZ's position or any countervailing public interest considerations which support such extraordinary relief.

11. The details of our decision which follow are divided into the following parts:

	Paragraph Nos.
I. The KYXZ application	12–33
II. KXYZ's petition for leave to amend its application	34–39
III. KXYZ's petition to reopen the record as to Crest	40–45

Accordingly, we turn now to considerations relating to that part of the Hearing Examiner's initial decision with respect to a denial of KXYZ's application.

I. The KXYZ Application

12. The Board has considered (a) that part of the Hearing Examiner's initial decision relating to KXYZ set forth at paragraphs 1–28 of his findings of fact and at paragraphs 40–47 of his conclusions; (b) the exceptions thereto; and (c) the oral argument before the Board on February 9, 1967. Except insofar as these findings of fact and conclusions are modified by this decision and our rulings on the exceptions as set forth in the Appendix [*] hereto, they are adopted by the Board. As shown by paragraph 1 of the initial decision the KXYZ application was heard on the following Ultravision financial qualification issue: [1] (a) To determine the basis of each applicant's (1) estimated construction costs, and (a) estimated operating expenses for the first year of operation; (b) in the event that either applicant will depend upon operation revenues during the first year of operation to meet fixed costs and operating expenses, to determine the basis of each applicant's estimated revenues for the first year of operation; and (c) to determine, in the light of the evidence adduced, which of the applicants has demonstrated a reasonable likelihood of construction and continuing operation of its proposed station in the public interest.

13. Briefly stated, the pivotal factors of the KXYZ proposal are as follows: KXYZ estimates that it will require $727,578 to place its station on the air and operate it for a period of 1 year. Through stock subscriptions and bank loans it will have available the sum of $500,000. In order to establish its financial qualifications, it will require $227,578 in revenues. To meet this requirement, KXYZ has assumed the availability of programs (without cost) from an unestablished network—UBS—in estimating both its costs, as well as its predicted revenues, required for operation of the station. On the assumption of the availability of such network programs KXYZ estimated that it will receive $314,055.30 in first year revenue, consisting of $145,470 as its assumed compensation from the unestablished network, and $168,585.30 in local sales. As found and concluded by the Examiner in his Initial Decision, this record establishes that the foundation of KXYZ's cost and revenue estimates rest on the availability of programs from UBS; that UBS is wholly dependent upon a program supplier—the American Diversified Services (ADS)—for the bulk of the UBS programs to be carried by KXYZ; that ADS now owns or has the rights to the bulk of such programs; that UBS does not itself own or have the rights to such programs; and that ADS is not required or obligated to supply any programs to UBS until UBS has enlisted a minimum of 18 affiliates in the top 100 markets; and that UBS is considerably short of 18 affiliates at this time. The Board agrees with the Examiner's findings and conclusions in these respects. As further shown by our analysis of the record as set forth below, the Board also concludes that this record does not establish a reasonable likelihood of UBS meeting this contingency; nor has KXYZ demonstrated a reasonable likelihood of construction and continuing operation of its proposed station on the basis of its estimates of costs and revenues.

14. The Board also agrees with the Hearing Examiner's ultimate determination in these respects, and affirms his ultimate conclusion that KXYZ failed to meet its burden of proof under the Ultravision issue. Accordingly, the Board concludes that KXYZ's failure to establish its financial qualifications requires a denial of its application and severance of KXYZ's application from this consolidated proceeding, without regard to the comparative aspects of the Crest application, and without regard to the further hearing required on the Crest application. In short, our decision here is dispositive of the KXYZ application. However, in affirming that portion of the Hearing Examiner's initial decision relating to KXYZ, the Board believes that, since KXYZ's major challenge of the initial decision rests on its assertions grounded on "lack of notice" of its burden of proof and the standard of proof under Ultravision, it is necessary to amplify the Examiner's initial decision to show what occurred during the prehearing stages and the evidentiary process of this proceeding.

15. These are the background prehearing facts: Although the KXYZ and Crest applications were designated for hearing on February 3, 1965, on standard financial qualifications issues and standard comparative issues, a few months later and during the prehearing stages of the proceeding, the Commission in Ultravision Broadcasting Co., 1 FCC 2d 544, 5 RR 2d 343 (1965) adopted a new standard for determining the financial qualifications of broadcast applicants so as to permit inquiry into the basis of each applicant's estimated construction costs and estimated operating expenses during the first year of operation. The Commission in Ultravision further imposed the requirement that evidentiary proof be submitted to support such estimated costs and expenses, and made clear that an applicant would be required to demonstrate its ability to meet all fixed charges and operating expenses during the first year of operation either by proof that adequate funds are available and committed to the proposed station for this purpose without income, or by "a convincing evidentiary showing that the available and committed funds will be supplemented by sufficient advertising or other revenue to enable the applicant to discharge its financial obligations during the first year" of operation. (See 5 RR 2d 343, 347.)

16. In its Ultravision decision, the Commission further made clear that programing and effectuation of program proposals are integral factors to be considered in determining the financial qualifications of applicants. The Commission stated that "Applicants for broadcast stations are expected to plan carefully their programing and other operations" and that they should submit evidentiary proof concerning the amounts allocated for staffing, programing, fixed charges and other expenses during the first year of operation and "to establish that the funds allocated for programing are reasonably likely to suffice for effectuation of program proposals." [2] The Commission further stated that since the views expressed in Ultravision represent a departure from the policy concerning the standard of financial qualifications applied in the past, applicants should be afforded an opportunity to revise their program proposals as to hours of broadcast or program content.

17. In Ultravision, the Commission also emphasized that where the viability of the proposed facility during the first year is dependent upon income, the accuracy of the estimate becomes a critical factor in determining whether a continuing operation is likely. The Commission expresaly stated that "In those instances where operation during the first year is dependent upon estimated advertising revenues, the applicant will be required to establish the validity of the estimate." (1 FCC 2d 544, 547–8.) Thus, it is clear that under the Ultravision standard the burden is the applicant's and the burden borne by the applicant is not simply one to show what factor such as, an affiliation with an unestablished network) was the basis for the applicant's estimates, but the standard contemplates a "convincing evidentiary showing" of the reliability of the basis as well as the accuracy of the estimates arrived at.

18. In a public notice adopted July 7, 1965 (FCC 65–595, released July 8, 1965, 1 FCC 2d 550, 5 RR 2d 349, 350), the Commission clarified the applicability of the new financial qualifications standard, stating that "the new standard will be applied to all applications, whether now pending or hereafter filed, for new UHF–TV facilities in markets where three or more VHF stations are presently in operation." Since both KXYZ and Crest seek a new UHF–TV station in Houston where there are three VHF stations in operation, the Ultravision standard became applicable to this proceeding.

19. In order to remove any doubt as to the applicability of the Ultravision standard in this case, the parties agreed at a prehearing conference on July 21, 1965, that the Examiner should certify the matter to the Review Board (FCC 65M–956, released July 23, 1965). By order (FCC 65R–331, released Sept. 3, 1965), the Board directed that the standards set forth in the Commission's clarification notice in the Ultravision proceeding were applicable to the determination of the applicants' financial qualifications under the issues designated in this proceeding, without the necessity of enlarging or modifying existing standard financial qualifications issues.

20. At a further prehearing conference held on September 14, 1965, the parties agreed that by October 6, 1965, they would prepare and submit any amendment or additional exhibits which they believed should be considered in connection with the Ultravision standard. The Examiner implemented this agreement by an order (FCC 65M–1193, released Sept. 15, 1965) wherein he directed the parties to submit such amendments and additional supplemental hearing exhibits which "in their judgment they are required or permitted to submit."

21. On October 13, 1965, KXYZ filed a petition for leave to amend its application with respect to its financial and programing proposals for the purpose of meeting the new financial standard enunciated by the Commission in the Ultravision case, and stated that the material submitted as an amendment would also be offered as hearing exhibits. In its amendment material, KXYZ changed its programing proposal from an independent to a network operation, and specified UBS as the network with which it would be affiliated, predicating its financial estimates on programs to be supplied without charge from the network. KXYZ also proposed to rely on operating revenue, in addition to cash, to establish its financial qualifications. In its comments on the KXYZ petition for leave to amend, the Broadcast Bureau stated that "In fairness, the Broadcast Bureau desires to alert KXYZ that, in our opinion, KXYZ by its amendment has not met the Commission's new financial standard." The Bureau pointed out that "Under the Commission's new financial standard, where an applicant relies upon first year operating revenue to establish its financial qualifications, it must furnish convincing evidence with respect to the basis upon which it arrived at its estimate of first year revenue," and that "This * * * KXYZ has not done."

22. In accepting the amendment, the Examiner stated (FCC 65M–1359, released Oct. 20, 1965) that acceptance of the material as an amendment did not constitute a prejudgment as to the admissibility or evidentiary value of the material as a hearing exhibit, and that it would be well for the parties to give serious consideration to the Bureau's comments and to decide upon what, if any, action is appropriate. At the commencement of the hearing on December 10, 1965, counsel for KXYZ stated that he had some additional material which he proposed to introduce and that "the material is basically intended to be responsive to comments made by the Broadcast Bureau in response to our first amendment of October 13, which in turn was responsive [to] the Commission's Ultravision decision", and that such material represented all of the additional exhibits that KXYZ intended to offer.

23. In sum, it is apparent from the foregoing that during the prehearing stages of this proceeding KXYZ was fully apprised of its burden of proof as the applicant to prove by a "convincing showing" under the new Ultravision standard both the reliability of (a) the underlying factor (the availability of network programing hefe) used in developing its cost and revenue estimates, and (b) the accuracy of the estimates, per se. Indeed, as shown by paragraphs 20 and 21, supra, KXYZ was afforded an opportunity prior to the commencement of the evidentiary hearing to amend its application to meet this new standard, and, in fact, did amend its application both with respect to its financial and programing proposals, predicating its amended financial estimates on a network affiliation rather than its original nonnetwork proposal. Thereafter, certain matters considered to be inadequacies in the KXYZ amended proposal were brought to its attention prior to hearing, and the Examiner urged the parties to give serious consideration to the Bureau's comments and to decide what, if any, action was appropriate. At that time, KXYZ stated that it was submitting all the additional material it intended to offer.

24. We turn now to pertinent aspects of the evidentiary hearing. KXYZ's proposed program schedule consists of approximately 64 percent network commercial programing to be supplied, without cost, to KXYZ by the unestablished network; 18 percent recorded programing; and 15 percent live programing. At the hearing, KXYZ elicited no testimony whatsoever as to the likelihood of effectuation of its network proposal, taking the position that despite the unestablished status of UBS, its network affiliation agreement was no different than an affiliation agreement with a longtime established network, such as NBC, CBS, or ABC.[1] In this connection, it is to be noted that no evidence was presented by KXYZ even concerning the identity of UBS, let alone its ability or capacity to supply the programs comprising KXYZ's programing. KXYZ's witness, Vincent Piano, chairman of the board of UBS, was produced as a witness only because he was requested for cross-examination by Crest. Subsequently, Alvin Feltner, another officer of UBS and sole owner of ADS, was produced at the hearing under subpoena by Crest.

25. It is also of significance to note that the evidence of record concerning [*] Appendix filed as part of original document.

[1] Although this issue also related to Crest's application, and Crest made its showing on its costs to place the station on the air and operate for a 1-year period, Crest was not dependent on predicted revenues to meet these costs, and thus Crest did not offer any revenue predictions. Since Crest was entitled under the Ultravision doctrine to forego the required testing on the Ultravision standards if it had adequate funds without revenues, the Board, like the Hearing Examiner, accords no weight to the estimate of first year revenues set forth in Crest's application.

[2] The Panel of the Commission, that first considered the new Ultravision financial standard, stated: "With respect to programing, the evidence should establish a reasonable likelihood of effectuation with the funds allocated and available for this purpose." They also emphasized that: "The goal to be achieved is the commencement of service at the earliest possible time, followed by provision of a continuing service in the public interest. Only realistic estimates of anticipated revenues, operating expenses, and construction costs based on practical proposals, in light of the obstacles which will be faced by the new stations, will establish whether an applicant has a reasonable likelihood of a continuing operation in the public interest." 4 RR 2d at 664–65.

[1] See para. 5–7, supra.

the question of the availability of UBS (ADS) network programing is replete with colloquies of counsel relating to the scope of permitted inquiry under the Ultravision issue. It is also replete with the objections of KXYZ's counsel to Crest's efforts to examine Mr. Piano on questions concerning the viability of the yet unestablished network, which were sustained by the Hearing Examiner on the basis of the position urged upon him by KXYZ, viz. that a special issue was required for such broad inquiry into the qualifications of a network, per se. Nevertheless, this record is crystal clear that the Hearing Examiner—again in accordance with the position urged upon him by counsel for KXYZ—permitted full exploration of UBS' ability to deliver the specific programs relied upon by KXYZ in its program schedule. See, for example, (a) pages 359, 404, 429 of the transcript, where counsel for KXYZ stated that "the basic question here is the reliance of the applicant upon the availability of the specific programs it has proposed"; (b) page 359 of the transcript, where counsel for KXYZ also stated that it was appropriate to ask "what the programs are" and "whether they are available"; and (c) page 1086 of the transcript where KXYZ's counsel stated what he considered to be the nature of that applicant's own burden of proof, as follows: "We, of course, have a certain burden before the Commission to establish the availability or the reasonable likelihood of the availability of the programing which we propose." And it is to be also noted that the Examiner ruled, in accordance with the position taken by KXYZ, that it was permissible for Crest to inquire into the specific commitments made by UBS to KXYZ and how UBS proposed to meet those commitments, but that, absent a specific issue, Crest would not be entitled to go into the qualifications of the network organization. (T. 380, 431–32.) Thus, the question of the availability of its proposed programs was recognized by KXYZ throughout the course of the evidentiary hearing, as a legitimate and necessary area of inquiry under the Ultravision standard; nevertheless, KXYZ relied solely upon its network affiliation arrangement as the vital factor underlying its estimates of costs and revenues, and, as its only evidence of the foundation supporting the reliability of those estimates. Obviously, with the network arrangement in the forefront of KXYZ's cost and revenue estimates, those estimates become meaningless unless there is a "convincing showing" that the network proposal to supply program material is reasonably realistic and not fiction. The background, as well as the details of KXYZ's network affiliation arrangement with the unestablished network, as shown by the evidence of record, are detailed below.

26. First, the record discloses that (a) the affiliation agreement, dated October 1, 1965, was transmitted to KXYZ by a letter dated September 29, 1965, on the letterhead of Vic Piano Associates—not UBS, and Vic Piano Associates is an organization engaged in selling national spot advertising and has never engaged in the business of program distribution or syndication; (b) Vic Piano Associates and UBS are under common ownership except with respect to the interest of Alvin Feltner, who has no interest in Vic Piano Associates; (c) Feltner is founder and owner of ADS, UBS's program supplier; (d) UBS was incorporated in August 1965; (e) at that time, KXYZ's application had been designated for hearing on a financial qualification issue, and at that time KXYZ proposed nonnetwork programing; (f) approximately 1 month after the incorporation of UBS and on September 3, 1965, the Board released its order, directing that the Ultravision standard was applicable to the subject proceeding; (g) on October 13, 1965, KXYZ filed its petition to amend its application in light of the Ultravision standard by which it changed its financial and nonnetwork proposal to a financial proposal grounded on an affiliation with the UBS network; (h) all the negotiations leading to the affiliation were conducted between Lester Kamin, KXYZ's president and principal stockholder, and Vic Piano; and (i) all negotiations were conducted "on the phone and by correspondence" and at no time were there, personal, face to face, discussions, Mr. Kamin being impressed with "what Piano had to offer" on the basis of material he received from Mr. Piano's firm "as a mass mailing." (Tr. 667.)

27. Secondly, the record discloses that at the time of the hearing, UBS did have an office in New York, but to the extent that it had any staff, it was in actuality the staff of Vic Piano Associates who were engaged in selling national spot advertising, and not in program distribution.

28. Thirdly, the record discloses that despite the foregoing evidence which establishes that UBS can at best be characterized as an incipient organization looking toward becoming a program supplier, Mr. Piano unqualifiedly testified that UBS could "deliver that schedule [KXYZ's proposed programs] today" (Tr. 408), and that 80–85 percent of KXYZ's network programs were "in the can" and owned by UBS. (Tr. 412.)

29. Finally, the record discloses that in rebuttal, Crest, pursuant to a subpoena, produced Alvin Feltner, who as indicated above is the owner of ADS, and also an officer of UBS. Mr. Feltner testified that UBS is not a network yet, but is "a proposed network, a network in formation"; that while a projection for commencement of operation on August 15, 1966, was made, that projection was based on the assumption that the network would be able by that time to deliver to advertisers a minimum of 18 affiliates in 18 major markets; that ADS has agreed (conditionally) to sell programs to UBS and supply it with a full network schedule of programing; that the programs ADS proposes to supply UBS belong to ADS and to the other suppliers to which ADS has contractual obligations; that UBS does not have title to or ownership of any of the programs; that at the present time, the right of UBS to use the programs is completely dependent on the agreement between ADS and UBS; that the agreement is not now effective, but is contingent upon UBS obtaining affiliation agreements with stations in 18 major markets in the top 100 markets; and that there are not enough stations now committed that are on the air to provide a network.[9]

30. On the basis of Feltner's testimony, there are conditions precedent to the availability of UBS (ADS) programing, and such conditions negate reasonable assurance that UBS has the ability to provide KXYZ with any of its proposed programing. Despite this fact, the record shows that KXYZ did not object to any portion of Feltner's testimony, and that Feltner was not examined by KXYZ; nor did KXYZ offer into evidence the UBS–ADS contract. In this posture of this proceeding after Feltner's testimony, it is evident that the record in this case cannot support conclusions different than those reached by the Examiner that KXYZ had not sustained its burden of proof under the Ultravision standard; and that the totality of the evidence of record does not establish the reasonable likelihood of the availability of the programs relied upon by KXYZ as the foundation of its cost and revenue estimates. In this posture of this case after Feltner's testimony concerning the substance of the contract, the Board further believes that it was incumbent upon KXYZ at the conclusion of Feltner's testimony, to have offered into evidence the UBS–ADS contract if it differed from Feltner's testimony in any material respects. However, this KXYZ did not do. And, in the Board's further view, it is no answer to [9] Although Piano testified that UBS would supply network programs to KXYZ on a bonus basis, without charge, in the event the network was unable to sell them, the bonus plan, like the so-called network plan, is, of necessity, based upon the supposition of the availability of the programs from ADS. As shown by Feltner's testimony, he, as owner of ADS controls all of these programs; he, as owner of ADS, also controls distribution of the programs from ADS to UBS for redistribution to the station; and he (ADS) is not obligated to make any programs whatsoever available to UBS until the latter has the prescribed number of affiliates. Thus, the Board has attached no significant weight to Piano's testimony concerning the bonus plan or to the decision of the UBS board of directors that they "wanted to supply [ADS] programs [without charge] as long as the network had the financial ability to do so." (Tr. 1781.) Obviously, all of the testimony concerning the bonus plan is entitled to little or no weight under the circumstances here where the record does not establish that KXYZ's supposition on the availability of programs is a reasonably realistic foundation for its estimates. In this connection it is to be noted that the Broadcast Bureau originally gave some weight in its proposed findings of fact to Piano's testimony concerning the bonus plan, but that the Bureau subsequently reconsidered its position in the light of Feltner's testimony, as set forth in par. 29, supra, and stated in its brief that the Broadcast Bureau supports the findings and conclusions made by the Examiner.

KXYZ's disinclination to go forward with its burden of proceeding with the evidence when the record all but cried out for this contract if it differed from Feltner's testimony, to now rely upon an Examiner's ruling[9] prior to Feltner's testimony which foreclosed Crest—not KXYZ which had the burden of proof—from subpoening UBS's contracts with suppliers. Although KXYZ now appears to suggest, inferentially at least, at page 12 of its Brief that it would have placed the UBS–ADS contract in the record had the Examiner ruled in Crest's favor, it is to be noted that (a) Feltner's testimony was presented without objection from KXYZ; (b) KXYZ has in no wise tendered this contract in any of its post-initial decision pleadings; and (c) KXYZ has not offered to show that UBS has any greater ability now to supply its network programs than it did at the time of the hearing.[10]

31. It is apparent from the foregoing that KXYZ knew throughout this proceeding that it had to establish its financial ability; that it had to prove by a "convincing showing" the reliability of its estimates of costs and revenues to support a conclusion of a reasonable likelihood of construction and continuing operation; that it knew that it had to show a reasonable likelihood of the availability of its assumed network programing because its estimates were contingent upon the availability of such programing. But KXYZ chose to rely solely upon a network affiliation arrangement, without offering any evidence of the efficacy of the organization, as the foundation of its cost and revenue estimates, as well as its evidence of the reliability of those estimates. In the Board's view, KXYZ's mere reliance on this affiliation agreement with an unestablished network, particularly in light of the totality of the evidence of record, cannot be deemed as constituting either a realistic foundation for its estimates or a "convincing showing" of the reliability of those estimates. In short, the Board concludes that KXYZ's position relating to its alleged "lack of notice" concerning its burden of proof is completely unsupportable and serves merely to divert attention from the fact that KXYZ was disinclined throughout this proceeding—for reasons best known to itself—to accept the standard of proof of a "convincing showing" required by Ultravision[11] in establishing the reliability of its cost and revenue estimates. Moreover, in standing pat on its network affiliation agreement, unmoved by developments during the evidentiary process, KXYZ has knowingly assumed the risk of nonpersuasion and has completely overlooked the fact that in this, like any other case involving financial qualifications, the Commission is faced with the statutory requirement that it make an affirmative finding of qualification, and in order to do so it must have before it substantial evidence to support such finding. As long ago as 1938 the Commission was faced with a situation where an applicant relied upon its parent network, pursuant to a legally binding contract, for financing essential to the subsidiary's qualification under a standard financial inquiry. The Commission stated:

> • • • [t]he Commission is unable to make a finding that the [parent] Yankee Network is financially capable of fulfilling its legal obligation to the applicant, unless we indulge in broad assumptions and general inferences from the incomplete and confusing evidence submitted by the applicant. That we cannot do. The Commission, in granting an application, is under a duty to make an affirmative finding on the financial qualification of the applicant, and, in doing so, it can only rely on affirmative and satisfactory evidence submitted by the applicant. If the applicant fails in his burden of making such a showing, then the Commission is not able to find him financially qualified. The Colonial Network, Inc., 5 FCC 654, 655 (1938).

32. In reaching these conclusions with respect to KXYZ, the Board has not decided here, nor is it necessary to do so, the questions (a) whether the Examiner erred, based upon the position urged upon him by KXYZ, when he foreclosed Crest—not KXYZ which had the burden of proof[12] from its attempts to explore broader inquiries concerning UBS as a network (par. 25 above) or, indeed (b) whether it was KXYZ's responsibility to do so under the Ultravision standard particularly where, as here, there is such a vital interrelationship of programing to be supplied without cost to the applicant by an unestablished network or program supplier, and estimates of cost, expenses, and revenues. We rest our decision here, as did the Examiner, solely on the fact that KXYZ's showing is grossly deficient on the basis of KXYZ's own counsel's statement that "We, of course, have a certain burden before the Commission to establish the availability of the programming which we propose." (Tr. 1086.)

33. KXYZ has also advanced several arguments challenging the Examiner's initial decision which the Board believes are misinterpretations of what the Examiner actually found and concluded. Thus, for example, KXYZ contends that the Examiner erred in grounding his findings and conclusions on availability of programing because, in essence, this involves the financial qualifications of the network and not the applicant, and is outside the scope of the issues. As shown above in paragraphs 25, 27, and 32, supra, this is inconsistent with KXYZ's own position throughout the course of the evidentiary hearing. KXYZ also argues in this connection that the Examiner, despite his evidentiary rulings, concluded, in effect, in paragraphs 24–25 of his initial decision that UBS has no legal right to furnish its proposed network service, and that it does not have the financial ability to produce and supply programs. An examination of these paragraphs shows that KXYZ's argument is wholly without foundation. The findings in paragraphs 24–25 deal with the availability of programs to KXYZ. In paragraph 24 the Examiner found that "UBS does not itself own or have the rights to any film or tape series"; that "ADS owns or has the right to those film or tape shows proposed by KXYZ which are already in existence"; and that ADS is not required to supply any programs to UBS until UBS has enlisted a minimum of 18 affiliates in the top 100 markets, which it had not done at the time of the hearing. These findings are based on the record testimony of Mr. Feltner, owner of ADS, which, as pointed out above, was received in evidence (a) without objection from KXYZ and (b) without any attempt by KXYZ to proffer the UBS–ADS contract if the contract materially differed from Feltner's testimony. Likewise, in paragraph 25 the Examiner found that UBS owns no facilities; employs no technical personnel, etc. All of these findings are based on evidence of record. It is obvious that the Examiner made no findings or conclusions regarding the financial qualifications of UBS, but found and concluded that KXYZ has not shown that its proposed network programing can reasonably be expected to be available to it to support its cost and revenue estimates.

II. KXYZ's Petition for Leave To Amend Its Application

34. KXYZ on February 24, 1967, filed a petition for leave to amend its application so as to permit consideration of an alternative proposal involving new programing, new revenue estimates and new financing. This amendment was filed eleven months after the record was closed; 8 months after an adverse initial decision; and 2 weeks after oral argument on KXYZ's exceptions to the Examiner's findings and conclusions on its existing proposal which was the subject matter of an extensive hearing. Section 1.522 of the Commission's rules provides that post-designation amendments may be granted only for good cause shown. KXYZ makes no reference to the requirements of this rule, and has failed to allege any good cause for acceptance of

[9] In a written order denying Crest subpoenas duces tecum (FCC 66M–247 released Feb. 17, 1966) for the UBS supplier contracts the Examiner stated that: "The foregoing is not intended to suggest whether any modification of the issue would be appropriate or whether KXYZ has met its burden of proof absent further information about Unisphere. Matters relating to enlargement of issues are not in the hands of the Examiner, and questions as to what has or has not been proven will come on before the Examiner at a later stage of the proceeding."

[10] See KXYZ's petition for leave to amend discussed infra at para. 34–39.

[11] The statutory burden of proof established by law in accordance with sec. 309 of the Communications Act rests on the applicant, and it is the applicant who determines, in light of the issues, what evidence it shall present to meet its burden. As suggested by Crest in its reply (footnote 4) to KXYZ's exceptions "It would be absurd to suppose that if KXYZ had offered such [additional] evidence as part of its direct case, in order to meet its burden of justifying its estimated network revenues, it would have been excluded because of absence of a 'special issue.'" In any event, it is clear that KXYZ did not even attempt to proffer any additional evidence or to secure a ruling from the Examiner on such a proffer; instead, it stood pat on its network agreement, unmoved by developments which occurred at the hearing.

[12] See footnote 11, supra.

the amendment at this stage of the proceeding. The petition is, therefore, subject to summary denial as being in violation of the Commission's rules.

35. In offering its amended programing and financial proposal, KXYZ asserts that the amendment is merely an "alternative" which would be utilized "in the event UBS does not commence operations or in the event the commencement of these operations are delayed substantially." In support of the propriety of this offer, KXYZ contends that the Commission has held that consideration of alternative proposals—one based upon the assumption of network affiliation and one not—is proper and consistent with the processes of the agency, citing WHDH, Inc., 13 RR 507 (1957). The WHDH case is clearly not in point and does not support the offer of an alternative proposal by KXYZ at this stage of the proceeding. In the WHDH case, two of the applicants proposed alternative network and nonnetwork operations at the outset of the hearing and their applications were heard on that basis. A third applicant objected to the receipt in evidence of the alternative proposals. The Commission held that the objection was not well taken and that the Examiner properly made findings based on both schedules. The Commission further stated: "To us, the alternative proposals constitute no more than assurance by the applicants advancing them as to full disclosure of proposed plans and insurance to the applicant should the network situation change during the pendency of the proceeding rendering suspect the ability to effect an affiliation." (WHDH, supra, at p. 565a, footnote 41.) In the instant case, KXYZ did not offer an alternative proposal[14] at the outset of the hearing and did not submit any evidence with respect to such proposal. There were no alternative proposals before the Examiner, as in the WHDH case, on which he could make any findings. Here, KXYZ relied solely on its network proposal throughout the hearing and still continues to rely on that proposal.

36. KXYZ also contends that in WJR, The Goodwill Station, Inc., 16 RR 321 (1958), the Commission held that a change in an applicant's network affiliation, even after a hearing on competing applications for the same television facility, is not significant. KXYZ's reliance on the WJR case is also misplaced. In that case, the Commission held that a permittee could properly modify a network proposal found after hearing to be impractical due to circumstances beyond its control. In this case, KXYZ is not a permittee seeking to modify its network proposal; KXYZ is an applicant seeking to establish its financial qualifications after the close of the hearing record through the introduction of new matter outside the record. KXYZ's further argument that an applicant has no control over the operation of a network with which it may propose affiliation and has no power to compel affiliation with any particular network, is not based on any new development and does not alter the situation in this case at this stage of the proceeding. KXYZ must rest its case for decisional purposes on the basis of the existing record.

37. Adequate opportunities were afforded KXYZ prior to and during the course of the hearing to amend its application and to adduce all available evidence to establish its financial qualifications under the Ultravision standard (see para. 16–21, supra). It is apparent that KXYZ is now attempting by post-oral argument amendment, to correct its total failure to submit affirmative and satisfactory evidence throughout an entire hearing during which specific evidence was actually introduced by its opponent to rebut a finding of qualification. It is well established that "an applicant cannot be permitted to rest on his showing and then, after an adverse decision, rush in and request the Commission to accept an amendment which would correct a weakness in his case, of which he must have been aware from the time the application was filed." James J. B. Scanlon (KCAT), 9 RR 2d 606, 608 (1967).[15]

38. Although KXYZ contends that the programing being tendered is identical to that which it originally proposed prior to its amendment to a network operation, it is clear that the cost estimates based upon this alternative program schedule and the sources of revenue which would be available to meet these cost estimates, as well as the additional bank financing proposed, are new matters, and none of them, including the program proposal, are matters of record. KXYZ admits that its amendment goes "to the basic issue of the qualifications of KXYZ Television under the standard announced in Ultravision." It is obvious that a consideration of these new matters would require a remand of the case for a rehearing on the very issue on which KXYZ has already been afforded a full and fair hearing. The Commission has repeatedly held that a rehearing will not be granted merely to permit an applicant additional opportunity to present material which has been continuously available, in order to make a better case for grant of its application.[16] Moreover, as already stated in paragraphs 5–10, supra, the Board finds no equities in KXYZ's position and no public interest considerations warranting the extraordinary relief of a sucessive retrial on KXYZ's application.

39. Now that the initial decision has gone against it, KXYZ wants to persuade the Board with a supplemental record. As stated by the court in Colorado Radio Corp., supra, "We cannot allow the [applicant] to sit back and hope that a decision will be in its favor, and then, when it isn't, to parry with an offer of more evidence. No judging process in any branch of government could operate efficiently or accurately if such a procedure were allowed." It is well settled that "orderliness, expedition, and finality in the adjudicating process" are appropriate considerations in passing on a petition of this nature at this terminal stage of the proceeding. (Cf. Valley Telecasting Co., Inc., supra.) After a careful review of all the relevant factors in this case, the Board finds that KXYZ's post-oral argument petition for leave to amend comes too late in the proceeding without any justification, and that no grounds for a grant of the petition have been shown. Accordingly, the petition will be denied.

III. KXYZ's Motion to Reopen Record as to Crest

40. At the conclusion of oral argument before the Board on February 9, 1967, counsel for KXYZ stated his intention to file a motion on matters not involved in the argument. The motion, filed February 10, relates to Crest's financial qualification.[17] Crest's financial proposal, which does not require reliance on revenue, was largely financed by stockholder commitments totalling $1 million; the largest single commitments were two in the amount of $250,000. One of these commitments, that of Bernard E. Calkins, was dependent in turn upon a loan to Calkins evidenced by a commitment letter from the Medical Center National Bank of Houston promising a loan in the amount of Calkins' subscription, subject to review and possible pledge of stock.[18] Crest, which projected costs of $1,366,215.22, would have only $1,200,000 without the Calkins subscription; this total is $166,215.22 short of the requisite sum.

41. KXYZ's motion to reopen, supported by an affidavit of Lester Kamin, KXYZ's President, states, on the basis

[14] As shown above at par. 21, KXYZ, after the inclusion of the Ultravision issue, chose to modify its proposal from a nonnetwork to a network proposal despite the fact that it could have submitted at that time merely an alternative network proposal. However, if it had then proceeded on the alternative program basis, it would, of necessity, have had to include its costs of nonnetwork programing in its cost estimates, as contrasted with its own chosen method of proceeding by assuming the availability of the network programs, without any costs whatsoever.

[16] See: Central Broadcasting Co., supra; WNOW, Inc., supra; WECK Broadcasting Corp., supra; Louis Adelman, supra.

[17] In addition to the matters discussed herein, KXYZ's motion requests further inquiry into the availability of Crest's site, which KXYZ challenged unsuccessfully at hearing, although no such issue was designated. KXYZ now relies upon the fact that the property is being advertised for sale or lease. However, Crest's opposition pleading attaches an affidavit from the president of the owner corporation stating that "the foregoing premises are still available to Crest Broadcasting Co. upon the same terms and conditions outlined in my letter of Jan. 10, 1966." The Board finds no justification for further inquiry at this time in view of the foregoing facts.

[18] While KXYZ challenged this original commitment at hearing, the letter was standard in form and analogized by the bank's loan officer, in a deposition, to similar letters relied upon by KXYZ; KXYZ's challenge accordingly failed.

of an alleged January 1967 conversation between Lester Kamin, since July 11, 1966, a stockholder in the bank, and Joe H. Hodges, since June 9, 1966, president of the Medical Center National Bank, that the $250,000 line of credit relied upon by Calkins is no longer available and that Calkins was so informed "several months ago." The motion and affidavit further state that Calkins is no longer a director of the bank, as he was at the time of hearing and is shown on Commission records to be. In connection with Calkins' ability to meet his commitment, KXYZ also notes Crest's failure to inform the Commission pursuant to Rule 1.65 that as of June 30, 1966, Calkins' company relinquished its franchise to operate a bus company in Wichita, Kans., one of the two principal business interests held by Calkins at the time of hearing.[19] On the basis of these alleged occurrences and Crest's failure to report them to the Commission, KXYZ requests that the case be remanded for additional evidence under the existing financial issue "and under such additional issues as the Review Board deems appropriate."

42. The Broadcast Bureau supported the KXYZ motion on the grounds that the Calkins loan is essential to Crest's qualification; and that KXYZ's showing is therefore sufficient to warrant further hearing on the availability of the $250,000 loan; whether facts have been concealed or misrepresented in connection therewith; whether Rule 1.65 has been complied with in connection with both the loan and the loss of franchise; and the effect of all the foregoing evidence on Crest's character qualifications. Crest opposed the motion as untimely; alleged that the time of KXYZ's request "border[s] on abuse of the Commission's processes"; and attached an affidavit by Calkins categorically denying the allegations of KXYZ.[20] As to the availability of the original loan, Calkins' affidavit states that in May 1966, the bank changed hands; that he, Calkins, had lunch with Messrs. Watson and Sellers, the new cochairman of the Board, who specifically stated after "full and complete discussion" that the bank was "fully satisfied with all existing loans and commitments made by the bank [to me] including, specifically, the * * * $250,000 in connection with * * * Crest * * *"; that "there was never any discussion by the Board of Directors or any direction to Mr. Joe Hodges or anyone else to rescind the bank's commitment"; and that affiant has never received any oral or written notice from anyone rescinding said letter.

43. KXYZ's reply, with attached affidavits, places in dispute the allegations of Calkins as to his dealings with the current management of the Medical Center National Bank. An affidavit from cochairman of the Board, Sellers, contradicts Calkins' statement of the bank's willingness to honor the preexisting loan letter, stating that:

> There was no discussion during this luncheon on the financial condition and financial relation of Mr. Calkins with the Medical Center Bank * * * At no time during this luncheon or subsequently [sic] to this date have I ever had any discussion with Mr. Calkins either direct or indirect in regard to a letter of commitment of Medical Center National Bank in regard to his investing in Crest Broadcasting Co. This is the only time that I have ever lunched with Mr. Calkins.

An affidavit from bank president Joe Hodges (cited in Kamin's affidavit as KXYZ's informant on the matter) is also attached to KXYZ's reply. Hodges swears that "late in 1966 I discussed this matter [of the October 5, 1965, letter of commitment] directly with Mr. Calkins in my office"; that the review clause was discussed; and that "I pointed out to Mr. Calkins that the money market was considerably different compared to October of 1965 and that our feeling was that at this time we should be unable to make such a loan." Hodges further averred the bank in fact does "not intend to make a $250,000 loan to Mr. Calkins." In view of the substantial disparity between Calkins' statements and those made by bank officials to whom his affidavit was shown, KXYZ further suggests that a substantial question is raised as to whether Calkins' affidavit filed with Crest's opposition, contained deliberate and willful misrepresentations.

44. Crest's contention that the Board cannot inquire into the foregoing charges because KXYZ's motion is untimely filed must be rejected because such serious charges which may affect the basic qualifications of Crest must be considered by us irrespective of the untimely manner in which they were brought to our attention. In view of these charges of misconduct and the substantial and material questions of fact that have been raised, we are unable, without further hearing, to make the statutory finding required by section 309 of the Act that a grant of the Crest application would serve the public interest. Accordingly, we are ordering an inquiry into the matter. As previously indicated, issues going to Crest's basic qualifications have been requested. All of these issues are based in whole or in part on allegations as to the availability of Calkins' $250,000. The pleadings before the Board contain directly contradictory sworn statements by Calkins, a Crest principal, and by the bank officers with whom he allegedly dealt. The public interest requires hearing resolution of the question raised.

45. In view of all the foregoing, the Crest application must be remanded for further hearing to determine whether the bank loan commitment to Calkins, upon which not only Calkins' subscription to Crest but also Crest's financial qualifications depend, is still in force. In this connection, questions are also raised as to whether Calkins or both Calkins and Crest have concealed facts from the Commission or have misrepresented facts in pleadings filed with the Commission. The burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence and the burden of proof on the remand issues are placed on Crest as the party with peculiar knowledge of the facts in issue.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the petition for leave to amend filed by KXYZ Television, Inc., on February 24, 1967, is denied; that the request for acceptance of response and response of KXYZ Television, Inc., filed March 27, 1967, is dismissed as moot; that the statement of Crest Broadcasting Co. regarding post-oral argument pleadings of KXYZ Television, Inc., filed April 3, 1967, is dismissed; and that the motion to reopen record, remand proceeding and for enlargement of issues, filed February 10, 1967, by KXYZ Television, Inc., is granted to the extent hereinafter indicated; and

It is further ordered, That the application of KXYZ Television, Inc. (File No. BPCT–3220), for construction permit for a new television broadcast station on Channel 26 at Houston, Tex., is severed from this consolidated proceeding and is denied; and

It is further ordered, That the record in this proceeding is reopened; and this proceeding is remanded to the Hearing Examiner for adduction of evidence and issuance of a supplementary initial decision on the following issues:

(1) To determine whether Bernard Calkins has a firm commitment from the Medical Center National Bank for a loan in the amount of $250,000; and whether, in light of the evidence adduced, Calkins has the ability to meet his $250,000 commitment to Crest Broadcasting Co.

(2) To determine whether, in connection with the prosecution of its application, Crest Broadcasting Co. and/or any of its stockholders has concealed from or misrepresented to the Commission any facts relevant to the finances of Bernard Calkins.

(3) To determine whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, Crest Broadcasting Co. failed to amend or attempt to amend its application within 30 days after substantial changes were made as required by Rule 1.65.

(4) To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to Issues (1), (2), and (3), whether Crest Broadcasting Co. has the requisite financial and other qualifications to be a licensee of the Commission.

[19] Calkins did notify the Commission of the loss of his Houston bus franchise, his other principal business, at about the time the record closed.

[20] Also attached but not referred to in the pleading is an irrevocable letter of credit from the Capital National Bank of Houston to Calkins in the face amount of $250,000. This letter, which KXYZ alleges in an affidavit filed with its reply, was in fact negotiated and paid for by an unnamed third party, is not properly a part of the record and is in any case irrelevant to the matters before the Board.

RADIO SAN JUAN, INC. (WRSJ)

Order Designating Application for Hearing on Stated Issues

In re application of Radio San Juan, Inc. (WRSJ), Bayamon, P.R., has: 1560 kc, 250 w, 5 kw-LS, U, request: 1560 kc, 25 kw, 50 kw-LS, DA-2, U, San Juan, P.R., Docket No. 17574, File No. BP-16770, for construction permit.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned and described application for a construction permit to increase power and change station location from Bayamon to San Juan, P.R., and request for waiver of § 73.24(g) of the Commission's rules.

2. According to the data submitted by the applicant, the proposal violates § 73.24(g) of the Commission's rules which section provides that the population within the 1 v/m contour cannot exceed 1 percent of the population within the 25 mv/m contour. The applicant's data indicates that the population within the proposed daytime 1 v/m contour is 18,861 or 2.62 percent of the population included within the proposed daytime 25 mv/m contour (719,567). Regarding the proposed nighttime operation, the population within the 1 v/m contour is 9,253 or 1.46 percent of that within the proposed nighttime 25 mv/m contour (633,211).

3. In the applicant's request for waiver of the foregoing section of the Commission's rules, no reasons are given to justify such an action. Accordingly, the application must be set for hearing to determine whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of that section of the rules.

4. The applicant proposes to utilize the present antenna site and construct one additional tower to be utilized for the proposed two-tower directional operation. The present site does not appear to be adequate to accommodate the proposed directional antenna system in that the restricted plot of land results in severe curtailment in the length of the ground radials proposed. The ground system around the north tower is essentially restricted to a 30-foot by 30-foot ground screen over a large arc, and the other antenna tower would have the radials restricted to a length of only 73 feet in some directions. Furthermore, there are antenna towers and other structures located within the proposed 1 v/m contour which may adversely affect the proposed operation. Accordingly, an issue is included to determine whether the site is satisfactory for the proposed directional operation.

5. In addition, calculations made by the Commission reveal that minor variations in the operating parameters for the proposed nighttime operation would cause the proposed MEOV's to be exceeded. Accordingly, we must conclude that a substantial question obtains as to whether the antenna system can be adjusted and maintained as proposed, and an appropriate hearing issue is included in this regard.

6. The proposed nighttime radiation parameters do not appear to accurately depict values of radiation in the null areas which would be determined from the proposed directional antenna parameters. Therefore, a hearing issue in this regard is included.

7. A grant of this proposal would bring the tenth local standard broadcast outlet to San Juan while leaving only one station licensed to serve Bayamon, a city with a population of 15,109. This fact we believe, raises a substantial and material question as to whether a grant would result in a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of facilities within the meaning of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. Accordingly, an issue with respect thereto will be included. See WKYR, Inc., 24 RR 1097 (1963).

8. Except as indicated below, the applicant is qualified to construct, own and operate as proposed; however, in view of the foregoing, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the application would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity and is of the opinion that it must be designated for hearing on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the application is designated for hearing at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent Order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the proposed operation of Station WRSJ and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposal of Radio San Juan is in compliance with § 73.24(g) of the Commission's rules concerning population within the 1000 mv/m contour, and, if not, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of said section.

3. To determine whether the present site is satisfactory for the proposed directional antenna system.

4. To determine whether the directional antenna system can be adjusted and maintained within the maximum expected operating values of radiation as proposed.

5. To determine whether the proposed nighttime radiation pattern is in agreement with values of radiation which would be determined from the proposed directional antenna parameters.

6. To determine, in the light of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, whether a grant of the application would provide a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of radio service.

7. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, whether a grant of the application would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

It is further ordered, That in the event of a grant of the application, the construction permit shall contain the following conditions:

1. Submission by the permittee of data made in accordance with §§ 73.48 and 2.579 of the rules for type-acceptance of the proposed transmitter for 25 kilowatts.

2. Pending a final decision in Docket No. 14419 with respect to presunrise operation with daytime facilities, the present provisions of § 73.87 of the Commission rules are not extended to this authorization, and such operation is precluded.

It is further ordered, That to avail itself of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within 20 days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicant herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing within the time and in the manner prescribed in such Rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: July 5, 1967.

Released: July 18, 1967.

Order Rescheduling Procedural Dates

In re application of Romac Baton Rouge Corp., Baton Rouge, La., Docket No. 17005, File No. BPCT-3725, for construction permit for new television broadcast station.

By previous order of the Examiner (FCC 67M-1096) released June 30, 1967, the hearing on the qualifications issues added by the Review Board was scheduled for August 3 and the exchange of applicant's proposed exhibits re these issues was scheduled for July 13, 1967, subject to revision of such dates if found unacceptable to counsel for the applicant in Docket No. 17517 whose interest in these issues arises from their consolidation for hearing at one time both for the purposes of the instant proceeding and of a separate proceeding involving Docket Nos. 17517 and 17518. However, in a prehearing conference held on July 12, 1967, in the proceeding involving the last-mentioned dockets it became evident that the hearing date of August 3 was no longer suitable under the circumstances of the consolidation. Accordingly, the hearing date on these issues as well as the exchange date were rescheduled to meet the new situation.

Pursuant to the rescheduling arrangements made at the July 12 prehearing conference: It is ordered, That the hearing in the above-captioned proceeding is rescheduled from August 3 to September 11, 1967, and the date for exchange of exhibits re the consolidated issues is rescheduled from July 13 to July 21, 1967.

Issued: July 13, 1967.

Released: July 20, 1967.

SALTER BROADCASTING CO. (WBEL) ET AL.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Enlarging Issues

In re applications of Salter Broadcasting Co. (WBEL) et al., South Beloit, Ill., Docket No. 17209, 17210, 17211, 17212, 17213, 17214, 17215, 17217, 17219, File No. BMP-11646; for construction permits.

1. The Review Board has before it for consideration a motion to enlarge issues, filed March 13, 1967, by Victory Broadcasting Co., Inc. (Victory), seeking addition of two engineering issues and a specialized programing issue.[1] Victory is one of the several applicants in this proceeding which seeks authorization to construct a new standard broadcast station to operate on the frequency 1380 kc/s in St. Louis, Mo. The mutually exclusive application of Salter Broadcasting Co. (Salter) looks toward improvement of its existing Station, WBEL, in South Beloit, Ill. By memorandum opinion and order, FCC 67-225, released February 21, 1967, the competing applications were designated for consolidated hearing.

ENGINEERING ISSUES

2. Victory's request for engineering issues is directed to the seven St. Louis applicants proposing to use the transmitter site presently being utilized by Radio Thirteen-Eighty, Inc. (RTEI), which was granted interim authority to operate the facility made vacant as a result of the license revocation of former Station KWK.[1] The requested issues would inquire (a) whether the proposal of any of the applicants will create prohibited overlap with any existing station (§ 73.37) and, if so, whether a preference should be given to applicants whose proposals would not create such overlap, and (b) whether there are any structures in the vicinity of RTEI interim site which would cause distortion in the radiation pattern. In designating the captioned applications for hearing the Commission recognized that operating as proposed, certain of the applicants would cause interference to several existing stations. However, since these existing stations would not be required to accept more interference than they had been required to accept from former Station KWK, the Commission declined to "reexamine old interference matters long since decided solely because we revoked the KWK license * * *."

[1] The following pleadings are also before the Board: Opposition, filed Apr. 12, 1967, by the Broadcast Bureau; joint opposition, filed Apr. 13, 1967, by Archway Broadcasting Corp. (Archway), Home State Broadcasting Corp. (Home State), St. Louis Broadcasting Co. (St. Louis Broadcasting), Six-Eighty-Eight Broadcasting Co. (Six-Eighty-Eight) and Prudential Broadcasting Co. (Prudential); response, filed Apr. 13, 1967, by Archway; reply to Bureau's opposition re programing, filed Apr. 24, 1967, by Victory; and reply to opposition of Bureau and other applicants re engineering, filed Apr. 25, 1967, by Victory.

3. In brief, it now appears to be Victory's position that the proof-of-performance measurements for the RTEI operation show that because of the parasitic problem (electrical interaction) between the tower used by RTEI and the old KWK tower array,[2] RTEI's nondirectional daytime pattern has marked directional characteristics, and that since this parasitic problem is beyond the control of the applicants herein, no truly nondirectional operation can be expected at the RTEI site. According to Victory, as a result of this pattern distortion the proposals of those applicants specifying the RTEI site will involve: (a) New prohibited overlap between their respective 2 mv/m contours and the 25 mv/m contour of Station KJCF (1400 kc/s), Festus, Missouri; (b) an increase in the prohibited overlap which existed between the 0.025 mv/m contour of former Station KWK and the existing 0.5 mv/m contours of Stations KCH (1380 kc/s), Washington, Iowa, and WWCM (1380 kc/s), Brasil, Ind.; (c) a change in the prohibited overlap which existed between former Station KWK and the 0.5 mv/m contour of Stations KUDL (1380 kc/s), Fairway, Kans., and WMTA (1380 kc/s), Central City, Ky.; and (d) a continuation of the prohibited overlap which existed between the 0.5 mv/m contour of former Station KWK and the 0.5 mv/m contour of WPRC (1370 kc/s). To the extent applicants would cause new or increased interference (as contrasted to a restoration of interference caused by former Station KWK) Victory contends inquiry should be made into the question of whether waives of Rule 73.37 is warranted. To the extent no new or increased interference is involved, Victory contends a comparative inquiry is required to determine whether its proposal (which allegedly would not cause interference to the same degree as former Station KWK or those applicants specifying the RTEI site) should be preferred as representing a more efficient use of the frequency.

4. Answering Victory's contention that the measurements from RTEI's proof-of-performance taken with the conductivities from the Figure M–3 map establish overlap between the proposed 2 mv/m contours of the applicants specifying the RTEI site and the 25 mv/m contour of Station KJCF, the Broadcast Bureau states that the two RTEI proof-of-performance radials relied upon by Victory extend to distances of only 13 to 17 miles and straddle the 25 mv/m contour of KJCF. Moreover the Bureau contends that Victory failed to analyze more pertinent measurements which were made to ascertain whether the 2 mv/m contour of former Station KWK would overlap the KJCF 25 mv/m contour and which measurements indicate no such overlap occurred. As to the alleged overlap with Stations WPRC, KCII, WWCM, KUDL, and WMTA, the Bureau maintains that, although the RTEI daytime radiation pattern shows departure from circularity, a comparison of the pattern with former Station KWK's proof-of-performance pattern shows that the radiation from RTEI's single tower is less than that of old KWK in all directions except two—to the south and southwest, and that the five stations referred to by Victory lie within an arc from west-northwest clockwise to south-east where RTEI's radiation is less than that of former Station KWK. Thus, it is the Bureau's position that, at the very least, any preexisting overlap would be reduced, if not eliminated entirely.

5. In their joint opposition, Archway, Home State, St. Louis Broadcasting, Six-Eighty-Eight and Prudential argue that the Commission has already determined not to reexamine the old interference problems involved in the operation of former Station KWK; that the reexamination sought by Victory in the guise of a comparative inquiry would be contrary to the Commission's determination; and that in any event, Victory has failed to allege specific factual allegations to support its motion. According to the engineering statement submitted in support of the joint opposition, RTEI's Director of Engineering was employed to repeat the radial measurements made along the azimuths of 187° T and 210° T shown in RTEI's application and to extend these radials toward KJCF to determine the location of RTEI's 2 mv/m contour. According to the statement, these measurements show a decrease in the inverse distance field along the 187° T radial from 710 mv/m at one mile to 536 mv/m at one mile, but that for the first 13 miles the soil conductivity is identical to that measured during RTEI's proof-of-performance. Assuming the initial radiation were to exist, it is claimed that RTEI's 2 mv/m contour would be extended two miles toward KJCF but that it would not overlap the latter station's 25 mv/m contour at any point. The joint opposition concedes that the parasitic problem caused by the old KWK array does cause some distortion of RTEI's daytime pattern but argues that in the event KWK Broadcasting Corp. (the only applicant specifying the old KWK site) does not receive the contested construction permit, its related company (owner of the site) will sell the property in which case it is reasonable to assume the towers will be removed and sold for salvage.[3]

6. Victory's reply pleading attacks the reliability of the measurement data submitted with the joint opposition and notes that although the inverse distance field on 187° T radial decreased in value, the inverse distance field on the 210° T radial is purported to be the same as shown in the RTEI proof-of-performance. According to Victory this factor casts doubt upon the reliability of the measurements taken along the 210° T radial.

7. The requested issues will not be added. As pointed out by the Bureau, RTEI's daytime radiation pattern is less than that of former Station KWK in the direction of the five stations located west-northwest clockwise to the southeast of St. Louis, so that the prohibited overlap of contours with these stations will not be increased from that which previously existed during the operation of former Station KWK. As noted earlier, Victory's allegation of 2–25 mv/m overlap with Station KJCF is based on its analysis of the measurements made by other parties on RTEI's interim operation. However, the Board questions the validity of Victory's analysis of the measurements made along the 187° T radial. As a means of locating RTEI's 2 mv/m contour, Victory indicated by a "dashed line" its determinations of the average of the measurements made between 21 and 48 miles. In this determination there are three measurements located above the average lines and eight measurements below the line. Further, in locating its average line, Victory ignored other measurements taken closer to the transmitter site which should be considered in the averaging process and which would indicate that the location of the 2 mv/m contour would not extend as far as claimed. Victory also ignored the measurements taken on the 210° radial of the interim operation but which did not enhance its position. The Board finds that the allegations relied upon by Victory are insufficient to support its contention that a proposed station operating from the RTEI interim site would involve overlap of prohibited contours with Station KJCF. The foregoing is dispositive of Victory's claim that the proposals of those applicants specifying the RTEI site will cause new, increased or changed interference. However, there remains the question of a comparative evaluation between those seven applicants which would allegedly restore the interference previously caused by former Station KWK, and Victory, which by specifying a different site would allegedly cause less interference. The Commission in its Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcasting Hearings, 1 FCC 2d 393, 5 RR 2d 1901 (1965), stated that in comparative cases where one or two or more of the competing applicants proposes an operation which for one or more engineering reasons would be more efficient, this fact can and should be considered in determining which of the applicants should be preferred. Accordingly, to the extent such alleged differences exist between Victory's proposal and those of the other seven St. Louis applicants, they may be explored under the designated contingent standard comparative issue (Issue 16).

PROGRAMING ISSUE

8. Victory's request for a programing issue is, in reality, a request for an issue to permit comparison between the need for its program proposal, which is allegedly designed to "consciously cater to the needs and interests of the Negro population of St. Louis," and the need for the alleged general broadcast format proposed by the remaining St. Louis applicants. In support of its request, Victory alleges that the bulk of its principals are Negroes;[4] that it conducted a survey of public needs which included contacts with civic leaders, leaders of the Negro community of St. Louis, and "people in all walks of life"; that the other St. Louis applicants appear to be proposing a "'general' music and news format * * * of which there are a plethora of similar services in St. Louis already"; and that it will be the only Negro-owned station in St. Louis and will cater to the needs and interests of the 30 percent nonwhite population of that city.

9. Primary opposition to Victory's request for a programing issue comes from the Broadcast Bureau, which contends that Victory made no attempt to show that substantial differences exist between the St. Louis proposals, and that it likewise made no attempt to "tie its proposed programing to its survey." In short, the Bureau argues that Victory has failed to meet the test necessary for addition of a comparative programing issue as announced by the Commission in Chapman Radio & Television Co., 7 FCC 2d 213, 9 RR 2d 635 (1967).

10. Replying to the Bureau's objections Victory contends (a) that the fact it intends to cater to the needs of the Negro community is in and of itself a significant difference between the competing proposals; (b) that its ascertainment of community needs established a lack of adequate programs aimed at the real interests of the Negro community in such areas as community affairs, Negro culture and history, current events, and the problems of civil rights; and (c) that its program proposal is designed to meet these unfulfilled needs. In support of this latter contention Victory invites examination of its program schedule and points to such representative programs as "Community Forum," a one-half hour discussion program broadcast on Sunday, in which community leaders—especially from the Negro community—will discuss problems of common interest; "Citizenship Panel," a one-half hour program in which representatives of the police department will join members of the community in discussing the rights and responsibilities of good citizenship; a quarter-hour program devoted to news and commentary on NAACP affairs; "Church Bulletin Board," listing services and activities of churches in the Negro community; "School Report," a program related to activities in schools located in the Negro community; and a one-half hour weekly discussion program centering on Negro history.

11. Victory's allegation that the remaining St. Louis applicants do not propose programing specifically directed toward the substantial nonwhite population has not been contradicted or challenged by any party in this proceeding. The fact that Victory does propose such a format constitutes an apparent substantial difference between the applicants. See SRC, Inc., FCC 67–739, released June 28, 1967; Ward L. Jones, FCC 67–82, released January 25, 1967. This difference, which reflects Victory's ascertainment of community needs and interests, together with its showing as to the manner in which it would meet such needs warrant the addition of an issue to determine, on a comparative basis, whether a greater need exists in St. Louis for Victory's specialized-service or for a general-service station. See Policy Statement on Comparative Broadcasting Hearings, supra. It should be noted that the issue being added herein does not contemplate the adduction of evidence relating to a comparison of the specific programing proposals of the remaining seven St. Louis applicants, but only such evidence as may be necessary to compare the needs of St. Louis for Victory's service as against a service which would not be specifically directed toward any particular group or segment of the population. Compare Jones T. Sudbury, FCC 67–614, released May 31, 1967.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the motion to enlarge issues, filed March 13, 1967, by Victory Broadcasting Co., Inc., is granted to the extent indicated below and is denied in all other respects; and

It is further ordered, That the issues in this proceeding are enlarged to including the following:

To determine, on a comparative basis, whether a greater need exists in St. Louis, Mo., for the specialized program service proposed by Victory Broadcasting Co., Inc., or for a general-service broadcast station.

Hollingbery, Syracuse, N.Y., Docket No. 14445, File No. BPCT–2968; for construction permits for new television broadcast stations.

The Hearing Examiner has for consideration a motion, filed July 14, 1967, on behalf of all the parties to the above-entitled proceeding, including the Commission's Broadcast Bureau, which motion was incorrectly addressed to the Chief Hearing Examiner. The motion asks for "continuance and suspension of all proceedings until August 3, 1967 for the purpose of, within that time, filing an application for approval of a proposed merger agreement to which all parties will be parties signatory." In support thereof, the parties represent that as of [1] Originally only five of the eight surviving St. Louis applicants (Archway, Home State, St. Louis Broadcasting, Six-Eighty-Eight, and Prudential) specified the site now being used by RTEI; subsequently, Great River Broadcasting, Inc., and Missouri Broadcasting, Inc., amended their proposals to specify the interim site. Since each of the seven proposes to use power of 5 kw during its daytime operation, there would be no significant difference in the proposed daytime coverage of these applicants.

[2] The site of the RTEI interim operation is located approximately 0.2 mile east of the old KWK site.

[3] Subsequent to the filing of Victory's motion, the application of KWK Broadcasting Corp. was dismissed by the Hearing Examiner. FCC 67M–654, released Apr. 20, 1967.

[4] According to Victory, its President, Mr. Clifton Gates, is the president and founder of the first Negro bank in St. Louis, and its vice president is Negro broadcaster, Dr. Haley Bell.

July 13 their authorized representatives "have notified Bruce G. Sundlun, Esq., of their agreement to the terms of the merger and it is expected that a written agreement can be drafted, signed and submitted" by August 3. In granting the relief requested herein the Hearing Examiner hereby advises the parties that, in the event the agreement and supporting petition are not filed with the Commission by the close of business, Thursday, August 3, he will, on his own motion, reschedule the hearing to convene at an early date, by which all parties are to be prepared to go forward.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That the "Motion for Continuance within which to file Application for Approval of Merger Agreement," filed July 14, 1967, on behalf of all the parties to the above-entitled proceeding, is hereby granted, and the hearing, presently scheduled to convene on July 19 is hereby continued without date.

WRBN, INC., AND TRI-COUNTY BROADCASTING CO., INC.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of WRBN, Inc., Warner Robins, Ga., requests: 101.7 mc, No. 269; 3 kw (horizontal) 3 kw (vertical); 207 feet, Docket No. 17579, File No. BPH-5703; Tri-County Broadcasting Co., Inc., Hawkinsville, Ga., requests: 101.7 mc, No. 269; 3 kw; 344 feet, Docket No. 17580, File No. BPH-5737; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has under consideration the above captioned and described applications which are mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference.

2. The respective proposals, which are for different communities, would serve substantially different areas and populations. Consequently, it will be necessary to determine pursuant to section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

3. Data submitted by the applicants indicate that there would be a significant difference in the size of the areas and populations which would receive service from the proposals. Consequently, for the purposes of comparison, the areas and populations within the 1 mv/m contour together with the availability of other FM services of 1 mv/m or greater intensity in such areas will be considered under the 307(b) issue for the purpose of determining whether a comparative preference should accrue to either of the applicants.

4. According to its application, WRBN, Inc., would require $29,880 to construct and operate for 1 year without revenue. To meet this requirement, WRBN, Inc., is relying on cash of $3,236 and a bank loan of $25,800, for a total of $28,236. Accordingly, we will specify an issue to determine whether the additional $1,654 required for construction and initial operation is available.

5. Except as indicated below, the applicants are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, because of their mutual exclusivity, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the applications would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity, as is of the opinion that the applications must be designated for hearing on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine whether WRBN, Inc., has available to it the additional $1,654 required to construct and operate for 1 year without revenue and thus demonstrate its financial qualifications.

2. To determine, in the light of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

3. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues which, if either, of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That to avail themselves of the opportunity to be be heard, the applicants, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney shall, within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible and consistent with the rules, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: July 5, 1967.

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

[Independent Ocean Freight Forwarder License No. 609]

BRIDGETTS & CO., INC.

Order To Show Cause

On June 27, 1967, the Federal Insurance Co. notified the Commission that the surety bond filed pursuant to section 44(c), Shipping Act, 1916 (46 U.S.C. 841(b)) by Bridgetts & Co., Inc., 27 Pearl Street, New York, N.Y. 10004, would be canceled effective July 28, 1967.

Section 44(c) of the Shipping Act, 1916 (46 U.S.C. 841(b)) and § 510.5(f) of General Order 4 (46 CFR part 510) provide that no license shall remain in force unless such forwarder shall have furnished a bond.

Section 44(d) of the Shipping Act, 1916 (46 U.S.C. 841(b)) provides that licenses may, after notice and hearing, be suspended or revoked for willful failure to comply with any provision of the Act, or with any lawful rule of the Commission promulgated thereunder.

Now, therefore, by virtue of authority vested in me by the Federal Maritime Commission, as set forth in Manual of Orders, Commission Order 201.1 (revised) section 6.03.

It is ordered, That Bridgetts & Co., Inc., on or before July 24, 1967, either (1) submit a valid bond effective on or before July 28, 1967, or (2) show cause in writing or request a hearing to be held at 10 a.m. on July 25, 1967, in room 505 Federal Maritime Commission, 1321 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20573, to show cause why its license should not be suspended or revoked pursuant to section 44(d), Shipping Act, 1916.

It is further ordered, That License No. 609 be forthwith revoked if the licensee fails to comply with this order.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order to show cause and all subsequent orders in this matter be served upon the licensee and be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Section 44(c) of the Shipping Act, 1916 (46 U.S.C. 841(b)) and § 510.5(f) of General Order 4 (46 CFR Part 510) provide that no license shall remain in force unless such forwarder shall have furnished a bond.

Section 44(d) of the Shipping Act, 1916 (46 U.S.C. 841(b)) provides that licenses may, after notice and hearing, be suspended or revoked for willful failure to comply with any provision of the Act, or with any lawful rule of the Commission promulgated thereunder.

Now, therefore, by virtue of authority vested in me by the Federal Maritime Commission, as set forth in Manual of Orders, Commission Order 201.1 (revised) section 6.03.

It is ordered, That George Carlo, doing business as Carlo International & Co. on or before July 24, 1967, either (1) submit a valid bond effective on or before July 29, 1967, or (2) show cause in writing or request a hearing to be held at 10 a.m. on July 27, 1967, in Room 505, Federal Maritime Commission, 1321 H Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20573, to show cause why its license should not be suspended or revoked pursuant to section 44(d), Shipping Act, 1916.

It is further ordered, That License No. 1047 be forthwith revoked if the licensee fails to comply with this order.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order to show cause and all subsequent orders in this matter be served upon the licensee and be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

JAMES E. MAZURE,
Director,
Bureau of Domestic Regulation.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

SOUTHEAST BANCORPORATION, INC.

Notice of Application for Approval of Acquisition of Shares of Banks

Notice is hereby given that application has been made to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System pursuant to section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)), by Southeast Bancorporation, Inc., Miami, Fla., for prior approval of the Board of action whereby Applicant would become a bank holding company through the acquisition of all of the voting shares (less directors' qualifying shares) of the First National Bank of Miami, Miami, Fla., and Coral Way National Bank, Miami, Fla., and 80 percent or more of the voting shares of Curtiss National Bank of Miami Springs, Miami Springs, Fla.

Section 3(c) of the Act, as amended, provides that the Board shall not approve (1) any acquisition or merger or consolidation under this section which would result in a monopoly, or which would be in furtherance of any combination or conspiracy to monopolize or to attempt to monopolize the business of banking in any part of the United States, or (2) any other proposed acquisition or merger or consolidation under this section whose effect in any section of the country may be substantially to lessen competition, or to tend to create a monopoly, or which in any other manner would be in restraint of trade, unless it finds that the anticompetitive effects of the proposed transaction are clearly outweighed in the public interest by the probable effect of the transaction in meeting the convenience and needs of the community to be served.

Section 3(c) further provides that in every case, the Board shall take into consideration the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the company or companies and the banks concerned, and the convenience and needs of the community to be served.

Not later than fifteen (15) days after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, comments and views regarding the proposed acquisition may be filed with the Board. Communications should be addressed to the Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 18th day of July 1967.

By order of the Board of Governors.

[SEAL] MERRITT SHERMAN,
Secretary.

AMERICAN HYDROCARBON CORP.

Notice of Filing of Application for Order Extending Period of Exemption From Provisions of the Act

JULY 18, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that American Hydrocarbon Corp. ("Applicant") 111 Braniff Building, Dallas, Tex. 75235, a Delaware corporation, has filed an application pursuant to section 3(b)(2) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") for an order of the Commission extending the period during which Applicant is exempt from all provisions of the Act applicable to investment companies for an additional 60 days beginning June 27, 1967, or such additional period of time as the Commission deems applicable or appropriate in the circumstances. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

On April 27, 1967, Applicant filed an application pursuant to section 3(b)(2) of the Act for an order of the Commission declaring it to be primarily engaged in a business or businesses other than that of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding or trading in securities through a controlled company or companies.

Section 3(b)(2) of the Act provides that the filing of an application by an issuer other than a registered investment company shall exempt an applicant for a period of sixty days from all provisions of the Act applicable to investment companies as such. It also provides that for cause shown, the Commission by order may extend the period of exemption for an additional period or periods.

Applicant now requests a temporary order pursuant to section 3(b)(2) of the Act exempting it from all provisions of the Act for an additional period of sixty days beginning June 27, 1967, or such additional period of time as the Commission deems applicable or appropriate in the circumstances, in order to file additional material relevant to the application filed by Applicant under section 3(b)(2).

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 8, 1967, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the Company at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

CALIFORNIA PACIFIC TRADING CORP.

Notice of Filing of Application for Order Declaring Company Has Ceased To Be an Investment Company

JULY 18, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that California Pacific Trading Corp. ("applicant"), c/o Fleischmann & Farber, 593 Market Street, Suite 1020, San Francisco, Calif. 94105, a Delaware corporation and a closed-end nondiversified management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), has filed an application pursuant to section 8(f) of the Act for an order declaring that applicant has ceased to be an investment company as defined in the Act. The Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the city and county of San Francisco has found, among other things, that all the known debts and liabilities of applicant have been paid of adequately provided for; that the known assets of applicant have been distributed to applicant's preferred shareholders or in the case of unlocated preferred shareholders, to have been deposited with the Treasurer of the State of California; and has issued an order declaring applicant has been duly wound up and dissolved. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of applicant's representations.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that when the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order, and that upon the effectiveness of such order, the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 9, 1967, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon applicant at the address set forth above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the matter may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon this matter shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

GEORGIA POWER CO.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of First Mortgage Bonds and Preferred Stock at Competitive Bidding

JULY 19, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that Georgia Power Co. ("Georgia"), 270 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga. 30303, an exempt holding company and an electric utility subsidiary company of the Southern Co., a registered holding company, has filed an application with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating section 6(b) of the Act and Rule 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the application, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

Georgia proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 under the Act, $80 million principal amount of first mortgage bonds, ____ percent series due 1997. The interest rate of the bonds (which will be a multiple of one-eighth of 1 percent) and the price, exclusive of accrued interest, to be paid to Georgia (which will be not less than 99 percent nor more than 102¾ percent of the principal amount thereof) will be determined by the competitive bidding. The bonds will be issued under an indenture dated as of March 1, 1941, between Georgia and Chemical Bank New York Trust Co., successor trustee, as heretofore supplemented and as to be further supplemented by a supplemental indenture to be dated as of September 1, 1967.

Georgia also proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 under the Act, 120,000 shares of its cumulative preferred stock, without par value. The dividend rate of the preferred stock (which will be a multiple of 4 cents) and the price to be paid to Georgia (which will be not less than $100 nor more than $102.75 per share) will be determined by the competitive bidding. Georgia's charter will be amended to allow for and to establish the terms of the preferred stock.

The proceeds from the issuance and sale of the bonds and preferred stock will be applied by Georgia, together with funds available from other sources, to finance its 1967 construction program (presently estimated at $123,190,000, to reimburse its treasury for the retirement of previously outstanding bonds, and to pay short-term bank loans.

The issuance and sale of the bonds and the preferred stock have been expressly authorized by the Georgia Public Service Commission, the State commission of the State in which Georgia is organized and doing business. The application states that no other State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. Estimates of fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are to be filed by amendment.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 14, 1967, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the applicant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

WEST PENN POWER CO.

Notice of Proposed Charter Amendments

JULY 19, 1967.

Notice is hereby given that West Penn Power Co. ("West Penn"), 800 Cabin Hill Drive, Greensburg, Pa. 15601, an exempt holding company and an electric utility subsidiary company of Allegheny Power System, Inc. ("Allegheny"), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating sections 6, 7, and 12(e) of the Act and Rules 62 and 65 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

West Penn proposes to amend its charter to reclassify 24,923 shares of its authorized but unissued 4½ percent preferred stock, $100 par value per share, to 24,923 shares of preferred stock of like par value, without designation as to series. It is also proposed to amend the charter in order to comply in all respects with the requirements of this Commission's statement of policy regarding preferred stock issued by companies subject to the Act, as prescribed in Holding Company Act Release No. 13106. These proposed amendments relate, among other things, to (1) a change in the amounts payable to the preferred stockholders upon voluntary liquidation; (2) restrictions on the payment of dividends on common stock and the acquisition of preferred stock; (3) rights of preferred stockholders with respect to election of directors; (4) the rights of preferred stockholders in the event of a merger, or sale of assets; and (5) restrictions on the issuance of additional unsecured debt and preferred stock.

West Penn has outstanding 397,077 shares of preferred stock, $100 par value, held by the public, and 3,774,086 shares of common stock, held by Allegheny. Each share of common and preferred stock entitles its holder to one vote with respect to the proposed charter amendments. The declaration states that under the provisions of the Pennsylvania business corporation law and West Penn's charter, the affirmative vote of the holders of at least a majority of all outstanding shares of common and preferred stocks, voting together as one class, will be required to adopt the proposed amendment with respect to the reclassification of the 4½ percent preferred stock. The affirmative vote of the holders of at least two-thirds of all outstanding shares of preferred stock, voting separately as a class, will be required to adopt the other proposed amendments. The declaration further states that Allegheny will vote in favor of the proposed amendments and that dissenters have no appraisal or similar rights.

West Penn intends to submit the proposed amendments to its stockholders for approval at a special stockholders meeting to be held on September 18, 1967. In connection with the amendments, other than that relating to the reclassification, West Penn proposes to solicit proxies from the holders of its outstanding preferred stock through the use of solicitation material, which sets forth the proposed amendments in detail.

It is stated that registration by the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission of a securities certificate is required to effect the proposed amendments, and that an appropriate order of that commission will be filed by amendment. It is further stated that no other State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions. Fees, commission, and expenses in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $11,500, including the cost of proxy solicitation and legal fees of $5,500 and $3,000, respectively.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 4, 1967, request in writing that a hearing be held with respect to the proposed amendments of the charter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

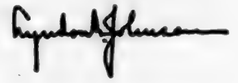
Title 3—THE PRESIDENT

Proclamation 3795

LAW AND ORDER IN THE STATE OF MICHIGAN

By the President of the United States of America

A Proclamation



WHEREAS the Governor of the State of Michigan has informed me that conditions of domestic violence and disorder exist in the City of Detroit in that State, obstructing the execution and enforcement of the laws, and that the law enforcement resources available to the City and State, including the National Guard, have been unable to suppress such acts of violence and to restore law and order; and

WHEREAS the Governor has requested me to use such of the armed forces of the United States as may be necessary for those purposes; and

WHEREAS such domestic violence and disorder are also obstructing the execution of the laws of the United States, including the protection of federal property in the City of Detroit:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, LYNDON B. JOHNSON, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States, including Chapter 15 of Title 10 of the United States Code, do command all persons engaged in such acts of violence to cease and desist therefrom and to disperse and retire peaceably forthwith.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-fourth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and sixty-seven, and the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and ninety-second.

THE WHITE HOUSE,
July 24, 1967.

Executive Order 11364

PROVIDING FOR THE RESTORATION OF LAW AND ORDER IN THE STATE OF MICHIGAN

WHEREAS on July 24, 1967, I issued Proclamation No. 3795,[1] pursuant in part to the provisions of Chapter 15 of Title 10 of the United States Code; and

WHEREAS the conditions of domestic violence and disorder described therein continue, and the persons engaging in such acts of violence have not dispersed;

NOW, THEREFORE, by virtue of the authority vested in me as President of the United States and Commander in Chief of the Armed Forces by the Constitution and laws of the United States, including Chapter 15 of Title 10 of the United States Code, and Section 301 of Title 3 of the United States Code, it is hereby ordered as follows:

SECTION 1. The Secretary of Defense is authorized and directed to take all appropriate steps to disperse all persons engaged in the acts of violence described in the proclamation and to restore law and order.

SEC. 2. In carrying out the provisions of Section 1, the Secretary of Defense is authorized to use such of the Armed Forces of the United States as he may deem necessary.

SEC. 3. The Secretary of Defense is hereby authorized and directed to call into the active military service of the United States, as he may deem appropriate to carry out the purposes of this order, any or all of the units of the Army National Guard and of the Air National Guard of the State of Michigan to serve in the active military service of the United States for an indefinite period and until relieved by appropriate orders. Units, or members thereof, may be relieved subject to recall at the discretion of the Secretary of Defense. In carrying out the provisions of Section 1, the Secretary of Defense is authorized to use units, and members thereof, called or recalled into the active military service of the United States pursuant to this section.

SEC. 4. The Secretary of Defense is authorized to delegate to the Secretary of the Army or the Secretary of the Air Force, or both, any of the authority conferred upon him by this order.

Lyndon B. Johnson

Title 5—ADMINISTRATIVE PERSONNEL

Chapter I—Civil Service Commission

PART 752—ADVERSE ACTIONS BY AGENCIES

Miscellaneous Amendments

Part 752 is amended as follows: § 752.102 is expanded by the addition of a definition showing that an appeal to the agency is an appeal under Part 771 of Title 5; § 752.202(f) is shortened by the deletion of the redundant reference to Part 771 of Title 5, as set out below.

§ 752.102 Definitions.

In this part:

(a) Days means calendar days and not workdays.

(b) Appeal to the agency means an appeal under Part 771 of this chapter.

§ 752.202 Procedures.

* * * * *

(f) Notice of adverse decision. The employee is entitled to notice of the agency's decision at the earliest practicable date. The agency shall deliver the notice of decision to the employee at or before the time the action will be made effective. The notice shall be in writing, be dated, inform the employee of the reasons for the action, inform the employee of his right of appeal to the appropriate office of the Commission, and inform him of the time limit within which an appeal may be submitted as provided in § 752.203(b). The agency also shall inform the employee of any right of appeal to the agency.

PART 771—EMPLOYEE GRIEVANCES AND ADMINISTRATIVE APPEALS

Witnesses and Arbitration Requirements

Part 771 is amended as follows: § 771.216 is expanded by the addition of a new provision that both parties to an appeal are entitled to produce witnesses; § 771.228 is expanded by the addition of a new provision that both parties at a hearing conducted by an arbitrator are entitled to produce witnesses, and also by a new provision recognizing that some agencies hold the hearing before the original decision on adverse action is reached, as set out below.

§ 771.216 Witnesses.

(a) Both parties are entitled to produce witnesses.

(b) The agency shall make its employees available as witnesses before a hearing committee when (1) requested by the committee after consideration of a request by the employee or the agency and (2) it is administratively practicable to comply with the request of the committee. If the agency determines that it is not administratively practicable to comply with the request of the committee, it shall submit for inclusion in the employee appeal file its written reasons for the declination.

(c) Employees of the agency are in a duty status during the time they are made available as witnesses.

(d) The agency shall assure witnesses freedom from restraint, interference, coercion, discrimination, or reprisal in presenting their testimony.

§ 771.228 Arbitration requirements.

(a) An agency may provide for advisory arbitration in its appeals system only through a negotiated agreement between the agency and an employee organization to which exclusive recognition has been granted.

(b) An employee may use advisory arbitration only if:

(1) He is employed in a unit represented by an employee organization which has negotiated an agreement for advisory arbitration with the employing agency;

(2) He specifically requests it; and

(3) The employee organization concurs in the use of advisory arbitration and agrees to pay one-half the cost of arbitration.

(c) Advisory arbitration may not relate to the content of agency policy, but is restricted to the propriety of an adverse action in a particular case.

(d) When advisory arbitration is provided for in a one-level appeals system or in the first level of a two-level system, (1) advisory arbitration serves as an alternate to the agency hearing committees; (2) the employee cannot use both advisory arbitration and the agency hearing committee, but must choose one or the other; and (3) if the employee uses advisory arbitration, he is entitled to a hearing before the arbitrator.

(e) When advisory arbitration is provided for in the second level of a two-level appeals system, (1) the employee is entitled to use both the agency hearing committee in the first level and advisory arbitration in the second level; and (2) the employee is not entitled to a hearing before the arbitrator as a matter of right, but the arbitrator may, in his discretion, hold a hearing of such scope as he considers necessary within the provisions of paragraph (f) of this section.

(f) When an arbitrator holds a hearing, he shall conduct and record it, and make a report of findings and recommendations, under the principles set forth in §§ 771.215, 771.217, and 771.218.

(g) Both parties at a hearing held by an arbitrator are entitled to produce witnesses.

(h) An agency shall make its employees available as witnesses at a hearing held in advisory arbitration under the principles set forth in § 771.216.

(i) An agency shall furnish copies of the hearing record and the arbitrator's report under the principles set forth in § 771.218.

(j) The award of an arbitrator is advisory only and may be either accepted or rejected by the agency official authorized to make the appellate decision, or the original decision when the hearing is held before the original decision is placed into effect.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter X—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Milk), Department of Agriculture

[Milk Order 62]

PART 1062—MILK IN ST. LOUIS, MO., MARKETING AREA

Order Suspending Certain Provisions

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and of the order regulating the handling of milk in the St. Louis, Missouri, marketing area (7 CFR Part 1062), it is hereby found and determined that:

(a) The following provisions of the order do not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the Act for the month of August 1967:

(1) In § 1062.51(a) the following words of the introductory text preceding subparagraph (1): "And plus or minus the amounts provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph:"

(2) Subparagraph (1) of § 1062.51(a).

(b) Notice of proposed rule making, public procedure thereon, and 30 days notice of the effective date hereof are impractical, unnecessary, and contrary to the public interest in that:

(1) This suspension order does not require of persons affected substantial or extensive preparations prior to the effective date.

(2) This suspension order is necessary to reflect current marketing conditions and to maintain orderly marketing conditions in the marketing area.

(3) This suspension order will continue for the month of August 1967, the effect of the prior suspension order issued June 1, 1967, which eliminated price adjustments due to the supply-demand adjustor for the period of June 3–30 and July 1967. Such prior suspension order was issued at the request of cooperative associations whose members comprise a large majority of producers serving the St. Louis market and other markets affected by this supply-demand adjustor. The prior suspension action was taken pending revision of the supply-demand adjustor based on the hearing held in St. Louis, Mo., February 28 through March 3, 1967 (32 F.R. 1042), at which a proposal to revise the supply-demand adjustor was considered. The present suspension action is being taken to prevent supply-demand adjustments for this additional period while consideration is being given to revision of the supply-demand adjustor based upon the hearings which have been held.

(4) The previous suspension action was taken so that a decrease in the Class I price would not unduly reduce returns to producers in the St. Louis, Mo., Ozarks, Southern Illinois, and Paducah markets. Since the same conditions that prompted the previous suspension order continue to prevail this suspension order effective for the month of August 1967 is warranted.

Therefore, good cause exists for making this order effective August 1, 1967.

It is therefore ordered, That the aforesaid provisions of the order are hereby suspended for the month of August 1967.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Effective date: August 1, 1967.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 21, 1967.

GEORGE L. MEHREN,
Assistant Secretary.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this subpart issued under secs. 4 and 5, 62 Stat. 1070, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 714 b and c. Interpret or apply secs. 101, 401, 63 Stat. 1051, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1441, 1421.

WAREHOUSE STORAGE LOANS

§ 1446.40 Associations through which producers may obtain price support.

Eligible producers may obtain price support by means of warehouse storage loans on eligible 1967-crop farmers stock peanuts through, in the Southeastern area, GPA Peanut Association, Camilla, Ga.; Southwestern area, Southwestern Peanut Growers Association, Gorman, Tex.; and Virginia-Carolina area, Peanut Growers Cooperative Marketing Association, Franklin, Va.

§ 1446.41 Applicability.

The support prices specified in this section apply to 1967-crop farmers stock peanuts in bulk or in bags, net weight basis, eligible for price support advances under the general regulations. The support prices in this subpart will not be reduced but will be increased if a combination of the supply percentage as of August 1, 1967, and the parity price as of that date requires a higher price.

§ 1446.42 National average price.

The national average support price for 1967-crop peanuts is $227 per ton.

§ 1446.43 Average support prices by type.

The support prices by type per average grade ton of 1967-crop peanuts are:

Type	Dollars per ton
Virginia	239.86
Runner	214.24
Southeast Spanish	231.98
Southwest Spanish	222.70
Valencia, suitable for cleaning and roasting	239.86

§ 1446.44 Calculation of support prices.

The support price per ton for peanuts of a particular type and quality shall be calculated on the basis of the following rates, premiums, and discounts (with no value being assigned to damaged kernels), except that the minimum support value for any lot of eligible peanuts of any type shall be 4 cents per pound of kernels in the lot:

(a) Kernel value per net ton excluding loose shelled kernels. (1) Price for each percent of sound mature and sound split kernels shall be:

Type	Dollars per ton
Virginia	3.278
Runner	3.145
Southeast Spanish	3.244
Southwest Spanish	3.169
Valencia:
Southwestern area—suitable for cleaning and roasting	3.664
Southwestern area—not suitable for cleaning and roasting	3.169
Areas other than Southwestern	3.244

(2) Price for each percent of other kernels:

All types	$1.40

(3) Premium for each 1 percent extra large kernels in Virginia type peanuts shall be 45 cents, except that no premium shall be applicable to any lot of such peanuts containing more than 7 percent damaged kernels.

(b) Value of loose shelled kernels per pound.

All types	$0.07

(c) Damaged kernel discount. For all types of peanuts, the discount per ton for damaged kernels shall be as follows:

Peanuts containing damaged kernels of—	Discount
1 percent	None
2 percent	$3.40
3 percent	7.00
4 percent	11.00
5 percent	25.00
6 percent	40.00
7 percent	60.00
8–9 percent	80.00
10 percent and over	100.00

(d) Sound split kernel discount. For all types of peanuts, the discount for sound split kernels shall be as follows:

Peanuts containing sound split kernels of—	Discount per ton
1 or 2 percent	None
3 percent	$0.60
4 percent and above	[1] 1.20

[1] Plus $1 for each percent of sound split kernels in excess of 4 percent.

(e) Foreign material discount. The discount for each full 1 percent foreign material in excess of 4 percent and not over 10 percent shall be $1 per ton.

(f) Price adjustment for peanuts in Virginia-Carolina area sampled with other than a pneumatic sampler. The support price for Virginia type peanuts in the Virginia-Carolina area sampled with other than a pneumatic sampler shall be reduced by one-tenth cent per pound net weight including loose shelled kernels.

(g) Mixed types discount. Individual lots of farmers stock peanuts containing mixtures of two or more types in which there is less than 90 percent of any one type will be supported at a rate which is $10 per ton less than the support price applicable to the type in the mixture having the lowest support price.

(h) Location adjustments to support prices. Farmers stock peanuts delivered to the association for price support advances in the States specified, where peanuts are not customarily shelled or crushed, shall be discounted as follows:

(1) Arizona, $25 per ton.
(2) Arkansas, $10 per ton.
(3) California, $33 per ton.
(4) Louisiana, $7 per ton.
(5) Mississippi, $20 per ton.
(6) Missouri, $10 per ton.
(7) Tennessee, $25 per ton.

(i) Virginia type peanuts. Virginia type peanuts, to receive peanut price support as Virginia type, must contain 40 percent or more "fancy" size peanuts, as determined by a presizer with the rollers set at a $^{33}/_{64}$ inch space. Virginia type peanuts so determined to contain less than 40 percent "fancy" size peanuts will be supported (but not classed) as though they were Runner type.

SHELLER PURCHASES

§ 1446.50 Eligible sheller—filing time.

To be eligible to sell 1967-crop peanuts to CCC under this subpart, the sheller shall file with the association not later than February 28, 1968, or such later date as may be approved by CCC, the notice of participation required under § 1446.11(a).

§ 1446.51 Period of offering.

Unless a later date is approved in writing by CCC, written offers to sell 1967 crop shelled peanuts to CCC, on the form prescribed by CCC, may be filed with the association from time of harvest through:

(a) July 31, 1968, for shelled peanuts not U.S. grade described in § 1446.52(c).

(b) October 31, 1968, for U.S. grade shelled peanuts described in § 1446.52(b).

§ 1446.52 CCC purchases of eligible peanuts and prices.

(a) Basis of purchase. Except as otherwise provided in § 1446.13 of the General Regulations, CCC will purchase from eligible shellers 1967-crop peanuts which meet the specifications contained in this section. The peanuts will be purchased on the basis of the net weight determined at the time of delivery and the prices specified in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section. CCC will also pay a carrying charge for U.S. grade shelled peanuts only which are delivered to CCC after November 1967 in the Southeastern area, and December 1967 in the Southwestern and Virginia-Carolina areas. The carrying charge will commence on December 1, 1967, in the Southeastern area, and January 1, 1968, in the Southwestern and Virginia-Carolina areas, and will accrue at the rate of $1.40 per ton net weight per calendar month or fraction thereof, but shall not exceed a total of $7 per ton net weight.

(b) U.S. grade shelled peanuts.

(1) U.S. No. 1 (all types)—17.25 cents per pound.

(2) U.S. Extra Large Virginia—20.50 cents per pound.

(3) U.S. Medium Virginia—18.50 cents per pound.

(4) U.S. Splits (all types)—16.75 cents per pound.

U.S. grade shelled peanuts shall meet the U.S. Standards for such peanuts, except that they shall not contain more than 1.25 percent damaged or unshelled kernels other than minor defects and not more than 2 percent total damaged or unshelled and minor defects.

(c) Shelled peanuts—not U.S. grade. (1) No. 1 size i.e., ride U.S. No. 1 screens)—17 cents per pound.

(2) Large whole kernels which will not pass through screens with the following size openings—16.25 cents per pound:

Virginia	$^{13}/_{64}$ x 1" slot.
Runner	$^{13}/_{64}$ x $^{3}/_{4}$" slot.
Spanish	$^{13}/_{64}$ x $^{3}/_{4}$" slot.

(3) Large split kernels (i.e., separated halves) which will not pass through screens with the following size openings—16.75 cents per pound:

Virginia	$^{13}/_{64}$" round.
Runner	$^{13}/_{64}$" round.
Spanish	$^{13}/_{64}$" round.

(4) Small whole kernels which will not pass through screens with the following size openings—12 cents per pound:

Virginia	$^{13}/_{64}$ x 1" slot.
Runner	$^{13}/_{64}$ x $^{3}/_{4}$" slot.
Spanish	$^{13}/_{64}$ x $^{3}/_{4}$" slot.

(5) In addition to the other prices specified in this paragraph (c), CCC shall pay the sheller for fall through not exceeding 3 percent at the rate of 6 cents per pound. Fall through means all kernels or portions thereof which will pass through screens with the following size openings:

	Whole kernels	Splits and portions
Virginia	$^{13}/_{64}$ x 1" slot	$^{17}/_{64}$" round.
Runner	$^{13}/_{64}$ x $^{3}/_{4}$" slot	$^{17}/_{64}$" round.
Spanish and Valencia	$^{13}/_{64}$ x $^{3}/_{4}$" slot	$^{16}/_{64}$" round.

(6) Quality conditions: Any lot of shelled peanuts of the sizes described in subparagraphs (1) through (4) of this paragraph (c) shall not contain more than (i) 4 percent damaged or unshelled kernels other than minor defects, (ii) 8 percent total damaged or unshelled and minor defects, (iii) 9 percent moisture in the Southeastern and Southwestern areas, or 10 percent moisture in the Virginia-Carolina area, (iv) 6 percent fall through, as defined in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph (c) (but CCC will not pay for any fall through in excess of 3 percent), and (v) 2 percent foreign material. The peanuts in any bag(s) in any lot of such peanuts shall also meet the quality conditions set forth above in this subparagraph (6). If a sheller offers to CCC any lot of such peanuts which contains peanuts of different sizes (i.e., No. 1 size, large whole, small whole, or large split kernels) bagged separately, the sheller (i) shall mark or tag each bag in the lot to show the size of the peanuts therein, and (ii) shall stack the bags of each size of peanuts separately to make them readily available for sampling.

(7) The prices specified for shelled peanuts described in this paragraph (c) shall be discounted (i) for damaged and unshelled kernels and minor defects at the rates prescribed in the table appearing at the end of this subpart, and (ii) for foreign material at the rate of $^{1}/_{10}$ of 1 cent per pound for each full $^{1}/_{10}$ of 1 percent by which the foreign material is in excess of 1 percent.

Title 12—BANKS AND BANKING

Chapter II—Federal Reserve System

SUBCHAPTER A—BOARD OF GOVERNORS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

PART 207—COLLECTION OF NONCASH ITEMS

PART 210—COLLECTION OF CHECKS AND OTHERS ITEMS BY FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS

On April 20, 1967, notice of proposed rule making relating to the revocation of Part 207 (Reg. C) and the revision of Part 210 (Reg. J) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 6210). After consideration of all relevant matter that was presented by interested persons, the Board of Governors takes the following actions:

a. Part 207 is hereby revoked.

b. Part 210 is hereby adopted as proposed.

Effective date. These actions are effective September 1, 1967.

Dated at Washington, D.C., the 20th day of July 1967.

By order of the Board of Governors.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 210 issued under 12 U.S.C. 248, 342, 360.

§ 210.1 Authority and scope.

(a) Pursuant to the provisions of section 13 of the Federal Reserve Act, as amended (12 U.S.C. sec. 342), section 16 of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. sec. 248(o); 12 U.S.C. sec. 360), section 11(i) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. sec. 248(i)), and other provisions of law, the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System has promulgated this part governing the collection of checks and other cash items and the collection of noncash items by the Federal Reserve banks.

(b) The Federal Reserve banks, as depositaries and fiscal agents of the United States, handle certain items as cash items or noncash items. To the extent contemplated by regulations issued by, and arrangements made with, the U.S. Treasury Department and other Government Departments, the handling of such items by the Federal Reserve banks is governed by the provisions of this part. The operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks shall include such information regarding the currently effective provisions of those regulations and arrangements (as well as any similar regulations and arrangements hereafter issued or made) as they shall deem necessary and appropriate for the guidance of banks concerned with the collection or payment of such items.

§ 210.2 Definitions.

As used in this part, unless the context otherwise requires:

(a) The term "item" means any instrument for the payment of money, whether negotiable or not, which is payable in a Federal Reserve district,[1] is sent by a sender or a nonbank depositor to a Federal Reserve bank for handling under this part, and is collectible in funds acceptable to the Federal Reserve bank of the district in which the instrument is payable; except that the term does not include any check which cannot be collected at par.[2]

(b) The term "check" means any draft drawn on a bank and payable on demand.

(c) The term "draft" means any item which is either a "draft" as defined in the Uniform Commercial Code or a "bill of exchange" as defined in the Uniform Negotiable Instruments Law.

(d) The term "bank draft" means any check drawn by one bank on another bank.

(e) The term "sender" in respect of an item, means a member bank, a nonmember clearing bank, a Federal Reserve bank, an international organization, or a foreign correspondent.

(f) The term "nonmember clearing bank" means a bank, not a member of the Federal Reserve System, which maintains with a Federal Reserve bank the balance referred to in the first paragraph of section 13 of the Federal Reserve Act, and any corporation which maintains an account with a Federal Reserve bank in conformity with the requirements of § 211.7 of Part 211 of this chapter (Reg. K).

(g) The term "international organization" means any international organization for which the Federal Reserve banks are empowered to act as depositaries or fiscal agents subject to regulation by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System and for which a Federal Reserve bank has opened and is maintaining an account.

(h) The term "foreign correspondent" means any of the following for which a Federal Reserve bank has opened and is maintaining an account: A foreign bank or banker, or foreign state as defined in section 25(b) of the Federal Reserve Act (12 U.S.C. sec. 632), or a foreign correspondent or agency referred to in section 14(e) of that Act (12 U.S.C. sec. 358).

(i) The term "cash item" means:

(1) Any check other than a check classified as a noncash item in accordance with paragraph (j) of this section; or

(2) Any other item payable on demand and collectible at par which the Federal Reserve bank of the district in which the item is payable may be willing to accept as a cash item.

(j) The term "noncash item" means any item which the receiving Federal Reserve bank, in its operating letters, shall have classified as an item requiring special handling and any item normally received by the Federal Reserve bank as a cash item if such bank decides that special conditions require that it be handled as a noncash item.

(k) The term "paying bank" means:

(1) The bank by which an item is payable and to which it is presented, unless the item is payable or collectible through another bank and is sent to such other bank for payment or collection; or

(2) The bank through which an item is payable or collectible and to which it is sent for payment or collection.

(l) The term "nonbank payor" means any payor of an item, other than a bank.

(m) The term "nonbank depositor" means any department, agency, instrumentality, independent establishment, or officer of the United States, or any corporation other than a sender, which maintains or uses an account with a Federal Reserve bank. Except as may otherwise be provided by any applicable statutes of the United States or regulations issued or arrangements made thereunder, the provisions of this part and of the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks applicable to a sender are applicable to a nonbank depositor.

(n) The term "State" means any State of the United States, the District of Columbia, or Puerto Rico, or any territory, possession, or dependency of the United States.

(o) The term "banking day" means any day during which a bank is open to the public for carrying on substantially all its banking functions.

§ 210.3 General provisions.

In order to afford both to the public and to the banks of the country a direct, expeditious, and economical system for the collection of items and the settlement of balances, each Federal Reserve bank shall receive and handle cash items and noncash items in accordance with the terms and conditions set forth in this part; and the provisions of this part and the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks shall be binding upon the sender of a cash item or a noncash item and shall be binding upon each collecting bank, paying bank, and nonbank payor to which the Federal Reserve bank, or any subsequent collecting bank, presents, sends, or forwards a cash item or a noncash item received by the Federal Reserve bank.

§ 210.4 Sending of items to Federal Reserve banks.

(a) Subject to the provisions of this part and of the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks, any sender (other than a Federal Reserve bank) may send to the Federal Reserve bank with which it maintains or uses an account any cash item or noncash item payable in any Federal Reserve district; but, as permitted or required by such Federal Reserve bank, such sender may send direct to any other Federal Reserve bank any cash item or noncash item payable within the district of such other Federal Reserve bank.

(b) With respect to any cash item or noncash item, sent direct by a sender (other than a Federal Reserve bank) in one district to a Federal Reserve bank in another district, in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, the relationships and the rights and liabilities existing between the sender, the Federal Reserve bank of its district and the Federal Reserve bank to which the item is sent will be the same, and the provisions of this part will apply, as though the sender had sent such item to the Federal Reserve bank of its district and such Federal Reserve bank had forwarded the item to the other Federal Reserve bank.

(c) The Federal Reserve banks shall receive cash items at par.

§ 210.5 Sender's agreement.

(a) By its action in sending any cash item or noncash item to a Federal Reserve bank, the sender shall be deemed to authorize the receiving Federal Reserve bank and any other Federal Reserve bank or other collecting bank to which such item may be forwarded, to handle such item subject to the provisions of this part and of the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks; to warrant its own authority to give such authority; and to agree that such provisions shall, insofar as they are made applicable thereto, govern the relationships between such sender and the Federal Reserve banks with respect to the handling of such item and its proceeds.

(b) The sender shall be deemed to warrant to each Federal Reserve bank handling such item (1) that it has good title to the item or is authorized to obtain payment on behalf of one who has good title, whether or not such warranty is evidenced by its express guaranty of prior endorsements on such item, and (2) such other matters and things as the Federal Reserve bank shall warrant in respect of such item consistently with paragraph (b) of § 210.6; but the provisions of this paragraph shall not be deemed to constitute a limitation upon the scope or effect of any warranty by a sender arising under the law of any State applicable to it; and such sender shall be deemed to agree to indemnify each Federal Reserve bank for any loss or expense sustained (including but not limited to attorneys' fees and expenses of litigation) resulting from the failure of such sender to have the authority to make the warranty and the agreement referred to in paragraph (a) of this section, resulting from any action taken by the Federal Reserve bank within the scope of its authority in handling such item, or resulting from any warranty or agreement with respect thereto made by the Federal Reserve bank consistently with paragraph (b) of § 210.6.

§ 210.6 Status and warranties of Federal Reserve bank.

(a) A Federal Reserve bank will act only as the agent of the sender in respect of each cash item or noncash item received by it from the sender, but such agency shall terminate not later than the time when the Federal Reserve bank shall have received payment for the item in actually and finally collected funds and shall have made the proceeds available for withdrawal or other use by the sender. A Federal Reserve bank will not act as the agent or the subagent of any owner or holder of any such item other than the sender. A Federal Reserve bank shall not have, nor will it assume, any liability to the sender in respect of any such item and its proceeds except for its own lack of good faith or failure to exercise ordinary care.[3]

(b) By its action in presenting, or sending for presentment and payment, or forwarding any cash item or any noncash item, a Federal Reserve bank shall be deemed to warrant to a subsequent collecting bank and to the paying bank and any other payor (1) that it has a good title to the item or is authorized to obtain payment on behalf of one who either has a good title or is authorized to obtain payment on behalf of one who has such title, whether or not such warranty is evidenced by its express guaranty of prior endorsements on such item, and (2) to the extent prescribed by the law of any State applicable either to the Federal Reserve bank as a collecting bank or to the subsequent collecting bank, that the item has not been materially altered; but otherwise the Federal Reserve bank shall not have, and shall not be deemed to assume, any liability (except for its own lack of good faith or failure to exercise ordinary care) to such paying bank or other payor.

[1] For the purposes of this part, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico shall be deemed to be in or of the 2d Federal Reserve District; and Guam shall be deemed to be in or of the 12th Federal Reserve District.

[2] The Board of Governors publishes from time to time a "Federal Reserve Par List", which indicates the banks upon which checks are collectible at par through the Federal Reserve banks, and publishes a supplement thereto each month to show changes subsequent to the last complete list.

[3] No Federal Reserve bank shall be responsible to the sender of any cash item, or any other owner or holder thereof, for any delay resulting from the action taken by the Federal Reserve bank in presenting, sending, or forwarding the item on the basis of (a) any A.B.A. transit number or routing symbol appearing thereon at the time of its receipt by the Federal Reserve bank, whether inscribed by magnetic ink or by any other means, and whether or not such transit number or routing symbol is consistent with each other form of designation of a paying bank (or nonbank payor) then appearing thereon, or (b) any other form of designation of a paying bank (or nonbank payor) then appearing thereon, whether or not consistent with any A.B.A. transit number or routing symbol then appearing thereon.

§ 210.7 Presentment for payment.

(a) Any cash item or any noncash item may be presented for payment by a Federal Reserve bank or a subsequent collecting bank, or may be sent by a Federal Reserve bank or a subsequent collecting bank for presentment and payment, or may be forwarded by a Federal Reserve bank to a subsequent collecting bank with authority to present it for payment or to send it for presentment and payment, as provided under applicable rules of State law or otherwise as permitted by this section.

(b) Presentment may be made at a place where the bank by which the item is payable has requested that presentment be made. Presentment of an item payable by a nonbank payor, other than through a paying bank, may be made at a place where the nonbank payor has requested that presentment be made. Presentment may also be made pursuant to any special collection agreement not inconsistent with the terms of this part, or may be made through a clearinghouse subject to the rules and practices thereof.

(c) Any cash item or noncash item, payable in the district of the receiving Federal Reserve bank, may be presented or sent direct to the paying bank, if any; may be sent direct to any place where the bank through which the item is payable has requested that the item be sent; and, when payable by a nonbank payor other than through a paying bank, may be presented direct to the nonbank payor, but documents, securities or other papers accompanying a noncash item may not be delivered to the nonbank payor thereof before payment of the item, unless the sender has specifically authorized such delivery.

(d) Any cash item or noncash item, payable in a Federal Reserve district other than the district of the receiving Federal Reserve bank, will ordinarily be forwarded to the Federal Reserve bank of the district in which the item is payable: Provided, however, That with the concurrence of the Federal Reserve bank of the district in which the item is payable, the receiving Federal Reserve bank may present, send, or forward the item as if it were payable in its own district.

§ 210.8 Presentment of noncash items for acceptance.

Whenever a noncash item provides that it must be presented for acceptance or is payable elsewhere than at the residence or place of business of the drawee, or whenever the date of payment of a noncash item depends upon presentment for acceptance, a Federal Reserve bank or a subsequent collecting bank to which it has been sent by a Federal Reserve bank may, if so instructed by the sender, present the item for acceptance in any manner authorized by law; but no Federal Reserve bank or subsequent collecting bank shall, upon the acceptance of any such item, deliver to the drawee thereof any accompanying documents unless specifically instructed by the sender to do so. Each Federal Reserve bank shall include in its operating letters a statement of the circumstances under which a sender may send such noncash items to the Federal Reserve bank for presentment for acceptance, and of the terms and conditions (which shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this part) upon which such presentment may be made. Except as herein provided, no Federal Reserve bank shall have or assume any obligation to present any noncash item for acceptance or to send it for presentment for acceptance.

§ 210.9 Remittance and payment.

(a) A Federal Reserve bank may require the paying bank or collecting bank to which it has presented, sent, or forwarded any cash item or noncash item pursuant to § 210.7 to pay or remit for such item in cash, but is authorized, in its discretion, to permit such paying bank or collecting bank to authorize or cause payment or remittance therefor to be made by a debit to an account on the books of such Federal Reserve bank or to pay or remit therefor in any of the following which is in a form acceptable to such Federal Reserve bank: Bank draft, transfer of funds or bank credit, or any other form of payment or remittance authorized by applicable State law. A Federal Reserve bank may require the nonbank payor to which it has presented any cash item or noncash item pursuant to § 210.7 to pay therefor in cash, but is authorized, in its discretion, to permit such nonbank payor to pay therefor in any of the following which is in a form acceptable to such Federal Reserve bank: Cashier's check, certified check, or other bank draft or obligation.

(b) A Federal Reserve bank shall not be liable for the failure of a collecting bank or paying bank or nonbank payor to pay or remit for any such cash item or noncash item, nor for any loss resulting from the acceptance of any form of payment or remittance other than cash authorized in paragraph (a) of this section; nor shall any Federal Reserve bank which acts in good faith and exercises ordinary care be liable for the nonpayment of, or failure to realize upon, any bank draft or other form of payment or remittance which it may accept in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Any bank draft or other form of payment or remittance received by a Federal Reserve bank in payment of, or in remittance for, any cash item may likewise be handled as a cash item subject to all the applicable terms and conditions of this part; and any bank draft or other form of remittance or payment received by a Federal Reserve bank in payment of, or in remittance for, any noncash item may, at the option of the Federal Reserve bank, be handled either as a cash item or as a noncash item, subject to all the applicable terms and conditions of this part.

§ 210.10 Time schedule and availability of credits with respect to cash items.

(a) Each Federal Reserve bank shall include in its operating letters a time schedule for each of its offices indicating when the amount of any cash item received by it from any sender or sent by any sender to another Federal Reserve office for the account of such Federal Reserve bank will be counted as reserve for the purposes of Part 204 of this chapter (Reg. D) and become available for withdrawal or other use by the sender. The sender (other than a foreign correspondent) will be given either immediate credit or deferred credit for such amount in accordance with such time schedule. A foreign correspondent will ordinarily be given credit for such amount only when the Federal Reserve bank has received payment for the item in actually and finally collected funds: Provided, however, That the Federal Reserve bank may in its discretion give immediate or deferred credit for such amount in accordance with such time schedule.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of its time schedule, a Federal Reserve bank may in its discretion refuse at any time to permit the withdrawal or other use of credit given for any cash item for which the Federal Reserve bank has not yet received payment in actually and finally collected funds.

§ 210.11 Availability of proceeds of noncash items.

(a) Credit will be given for the proceeds of a noncash item when the receiving Federal Reserve bank has received payment for such item in actually and finally collected funds or advice from another Federal Reserve bank of such payment to it, and the amount of such item shall not be counted as reserve for the purposes of Part 204 of this chapter (Reg. D) or become available for withdrawal or other use by the sender prior to the receipt of such payment or advice, except to the extent provided in paragraph (c) of this section.

(b) A Federal Reserve bank shall be deemed to have received payment for a noncash item in actually and finally collected funds as soon as it has received payment therefor in cash or has received any other form of payment or remittance therefor which is, or has become, final and irrevocable.

(c) A Federal Reserve bank may, prior to the time provided in paragraph (a) of this section, give credit for the proceeds of a noncash item received by it from a sender, subject to payment in actually and finally collected funds, in accordance with a time schedule included in its operating letters, indicating when the proceeds of such noncash items will be counted as reserve for the purposes of Part 204 of this chapter (Reg. D) and become available for withdrawal or other use by the sender.

(d) Notwithstanding paragraph (c) of this section, a Federal Reserve bank may, in its discretion, refuse at any time to permit the withdrawal or other use of credit given for any noncash item for which the Federal Reserve bank has not yet received payment in actually and finally collected funds.

(e) Where a Federal Reserve bank receives, in payment or remittance for a noncash item, a bank draft or other form of remittance or payment which, in accordance with paragraph (c) of § 210.9, it elects to handle as a noncash item, the proceeds of the noncash item for which the payment or remittance was made shall neither be counted as reserve for the purposes of Part 204 of this chapter (Reg. D) nor become available for withdrawal or other use until such time as the Federal Reserve bank receives payment in actually and finally collected funds for such bank draft or other form of remittance or payment, in accordance with the provisions of this section.

§ 210.12 Return of cash items.

(a) A paying bank which receives a cash item from or through a Federal Reserve bank, otherwise than for immediate payment over the counter, shall, unless it returns such item unpaid before midnight of the banking day of receipt,[1] either pay or remit therefor on the banking day of receipt, or, if acceptable to the Federal Reserve bank concerned, authorize or cause payment or remittance therefor to be made by debit to an account on the books of the Federal Reserve bank not later than the banking day for such Federal Reserve bank on which any other acceptable form of timely payment or remittance would have been received by the Federal Reserve bank in the ordinary course: Provided, That such paying bank shall have the right to recover any payment or remittance so made if, before it has finally paid the item, it returns the item before midnight of its banking day next following the banking day of receipt or takes such other action to recover such payment or remittance within such time and by such means as may be provided by applicable State law: And further provided, That the foregoing provisions shall not extend, nor shall the time herein provided for return be extended by, the time for return of unpaid items fixed by the rules and practices of any clearing house through which the item was presented or fixed by the provisions of any special collection agreement pursuant to which it was presented.

(b) Any paying bank which takes or receives a credit or obtains a refund for the amount of any payment or remittance made by it in respect of a cash item received by it from or through a Federal Reserve bank shall be deemed (1) to warrant to such Federal Reserve bank, to a subsequent collecting bank, and to the sender and all prior parties that it took all action necessary to entitle it to recover such payment or remittance within the time or times limited therefor by the provisions of this part, by the applicable rules and practices of any clearinghouse through which the item was presented, by the applicable provisions of any special collection agreement pursuant to which it was presented, and, except as a longer time may be afforded by the provisions of this part, by applicable State law; and (2) to agree to indemnify such Federal Reserve bank for any loss or expense sustained (including but not limited to attorneys' fees and expenses of litigation) resulting from its action in giving such credit or making such refund, or in making any charge to, or obtaining any refund from, the sender. No Federal Reserve bank shall have any responsibility to such paying bank or any subsequent collecting bank or to the sender of the item or any other prior party thereon for determining whether the action hereinabove referred to was timely.

§ 210.13 Chargeback of unpaid cash items and noncash items.

If a Federal Reserve bank does not receive payment in actually and finally collected funds for any cash item or noncash item for which it gave credit subject to payment in actually and finally collected funds, the amount of such item shall be charged back to the sender, regardless of whether or not the item itself can be returned. In such event, neither the owner or holder of any such item nor the sender shall have the right of recourse upon, interest in, or right of payment from, any reserve balance, clearing account, deposit account, or other funds of the paying bank or of any collecting bank, in the possession of the Federal Reserve bank. No draft, authorization to charge, or other order, upon any reserve balance, clearing account, deposit account, or other funds in the possession of a Federal Reserve bank, issued for the purpose of paying or remitting for any cash items or noncash items handled under the terms of this part, will be paid, acted upon, or honored after receipt by such Federal Reserve bank of notice of suspension or closing of the bank making the payment or remittance for its own or another's account.

§ 210.14 Timeliness of action.

If, because of interruption of communication facilities, suspension of payments by another bank, war, emergency conditions or other circumstances beyond its control, any bank (including a Federal Reserve bank) shall be delayed beyond the time limits provided in this part or the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks, or prescribed by the applicable law of any State in taking any action with respect to a cash item or a noncash item, including forwarding such item, presenting it or sending it for presentment and payment, paying or remitting for it, returning it or sending notice of dishonor or nonpayment, or making or providing for any necessary protest, the time of such bank, as limited by this part or the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks, or by the applicable law of any State, for taking or completing the action thereby delayed shall be extended for such time after the cause of the delay ceases to operate as shall be necessary to take or complete the action, provided the bank exercises such diligence as the circumstances require.

§ 210.15 Effect of direct presentment of certain warrants.

Whenever a Federal Reserve bank exercises its option to present direct to the payor any bill, note or warrant issued and payable by any State or any county, district, political subdivision or municipality of any State, such bill, note or warrant being a cash item not payable or collectible through a bank, the provisions of §§ 210.9, 210.12, and 210.13 and the operating letters of the Federal Reserve banks shall be applicable to the payor as if it were a paying bank, the provisions of § 210.14 shall be applicable to it as if it were a bank, and each day on which the payor shall be open for the regular conduct of its affairs or the accommodation of the public shall be treated as if it were a banking day for it, within the meaning and for the purposes of § 210.12.

§ 210.16 Operating letters.

Each Federal Reserve bank shall issue operating letters (sometimes referred to as operating circulars or bulletins), not inconsistent with this part, governing the details of its operations in the handling of cash items and noncash items, and containing such other matters as are required by the provisions of this part. Such letters may, among other things, classify cash items and noncash items, require separate sorts and letters, and provide different closing times for the receipt of different classes or types of cash items and noncash items.

[F.R. Doc. 67-8619; Filed, July 25, 1967; 8:45 a.m.]

[1] A cash item received by a paying bank either:
(1) On a day other than a banking day for it, or
(2) On a banking day for it, but—
(a) After its regular banking hours, or
(b) After a "cut-off hour" established by it in accordance with applicable State law, or
(c) During afternoon or evening periods when it is open for limited functions only, shall be deemed to have been received by the bank on its next banking day.

Title 39—POSTAL SERVICE

Chapter I—Post Office Department

DOMESTIC AIR TRANSPORTATION

Under Subchapter E of Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 531, 532, 533, and 534 are revised to update instructions concerning Domestic Air Transportation and are effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 531—AIR CARRIERS

Sec.
531.1 Applicability.
531.2 Definitions.
531.3 Air carriers' responsibilities.
531.4 Flight operations.
531.5 Handling of mail.
531.6 Reports.
531.7 Submission of claims.
531.8 Irregularities, deductions, and fines.
531.9 Correspondence concerning air service.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 531 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501.

§ 531.1 Applicability.

The rules and regulations in this part apply to air carriers engaged in transporting airmail and air parcel post in interstate air transportation.

§ 531.2 Definitions.

(a) Air carrier. A citizen or company of the United States authorized by the Civil Aeronautics Board to engage in interstate air transportation.

(b) Interstate air transportation. The carriage of mail by aircraft between a place in any State of the United States, or the District of Columbia, and a place in any other State of the United States, or District of Columbia; or between places in the same State of the United States; or between places in the same territory or possession of the United States, or District of Columbia; or between places in any State of the United States, or District of Columbia, and a place in Puerto Rico or U.S. Virgin Islands or terminal points in Canada; or between or within Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

(c) Mail. United States or foreign transit airmail.

§ 531.3 Air carriers' responsibilities.

(a) For transporting mail. Air carriers are required to transport and transfer mail as ordered on dispatch documents and related coding on pouch labels.

(b) For giving mail priority. Air carriers are required to give the following priority to mail:

(1) From each point served, the normal mail load for each trip must be given priority of transportation over all other traffic on each trip designated for transportation of mail.

(2) The normal mail load for each trip is determined, at the option of the air carrier, for each day of the week on (i) basis of the mail tendered to that trip on the same day of the week for the 5 previous weeks or (ii) basis of the weight of mail tendered to the trip on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of the preceding week. When a holiday occurs on one of those days, substitute the same day of the second previous week. In either method of computing the average, exclude mail tendered under abnormal conditions. When an air carrier elects to use one of the two methods it must continue to use the selected method on Form 2760, Air Carrier's Reply—Refusal/Removal of Airmail.

(3) No part of the mail load, either local boarding or through mail, will be displaced when a trip requires additional fuel.

(4) Mail in excess of normal mail load must be given priority over all other traffic except confirmed revenue passengers and their baggage. Mail aboard a plane must not be removed to accommodate local boarding passengers or extra fuel.

(5) Intra-Alaska air carriers must provide the same priority for normal mail flow as any certificated air carrier. When it is not possible for an air carrier to move all available mail above normal out of gateway cities because of unusual heavy local mailings or peak volumes of mail received by boat or truck, the priority of movement is further defined in this order—airmail, first-class, newspapers, perishable parcels, and then bulk mail. Subsequent trips of a carrier will continue this priority of movement until the peak volume is transported.

(6) In loading, unloading, transferring mail to connecting planes, and delivering mail to the designated postal representative, mail must be given preference over all other cargo.

(c) For protecting mail. (1) Air carriers are held strictly responsible and accountable for mail in their custody. Mail must not be left exposed on trucks or otherwise subjected to depredation or weather. In transporting mail between point of exchange with the post office and aircraft ramp positions, carriers must provide adequate and suitable vehicles that will (i) prevent mail from being lost or dropped en route and (ii) protect mail from depredation and weather. Take every precaution to protect mail from fire. Mail handlers must be identified by badges or distinguishing caps or clothing or must be prepared to exhibit their airline identification cards on request of postal employees concerned.

(2) When an air carrier discovers a pouch damaged so that loss or depredation could result, the air carrier will turn in the pouch to the first possible postal unit for repouching and redispatch. Form 2734, Airmail Exception Record, must accompany the damaged pouch to the postal unit.

(d) For cooperating with postal inspectors. Postal inspectors are special representatives of the Postmaster General. All employees of air carriers engaged in transportation of mail are required to cooperate with and assist inspectors in performing their duties which may include opening pouches and sacks and examining mail therein.

(e) For providing quarters. (1) At air stops. When requested to do so by the Department, air carriers must furnish adequate and suitable quarters at air stops as necessary for the receipt, dispatch, distribution, and transfer of mail, unless and until otherwise provided by the Department.

(2) Location of quarters. Quarters must be located to provide expeditious handling of mail to and from planes and conveniently accessible to mail-carrying vehicles.

(3) Requests for changes in quarters. Request by air carriers or officials of the postal service for changes in existing quarters or establishment of new quarters must be made through the transportation division involved.

(f) For obtaining routing from postal unit—(1) Interrupted transportation. Any carrier in possession of mail on which he does not have proper routing knowledge will immediately request the necessary information from the local postal unit.

(2) Overload situations. When all available mail cannot be transported on an intended flight, the air carrier with the overload situation must promptly inform postal personnel at the airport mail facility or air stop post office and obtain instructions concerning priority to be given in loading mail that can be accommodated. Anticipate potential overload situations as much in advance of flight time as possible. Off-loading of mail already on board in order to carry mail for destinations of greater postal advantage will not be required if this would entail unreasonable delay in departure of the flight.

(g) For preparing and submitting schedules—(1) Preparation. Air carriers shall prepare schedules as follows:

(i) Arrange schedules north to south and east to west, with flights listed in chronological order left to right.

(ii) Show on related schedules for each route all restrictions on the transportation of mail.

(2) Submission. (i) Air carriers shall submit with proposed new schedules a brief explanatory letter or cover sheet detailing proposed changes.

(ii) Copies of changes to existing schedules must be filed with the Post Office Department, Air Transportation Branch, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Washington, D.C. 20260, not less than 10 days prior to effective date. In the case of major schedule changes, carriers are requested to give not less than 20 days notice in order that the Department may have sufficient time to process these schedule changes. The date of filing will be the date of receipt by the Air Transportation Branch.

(iii) Air carriers shall distribute copies of proposed new schedules or changes to existing schedules as follows:

(a) Two copies to Air Transportation Branch.

(b) One copy to transportation division in each region concerned.

(c) States-Alaska and Intra-Alaska air carriers must send one copy to the Director, Transportation Division, Post Office Department, Post Office Box 9000, Seattle, Wash. 98109.

(3) Designation of service. The transportation division will advise the Air Transportation Branch of all flights that are not needed for the transportation of mail. The Air Transportation Branch will notify the air carriers of flights designated for transportation of the mail.

(h) For answering correspondence. Air carriers must answer promptly all correspondence from officials of the postal service. Correspondence concerning operation of the Alaskan airmail service must be channeled through the Regional Director, Post Office Department, Seattle, Wash. 98124.

§ 531.4 Flight operations.

(a) Scheduled operations—(1) Maintaining schedules. Air carriers will operate designated flights as shown in filed schedules except where prevented from doing so by weather or other causes beyond their control.

(2) Off schedule operations. In the event of an operation other than as shown by published schedules, the carrier will be responsible for notifying all on-line postal units as soon as possible, except that advice need not be given of delays of less than 30 minutes.

(b) Originating sections, resumed flights, and delayed operations. Delayed scheduled trips may operate with available mail from the initial terminal or intermediate points. When a scheduled trip has been canceled at the initial terminal or at some intermediate point, a section may be originated at any intermediate point on the route.

(c) Omissions of service. If a scheduled stop will not be made by a trip, the air carrier must immediately notify the local postal representative. If service is to be suspended for 1 week or more, the air carrier must immediately notify the Air Transportation Branch, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, Washington, D.C. 20260; the directors, transportation divisions, in the regions concerned; and the postal units concerned. The same offices must be notified when service is to be resumed.

(d) Emergency trips and extra sections. Emergency trips and extra sections operated by the air carrier may be used for transportation of mail. It may be placed on the plane at an unscheduled stop when offered for dispatch by the local postal representative, except that mail will not be accepted if the air carrier is not authorized to serve that city.

(e) Holding orders. In unusual situations, the Domestic Transportation Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services, may require the holding of planes at junction points for the connection of mail. If any air carrier desires to take exception to a holding order, a complete statement giving the particulars will be submitted by the air carrier promptly to the Domestic Transportation Division.

§ 531.5 Handling of mail.

(a) Delivery to air carriers—(1) Authorized location. Mail for outgoing trips shall be delivered to the air carrier at the time and place authorized by the director, transportation division.

(2) Dispatch lists required. (i) The postal unit delivering mail to air carriers shall prepare Form 2729, Airmail Dispatch and Billing Record, showing weight of mail for each destination and list mail for off-line points of transfer.

(ii) On receipt of mail from the local postal unit, air carrier will be responsible for verifying (a) the piece count of mail with those related entries on the dispatch list and (b) that all of the mail is destined for points on his system, or is coded for transfer at a point served by his company.

(iii) Mail received from mail messengers or vehicle service at airports without a mail facility must correspond with mail listed on Form 2729; or air carriers must make corrections. If pouches are listed but not received, cross out individual listing, destination total, related trip destination total, originating load total, interline total when interline routings are involved, and document pound total. Insert correct adjacent totals. If mail is received, but not listed, insert weight of each pouch in proper destination column and amend totals as instructed. In either event, note facts prominently on Form 2729 in any blank space. Advise messenger of any discrepancy.

(iv) In the Intra-Alaskan Service, Form 2713–A, Alaskan Airmail Dispatch Record, is used instead of Form 2729. At non-post-office points on Alaskan routes where it has not been possible to arrange for preparation of Form 2713–A, the air carrier shall prepare Form 2713–A and make claim for service in the usual manner.

(b) Direct transfer between planes—(1) Carrier responsibility. Carriers must make transfers according to service ordered on Form 2729 by the dispatching postal unit and as shown on pouch labels. To facilitate transfers, carriers are responsible for concluding mutually agreeable local arrangements regarding point of exchange between carriers. These local arrangements are subject to approval by the transportation division to assure that they are adequate for postal needs. In addition, carriers shall comply with the following:

(i) Arriving (delivering) carriers. (a) All transfers are based on normal operations and under normal conditions, should be made as authorized.

(b) When late, the arriving carrier shall ascertain whether the intended connection can be made. If the connection cannot be made, the arriving carrier will obtain new routing instructions from local postal personnel; prepare Form 2734, Airmail Exception Record; verify mail with related entries on Form 2734, and deliver the mail to an alternate carrier, or to a postal representative, as instructed.

(ii) Departing (receiving) carriers. (a) A departing carrier, due to receive transfer mail from an incoming carrier, shall inform his ramp personnel of any delays in scheduled departure so that scheduled transfers may be maintained when the minimum transfer time is available regardless of arrival time of the incoming trip.

(b) The receiving carrier must accept mail tendered by transfer up to the actual departure time of the intended flight, for loading when possible, or for further disposition, unless the mail is not properly coded on pouch label or is not routed for delivery or transfer at a point on its routes. When an irregularity occurs and Form 2734 is presented with the mail by the delivering carrier, the receiving carrier must verify mail with related Form 2734.

(c) After acceptance of transferred mail, if the trip of the receiving carrier to which the mail was routed (1) is delayed more than 1 hour, (2) is canceled, or (3) for any other reason cannot provide the ordered service, the receiving carrier shall obtain new routing instructions from local postal personnel for transferring the mail as required with Form 2734.

(2) Failures to transfer. Postal personnel shall prepare Form 2759, Report of Irregular Handling of Airmail, to report failures to transfer mail to intended connections. All pertinent facts relating to actual arrival and departure times of trips involved must be shown. If the prescribed connection time was available and responsibility for failure to connect the mail cannot be conclusively established, fines may be assessed against both carriers for failure to cooperate in providing proper service.

(c) Delivery to postal representative. Upon arrival of the plane at the stop point, air carrier representatives must immediately unload the mail and deliver it to the authorized postal representative at such point as may be designated. Maximum unloading time may be specified by the transportation division.

(d) Disposition of mail—Canceled or irregular flights. (1) When a trip is to be canceled at the initial terminal or any point en route, the air carrier must promptly notify the local postal officials concerned. (Dispatch forms covering mail not enplaned must be voided if no mail is dispatched.)

(2) Disposition of mail will be in accordance with instructions of the local postal unit. If unable to obtain instructions, the air carrier will reroute the mail on the basis of the best available information. The air carrier must observe current procedures in preparing necessary forms to accomplish any rerouting and to provide for the accounting adjustments required.

(3) When necessary to transport mail to the local post office or railroad station, available regular scheduled trips of the mail messenger or vehicle service may be used. Air carriers will not be required to transport to the post office local destination mail received from trips operating off schedule. However, air carriers are responsible for transporting to the post office or railroad station, as directed, local origin mail being returned or through mail received from canceled trips, mail dispatched to the airport for a trip that overflies the local air stop, and mail dispatched to the airport for a trip that is to overfly a schedule downline air stop.

(4) When irregular operations occur, dispatch airmail to best advantage. If two carrier routing has advantage over holding for single carrier, use the two carrier dispatch.

(e) Refusals and removals of mail. Refusals and removals of mail by air carrier (except as provided in 531.32) may result in diversion of the mail to another air carrier and in fines.

(f) Form 2714, Air Mail Exception Record. See § 533.2 of this chapter.

(g) Postal representatives. Postal representatives must see that (1) incoming mail is delivered within prescribed time and (2) scheduled transfers are made from and to schemed trips.

§ 531.6 Reports.

(a) Refusal or removal report. When an air carrier cannot accommodate all mail offered for a trip or when mail already on board is removed, the carrier must submit, within 5 days, "Form 2760, Air Carrier's Reply—Refusal/Removal of Airmail", in duplicate, to the transportation division involved. The report must give reason for the refusal or removal. Form 2760 must be completed in detail by the air carrier.

(b) Irregularly handled mail report. Form 2734 properly completed and endorsed by the air carrier, must be used to record any mail not handled by the air carriers concerned in accordance with the routing as originally planned. An irregular handling is termed as an offloading short of or beyond the scheduled destination, and the mail is forwarded via another air carrier or turned in to the post office for redispatch, removals en route, refusals after mail is accepted by the air carrier, and transfers to an air carrier other than as ordered in dispatch forms.

(c) Accident report. Air carriers must make an immediate telegraph or telephone report of any accident resulting in possible damage to or loss of mail. The report must be made to the transportation division, in the region concerned. Mail should not be disturbed, except to prevent further damage. It must be guarded until the arrival of a postal official.

(d) Bomb aboard situations. Postal units must immediately report bomb situations to the local postal inspector or Inspector in Charge and to the local director, transportation division; make delayed mail report, and complete Forms 2734 when necessary.

§ 531.7 Submission of claims.

(a) Domestic—(1) Forms used. Air carriers operating over domestic routes shall use the following forms, as required by the Bureau of Transportation and International Services: Form 2703, Carrier's Claim for Airmail Transportation; Form 2729, Airmail Dispatch and Billing Record; Form 2734, Airmail Exception Record; Form 2732, Monthly Summary of Airmail Carried; and Form 2747, Air Carrier Statement of Settlement of Air Transportation Charges. Samples of these forms may be obtained from the Air Transportation Branch, Bureau of Transportation and International Services.

(2) Preparation of bills. Separate Forms 2703 or bills shall be prepared for each postal accounting period, or for such lesser period as may be agreed to by an air carrier and the Air Transportation Branch, and must include all airmail transported during that period. Trunkline, local service, helicopter, Intra- and States-Alaska, Intra- and States-Hawaii, States-Puerto Rico and Intra- Puerto Rico-Virgin Islands air carriers must prepare and support air transportation bills according to the minimum requirements established by the Bureau of Transportation and International Services.

(b) Designated postal data centers. (1) Domestic air carriers, other than as provided in subparagraphs (2) and (3) of this paragraph will be paid for the carriage of domestic airmail by the postal data centers as shown in this section. The region number, regions served, and mailing addresses of the postal data centers are:

POSTAL DATA CENTERS, TRANSPORTATION CLAIMS SECTION, AND POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

Region No.	Region	Address
1	Boston	Main Post Office Building, New York, N.Y. 10036.
2	New York

	143	Western Alaska (Intra-Alaska).
	123	Wien (Intra-Alaska).

§ 531.8 Irregularities, deductions, and fines.

(a) Irregularities. Irregular handling of mail by airline carrier personnel shall be promptly reported on Form 2759, Report of Irregular Handling of Airmail, by the postal employee who observes the irregularity or who is informed of irregular performance through receipt at a postal unit of the post office accounting copies of Form 2734, by the air carrier. See § 533.7 of this chapter for types of irregularities that will be reported and for instructions on preparation of the form.

(b) Deductions. Form 2734 provides for the adjustment of compensation for service ordered and paid for but not performed.

(c) Fines. Air carriers transporting mail must observe all applicable postal laws and all applicable regulations issued by the Post Office Department. Air carriers may be subject to fines and deductions for failure to comply therewith.

§ 531.9 Correspondence concerning air service.

(a) Local. Correspondence on local operations of mutual concern shall be handled direct between the local carrier and local air stop postal unit heads or field service representatives. Matters coming within the scope of § 531.92 shall be referred to the transportation division.

(b) Regional. Correspondence to and from air carriers relating to policy, schedules, operations, fining, quarters, mileages and rates; irregularities and changes in dispatch billing procedures and forms; omissions and failures of carriers to perform; division of mail; service requirements, actions involving CAB orders and rulings, first-class mail by air; and other matters of regional nature, shall be conducted by the transportation division within the scope of regional delegations. Questions of interregional impact or of departmental concern, as specified elsewhere in the regulations, will be forwarded to the Department for decision.

PART 532—AIR STAR ROUTE SERVICE

Sec.
532.1 Description, authority, and general.
532.2 Contracts.
532.3 Protection of mail.
532.4 Reports and records.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 532 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501.

§ 532.1 Description, authority, and general.

(a) Description. Air star route service is established and operated under contracts awarded by the Postmaster General for air transportation in areas where such service is in the public interest, and the nature of the terrain is such that surface transportation is impractical or inadequate. This service may include any or all classes of mail.

(b) Authority. The Air Star Route Law (49 U.S. Code, sec. 6303) authorizes the Postmaster General to contract for this service after receiving proper certificate from the Civil Aeronautics Board.

(c) General. (1) Upon receipt of a request from the Department for the certification, the CAB is required to promptly publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and to send to such persons as the Board may by regulation determine, a notice describing the proposed air star route. The CAB shall afford interested persons a reasonable opportunity to submit written data, views, or arguments, with or without opportunity to present the same orally or in any manner.

(2) Contractors for service awarded under an air star route contract will be required to provide fully adequate and suitable aircraft for the carriage of the mail and to transport the whole of said mail, whatever may be its size, weight, or increase during the terms of the contract, with celerity, certainty, and security on each and every trip as required by the advertisement. Contractors may be required to convey without extra charge (i) all post office blanks, mail bags, locks and keys and other postal supplies that may be offered to them, and (ii) postal inspectors and other agents and officials of the Department, on regular scheduled trips on which mail is handled and between the points specified in the official statement of the route, when the space or weight limits of the plane permits.

(3) The acceptance of a bid and the execution of a contract for the performance of air star route service does not authorize the contractor or carrier to engage in the transportation of persons or property, for compensation, between the points or over the route described in the contract without compliance with applicable Federal and State statutes and with applicable rules and regulations of the FAA and of the CAB.

(4) Bidders for proposed air star routes and their sureties will acquaint themselves with Federal laws relating to contracts for carrying the mail.

(5) All accepted bidders under an advertisement for air star routes will be required to execute contracts with sureties acceptable to the Department. A list of acceptable surety companies is shown in § 521.3(c)(2) of this chapter.

(6) Contracts must be executed and filed in the Department within 60 days from the date of acceptance of the bid, otherwise the accepted bidder may be considered as having failed. The Department reserves the right to (i) suspend the award of contract on any route for a period not exceeding 60 days from the date of the expiration of the advertisement and allow a corresponding extension of time for the execution of the contract, and (ii) to rescind the acceptance of a proposal at any time before the signing of the formal contract on behalf of the United States without allowing indemnity.

(7) Where there is rail service or good highway facilities, or a combination of both, generally an air star route could not be justified. However, prospective applicants for air star routes should communicate with the Regional Director, Post Office Department, of the postal region in which the proposed route is located. When the official approves the application and forwards an appropriate recommendation to the Bureau of Transportation and International Services, necessary certification by the CAB will be requested if approved by that Bureau.

(8) Air star route contractors, except in Alaska, will be required to comply with such economic regulations as may be prescribed from time to time by the CAB.

(9) Contracts will comply with all provisions of Executive Order No. 10925 of March 5, 1961, and of the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

§ 532.2 Contracts.

(a) Obtaining bids—(1) Advertisements. After obtaining a certification from the CAB that the proposed route does not conflict with the development of air transportation, an advertisement is issued by the Department inviting proposals for air transportation of mail between the points and on the terms stated. Copies of the advertisement are furnished to postmasters for posting at terminal offices.

(2) Requirements of bidders. Bidders must meet the following requirements:

(i) Eligibility. (a) No proposal for a contract for air star route service shall be considered unless the bidder is a resident of, or is qualified to do business as a common carrier by air, in a State within which one or more points to be served under the proposed contract are located. The term "State" as used here includes the several States, and the District of Columbia.

(b) Only bidders holding an appropriate operating certificate issued by the FAA will be considered for award of a contract for air star route service.

(c) For further eligibility requirements, see § 521.3(c)(2)(i) of this chapter.

(ii) Bonds. See § 521.3(c)(b)(iii) of this chapter.

(3) Obtaining proposal forms. See § 521.3(c)(5) of this chapter.

(4) Submitting bids. See § 521.3(c)(6) of this chapter.

(b) Award of contract. See § 521.3(d) of this chapter.

(c) Application of contract regulations. If there is no conflict, all laws and regulations governing surface star routes in general apply to contracts made under the air star route law.

(d) Payments. See § 521.3(h) of this chapter.

(e) Cancellation of air star route contract. A contract shall be canceled by the Post Office Department upon the issuance by the CAB of an authorization to any air carrier to engage in the transportation of mail by aircraft between any of the points named in the air star route contract.

(f) Revocation of FAA certificate. If a contractor for an air star route should have his operating certificate revoked, the air star route contract shall become null and void effective with the date of loss of such certificate, without payment of any indemnity.

§ 532.3 Protection of mail.

The contractor is required to take all necessary steps to protect the mail in accordance with the terms of the advertisement.

§ 532.4 Reports and records.

Postmasters at terminal points must maintain such records and submit such reports as may be directed by the transportation division director.

533.8 Applicability of forms and procedures.
533.9 Airmail and first-class mail forms, titles and sources of supply.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 533 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501.

§ 533.1 Form 2729, Airmail Dispatch and Billing Record.

(a) Description. Form 2729 covers airmail dispatched to all domestic air carriers operating within and between the 50 United States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, and to Canada. See § 533.3(a) for exception. It is the basic document from which payments to the original and interline air carriers are computed. See § 533.9 for supply.

(b) Preparation. (See Exhibit in this paragraph)

(1) Who prepares. The form is prepared in four-part sets by the designated clerk at the airport mail facility or, at nonairport mail facility points, by the dispatching clerk at the post office.

(2) Heading form—(i) Origin code. Enter the official airline code of the airport from which the mail is due to be dispatched. When more than one postal unit prepares Form 2729 for dispatch through the same airport, refer to Official Airmail Index for airport codes to be used by each office.

(ii) Route number. Enter the route number of the air carrier to which the mail is dispatched.

(iii) Trip number. Enter the trip number of actual dispatch.

(iv) Scheduled trip date. Enter the scheduled date of origin of the trip.

(v) Today's date. Enter the date on which the trip of dispatch is scheduled to depart from the airport.

(vi) Scheduled departure time. Using 24-hour clock, enter time the trip of dispatch is scheduled to depart your airport.

(3) Recording dispatches—(i) Under destination. (a) Using the States dispatch scheme and other applicable pouching instructions, enter in code the final airline destination of the dispatches.

(c) Enter, under the proper destination, mail labeled to that point, mail scheduled to continue from that point by surface transportation, and mail for another air carrier when the transfer is to be effected through the airport mail facility. Use individual actual weights indicated on the labels of pouches, sacks, and outside parcels unless permission has been granted to bulk weigh mail on platform scales direct to the air carrier, or where bulk entries are to be listed (for example, the recording on the form of a consolidated entry of an accumulation of pieces listed on preliminary work sheets). Where bulk weighing has been approved or where bulk entries are listed, it is necessary only that the "total" pieces and weight be entered in the space provided at the bottom of the respective destination column. Do not identify pouches, sacks, outside parcels, or register as such on this form.

(ii) On-line. Use only sections 1 and 3 of the form when making the following dispatches:

(a) Stations served by trip of dispatch. Enter only the destination.

(b) Stations served by the air carrier of dispatch but not by the trip of dispatch. Enter the destination and the first transfer point.

(iii) Interline and interchange. Interline dispatches will be entered in sections 1 and 3 of the form for the following dispatches:

(a) In Section 1. (1) Routing involving connection to a trip of another air carrier. Enter the destination and the interline transfer point, plus the route and trip numbers of the second air carrier. This applies also to interchange trips.

(2) Routing via two trips of initial air carrier, plus trip of another air carrier. Enter the destination, the first interline tranafer point, and the interline transfer point, plus the route and trip numbers of the second air carrier.

(3) Routing involving two interline transfers after air carrier of initial dispatch. Enter the destination and the interline transfer point, plus the route and trip number of the second air carrier.

(b) In Section 2—(1) Routing. Enter the route and flight number of the air carrier to which the mail is to be transferred.

(2) Tr. pt. Enter the code of the airport at which the interline connection is to be made.

(3) Carrier dest. Enter off-loading point, either for delivery to post office or for transfer to another carrier.

(4) I. Enter X to identify mail moving over an authorized interchange trip.

(5) Pieces and weight. Enter the mail by totals (obtained from sec. 1 of Form 2729) for each of the destinations involved.

(6) Interline total. Total pieces and weight columns.

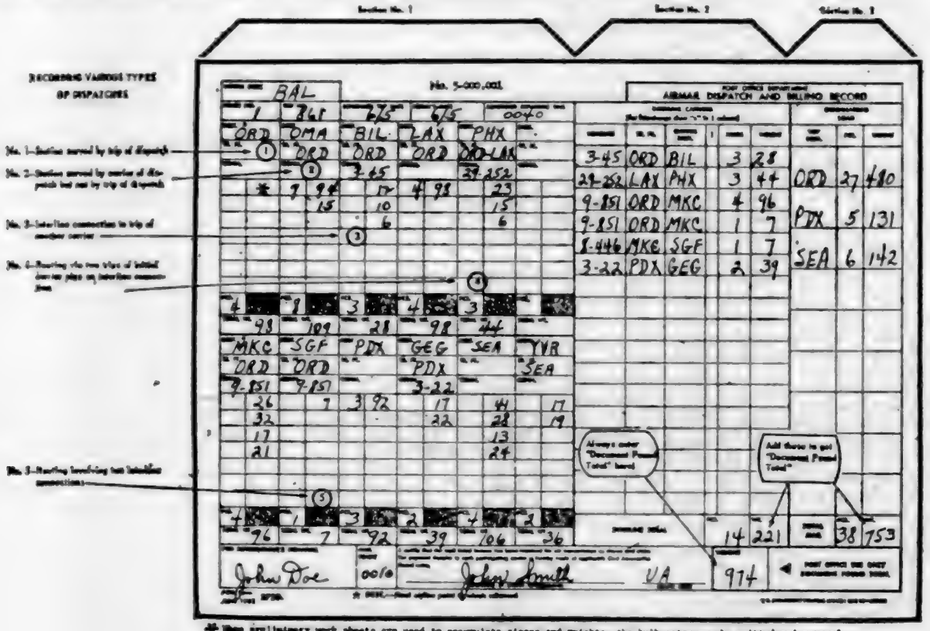
(c) Completing the form. (i) Total the pieces and weights for each destination column.

(ii) Total the subtotals for all columns, and enter in the "total mail" space.

(iii) Recap all columns under the actual destinations served by the trip of dispatch. Enter each airport served, with the appropriate total, in section 3.

(iv) Total the "originating load" column, and verify against the previously entered "total mail." If more than one form has been used, the "originating load and total mail" entries must appear on the final form.

(v) At nonairport mail facility points, the post office employees preparing Form 2729 will not total the "dest.", "originating load," and "total mail" columns if the mail messenger or motor vehicle service driver picks up additional mail at the railroad station or other postal unit en route to the airport. On arrival at the airport, the mail must be weighed and proper entry must be made on Form 2729 by the messenger.



(vi) In the "mail ready" space, enter the time at which the mail and forms are ready for delivery to the air carrier at the airport. At nonairport mail facility points, this time must be entered by the mail messenger or vehicle service driver. The messenger or driver must obtain the signature of the receiving air carrier representative at the time the mail is delivered.

(vii) If the volume of mail is too large to be listed on one Form 2729, use a new numbered form, line through but do not obliterate the printed number, and write in the serial number of the first form. Number the sets consecutively, identifying the last by adding X after the number.

(viii) Add the weights of "total mail" to "interline total" and enter "document pound" total in space provided. This total must be correct as it is used as a control total for processing punch cards for pay purposes.

(ix) Sign Form 2729 in space provided for POD representative's signature.

(5) Corrections to Form 2729. Make corrections to Form 2729 before separating and distributing the four parts of the form. Postal or air carrier personnel shall not make corrections on any part of Form 2729 after it has been separated and distributed.

* When preliminary work sheets are used to accumulate pieces and weights, the bulk entry may be omitted and entered only in the total boxes at the bottom of the respective destination column.

(c) Distribution of copies. After obtaining the air carrier representative's signature on Form 2729, separate copies and distribute as follows:

(1) P.O. Accounting Copy 1. Arrange forms in ascending serial number order (smallest number on top) and send to designated postal data center daily. Include second and third copies of all forms that have been voided, mutilated, etc. Since these forms are serially numbered, they must be accounted for. At nonairport mail facility points, the first three copies of Form 2729 must accompany the mail. After obtaining carrier's signature, the mail messenger or vehicle service driver must return copy 1 to the post office.

(2) Carrier Billing Copy 2 and Carrier Station Copy 3. To local air carrier representative.

(3) P.O. Station Copy 4. To dispatching postal unit file.

(d) Departure time. Postal units shall spot check actual departure time against "Mail Ready" time on Form 2729 to assure that unreported delays are not occurring.

(e) Interchange trips. (1) Mail moving over more than one airmail route on one aircraft must be properly identified in section 2 of Form 2729. No terminal charge is due at the interchange point, as mail remains on board the aircraft. To enable post office accounting personnel to properly identify this mail, dispatching postal clerks must insert an X in the I column of section 2, Form 2729, for the air carrier who is not due to receive a terminal charge.

(2) Identify interchange trips on the States dispatch schemes with an "INT" shown between the transfer point and the interchange route number.

(f) Equalizations authorized. (1) CAB Order No. E–21514, November 19, 1964, authorizes carriers engaging in interstate transportation and carriers performing foreign transportation to equalize rates for mail between an international exchange office and any foreign point to which such exchange office is authorized to dispatch mail. Mail transported under an equalization agreement shall be recorded on Form 2942, AV–7 Delivery List, for both the interstate and foreign segments of the carriage. It will not be considered in the division of mail for interstate carriers. Settlement of air transportation charges will be made to the carrier performing the foreign segment of the haul. That carrier will then pay the interstate carrier. When irregularities occur involving dispatches exchanged with other countries, give special attention to the preparation of Form 2759. Since the mail from a domestic carrier's trip may consist of (i) domestic destination airmail, (ii) airmail for foreign points not subject to equalization agreements or (iii) airmail for foreign points moving via equalized agreements, show separate entries on Form 2759 for (i) domestic mail, and (ii) foreign mail. Show "complete" routing of "all" foreign mail. This will enable the transportation division, by making a copy of Form 2759, to make a report of domestic mail to Air Transportation Branch and of foreign mail to International Services Division, Bureau of Transportation and International Services.

(2) American Airlines, Inc., and Pan American World Airways, Inc., have agreed to equalize rates to lowest charges in effect for airmail transported between Honolulu, on the one hand, and Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Hartford/Springfield, New York/Newark, on the other. Apply the following procedures for airmail dispatched via this equalization agreement:

(i) Enter complete interline routing on the pouch label or POD Label 53.

(ii) Record pouches or outsides on Form 2729 as an on-line dispatch. Show no interline routing in section No. 2, Form 2729.

(iii) Report irregularities on Form 2759 against the air carrier in possession of the mail when irregularity occurred.

(iv) The appropriate postal data center will pay entire transportation charges, from origin to ultimate destination, to the originating carrier. The originating carrier will pay connecting carrier for the interline service.

(g) Labeling pouches, sacks, and outsides. Pouches, sacks, and outside parcels listed on Form 2729 must be identified so that airline and postal personnel handling the mail en route can provide the transportation ordered by the dispatching office. Before delivering the mail to the air carrier, prepare the labels of pouches and sacks to indicate final airline destination and the route over which it is to travel. Attach Label 53, Airmail Parcel Routing Sticker, for each air parcel dispatched outside. The information on pouch and sack labels and Label 53 for outside parcels must coincide with the corresponding entries on Form 2729 as follows:

(1) For mail billed to the final destination over the routes of two or more air carriers, enter on pouch or sack label in airline code the interline transfer points and the route and trip numbers of the connecting air carrier at these points. Show this information in the left center of the label between the destination and from lines. Enter the same information in the "Transfer point" and "connection" blocks on Label 53 for outside parcels. Example: Mail from Toledo to AMF Houston Tex via AM 88 for transfer to AM 1 at Detroit and AM 5 at Atlanta will be labeled as follows:

Pouch or sack label

AMF HOUSTON TEX. DTW 1–883 ATL 5–345, Fr Toledo, Ohio.	30

Outside Parcel (Label 55)

Tr Pt	Connection	Billed to—	Wt.
DTW..... ATL.....	1–883 5–345	(HOU).....	15

(2) For mail billed to the final destination over the routes of a single air carrier, no transfer point codes or route numbers will be used on the pouch and sack labels or on Label 53 for outside parcels. Example: Mail from Zanesville, O., to AMF Cincinnati, O., via 88–816:

Pouch or sack label

AMF CINCINNATI, O. Fr Zanesville, O.	30

Outside Parcel (Label 55)

Tr Pt	Connection	Billed to—	Wt.
		(CVG).....	15

(3) For mail billed to an air stop point other than the actual destination of the pouch and sack labels or on Label 53 for outside parcels, enter in code the point to which billed on Form 2729, in parentheses, on the same line after the address on the pouch and sack label. Enter in the "billed to" block on Label 53 the code for the point to which billed on Form 2729. Use the same procedure as that for pouch and sack labels for entry of transfer point and route number, if required. Example: Mail from Cincinnati, O., to Jamestown, N.D. via AM 8–422 transfer at ORD to 3–411, billed to AMF Minneapolis.

Pouch or Sack Label

JAMESTOWN, N.D. (MSP) ORD 3–411 Fr Cincinnati, O.	10

Outside Parcel (Label 55)

Tr Pt	Connection	Billed to—	Wt.
ORD.....	3–411	(MSP).....	8

(4) For outside air parcels due surface transportation, employees at final air stop offices, shall, when instructed by the director, transportation division, show proper surface routing. A line shall be drawn through the air coding on Label 53. Below the deleted information enter the name and number of the surface dispatch. Example: An outside air parcel from Chicago, Ill., to Portland, Maine, due interline transfer at AMF Kennedy, billed to AMF Boston via 5–302 and due surface dispatch on Bangor & Boston Star Route Trip 55.

Tr Pt	Connection	Billed to—	Wt.
JFK.....	~~5 302~~ Via Ban & Bos SR Tr 55	~~(BOS)~~.....	~~15~~

(5) Weigh each pouch, sack, and outside parcel. Record the weight on the pouch and sack label (see example in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph), on the Label 53 for outside parcels, and on the Form 2729 in even pounds. When weighing, ignore fractions of a pound of 8 ounces or less. Add 1 pound for fractions over 8 ounces.

Example
Actual weight	Weight shown on label
From 1 oz. to and including 1 lb. 8 oz.	1 lb.
Over 1 lb. 8 oz. to and including 2 lb. 8 oz.	2 lb.

§ 533.2 Form 2734, Airmail Exception Record.

(a) Description. Form 2734 provides a source of information on actual movement of airmail that does not move via the original schemed routing. It also provides a means of making accounting adjustments since it serves (i) as the basis for deduction of payment for scheduled services not performed and (ii) as the basis for payment for new services ordered. Form 2734 is a five-part set. See § 533.9 for supply.

(b) Preparation—(1) Who prepare. The delivering air carrier must prepare Form 2734 to cover irregularities outlined in paragraph (d) of this section, except for a missed scheduled interline connection, in which case the receiving air carrier will prepare the Form 2734. The form will be prepared in a few instances at airport mail facilities, or post offices, when the air carrier fails in his responsibility.

(2) Completion of form. Form 2734 must clearly describe transportation originally designated by the dispatching postal unit but which was not performed. Form 2734 is always prepared at the city where the first deviation in routing of the mail is known. General instructions for completion are printed on reverse of fifth copy of the form. In addition, the following instructions must be followed:

(i) Route numbers, city code, and form serial number. The first line directly under the printed name of the airline indicates three things:

(a) Numerical airmail route number assigned to the air carrier by the U.S. Government. This number will be preprinted on the form.

(b) The three-letter alphabetical city code of the city at which the irregularity occurs and where the form is prepared. This city code designator must be inserted by the airline preparing the form.

(c) The serial number of the form. This number will be preprinted on the form and is provided to permit checking differences between postal service and air carrier records. The maximum number of digits is five.

(ii) Route trip, and date. On the second line are blocks for the airmail route number and trip number of the air carrier from whose flight the mail covered by the form was received. If mail was not boarded, this is the route and trip to which the mail was billed for dispatch. The date on which the flight, from which mail was received, was scheduled to originate will be indicated in the "scheduled origin date block."

(iii) Routing shown on pouch label—(a) Transfer point and route number. There may be two or more transfer points and two or more route numbers shown on a pouch label or an outside piece label. Form 2734 is provided for the purpose of showing only that portion of the original scheduled routing which was not completed. If a transfer point shown on the pouch label is overflown, the overflown transfer point and the remaining transfer points, if any, must be shown.

(b) Destination. Enter alphabetical code of actual destination. If the destination is followed by a bracketed "billed" destination, then this should be entered instead. Pouch labels with the same destination and incompleted routing may be grouped in one entry.

(iv) Amount of mail. The amount of mail, pieces, and weight for a common destination may be combined when they have the same incompleted routing as shown on the labels.

(v) New routing. The air carrier destination is the city (alphabetical code) to which the air carrier shown in this section is to carry the mail. Likewise, the "route and trip number" to be inserted in this section are the airmail numerical route number of the air carrier which is to transport the mail and that air carrier's trip number.

(vi) Reason for preparation. Specific boxes have been provided for nine of the most common reasons for preparing Form 2734. Whenever the form is prepared because of one of these nine basic reasons, the box opposite the reason for preparation must be checked. Explain other reasons not listed.

(vii) Signature. The representative receiving the mail, air carrier or postal, must sign the form, enter his code and time received in space provided.

(c) Distribution of Form 2734. Normal distribution of the five copies is printed on each copy of the form. Copies 3 and 4, in all cases, must be given to the postal unit for transmitting, with daily shipment of Forms 2729, to the designated postal data center. The only deviations from this normal distribution are:

(1) When the receiving and delivering air carrier are the same. Staple the receiving and delivering air carriers' billing copies together.

(2) When mail is delivered to the postal service covered by Form 2734. Retain the second copy, and turn in all other copies to the postal unit.

(d) Irregularities requiring preparation of Form 2734. See § 533.7(c).

(1) The following irregularities must be reported on Form 2734 when mail involved is delivered to the Postal Service at other than destination, or delivered to an air carrier not specified in the original billing:

(i) Part of mail not boarded.

(ii) Carry by and/or overfly.

(iii) Removed short of air carrier destination in error.

(iv) Missed a scheduled interline connection.

(v) Missed a scheduled intraline connection.

(vi) Mail boarded in error.

(vii) Incomplete or incorrect labels.

(2) Additional irregularities requiring Form 2734 preparation are:

(i) Cancellation of flight—

(a) where only part of mail is delivered to the postal service.

(b) where part of mail is given to another air carrier for transportation to destination.

(ii) Overfly of transfer point to next air carrier destination.

(iii) Truck haul by air carrier—only when mail is trucked to a point more distant from the ultimate destination than the point from which trucked.

(iv) Mail received on Form 2942, AV-7 Delivery List, and requiring domestic billing.

(e) Irregularities that do not require preparation of Form 2734. (1) Part of mail not boarded—forwarded to destination by the air carrier which received and failed to board the mail.

(2) None of mail received from the postal service boarded—returned to postal unit with all copies of the Form 2729. The postal unit will void all copies of Form 2729.

(3) Carry by and/or overfly—returned to destination by the air carrier which carried the mail by or overflew the destination.

(4) Removed short of air carrier destination—forwarded to destination by the air carrier which removed the mail short.

(5) Missed a scheduled interline connection—rerouted to the same destination via a different trip number of the same connecting air carrier as shown on the pouch label.

(6) Missed a scheduled intraline connection—rerouted to the same destination via a different trip but on the same air carrier.

(7) Boarded in error—returned or forwarded to destination by the air carrier which boarded the mail in error.

(8) Cancellation of flight—all local boarding mail returned to the postal service with the Form 2729.

(9) Mail does not agree with Form 2729. At nonairport mail facility stations, the air carrier must make correction to all copies of Form 2729 as specified in § 531.5(a)(2) of this chapter.

(f) Form 2734 for incomplete or incorrect labels. When no transfer information is shown on a pouch label and the carrier in possession of the mail does not serve the destination, or when the pouch label is incorrect or incomplete, the air carrier will prepare Form 2734 and deliver it with the mail to the local postal unit. The receiving postal unit will (1) verify that Form 2734 is noted "Incomplete" or "Incorrect" label (2) remove label(s) and staple to all copies of Form 2734 and (3) promptly send Form 2734 with label(s) attached to local transportation division for corrective action and accounting adjustments.

(g) Review of Forms 2734. (1) Postal units shall carefully review all Forms 2734 and, in questionable cases, shall make prompt inquiry to determine that information on the form is complete and that instructions are being followed by air carriers.

(2) When reviewing Forms 2734 postal units shall note recurring irregularities, such as missed connections, and report repetitive irregularities to their transportation division. When reporting missed connections, postal units shall show origin of the mail, route and trip numbers of delivering trip, and route and trip number of the schemed connection.

§ 533.3 Form 2713–A, Alaskan Airmail Dispatch Record.

(a) Description. Form 2713–A is used at most postal units served by intra-Alaska air carriers for recording the dispatch of mail. (See § 531.7(b)(3) of this chapter. See also § 533.9 for supply.)

(b) Preparation. Postal clerks at air stop post offices shall prepare Form 2713–A in three-part sets, as follows:

(1) Route number. Enter the route number of the air carrier to which the mail is to be dispatched.[1]

(2) Trip number. Enter the number of the carrier's trip or flight as shown in the schedule designated for airmail transportation.

(3) Carrier. Use the letter code of the airline.[1]

(4) From post office at. Use the alphabetical code of the airport serving your office. (For proper three-letter code, see Airmail Scheme.)

(5) Month, day, year. Enter the date mail is given to air carrier.

(6) Time. Enter time when mail was delivered to carrier representative.

(7) Mail for unloading at. Enter the codes of air stops which are served by the trip to which mail is dispatched. Enter only those points designated for service.[1]

(8) Pieces. Enter the total number of pouches, sacks, and outside parcels for each destination.

(9) Weight. Enter the total weight of pouches, sacks, and outside parcels for each destination.

(10) Totals. Add number of pieces and enter total under pieces column; add weights and enter total in the weight column. Verify total pieces with mail count.

(11) Postmaster. The postmaster shall sign form in space provided, or when postmaster is not available, the postal clerk shall sign the postmaster's name, and initial.

(c) Delivering mail and Form 2713–A to air carrier. The dispatching clerk shall deliver mail and all three copies of Form 2713–A, with carbon paper in place, to the messenger for delivery to the airport.

(d) Verification and correction by air carrier representative. (1) The air carrier representative will count pieces of mail received from the messenger, compare with total shown on Form 2713–A, and, if in agreement, sign form in the space provided and add his airline's code. He will retain parts 1 and 2 and return part 3 to the messenger.

(2) When not in agreement, the carrier will process as follows:

(i) If pouches are listed but not received, cross out the individual listing and grand total. Insert correct adjacent totals.

(ii) If mail is received but not listed, insert weight of each pouch on the proper destination line and amend totals.

(iii) In either event, note facts prominently on Form 2713–A in any blank space. Advise messenger of any discrepancy.

(iv) Make all corrections to Form 2713–A before the carbon paper has been removed.

(v) After corrections have been made, sign and dispose of form as indicated in this paragraph.

(e) Postal unit file copies. When the messenger returns copy 3 to the postal unit, that office shall file the copy by date order for future reference.

(f) Canceled flights. When a flight is canceled after mail and related Form 2713–A have been delivered to the air carrier, the mail and all three copies of Form 2713–A will be returned to the post office. The post office shall then destroy copies 1 and 2 of Form 2713–A, note copy 3 to show flight canceled, and file.

§ 533.4 Form 2713–B, Alaska Airmail Transfer and Exception Record.

(a) Description. Form 2713–B is used for a transfer and exception record in the Alaska air service. It is an accounting document and is printed in four parts with carbon paper interleaved. See § 533.9 for supply.

(b) Preparation—(1) Who prepares. The delivering air carrier must prepare Form 2713–B for all transfers, both intraline and interline, and for all irregularities. The form will be prepared at transfer or irregularity point. In limited instances, the form will be prepared by postal personnel when the air carrier fails to do so.

(2) Irregularities requiring Form 2713–B. (i) Carry by and/or overfly and mail delivered to postal unit other than billed destination.

(ii) Removed in error short of destination and turned over to postal unit.

(iii) For any mail not boarded as dispatched on Form 2713–A.

(iv) For all mail boarded from possible stockpile of carrier.

(v) For all mail boarded at non-post-office air stop unaccompanied by Form 2713–A.

(3) Distribution. Distribute copies of Form 2713–B as indicated on each copy. When mail is delivered to a postal unit, other than destination of the mail, Copy 1, 3, and 4 will be retained by the postal unit for forwarding, daily or on next flight to Director, Transportation Division, Post Office Department, Federal Office Building, Post Office Box 9000, Seattle, Wash. 98109.

§ 533.5 [Reserved]

§ 533.6 Form 2753–A, Mail Delivery Record.

(a) Description. Form 2753–A is a record of mail delivered to airport mail facilities. Form 2753–A is not used for mail that is delivered with Form 2734. (See § 533.2. See also § 533.9 for supply.)

(b) Preparation. (1) Airport mail facility personnel will complete heading in set of Form 2753–A, original and two copies, for each air carrier to record the delivery of mail. If an exceptionally large number of trips are involved for any one air carrier, separate forms may be prepared for each tour of duty.

(2) When delivering airmail or first-class mail to airport mail facilities, air carrier personnel will enter appropriate information in each column of Form 2753–A and initial.

(3) Receiving unit postal personnel must examine labels to be sure that the mail delivered by the air carrier is addressed or coded for delivery to the receiving unit.

(c) Review. The receiving clerk on each tour shall review the time shown under Form 2753–A headings "Arrival Time of Trip" and "Mail to AMF" to assure that air carriers are observing the local delivery time limit and prepare Form 2759 when required.

(d) Distribution. (1) Deliver original of Form 2753–A to air carrier.

(2) Send first copy to your local transportation division.

(3) File second copy.

§ 533.7 Form 2759, Report of Irregular Handling of Airmail.

(a) Description. Form 2759 is used as a basis for brief against an air carrier for irregular handling. It is a four part set. See § 533.9 for supply.

(b) Preparation. Postal employees must prepare Form 2759, immediately to report any air carrier irregularities in handling mail or mail equipment, including weather damage due to negligence on the part of the carrier, or other irregularity requiring remedial action. When mail is damaged by inclement weather, report only those bags and outside pieces actually wet or otherwise damaged. Do not prepare forms to cover irregular receipt due to weather conditions. Furnish all data required. If accuracy or completeness of the facts are uncertain, get additional information from the local representative of the carrier involved. Specific information required on Form 2759 for certain irregularities is included with the description of that irregularity in paragraph (c) of this section.

(c) Airmail irregularities. Following is a classification and description of air mail irregularities:

(1) Carry-by. When a pouch is transported past its destination on a trip, classify as a carry-by. This includes mail transported past an intraline or interline connection or ultimate point to which schemed. An overcarry on interchange trip for mail destined for the interchange point, or connection mail due off at the interchange point, will be charged to arriving air carrier.

(2) Failed to load. Generally refers to airmail received from the local postal unit and involves only a few pouches. Failures to load mail are (i) failure of an air carrier to pick up all mail from the postal unit or (ii) inadvertently failing to board all mail picked up from the postal unit on the trip of dispatch.

(3) Failure to unload. This is rare instance of air carrier failing to remove airmail from aircraft which is laying over, or is being sent to hangar for service or repairs.

[1] Note: See Official Airmail Index.

(4) Loaded in error. When an air carrier receives and boards airmail dispatched to another carrier or receives airmail for two or more trips at one time and boards some of it on a trip other than trip of dispatch. When preparing Form 2759 for loaded in error, the postal employee will, before distributing copies of the form, request verification of the classification from a representative of the airline responsible for handling mail. The coding shown on the related pouch label should be reproduced on Form 2759.

(5) Removed in error. When airmail is off-loaded short of destination.

(6) Failure to transfer. Involves mail not transferred between flights of the same air carrier or between flights of two air carriers. When a receiving carrier fails to complete a transfer by not boarding an intraline or interline pouch, this should be charged as a failure to transfer not as a failure to load. The actual arrival time of the trip and actual departure time of the connecting flight must be shown on Form 2759.

(7) Delayed delivery. Instances when an air carrier exceeds time allowed for delivery of incoming airmail. Arrival time of the flight and time that mail is delivered to the postal unit must be shown on Form 2759.

(i) The time of delivery by an air carrier representative is the time he appears at the postal unit ready to deliver the mail. If congestion or multiple operation prevent the air carrier representative from delivering the mail, no brief will be made.

(ii) When a carrier must make several trips between the aircraft and the postal unit because of volume, delivery time will be arrival of the first trip, except when there is extended delay between the first and final delivery.

(8) Failure to notify. Whenever an air carrier fails to notify the postal unit of off-schedule operations in excess of 30 minutes, cancellations, emergency changes in schedules, and failure to follow instructions from postal unit regarding disposition of mail, classify it as failure to notify.

(9) Refusal/removal. When an air carrier refuses to board airmail tendered or offered, charge as a refusal. This includes transfer mail not boarded due to space or weight problems. When an air carrier deliberately unloads airmail short of destination because of weight or space limitations, a removal brief must be prepared.

(10) Damage to mail or equipment. Any damage to airmail or equipment, either by physical force or by weather, should be charged as damage. If damage was due to improper packing, prepare Form 3823.

(11) Other. Will include failure to protect, lost on roadway, lost on ramp, failure to cooperate, and airmail left unattended.

(d) Review. Following preparation of Form 2759, the unit supervisor must review promptly to see that all pertinent information relating to the mishandling is shown, the irregularity is classified according to § 531.7(c) of this chapter, and the carrier is responsible for the irregularity. This review will eliminate Forms 2759 which are not chargeable to a carrier, such as infrequent delays in the delivery of mail to the postal unit, overcarry due to weather, mechanical failure, or mishandling caused by improper routings or labels.

(e) Distribution.—(1) Reports covering incidents chargeable to carrier. Distribute copies of Forms 2759, if possible, at the close of each tour and in no case less frequently than once each 24 hours. Send original and first copy to the transportation division having jurisdiction over the reporting unit, send second copy to the local station manager of the carrier concerned, and retain third copy in files.

(2) Reports covering incidents not chargeable to carrier. Note on form "not chargeable to air carrier," staple original, first and second copies together and forward them to the local transportation division. Retain third copy in files.

§ 533.8 Applicability of forms and procedures.

(a) Airmail. Forms and procedures described in this part are applicable to all domestic air carriers on all their routes within and between the fifty United States, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands (but not for mail originating at or intended for destinations beyond).

(b) Emergency first-class mail by air. In the dispatch of first-class mail by air under emergency conditions, use Form 2729 endorsed "First-Class Mail." Forward daily copies of Form 2729 to regular postal data center for serial number check and subsequent transmittal to Dallas Postal Data Center for settlement.

PART 534—FIRST-CLASS MAIL (FCM) BY AIR

Sec.
534.1 Definition.
534.2 Authority, rates, and service.
534.3 Responsibility for FCM Program.
534.4 Forms and procedures for dispatching and receiving FCM.
534.5 Settlement of air transportation charges for FCM.
534.6 Reporting and processing FCM irregularities.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 534 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 39 U.S.C. 501.

§ 534.1 Definition.

The term "first-class mail by air" (FCM) is used to describe first-class mail, other than airmail and air parcel post, which is authorized for transportation by aircraft between designated points on a space-available, nonpriority basis. The mail to be included is:

(a) All mail paid at first-class rate, including business reply mail, APO[1] and FPO[1] mail.

(b) All official U.S. Government mail endorse "first class," including APO[1] and FPO[1] mail.

(c) All other sealed official U.S. Government letter-size mail except volume shipments on which it is known, or can be determined, the mailer does not expect air service.

(d) Inbound military official mail and FCM (personal) from APO[1] and FPO[1] units may be properly included in airlift dispatches over all authorized segments.

§ 534.2 Authority, rates, and service.

(a) Civil Aeronautics Board. The CAB establishes the rates to be paid air carriers for the transportation of FCM.

(b) Post Office Department.—(1) Authorizations. Authorizations for dispatch of FCM are made by the Bureau of Transportation and International Services.

(2) Interline transfers.—(i) Trunkline and cargo air carriers. (a) FCM will not be tendered by any postal unit if an intermediate transfer to another air carrier would be required to provide transportation to the intended destination unless such interline transfers have been mutually agreed to by the carriers involved and the Department.

(b) Single carrier service between any authorized points is believed inadequate, and an interline transfer of value is available, the transportation division in the dispatching region will request the Air Transportation Branch to consider the possibility of arranging with the carriers involved for establishment of such a mutually agreeable interline transfer.

(c) Full particulars will be furnished to all concerned by the Air Transportation Branch whenever interline transfers are agreed upon.

(d) Through interchange flights, operated by two or more carriers, shall not be considered as interline transfers.

(e) See § 534.3(a)(4)(ii) for instructions concerning transfers to another air carrier which may be directed when mail has been irregularly handled.

(ii) Local service air carriers. No interline transfers in ordinary circumstances are authorized between local service air carriers or between trunkline and local service air carriers. See § 534.3(a)(4)(ii) (b) and (c) concerning permissible interline transfers between any domestic air carriers when service has been interrupted.

(c) Division of FCM.—(1) When to make. When two or more authorized carriers operate between the same pair of points, and the criteria shown in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph exists, the FCM shall be divided on an equitable basis by the dispatching unit with due consideration to the availability of space and the needs of the postal service.

(2) Criteria for division.—(i) Volume. (a) The total volume of FCM for each separate destination point, arriving at the airport of dispatch via each vehicle service (VS) or mail messenger (MM) truck, will be considered in the division.

(b) No division will be warranted unless 200 or more pounds are available for dispatch. However, the local postal unit will endeavor to assign the shipments alternately to the available carriers having space to prevent one carrier consistently receiving less than division lots.

(ii) Air carrier schedules. (a) Carriers eligible to participate in a division of FCM arriving at an airport by each VS or MM are those which have any scheduled service to the destination city within a 4-hour period thereafter, regardless of arrival time.

(b) Generally, at major points, this 4-hour period will commence no later than 60 minutes after arrival at the airport of the VS or MM trip. At smaller stations, the time period may commence immediately on arrival of the surface connection at the airport. The director, transportation division, of the region having jurisdiction of the dispatching postal unit will establish the appropriate time period which will apply at that point and notify all concerned.

(c) Whenever FCM is available for dispatch, and no flights are scheduled to a destination during the next 4-hour period, the usual division of FCM will not apply. In these circumstances, the FCM will be divided among those carriers having service scheduled to depart within 90 minutes following the period of no service.

(d) The regular Origin and Destination Schedules will be used to determine the availability of scheduled service. In the event an air carrier desires to have other schedules included (e.g., trips involving an intraline transfer or multiple stops), this information must be submitted to the director, transportation division, having jurisdiction, with copies to the competitive carriers. Schedules of this type will be included with those in the Origin and Destination Schedules by the director, transportation division, in determining the proper allocations of FCM. Although it will not be necessary for these schedules to be published in the Origin and Destination Schedules, they may, if desired, be included by preceding the listing with an ampersand (&).

(e) An air carrier can participate in a division of FCM on only those days when there is scheduled service by that carrier within the specified 4-hour period.

(f) When one air carrier has service arriving in time for connection to a letter carrier delivery trip not provided by competing carriers, the division shall be accomplished by dispatch of the city pouches to that carrier. Usually, the dispatch of city pouches by one carrier and the dispatch of AMF or Dis pouches by another carrier, or carriers, will accomplish an equitable division. When the routing of city mail by one carrier, or to one airport in multiple airport situations, is advantageous to the postal service, no division will be made of the city mail even though this results in an unequal tender to one carrier.

(g) An air carrier participating in a division of FCM having knowledge that he will be unable to transport such mail within the specified 4-hour period is required to notify the local postal unit before the division is made. Observance of this requirement will permit equitable division between carriers without loss of space availability.

(h) Adjustments in each separate division will be made when there are air carrier schedule changes involving establishment, revision, or elimination of particular flights which warrant such action.

(iii) Multiple airport cities.—(a) At origin point. The division will be determined separately at each airport involved.

(b) At destination point. (1) FCM for a destination point which is a multiple airport city will be considered as a single total and those carriers with any service scheduled during the specified 4-hour period from the origin point to any one of the destination airports shall participate in the division. In the event the receiving region desires routing to a particular airport, as described in subdivision (ii) of this section, an equal division will be made only to the extent possible while still providing service to the airport specified.

(2) All FCM cannot be handled interchangeably at different airports to equal advantage. The director, transportation division, of the receiving region will determine what arrangements may be necessary to assure receipt at the most advantageous airport. (Example: the dispatch of pouches of New Jersey FCM labeled to "Newark, N.J., Dis" may not be desired to Kennedy or La Guardia airports when following service is available to the Newark airport.)

(iv) Stockpiling FCM. Postal units will make local arrangements with air carriers for stockpiling FCM when it is mutually advantageous and agreeable. Air carriers shall not be required to accept FCM for protection and storage pending shipment, but may elect to do so if tendered by the postal service.

§ 534.3 Responsibility for FCM Program.

(a) Air carriers.—(1) Transportation on space-available basis. Air carriers will transport FCM on a voluntary, space-available basis to the destination shown on the dispatch record and pouch label. The CAB order prescribes that no air carrier shall transport FCM if such transportation impedes the carriage of priority airmail, passengers, passenger baggage, air parcel post, air express, or regular air freight, except that FCM which has been loaded in the aircraft need not be removed to permit carriage of regular air freight received thereafter or received at an intermediate point. The movement of FCM by air shall have priority over the movement of deferred air freight.

(2) Notification to postal units. The local postal unit must be promptly informed of any delay or inability to transport mail which has been tendered in order that consideration may be given to utilization of any alternate routings which may be available to move the mail. An air carrier which has carried FCM beyond, or off-loaded short of, the billed destination must also promptly notify the postal unit at the point where FCM is on hand and receive instructions as to the best disposition to be made of the mail.

(3) Dispatch within 4 hours—trunkline and cargo air carriers. In the event any or all of the FCM has not been dispatched by a trunkline or cargo air carrier within 4 hours after receipt at the initial point (or 4 hours after anticipated dispatch in the event of early receipt for preloading on a flight where available space is anticipated), the carrier shall notify the postal unit. On instructions from the postal unit, the FCM shall be (i) returned by the carrier to the custody of the postal service at the place where the initial delivery was made, (ii) delivered at the holding carrier's facilities at the airport of dispatch to another designated carrier which has space available and which will pick up the mail within a reasonable time, or (iii) held for an additional period if acceptable to the carrier.

(4) Requirements for transfer of FCM. (i) Carriers will make any necessary intraline transfers to other trips of the same carrier in order to provide transportation to the destination listed on the original dispatch record. Interline transfers of FCM to another air carrier are not authorized in ordinary circumstances. See subdivisions (ii) (b) and (c) of this subparagraph concerning permissible interline transfers when service has been interrupted.

[1] Authorized airlift of "SAM" letters and cards have been established over designated domestic segments. See § 127.1(e)(1) of this chapter for overseas handling.

(ii) Trunkline and cargo air carriers will not be required to transfer FCM to other carriers except:

(a) When mutually agreeable transfers have been agreed upon. See § 534.2 (b) (2) (i) (b);

(b) When FCM is inadvertently transported to a destination other than that to which due and the carrier does not have service within 2 hours on which space is available to the intended destination and another carrier can provide the needed space with earlier arrival at destination;

(c) When a carrier must unload FCM at an intermediate point and has no service or space within 4 hours and another carrier can provide the needed space with earlier arrival at destination.

(5) Delivery requirements. Priority in delivery, equivalent to airmail, to the destination postal unit cannot be required. Delivery of FCM shall be made as soon as practicable and without unwarranted delay.

(6) Protection of mail. FCM must be protected from the weather and possible depredation and accorded the same care and safeguards as is given regular airmail.

(7) Applicability of Postal Manual sections. The provisions of §§ 531.3(c) and 531.5(a) (1) of this chapter (except with respect to time), and §§ 533.5 and 533.6 of this chapter (except with reference to airmail forms), apply to the handling of FCM by air carriers.

(b) Postal units. Airport mail facilities and air stop point post offices are responsible for:

(1) Excluding from FCM dispatches any nonmailable articles coming to their attention which are not acceptable for transportation by air. See Parts 124 and 125 of this chapter for responsibility of mailers and accepting clerks.

(2) Utilizing such equipment and locking devices as may be designated from time to time for FCM dispatches.

(3) Preparing regular surface labels to identify FCM dispatches, underscoring the destination postal unit with a red line and showing proper air stop point coding to the destination airport. See § 534.4(a).

(4) Assuring that mail messenger or vehicle service, as necessary, is provided for delivery and receipt of FCM.

(5) Reporting irregularities in service to their director, transportation division, on Form 2759, Report of Irregular Handling of Airmail, appropriately checked to indicate FCM, for necessary action.

(6) Attempting to have FCM which is off-loaded short of, or carried beyond, the intended destination continued onward by air by means of transfer on Form 2718 to an air carrier having available service. See § 534.4(c).

(7) Redispatching by air to the intended destination any FCM which is irregularly off-loaded and turned in to the postal unit: Provided, That onward air dispatch is superior to available surface transportation.

(c) Transportation division. The transportation division is responsible for:

(1) Notifying postal unit concerning authorized dispatches, air carriers involved, and dates or other particulars of service.

(2) Issuing appropriate instructions concerning the labeling of pouches, mail due dispatch, time of advantageous tie-outs, and other local arrangements or requirements.

(3) Assuring that no improper diversions of mail are made to FCM dispatches which have been authorized.

(4) Evaluating promptly any FCM irregularities reported by dispatching or receiving postal units on Form 2759.

(5) Reporting to Air Transportation Branch any failure by air carriers to promptly correct unsatisfactory conditions so that remedial action may be taken.

§ 534.4 Forms and procedures for dispatching and receiving FCM.

(a) Labeling and marketing—(1) FCM pouches. The dispatching postal employee shall label FCM pouches with regular surface labels and underscore destination with a red line to identify as FCM dispatches. When dispatch is to a postal unit that is not an air stop point, enter on the label official code letters for the final air stop off-loading point. Bracket code letters. Show contents of pouch on descriptive line of label, e.g. "Illinois." Enter weight on the label in the same manner as for airmail except that weight need not be shown on the individual labels where bulk weighing has been authorized. Do not serial number pouch labels.

(2) First-class outsides. When it is not possible to enclose a first-class piece in a pouch or sack, use crayon or indelible pencil to enter weight and FCM endorsement in large figures near address. When the outside is billed to an airport not located at city shown in address, also prominently show the airport destination code in brackets.

(b) Form 2713, Dispatch Record of First-Class Mail by Air—(1) Description. Form 2713 is a four-part serially numbered snapout form for documenting the dispatch of first-class mail (FCM) to domestic air carriers authorized to transport first-class mail. It is also a bill for air transportation charges and must be accurate and complete.

(2) Initial preparation. The dispatching postal unit will show the following on Form 2713:

(i) Heading form. Enter origin code, date, route number, and mail ready time. Show trip number in "Available For Trip No." box only when dispatches are made to local service carriers.

(ii) Destinations. List first-class mail pouches on one form for destinations served by a local service trip. List first-class mail pouches on one form for points served by a trunkline carrier's trips departing within a limited time bracket which can be picked up at the same time.

(iii) Transfer point. Enter only intraline transfer point for dispatches due to be transferred to another trip of the carrier of dispatch.

(iv) Pieces and pounds. Enter pouches and pounds under appropriate destination. Use one column only for each destination. If pouches cannot be individually listed under one destination column, accumulate pieces and weights on a scratch sheet and bulk list total pieces and weights under appropriate destination.

(v) Grand totals of pieces and pounds. Cross-add destination totals for pieces and pounds and enter in "Grand Total" box.

(vi) Postal signature. The dispatch clerk will sign his name on the form. The minimum requirement for signature is first initial and last name.

(3) Delivering first-class mail and Form 2713. In delivering FCM and related Form 2713 to air carrier, observe the following:

(i) Airport mail facilities. Air carrier representative picking up the mail will:

(a) Verify FCM with entries on Form 2713.

(b) Sign the form in space provided on left side of form and enter pickup time.

(c) Remove Part 4 and leave at airport mail facility. Retain Parts 1, 2, and 3, with carbon paper interleaved, for completing when FCM is boarded on a trip.

(ii) Air stop post offices. The dispatching clerk will retain Part 4 and give the FCM and Parts 1, 2, and 3 of related Form 2713, intact, to the mail messenger or vehicle service driver for delivery to air carrier representative at the airport for securing verification of piece count and completed forms.

(4) Completion of form. The air carrier will complete Form 2713 as follows:

(i) Airport mail facilities. When FCM is boarded on one or more trips, air carrier will complete Form 2713 by entering only the trip number or numbers boarding mail in space provided under each destination. If the FCM is not boarded within 4-hour holding period, beginning at pickup time, air carrier must notify postal unit and secure instructions for disposition of FCM. Air carrier representative will complete the certificate by entering date, two letter airline code, and signing. The certificate must be signed. The minimum requirement is first initial and last name. When the form is completed, the air carrier will separate Parts 1, 2, and 3, retain Parts 2 and 3 and return Part 1 to the postal unit as promptly as local conditions will permit. In no case will the transmittal be less frequent than once each 24 hours. In these cases, air carrier must notify postal unit by telephone of trips boarding FCM during each 4-hour holding period.

(ii) Air stop post offices. As most FCM dispatches made by air stop post offices are accommodated on trips connected by mail messenger (MM) or vehicle service (VS) driver, air carrier representative will complete Form 2713 by (a) entering the boarding trip number or numbers in the space provided under each destination, (b) dating certification, (c) entering two letter airline code, (d) signing the form, (e) separating Parts 1, 2, and 3 and (f) returning completed Part 1 to the MM or VS driver for delivery to dispatching post office. When it is not possible to handle Forms 2713 in this manner, arrangements similar to those in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph will be made.

(5) Review of form. The dispatching postal unit will review Form 2713 as follows:

(i) Part 4, Form 2713. Part 4 will always be retained in the dispatching airport mail facility or air stop post office. It will be used to (a) monitor the 4-hour holding rule, see § 534.3(a) (c) and (b) see that completed Part 1 of the form is returned.

(ii) Part 1, Form 2713. When the air carrier returns Part 1, the dispatching postal unit will review the form to assure that (a) it is fully completed, (b) no nonessential data, such as route numbers and dates, are shown in "Boarded on Trip Nos." block and (c) necessary signatures are in proper order.

(iii) Completion of Part 4, Form 2713. The dispatching postal unit will, following review of Part 1, enter trip number or numbers boarding the FCM on Part 4 as a local record of FCM transported.

(6) Voiding Form 2713. When none of the FCM tendered is transported and the postal unit instructs the air carrier to return the mail to the postal unit, the receiving postal representative will void all four parts, send Parts 1, 2, and 3 to Dallas Postal Data Center, with weekly transmittal of forms, and file Part 4.

(7) Distribution. Distribute Parts 1, 2, 3, and 4 as follows:

(i) Part 1. Dispatching postal units will enclose completed and voided forms in P-87-A envelope and forward each Friday following last dispatch of FCM to:

Postal Data Center, Post Office Department, Box 1557, Main Post Office Building, Dallas, Tex. 75299.

(ii) Part 2. Air Carrier Accounting Office.

(iii) Part 3. Air Carrier Station Record.

(iv) Part 4. Dispatching Postal Unit File.

(c) Form 2718, First-Class Mail by Air exception Record—(1) Description. Form 2718 is a four part snapout form with basic instruction regarding its use on the face of the form. It serves as a report of irregular transfers of FCM between air carriers at point of origin as well as at intermediate points short of destination. It also serves as a report of FCM turned into a postal unit short of destination. Form 2718 is an accounting document for adjusting air transportation charges which were ordered but not performed.

(2) Preparation. The delivering air carrier (carrier in possession of FCM) will, after receiving instructions from the local postal unit, prepare Form 2718 reporting the following situations:

(i) Part of FCM returned to postal unit at origin of FCM.

(ii) FCM turned into a postal unit at an intermediate point.

(iii) All of FCM transferred to another carrier at origin point of FCM.

(iv) Part of FCM transferred to another carrier at origin point of FCM.

(v) FCM transferred to another carrier at an intermediate point short of destination.

(3) Transferring or delivering FCM. When transferring or delivering FCM to air carrier or postal unit observe the following:

(i) When FCM is being transferred to another air carrier or delivered to the local postal unit, the delivering carrier will prepare and present all four parts of Form 2718 to air carrier or postal unit with related FCM and obtain signature to acknowledge receipt.

(ii) Distribution of parts of Form 2718 by receiving carrier or postal unit, will be as follows:

(a) When FCM is transferred to another air carrier, send:

(1) Parts 1 and 2 to local postal unit for forwarding with Forms 2713 to Dallas Postal Data Center.

(2) Part 3 to delivering carrier as a receipt and for forwarding to carrier's accounting office.

(3) Part 4 to receiving air carrier for forwarding to carrier accounting office.

(b) When FCM is delivered to Postal Unit, send:

(1) Parts 1 and 2 to local postal unit for forwarding to Dallas Postal Data Center.

(2) Part 3 to delivering air carrier for transmitting to air carrier accounting office.

(3) Part 4 retain in local postal unit.

(d) Form 2753-A, Mail Delivery Record. See § 533.6 of this chapter for handling Form 2753-A.

§ 534.5 Settlement of air transportation charges for FCM.

The Dallas Postal Data Center will settle all domestic air carriers charges for transporting first class mail by air.

§ 534.6 Reporting and processing FCM irregularities.

(a) Form 2759, Report of Irregular Handling of Airmail—(1) Use. Form 2759 is used by postal employees to report air carrier irregularities in the handling of FCM. It must also be used by postal units to advise local transportation division of irregular transfer and off-loading of FCM at intermediate points short of destination. Since this form is also used to report airmail irregularities, check box "1st Class by Air" to assure proper evaluation of the report.

(2) Who prepares. Postal clerk who first handles FCM which obviously has been mishandled by an air carrier or who is informed of irregular transfers or off-loadings by receipt in the postal unit of Parts 1 and 2 of Form 2718, is required to prepare Form 2759 report.

(3) FCM irregularities requiring close attention. (i) Refusals/removals of FCM are not subject to the preparation of briefs and the imposition of fines under the space available provisions. However, remedial action may be required. Submit memorandum report with full particulars to enable the director, transportation division, to take such corrective action as may be necessary in situations of repetitive occurrences involving refusals and removals that impair the service accorded FCM. See subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(ii) Delayed delivery of FCM will be reported when more than 1 hour from time of arrival of trip elapses before delivery to AMF, MM, or VS driver. At non-AMF points, the post office clerk receiving the delayed FCM from the MM or VS driver is responsible for preparing Form 2759 under such circumstances.

(iii) Damage to FCM and equipment is a finable irregularity since air carriers are responsible for according FCM the same care and safeguards as is given regular airmail. See § 534.73(a) (6). Furnish full particulars as to pieces damaged, and extent, and pieces actually wet because of exposure to the elements.

(b) Instances where fines can be levied—(1) Authorization for fining. The CAB rate order prescribes that "no air carrier shall be subject to penalties (fines) with respect to the carriage of such mail except to cover serious cases of failure to protect mail from damage and depredation or repetitive instances of neglect resulting in substantial delay. Inability to accommodate such mail on a specific flight or flights shall not be construed as neglect."

(2) Processing of finable FCM cases. Send Form 2759 for (i) damage to mail or equipment, including repetitive instances occurring at the same airport, (ii) failure to protect FCM from depredation, and (iii) neglect resulting in substantial delay, to local transportation division for evaluation and processing with those covering airmail.

(c) Distribution. Postal units will distribute copies of Form 2759 according to the instructions printed on each page of the form.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

[Docket No. 8035; Amdt. 39-451]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Rolls-Royce Spey Model 506-14 Engines

A proposal to amend Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include an airworthiness directive requiring inspections of the input drive assembly of the C.A.S.C. 105 Lucas fuel flow control on Rolls-Royce Spey Model 506-14 engines, and if an inspection discloses wear, the incorporation of Rolls-Royce Modification 3258, was published in 32 F.R. 4314.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment. One commentator stated that Modification 3258 kits have not always been readily available and suggested that the proposed AD be revised to permit either replacement with a serviceable input drive assembly or incorporation of the modification. Another commentator believed the AD should permit the replacement of worn parts with new parts and the use of the fuel flow control unit for an additional 800 hours. The FAA has been advised by the British Air Registration Board that Modification 3258 kits are now available in sufficient quantities to meet all demands. The FAA has also determined that if wear is found it is necessary to incorporate the modification rather than to replace the worn parts with serviceable parts. The design of the old parts precludes a satisfactory assembly as the retention and locking means are susceptible to loosening even with reasonable care upon assembly. The FAA has also been advised that the C.A.S.C. 125 Lucas fuel flow controls are modified C.A.S.C. 105 controls and that the modifications resulting in the redesignation are not pertinent to this AD. Therefore, the applicability statement has been revised to include Type 125 controls. Since this revision is not substantive, but is merely clarifying in nature, further notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the AD may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (25 F.R. 6489), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

ROLL-ROYCE. Applies to Spey Model 506-14 engines.

Compliance required as indicated, unless already accomplished.

To prevent failure of the C.A.S.C. 105 and 125 Lucas fuel flow controls installed on Spey Model 506-14 engines due to wear of the splines on the input drive assembly, accomplish the following:

(a) For fuel flow controls with 700 or more hours' total time in service on the effective date of this AD and that have not been overhauled, comply with paragraph (c) within the next 100 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 800 hours' time in service from the last inspection.

(b) For fuel flow controls with less than 700 hours' total time in service on the effective date of this AD and that have not been overhauled, comply with paragraph (c) before the accumulation of 800 hours' total time in service, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 800 hours' time in service from the last inspection.

(c) For fuel flow controls that have been overhauled and that on the effective date of this AD, have 700 or more hours' time in service since overhaul, comply with paragraph (e) within the next 100 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 800 hours' time in service from the last inspection.

(d) For fuel flow controls that have been overhauled and that on the effective date of this AD have less than 700 hours' time in service since overhaul, comply with paragraph (e) before the accumulation of 800 hours' time in service since overhaul, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 800 hours' time in service from the last inspection.

(e) Inspect the input drive assembly, in accordance with Rolls-Royce Service Bulletin No. SP 73-A109 dated February 2, 1967, or later ARB-approved issue, or FAA-approved equivalent. If wear is found, incorporate Rolls-Royce Modification 3258, or an FAA-approved equivalent, before further flight.

(f) The repetitive inspection required by paragraphs (a) through (d) may be discontinued upon incorporation of Modification 3258, or an FAA-approved equivalent.

This amendment becomes effective August 25, 1967.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

On page 8302 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated June 9, 1967, there was published a notice of proposed rule making to amend Part 71 that would designate additional controlled airspace in the Boise, Idaho, area. Interested persons were given 30 days in which to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed alteration.

No objections have been received, and the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective 0001 e.s.t., October 12, 1967.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 72 Stat. 749; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Los Angeles, Calif., on July 18, 1967.

A. E. HORNING,
Acting Director, Western Region.

In § 71.171 (32 F.R. 2160) the Boise, Idaho, transition area is amended by deleting all after "* * * 55 miles northwest of the VORTAC;" and substituting therefor, "and that airspace northwest of Boise bounded on the northwest by the McCall, Idaho VORTAC 221° radial, on the east by the west edge of V-253 and on the southwest by a line 8 miles northwest of and parallel to the Boise VORTAC 319° radial; that airspace southeast of Boise extending upward from 9,000 feet MSL bounded on the north by the south edge of V-138, on the east by the west edge of V-293 and on the southwest by the northeast edge of V-4; and that airspace extending upward from 10,500 feet MSL southeast of V-507, within 5 miles each side of the Rome, Oreg., VORTAC 056° radial extending from 46 miles northeast of the VORTAC to the Boise 40-mile radius area".

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Control Zone

On June 9, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 8302), regarding an amendment to Part 71 that would designate a control zone for Felts Field, Spokane, Wash. After consideration of all relevant matter presented by interested persons, the amendment as so proposed is hereby adopted, subject to the following change:

F.R. Doc. 67-8444 (32 F.R. 8302), Spokane, Wash. (Felts Field), is changed by striking out "* * * latitude 47°41'11" N., * * " in the second line, and inserting in place thereof " * * latitude 47°41'00" N., * * *".

Since this change is minor in nature, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

Effective date. This amendment is effective October 12, 1967.

Issued in Los Angeles, Calif., on July 18, 1967.

A. E. HORNING,
Acting Director, Western Region.

SPOKANE, WASH. (FELTS FIELD)

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Federal Airway

On April 22, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 6371) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration was considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate a VOR Federal airway from Pawnee City, Nebr., with a 3,500 MSL floor via the intersection of Pawnee City 193° T (184° M) and Emporia, Kans., 336° T (328° M) radials; thence with a 1,200 AGL floor via Emporia; to Chanute, Kans.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the proposed rule making through the submission of comment. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0001 e.s.t., September 14, 1967, as herein after set forth.

Section 71.123 (32 F.R. 2009) is amended by adding:

V-307 From Chanute, Kans., 12 AGL Emporia, Kans., 12 AGL INT of Emporia 336° and Pawnee City, Nebr., 193° radials; 35 MSL Pawnee City.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration of Restricted Area

The purpose of these amendments to Parts 71 and 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to reduce the size and to change the using agency of Lacarne, Ohio, Restricted Area R-5502.

The Department of the Army has requested the Federal Aviation Administration to modify R-5502, Lacarne, Ohio, by reducing its size and redesignating the using agency to reflect its continued usage by the Ohio National Guard. The Department of the Navy is also a user of R-5502 and has requested that a portion of the existing area, separate from the area the Army is retaining, be retained for use and redesignated R-5502B. However, R-5502B will not fully accommodate the Navy's requirement and, therefore, the Navy has submitted a proposal for additional restricted airspace adjoining R-5502B to the east. The total area of R-5502A, and R-5502B retained herein, plus the additional airspace that is the subject of the Navy's proposal is less than the present R-5502. Moreover, these areas are now removed from, and will have less adverse effect on all existing recreation, conservation, and commercial activities in this vicinity.

Since these amendments are less restrictive upon the public, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and for that reason they may be made effective on less than 30 days notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 and Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations are amended, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, as hereinafter set forth.

(a) In § 71.123 (32 F.R. 2009) the description of Domestic VOR Federal Airway V 133 is amended by deleting the words "within R-5502 and" so that the sentence reads "The airspace within Canada is excluded."

(b) In § 73.55 (32 F.R. 2327) R-5502, Lacarne, Ohio, is revoked and the following is substituted therefor:

R-5502A LACARNE, OHIO

Boundaries: Beginning at latitude 41°-41'15" N., longitude 83°07'45" W.; to latitude 41°41'17" N., longitude 83°00'00" W.; to latitude 41°35'30" N., longitude 82°54'48" W.; to latitude 41°32'02" N., longitude 83°-01'05" W., to latitude 41°36'54" N., longitude 83°07'45" W.; to the point of beginning.

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Board

SUBCHAPTER A—ECONOMIC REGULATIONS

[Reg. ER-499, Amdt. 1; Docket No. 18641]

PART 288—EXEMPTION OF AIR CARRIERS FOR MILITARY CHARTERS AND SUBSTITUTE SERVICE

Minimum Rates for Turboprops and Stretched Jets

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 21st day of July 1967.

On May 25, 1967, the Board adopted ER-494 (Docket 18273, 32 F.R. 7901), which, among other things, set minimum rates for the performance of military charters with turboprop aircraft and with stretched DC-8 aircraft. On June 6, 1967, Saturn Airways, Inc., filed a "Petition for Reconsideration" of the stretched-jet minimum rates in Docket 18273, and Alaska Airlines, Inc., filed an "Application for Amendment" of the turboprop minimum rates (Docket 18641). Since the Board's rules of practice do not provide for petitions for reconsideration of final rules, unless specifically provided for when the rule is issued, we will treat both these documents as petitions for rule-making with the docket number 18641.

The Saturn petition points out that in estimating Saturn's DC-8F-61 military charter costs, we allowed tax expense based upon debt financing of $10 million at an interest rate of 6¼ percent, rather than on information supplied by Saturn on April 7, 1967, which indicated financing of $7 million at 5 percent. Saturn states that on May 25, 1967 (the date on which ER-494 was adopted), it placed on the market a $7 million issue of subordinated convertible debentures carrying an annual interest rate of 4 percent.

The information supplied by Saturn on April 7 was inadvertently overlooked, and Saturn's estimated interest and tax expense will be corrected. However, since Saturn has now furnished the actual interest expense, the May 25 data will be used. Making this correction and averaging Saturn's costs with those of the other two stretched-jet carriers raises the minimum roundtrip passenger and cargo rates for these aircraft from 1.66 and 6.68 cents to 1.67 cents per passenger-mile and 6.77 cents per cargo ton-mile, respectively. The one-way, convertible, and mixed minimum rates have been correspondingly altered and are set forth in the attached revised rule.

Alaska Airlines objects to the Board's establishment of uniform minimum rates for all turboprop aircraft, including the CL-44 and the L-382. Alaska maintains that the uniform rate is unfair to Alaska, which is the only L-382 carrier, since the greater CL-44 aircraft load (29.35 tons vs. 20.7 tons for the L-382) results in greater revenue per plane-mile and lower cost per ton-mile for the CL-44. Alaska also contends that the Board should recognize higher crew costs and that, in establishing the one-way minimum rate for the L–382, a revenue backhaul factor of 4.6 percent should be used, based on Alaska's experience. Alaska claims that it would operate at a loss at the uniform turboprop minimum rates established in ER–494.

There is a serious question whether we should entertain Alaska's petition. Alaska had notice of the Board's proposal to establish uniform minimum rates for all turboprop aircraft at the same time as all other carriers, when the Board issued notice of proposed rule making EDR–113 on March 15, 1967. Alaska filed no comments and raised no objection to that proposal in the rule-making proceeding. By neglecting to file its objections at the proper time, Alaska not only unnecessarily burdens the Board and its staff, but also causes inconvenience to the Department of Defense and possibly to other interested carriers. Notwithstanding the foregoing, we have determined to consider the petition on its merits. It is evident that the uniform turboprop minimum rates are below Alaska's costs and could well result in a drain on the resources of this subsidized carrier. Accordingly, we will grant Alaska's petition and set separate minimum rates for the L–382 aircraft.

Alaska's contention with respect to increased crew costs will not be adopted. The same policies were applied to Alaska's cost submissions as to those of other carriers, and we adhere to those policies. Alaska's L–382 cargo cost was found to be 10.05 cents per ton-mile, and we will adopt that cost as the minimum roundtrip cargo rate. In setting the one-way minimum rate, we will apply Alaska's revenue backhaul experience to the roundtrip minimum rate in the same manner as we have calculated other one-way minimum rates. The resulting minimum one-way cargo rate is 19.64 cents per ton-mile.

We will make no change in the related CL–44 turboprop minimum rates at this time, since those rates are the subject of another petition for rule making and will be considered separately.

The purpose of the amendment herein is to bring minimum rates into line with carrier costs pursuant to the petitions of Saturn and Alaska which have been served on all interested persons, who have had an opportunity to respond. We therefore find that notice and public procedure thereon are unnecessary and the rule may be made effective on less than 30-days' notice. Pursuant to § 302.38(d) of the rules of practice, express provision is hereby made for the filing of petitions for reconsideration of the rules adopted herein. Petitions for reconsideration and answers thereto shall be governed by the provisions of § 302.37 and shall be served on the Department of Defense and other interested carriers. Petitions must be filed on or before August 7, 1967, and answers thereto before August 14, 1967.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 288 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 288), effective August 1, 1967, by amending the table in § 288.7(a)(1) to read as follows:

VISCOMETER CALIBRATING LIQUIDS; DISCONTINUANCE

The FEDERAL REGISTER of Friday, February 3, 1967 (32 F.R. 2388), gave notice that effective July 1, 1967, the National Bureau of Standards would discontinue supplying viscometer calibrating liquids. Accordingly, § 230.8–8, Viscometer Calibrating Liquids, of Title 15 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is revoked in its entirety.

The viscometer calibrating liquids, identified as Oils D, H, I, J, K, L, M, N, OB, P, SB, and SF, are now available from the Cannon Instrument Co., Post Office Box 16, State College, Pa. 16801, sponsored and supervised by Research Division VII, Section A of American Society for Testing and Materials Committee D–2. After July 1, 1967, orders for delivery of these liquids should be sent to the Cannon Instrument Co. at the above mentioned address.

Effective date: July 1, 1967.

Title 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL

PART 8—COLOR ADDITIVES

Subpart—Provisional Regulations

POSTPONEMENT OF CLOSING DATES OF PROVISIONAL LISTING; CANCELLATION OF CERTIFICATES

The color additive amendments of 1960 (Public Law 86–618; 74 Stat. 404; 21 U.S.C. 376, note) authorize the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to postpone the closing date of a provisional listing of a color additive on his own initiative or upon application of an interested person. Requests have been received to postpone the closing dates of provisional listings of a number of color additives because scientific investigations necessary for listing these color additives under section 706 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act have not been completed.

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs finds that postponement of the closing dates of the provisionally listed color additives included in this order is consistent with the protection of the public health. These extensions are granted on condition that, where applicable, progress reports be supplied on or before January 1, 1968.

The closing dates of the provisional listing of D&C Brown No. 1, Ext. D&C Yellow No. 3, Ext. D&C Red No. 8, Ext. D&C Violet No. 2, and Ext. D&C Orange No. 3 as color additives for use in externally applied drugs and cosmetics are not postponed and the provisional listings are therefore terminated as of July 1, 1967. These color additives had been provisionally listed on the basis that scientific investigations were under way preparatory to submission of petitions for permanent listings. The sponsor of these investigations has concluded that he no longer has a commercial interest in these color additives and the Food and Drug Administration knows of no other investigations under way. To allow for an orderly change in drug and cosmetic formulations containing the color additives being delisted, their certificates are canceled effective July 1, 1968.

The closing dates of the provisional listing of carminic acid and cochineal as color additives for use in foods and drugs are not postponed and, accordingly, the provisional listings are terminated. These color additives had been provisionally listed only until action on a petition to list carmine (the aluminum or calcium-aluminum lake of carminic acid on an aluminum hydroxide substrate) had been completed.

Therefore, pursuant to the authority of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 203(a)(2), Public Law 86–618; 74 Stat. 404; 21 U.S.C. 376, note), delegated by the Secretary to the Commissioner (21 CFR 2.120), the provisional regulations are amended in the following respects:

1. Section 8.501, except for paragraph (g) which is unchanged, is revised to read as follows:

§ 8.501 Provisional lists of color additives.

The Commissioner of Food and Drugs finds that the following lists of color additives are provisionally listed under section 203(b) of the Color Additives Amendments of 1960 (sec. 203(b), 74 Stat. 406; 21 U.S.C. 376, note). Except for color additives for which petitions have been filed, progress reports are required by January 1, 1968, and at 6-month intervals thereafter. Specifications for color additives listed in paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) of this section appear in Part 9 of this chapter.

2. Section 8.510 is amended by adding thereto the following new paragraph:

§ 8.510 Cancellation of certificates.

* * * * *

(e) Certificates issued for the following color additives and all mixtures containing these color additives are canceled and have no effect after July 1, 1968, and use of such color additives in the manufacture of drugs or cosmetics after that date will result in adulteration:

Ext. D&C Violet No. 2 (§ 9.411 of this chapter).
Ext. D&C Orange No. 3 (§ 9.432 of this chapter).

In order to allow orderly withdrawal from the market of carminic acid, cochineal, and carmine (magnesium-aluminum lake of carminic acid) and in the absence of information that the continued use of these color additives will adversely affect the public health the Food and Drug Administration will not institute regulatory action against the color additives or the articles in which they have been permitted to be used solely for the reason that they are not provisionally or permanently listed as color additives for the period ending December 31, 1967.

Notice and public procedure and delayed effective date are unnecessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since section 203(a)(2) of Public Law 86-618 provides for this issuance.

Effective date. This order is effective as of July 1, 1967.

Title 29—LABOR

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Labor

PART 60—IMMIGRATION; AVAILABILITY OF, AND ADVERSE EFFECT UPON, AMERICAN WORKERS

Miscellaneous Amendments

Pursuant to section 212(a)(14) of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952, as amended by Public Law 89-236, I hereby amend 29 CFR Part 60 as set forth below.

As these changes involve only procedure and general statements of policy, notice of proposed rule making, public participation, and delay in effective date are not required by section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553). I do not believe such participation and delay will serve a useful purpose here. Accordingly, these amendments shall become effective immediately.

1. Paragraph (b) of § 60.3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 60.3 Request for certification not covered by § 60.2.

* * * * *

(b) Any alien seeking admission to the United States otherwise subject to the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section whose category of employment is described in Schedule C shall request a 212(a)(14) certification by filing a Form ES-575-A describing his qualifications and shall omit filing a Form ES-575-B describing his prospective employment in the United States. Instructions for filing in these circumstances are available from U.S. Consular offices abroad and Embassies and Immigration and Naturalization Service offices. Such instructions will where appropriate require aliens to indicate where they will reside. When the Consular offices abroad or the Immigration and Naturalization Service send the ES-575-A's to the Department of Labor, all sources of labor available for the area of intended residence will be reviewed and certification will be issued depending on the circumstances at that time. If the review shows workers are available, or that wages or working conditions of workers similarly employed will be adversely affected, the certification will not be issued. Applications should not be sent directly to the U.S. Department of Labor by the alien.

* * * * *

2. A new § 60.5 is added to read as follows:

§ 60.5 Validity.

Certifications issued pursuant to this part are invalid if the representations upon which they are based are incorrect. They are applicable only to the positions as described in the Form ES-575-B or as defined in the applicable schedule.

3. A new § 60.6 is added to read as follows:

§ 60.6 Matters to be considered.

In determining whether prospective employment offered in accordance with § 60.3(a) will adversely affect "wages" or "working conditions" of American workers within the meaning of section 212(a)(14) of the Act, the following standards will be among the matters considered:

(a) That such employment will be for wage rates no less than those prevailing for U.S. workers similarly employed in the area of employment; Provided, however, That such wages are not lower than any applicable wage rates prescribed by the Secretary of Labor pursuant to law as the minimum rates which will not adversely affect the wages of American workers similarly employed (20 CFR 602.10b). Where available, such prevailing wages shall generally be the rates determined to be prevailing for the occupations and in localities involved pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon and related Acts (40 U.S.C. 276a; § 1.1 of this subtitle), the McNamara-O'Hara Service Contract Act (41 U.S.C. 351), or the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 954(j); § 505.3 of this title), or set forth on Wage Board rate schedules applicable to Federal installations in the area (5 U.S.C. 5341). Where a current determination under one of these laws is not applicable, the prevailing wage rate will be determined in accordance with the criteria established pursuant to the Davis-Bacon Act (§ 1.2(a) of this subtitle) which is as follows:

(1) The rate of wages paid in the area in which the work is to be performed, to the majority of those employed in that classification * * *; (2) in the event that there is not a majority paid at the same rate, then the rate paid to the greater number: Provided, Such greater number constitutes 30 percent of those employed; or (3) in the event that less than 30 percent of those so employed receive the same rate, then the average rate.

(b) That such employment will include the furnishing of fringe benefits that prevail for U.S. workers similarly employed in the area of employment;

(c) That such employment will involve adherence to prevailing working conditions including customs in the area of employment regarding the furnishing of board, lodging and other facilities;

(d) That such employment will not involve positions (1) that are vacant because the former occupants are on strike or are being locked out in the course of a labor dispute or (2) the filling of which is at issue in a labor dispute;

(e) That such employment will not involve any discrimination with regard to race, creed, color or national origin; and

(f) That such employment or any term or condition thereof is not contrary to any provisions of Federal, State, or local law.

4. The provision in Schedule A of Part 60 entitled "Nursing" is revised to read as follows:

NURSING

The application of the art and science of nursing which reflects comprehension of principles derived from the physical, biological, and behavioral sciences. Nursing generally includes the making of clinical judgments concerning the observation, care, and counsel of persons requiring nursing care; the administering of medicines and treatments prescribed by the physician or dentist; the participation in activities for the promotion of health and the prevention of illness in others.

Preparation for nursing practice is generally obtained through an organized program of study approved by a governmental or other competent authority in the alien's country. High school graduation or its equivalent is usually a prerequisite. A program of study generally includes theory and practice in clinical areas such as: obstetrics, surgery, pediatrics, psychiatry, medicine.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 19th day of July 1967.

W. WILLARD WIRTZ,
Secretary of Labor.

Withdrawal for Wildlife Management Area; Partial Revocation of Public Land Order No. 4153

By virtue of the authority vested in the President and pursuant to Executive Order No. 10355 of May 26, 1952 (17 F.R. 4831), it is ordered as follows:

1. Subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals the following described land, which is under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior, is hereby withdrawn from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws, including the mining laws (30 U.S.C., Ch. 2), but not from leasing under the mineral leasing laws, and reserved for management by the Department of the Interior in a manner to facilitate the management and utilization of the C. J. Strike Wildlife Management Area:

BOISE MERIDIAN

T. 5 S., R. 7 E.,
Sec. 35, SW¼SE¼.

The area described contains 40 acres.

2. Public Land Order No. 4153 of February 9, 1967, withdrawing lands for the C. J. Strike Wildlife Management Area, is hereby revoked so far as it affects the following described land:

BOISE MERIDIAN

T. 5 S., R. 7 E.,
Sec. 35, NE¼SE¼.

The area described contains 40 acres.

3. Until 10 a.m. on January 17, 1968, the State of Idaho shall have a preferred right of application to select the land described in paragraph 2 above, as provided by R.S. 2276, as amended (43 U.S.C. 852). After that time, the land shall be open to operation of the public land laws generally, subject to valid existing rights, the provisions of existing withdrawals, and the requirements of applicable law. All valid applications received at or prior to 10 a.m. on January 17, 1968, shall be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. Those received thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

4. The land released from withdrawal by paragraph 2 of this order will be open to location under the U.S. mining laws at 10 a.m. on January 17, 1968. It has been open to applications and offers under the mineral leasing laws.

Inquiries concerning the land should be addressed to the Manager, Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Boise, Idaho.

HARRY R. ANDERSON,
Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

Withdrawal for Federal Aviation Agency Facilities

By virtue of the authority contained in section 4 of the act of May 24, 1928 (45 Stat. 729; 49 U.S.C., 214), as amended, it is ordered as follows:

1. Subject to valid existing rights, the following described lands are hereby withdrawn from all forms of appropriation under the public land laws, including the mining laws (30 U.S.C., Ch. 2), but not from leasing under the mineral leasing laws, for the maintenance of a Federal Aviation Agency air navigation facility:

FAIRBANKS MERIDIAN

T. 1 S., R. 2 W.,
Sec. 30, NE¼SE¼.

Containing 40 acres.

2. The withdrawal made by this order does not alter the applicability of the public land laws governing the use of the lands under lease, license, or permit, or governing the disposal of their mineral or vegetative resources other than under the mining laws. However, leases, licenses or permits will be issued only if the Federal Aviation Agency finds that the proposed use of the lands will not interfere with the proper operation of its facilities on the lands.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Consumer and Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 52]

CANNED CLINGSTONE AND FREESTONE PEACHES

Standards for Grades [1]

Notice is hereby given that the U.S. Department of Agriculture is considering an amendment to the U.S. Standards for Grades of Canned Clingstone Peaches (7 CFR 52.2561–52.2577) and to the U.S. Standards for Grades of Canned Freestone Peaches (7 CFR 52.2601–52.2616) pursuant to the authority contained in the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (Secs. 202–208, 60 Stat. 1087, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 1621–1627).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed amendment should file the same in duplicate, not later than January 1, 1968, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Statement of considerations leading to the proposed amendments. The current U.S. Standards for Grades of Canned Clingstone Peaches have been in effect since July 23, 1961, as amended July 28, 1962. Those for Canned Freestone Peaches have been in effect since July 22, 1957.

In the case of both standards under the factor of color the minimum requirements for Grades A and B are the same with respect to yellow-orange color. The basic distinction between Grade A and Grade B color is the uniformity, or lack thereof, in color among the peach units. Sample units that are scored into the Grade B range for color may still be classified as Grade A provided the total score is not less than 90 points.

Since the grade standards for these products were last revised packing and marketing practices indicate a need for separate requirements to provide for a deeper orange color in Grade A than in Grade B. Results of a comprehensive color study performed by the Department during the peach canning season in 1966 support this concept.

Based on results of the aforementioned study the proposed amendment would provide for three separate grade levels for the factor of color. The minimum color requirements for Grade A and Grade C in the case of both clingstone and freestone peaches would be made slightly more restrictive while the minimum color requirement for Grade B for both products would be somewhat more lenient. The proposals also would require sample units scoring into the Grade B range for color be restricted to Grade B.

Color guides currently in use would be made obsolete by the proposed amendments. The Department is in the process of developing new guides to illustrate minimum color limits for the different grade classifications.

No other changes are proposed at this time.

Subpart—U.S. Standards for Grades of Canned Clingstone Peaches

The proposed amendments are as follows:

1. Change § 52.2563(a) to read as follows—

§ 52.2563 Grades of canned clingstone peaches.

(a) "U.S. Grade A" or "U.S. Fancy" is the quality of halves, quarters, slices, diced, or whole canned clingstone peaches that possess similar varietal characteristics, that possess a normal flavor and odor, that possess a good color, that are practically uniform in size and symmetry, that are practically free from defects, that possess a good character, and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 90 points: Provided, That the styles of halves, quarters, slices, diced, or whole may be reasonably uniform in size and symmetry, and may possess a reasonably good character, if the total score is not less than 90 points.

* * * * *

2. Change § 52.2572 in its entirety and substitute the following—

§ 52.2572 Color.

(a) General. (1) The color of canned clingstone peaches other than canned "spiced" peaches refers to the predominating and characteristic color on the backs of halved units, on the surface of whole units, and the exterior surface of other units, excluding such portions which were obviously near or part of the pit cavity. (2) The factor of color for canned "spiced" peaches is not based on any detailed requirement and is not scored but the color shall be normal for canned "spiced" peaches; the other three factors (uniformity of size and symmetry, absence of defects, and character as applicable) are scored and the total is multiplied by 100 and divided by 80, dropping any fractions to determine the total score.

(b) (A) Classification. Canned clingstone peaches that possess a good color may be given a score of 18 to 20 points. Mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes that score 18 to 20 points shall not be graded above U.S. Grade B, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a partial limiting rule). "Good color" means that the peaches possess a bright color ranging from yellowish orange to orange yellow; and that there may be present units which possess "reasonably good color" as follows:

(1) In the style of halves, quarters, slices, or whole, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units may possess "reasonably good color"; or one unit in a container is permitted to possess "reasonably good color"; Provided, That in all containers comprising the sample such units do not exceed an average of 10 percent of the total number of units; and

(2) In the styles of diced or mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes, not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the drained peaches may possess "reasonably good color."

(c) (B) Classification. Canned clingstone peaches that possess a reasonably good color may be given a score of 16 or 17 points. Canned peaches that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U.S. Grade B, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" means that the canned clingstone peaches possess a reasonably bright color that may fail to meet minimum color requirements for Grade A but is equal to or better than light orangish-yellow, that the units are practically free from any slight brown color due to oxidation which color may no more than slightly affect the appearance or edibility, or both, of the product; and that there may be present units which possess "fairly good color" as follows:

(1) In the style of halves, quarters, slices, or whole, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units may possess "fairly good color"; or one unit in a container is permitted to possess "fairly good color": Provided, That in all containers comprising the sample such units do not exceed an average of 10 percent of the total number of units; and

(2) In the style of diced or mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes, not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the drained peaches may possess "fairly good color."

(d) (C), (D), and (C–SP) Classification. Canned clingstone peaches and canned solid-pack clingstone peaches that possess a fairly good color may be given a score of 14 or 15 points. Canned clingstone peaches or canned "solid-pack" clingstone peaches that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U.S. Grade C or U.S. Grade C

[1] Compliance with the provisions of these standards shall not excuse failure to comply with the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act or with applicable state laws and regulations.

Solid-Pack, whichever is applicable, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good color" means that the peaches possess a color that may fail to meet minimum color requirements for Grade B but is equal to or better than greenish-yellow; that the units may possess slight brown color due to oxidation provided such color does not materially affect the appearance or edibility, or both, of the product; and that the units may possess other color as follows:

(1) In the style of halves, quarters, slices, or whole, not more than 5 percent, by count, of the units may fail to meet the minimum color for Grade C or may be off-color; or one unit in a container is permitted to possess such color: Provided, That in all containers comprising the sample such units do not exceed an average of 5 percent of the total number of units.

(2) In the style of diced or mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes, not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the drained peaches may consist of units that fail to meet the minimum color for Grade C or may be off-color: Provided, That such units do not materially affect the appearance of the product.

(e) (SStd) and (SStd-SP) Classification. Canned clingstone peaches and canned "solid-pack" clingstone peaches that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard or Substandard Solid-Pack, whichever is applicable, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2577 [Amended]

3. Change § 52.2577 as follows: Change the footnote designation preceding 16–17 score points opposite (B) for the factor of color from "2" to "1."

Subpart—U.S. Standards for Grades of Canned Freestone Peaches

The proposed amendments are as follows:

1. Change § 52.2603(a) to read as follows—

§ 52.2603 Grades of canned freestone peaches.

(a) "U.S. Grade A" or "U.S. Fancy" is the quality of halves, quarters, slices, diced, or whole canned freestone peaches that possess similar varietal characteristics; that possess a normal flavor and odor, that possess a good color, that are practically free from defects, that possess a good character, and that for those factors which are scored in accordance with the scoring system outlined in this subpart the total score is not less than 90 points: Provided, That halves, quarters, slices, diced, or whole canned freestone peaches may be reasonably uniform in size and symmetry, and may possess a reasonably good character, if the total score is not less than 90 points.

* * * * *

2. Change § 52.2610 in its entirety and substitute the following—

§ 52.2610 Color.

(a) General. (1) The color of canned freestone peaches other than canned "spiced" peaches refers to the predominating and characteristic color on the backs of halved units, on the surface of whole units, and the exterior surface of other units, excluding such portions which were obviously near or part of the pit cavity. (2) The factor of color for canned "spiced" peaches is not based on any detailed requirement and is not scored but the color shall be normal for canned "spiced" peaches; the other three factors (uniformity of size and symmetry, absence of defects, and character as applicable) are scored and the total is multiplied by 100 and divided by 80, dropping any fractions to determine the total score.

(b) (A) Classification. Canned freestone peaches that possess a good color may be given a score of 18 to 20 points. Mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes that score 18 to 20 points shall not be graded above U.S. Grade B, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a partial limiting rule). "Good color" means that the peaches possess a bright color ranging from pale yellowish-orange to orange yellow; and that there may be present units which possess "reasonably good color" as follows:

(1) In the style of halves, quarters, slices, or whole, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units may possess "reasonably good color"; or one unit in a container is permitted to possess "fairly good color": Provided, That in all containers comprising the sample such units do not exceed an average of 10 percent of the total number of units; and

(2) In the style of diced or mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes, not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the drained peaches may consist of units that fail to meet the minimum color requirements for Grade C or may be off-color: Provided, That such units do not materially affect the appearance of the product.

(c) (B) Classification. Canned freestone peaches that possess a reasonably good color may be given a score of 16 or 17 points. Canned peaches that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U.S. Grade B, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Reasonably good color" means that the canned freestone peaches possess a reasonably bright color that may fail to meet minimum color requirements for Grade A but is equal to or better than pale yellow; that the units are practically free from any slight brown color due to oxidation which color may no more than slightly affect the appearance or edibility, or both, of the product; and that there may be present units which possess "fairly good color" as follows:

(1) In the styles of halves, quarters, slices, or whole, not more than 10 percent, by count, of the units may possess "fairly good color"; or one unit in a container is permitted to possess "fairly good color": Provided, That in all the containers comprising the sample such units do not exceed an average of 10 percent of the total number of units; and

(2) In the style of diced or mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes, 10 percent, by weight, of the drained peaches may possess "fairly good color."

(d) (C), (D), and (C–SP) Classification. Canned freestone peaches that possess a fairly good color and canned "solid-pack" freestone peaches that possess a fairly good color or better color may be given a score of 14 or 15 points. Canned freestone peaches or canned "solid-pack" freestone peaches that fall into this classification shall not be graded above U.S. Grade C or U.S. Grade C Solid-Pack, whichever is applicable, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule). "Fairly good color" means that the peaches possess a color that may fail to meet minimum color requirements for Grade B but is equal to or better than a dull greenish yellow; that the units may possess slight brown color due to oxidation provided such color does not materially affect the appearance or edibility, or both, of the product; and that the units may possess other color as follows:

(1) In the style of halves, quarters, slices, or whole, not more than 5 percent, by count of the units may fail to meet the minimum color for Grade C or may be off-color or one unit in a container is permitted to possess such color: Provided, That in all the containers comprising the sample such units do not exceed an average of 5 percent of the total number of units; and

(2) In the style of diced or mixed pieces of irregular sizes and shapes, not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the drained peaches may consist of units that fail to meet the minimum color requirements for Grade C or may be off-color: Provided, That such units do not materially affect the appearance of the product.

(e) (SStd) and (SStd–SP) Classification. Canned freestone peaches and canned "solid-pack" freestone peaches that fail to meet the requirements of paragraph (d) of this section may be given a score of 0 to 13 points and shall not be graded above Substandard or Substandard Solid-Pack, whichever is applicable, regardless of the total score for the product (this is a limiting rule).

§ 52.2616 [Amended]

3. Change § 52.2616 as follows: Change the footnote designation preceding 16–17 score points opposite (B) for the factor of color from "2" to "1."

Federal Aviation Administration

[14 CFR Part 71]

[Airspace Docket No. 67-CE-88]

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the transition area at O'Neill, Nebr.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Central Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Building, 601 East 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106. All communications received within 45 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the Office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, Federal Building, 601 East 12th Street, Kansas City, Mo. 64106.

A public instrument approach procedure has been developed to serve the O'Neill, Nebr., Municipal Airport. The present transition area designation in this terminal area does not provide adequate controlled airspace protection for aircraft executing the newly developed public instrument approach procedure. In order to provide this protection it is necessary to alter the O'Neill transition area.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations as hereinafter set forth:

In § 71.181 (32 F.R. 2148), the following transition area is amended to read:

O'NEILL, NEBR.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of O'Neill Municipal Airport (latitude 42°28'00" N., longitude 98°42'00" W.); and within 2 miles each side of the O'Neill VORTAC 315° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius area to 12 miles northwest of the VORTAC; and that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within a 17-mile radius of O'Neill VORTAC extending clockwise from the north edge of V-100 to the northwest edge of V-148; and within 7 miles north and 10 miles south of the O'Neill VORTAC 278° and 093° radials, extending from 20 miles west to 9 miles east of the VORTAC.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348).

Issued at Kansas City, Mo., on July 10, 1967.

DANIEL E. BARROW,
Acting Director, Central Region.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-SO-70]

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate the Asheboro, N.C., transition area.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Area Manager, Atlanta Area Office, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Branch, Federal Aviation Administration, Post Office Box 20636, Atlanta, Ga. 30320. All communications received within 30 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Air Traffic Branch. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in the light of comments received.

The Asheboro transition area would be designated as:

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the Asheboro Municipal Airport (latitude 35°39'15" N., longitude 79°58'41" W.).

The proposed transition area is required for the protection of IFR operations at the Asheboro Municipal Airport. A prescribed instrument approach procedure to this airport utilizing the Greensboro VORTAC is proposed in conjunction with the designation of this transition area.

The official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Southern Regional Office, Federal Aviation Administration, Room 724, 3400 Whipple Street, East Point, Ga.

This amendment is proposed under section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)).

Issued in East Point, Ga., on July 17, 1967.

JAMES G. ROGERS,
Director, Southern Region.

JULY 20, 1967.

The plats of dependent resurvey and extension survey, including lands erroneously omitted from the original survey and the survey of islands in secs. 19, 24, 25, 30, 31, and 36, T. 24 S., Rs. 36 and 37 E., Tallahassee meridian, Florida, were accepted on June 26, 1967. The two plats will be officially filed in this Office effective at 10 a.m., on August 28, 1967. The plat of the same area, accepted on January 26, 1966, was canceled on June 26, 1967.

The character of the lands omitted from the original surveys and included in these surveys is similar in every respect to the lands included in the surveys of 1859. They were above ordinary high-water elevation in 1845, when Florida was admitted into the Union, and therefore have the status of public lands.

All subdivisions of sections surveyed herein are classified as being over 50 percent swamp land within the meaning of the Swamp and Overflowed Lands Act of September 28, 1850. Title to the lands inured to the State of Florida as of that date, and the lands are therefore open only to application by the State of Florida under the 1850 Act. They will not be open to any other applications for use or disposition under the public land laws, including the mining and mineral leasing laws.

The lands are described as follows:

T. 24 S., R. 36 E., Tallahassee meridian, Florida,
Sec. 24, S½SE¼, lots 6, 7, 8, and 9;
Sec. 25, N½NE¼, lots 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10;

BERMUDA SERVICE INVESTIGATION

Amended Order of Consolidation

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 12th day of July 1967.

By Order E-25254, dated June 6, 1967, the Board, inter alia, amended its original order of investigation, Order E-24935, to include Philadelphia as a coterminal point. Applicants were given until June 20, 1967, to amend their applications to serve Philadelphia.

Amendments to designate Philadelphia as a coterminal point and motions to consolidate were filed by Allegheny, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18458; Braniff, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18452; Delta, Amendment No. 2 to Docket 18435; Eastern, Amendment No. 4 to Docket 16093; National, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18451; Northeast, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18449; Northwest, Amendment No. 2 to Docket 18453; and Trans Caribbean, Amendment No. 3 to Docket 15974.

Accordingly, it is ordered:

1. That ordering paragraph 1 of Order E-24935 be and it hereby is amended to read:

1. That an investigation to be known as the Bermuda Service Investigation be, and it hereby is, instituted in Docket 18361, pursuant to sections 204(a) and 401(g) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, to determine whether the public convenience and necessity require the alteration, amendment or modification of carrier authorizations so as to certificate one or more air carriers to provide foreign air transportation between the coterminal points Chicago, Detroit, Boston, New York/Newark, Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, and Washington-Baltimore, on the one hand, and the terminal point Bermuda, on the other hand;

2. That ordering paragraph 4 of Order E-24935 be and it hereby is amended to read:

4. That the following applications or parts thereof, to the extent they conform to the scope of this proceeding, be and they hereby are consolidated with Docket 18361: Allegheny, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18458; Braniff, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18452; Delta, Amendment No. 2 to Docket 18435; Eastern, Amendment No. 4 to Docket 16093; National, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18451; Northeast, Amendment No. 1 to Docket 18449; Northwest, Amendment No. 2 to Docket 18453; Pan American, Docket 15819; and Trans Caribbean, Amendment No. 3 to Docket 15974.

3. That this order be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

BARNETT NATIONAL SECURITIES CORP.

Notice of Applications for Approval of Acquisition of Shares of Banks

Notice is hereby given that applications have been made to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System pursuant to section 3(a) of the Bank Holding Company Act of 1956 (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)), by Barnett National Securities Corp., which is a bank holding company located in Jacksonville, Fla., for the prior approval of the Board of the acquisitions by Applicant of 80 percent or more of the voting shares of each of the American National Bank & Trust Co. in Winter Haven, Winter Haven, Fla., and the American National Bank in Cypress Gardens, Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Section 3(c) of the Act provides that the Board shall not approve (1) any acquisition or merger or consolidation under this section which would result in a monopoly, or which would be in furtherance of any combination or conspiracy to monopolize or to attempt to monopolize the business of banking in any part of the United States, or (2) any other proposed acquisition or merger or consolidation under this section whose effect in any section of the country may be substantially to lessen competition, or to tend to create a monopoly, or which in any other manner would be in restraint of trade, unless it finds that the anticompetitive effects of the proposed transaction are clearly outweighed in the public interest by the probable effect of the transaction in meeting the convenience and needs of the community to be served.

Section 3(c) further provides that in every case, the Board shall take into consideration, the financial and managerial resources and future prospects of the company or companies and the banks concerned, and the convenience and needs of the community to be served.

Not later than thirty (30) days after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, comments and views regarding the proposed acquisitions may be filed with the Board. Communications should be addressed to the Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 18th day of July 1967.

CABLE VISION, INC.

Order Scheduling Hearing

In re petition by Cable Vision, Inc., Lewiston and Auburn, Maine, Docket No. 17378, File No. CATV 100-20; for authority pursuant to § 74.1107 of the rules to operate CATV systems in the Portland-Poland Spring television market.

At a conference held today the Examiner explained to the parties that his order vacating the then scheduled hearing date (FCC 67M-1135) was necessitated by conflict in his own calendar. Under the circumstances, all parties agreed that hearing in this matter would be scheduled for September 6, 1967.

So ordered.

CITY OF NEW YORK MUNICIPAL BROADCASTING SYSTEM (WNYC) AND MIDWEST RADIO-TELEVISION, INC. (WCCO)

Memorandum Opinion and Order Designating Application for Hearing and Modifying Issues

In re application of City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System (WNYC), New York, N.Y., Docket No. 11227, File No. BSSA-226; for special service authorization to operate additional hours from 6 a.m., e.s.t., to sunrise New York, N.Y., and from sunset Minneapolis, Minn., to 10 p.m., e.s.t.

In re applications of City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System (WNYC), New York, N.Y., Docket No. 17688, File No. BP-16146; has: (a) 830 kc, 1 kw, DA, L-WWCO, Class II; and (b) special service authorization to operate additional hours from 6 a.m., e.s.t., to sunrise New York, N.Y., and from sunset Minneapolis, Minn., to 10 p.m., e.s.t.; requests: 830 kc, 50 kw, DA-2, Specified hours (6 a.m., e.s.t., to 10 p.m., e.s.t.), Class II; and Midwest Radio-Television, Inc. (WCCO), Minneapolis, Minn.; has: 830 kc, 50 kw, U, Class I-A; requests: 830 kc, 750 kw, DA-N, U, Class I-A; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration: (a) The above-captioned and described applications;[1] (b) a petition for reconsideration, filed by Midwest Radio-Television, Inc. ("WCCO"), objecting to the Commission's memorandum opinion and order in Docket No. 11227, adopted November 17, 1965 (1 FCC 2d 1370, 6 RR 2d 455), accepting the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System ("WNYC") construction permit application for filing; (c) a petition by WCCO for waiver of the rules to permit acceptance of its construction permit application; (d) a WNYC pleading entitled, "Motion To Strike WCCO's Petition for Waiver of the Rules, To Return the Accompanying Application, and for Other Relief"; (e) a petition, filed by Hubbard Broadcasting, Inc. (licensee of standard broadcast Station KSTP, St. Paul, Minn.), for denial of WCCO's construction permit application; (f) informal objections to the proposed WCCO 750 kw operation by the Buckley-Jaeger Broadcasting Corp. of Minnesota (licensee of standard broadcast Station WWTC, Minneapolis, Minn.), and the North Dakota Broadcasters' Association; and (g) related pleadings, affidavits et al.

2. At the outset of its petition for reconsideration, WCCO asserts that it presents arguments therein which for the first time go to the merits of WNYC's construction permit application and accompanying request for waiver, rather than merely to their alleged procedural deficiencies. WCCO acknowledges that its substantive arguments were not previously presented only because WCCO chose to go forward initially on procedural grounds alone, in hopes that, at its request, we would divide our threshold determination, as to the acceptability of the WNYC application for filing, into two stages: first a decision regarding procedural deficiencies, and then, if necessary, after submission of further pleadings, a decision on the substantive merits. This explanation does not constitute sufficient warrant for the presentation of new arguments at this time. Nonetheless we will consider them, treating WCCO's petition for reconsideration, to the extent that it raises new substantive arguments, as if it were a petition to deny.

3. Apart from its particular opposition to WNYC's 50 kw proposal, WCCO's petition for reconsideration expresses the petitioner's long-standing opposition to any pre-sunrise or nighttime broadcast service by WNYC, whether regularly licensed or pursuant to a year-to-year special authorization; whether conducted with WNYC's present facilities, equipment, and site, or those now proposed. The petition's arguments regarding that may be viewed as a summary presentation of WCCO's position on the basic question of whether the public interest would be better served by (i) a continuation of WNYC broadcast service from 6 a.m., e.s.t., to sunrise New York City and from sunset Minneapolis to 10 p.m., e.s.t., or (ii) a removal of the interference that such WNYC broadcast service has, for the past 23 years, caused to a portion of WCCO's 0.5 mv/m-50 percent skywave secondary service area. WNYC holds one view; WCCO holds another. Our intention is to refrain from judgment on the matter until we have had an opportunity to fully consider the detailed evidence and arguments contained in the final record of the proceeding in Docket 11227.

4. In addition to the foregoing, WCCO objects to our acceptance of WNYC's 50 kw proposal on two general grounds: First, that the proposal is so inconsistent with established Commission allocation policies as not even to warrant acceptance for filing, and, second, that the manner of acceptance of WNYC's proposal was unfair, violative of due process, and discriminatory.

5. In support of the first of these grounds, WCCO contends that WNYC's proposed 50 kw operation would constitute an inefficient use of the channel; that it would cause "substantially the same destruction of WCCO's service" as does the present operation (petition, par. 12) or increase interference to WCCO (id., par. 13(iv)); and that WNYC has failed to demonstrate that it needs, either for daytime or nighttime operation, the increase to 50 kw which it seeks.

6. With respect to all three of these subsidiary arguments, it should be noted, first of all, that the WNYC presunrise and nighttime proposal—assuming that it provides at least as much protection to WCCO as does WNYC's present operation—is clearly within the scope of the Commission's invitation. On October 24, 1963, the Commission adopted a memorandum opinion and order in Docket No. 11227 which called upon WNYC to submit a construction permit application for regularly licensed operation from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., e.s.t., and which stated, regarding that: "[T]here is a possibility that should WNYC operate nighttime in a manner somewhat different than at present, it conceivably could utilize higher power and still afford WCCO as much or even greater protection than at present. The parties should consider this possibility in connection with the regular application to be filed by WNYC." This suggestion to WNYC by the Commission was quite obviously made in recognition of the size of New York City with its seven and a half million residents, and the possibility that service could be improved. The phrase, "The parties should consider this possibility," was hardly intended to give WCCO any veto power, but rather reflected the hope that consultation between WNYC and WCCO might result in a mutually satisfactory proposal.

7. Regarding WCCO's contention that WNYC's proposed 50 kw operation would constitute an inefficient use of the channel, WCCO will be given every opportunity in hearing to develop its case. For that purpose, an issue will be specified to determine whether, because of the interference received, the proposed nighttime operation of Station WNYC would be inconsistent with the requirements of the note to § 73.24(b) of the Commission's rules and, if so, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of that section.

8. Regarding WCCO's second subpoint, WNYC has submitted an engineering study in support of its contention that interference with WCCO's nighttime secondary service would be substantially reduced, and that daytime radiation toward WCCO would be reduced as well, by the substitution of its proposed 50 kw operation; WCCO has thus far challenged that study only with a general statement[2] which it attributes to the Commission but for which it supplies neither adequate citation (other than a docket number) nor a clear explanation of its specific application to the matter at hand.

9. It is conceivable that the WNYC 50 kw proposal would cause more damage to existing cochannel or other broadcast operations, and potential adjacent-channel operations, than appears on the basis of the evidence submitted thus far. That, however, remains to be shown; and WCCO will be given every opportunity, as a party to the proceeding, to bring evidence and arguments to the Commission's attention to persuade it that that is so. Appropriate hearing issues will be specified for that purpose. These will include, inter alia, issues to determine the extent to which the WNYC proposal would cause interference to WCCO or other existing standard broadcast stations, whether the proposal would seriously prejudice future consideration of the 820 and 840 kilocycle Class I-A channels, and, in addition, issues to determine whether the site is satisfactory, and whether the array can be adjusted and maintained as proposed.

10. As for WCCO's contention that WNYC has failed to demonstrate the superiority of the proposed site, and 50 kw daytime and nighttime operations thereon, as compared with other alternatives which it should have explored—we find, first, that WCCO has failed to submit specific evidence sufficient to raise a substantial question as to whether WNYC misused the Commission's above-cited invitation by refraining from consideration of alternative transmitter-antenna sites from which it could, with lower power, adequately serve New York area residents and, at the same time, provide sufficient protection to WCCO et al.; and, second, that unless WNYC's proposed daytime operation at the Staten Island site would adversely affect existing broadcast operations or seriously prejudice future consideration of the 820 and 840 kilocycle Class I-A channels, there would seem to be no particular advantage in obligating WNYC to maintain separate transmitter-antenna systems at two different sites. For these reasons, this objection will not be further entertained.

11. In addition to the foregoing, an issue will be specified concerning the nature and character of the program services respectively proposed to be rendered by WNYC and WCCO. This issue is intended to encourage the submission of evidence designed to facilitate an evaluation of the importance of WNYC's daytime and nighttime programing to residents of its primary service area, in the light of competing available services; and, similarly, an evaluation of the importance of WCCO's programing, during the hours of interference, to residents of that part of its 0.5 mv/m-50 percent skywave secondary service area in which it would suffer interference from WNYC.

12. WCCO also alleges that the procedures adopted by the Commission in connection with its acceptance of the WNYC 50 kw application "unfairly discriminate in favor of WNYC and violate due process." In support of that allegation WCCO attacks the Commission's rectitude in (i) accepting WNYC's daytime proposal; (ii) deciding, in its October 24, 1963, remand memorandum opinion and order, to consolidate consideration of the then-anticipated WNYC construction permit application with its then-pending SSA application in the proceeding in Docket No. 11227; (iii) allowing a cutoff period of "only" 40 days after acceptance of the WNYC construction permit application; (iv) indicating in the cutoff public notice that applications for "substantially the same facilities" as those sought by WNYC would be accepted during the cutoff period; and (v) not calling up WNYC's regularly licensed operation for renewal.

13. The Commission's reason for accepting the WNYC daytime proposal for filing is explained in paragraph 10 supra. The issues to be specified in this order have been designed to give WCCO full opportunity to submit evidence, in hearing, as to the alleged undesirability of a grant of the WNYC daytime proposal.

14. WCCO's objection to that portion of our October 24, 1963, memorandum opinion and order which provides for consolidated consideration of the WNYC special service authorization and construction permit applications is both untimely and unwarranted. Consolidated consideration of matters involving common questions of law or fact is a commonplace occurrence in both administrative and judicial procedure. It had no adverse effect on WCCO whatsoever. As for the possible effect on potential rivals for the facilities to be sought by WNYC, it should suffice to point out that WNYC's application was tendered on March 16, 1964, and was not accepted for filing until November 17, 1965, just a year and a half later. Potential competitors thus had ample time, prior to acceptance of the WNYC application, to prepare rival applications for submission.[1] This fact should also fully dispose of WCCO's contention that our allowance of a 40-day cutoff period was insufficient.

[2] I.e., that a reasonably accurate prediction of actual radiation requires adding 10 percent of the RMS or R88 field strength to the theoretical field in any direction.

15. WCCO objects to the words, "substantially the same facilities," in the "cutoff" public notice on the ground that its plain intendment was to bar acceptance to all applicants except those interested in an assignment on 830 kc in New York City. This objection is singularly inappropriate. The Commission made it perfectly clear in its Clear Channel rule-making decision (report and order in Docket 6741 (1961), 31 FCC 565, at paragraphs 75–76, and, adopted therein, Note 2 to § 73.25 of the rules) that, with respect to the 830 kc frequency, immediate provision was being made only for consideration of a construction permit application for a Class II station operating on 830 kc at New York, N.Y., during specified nighttime hours.

16. Exceptional treatment was given to the question of 830 kc utilization because of the fact that WNYC, New York, a nonrevenue, municipal-government operated broadcast station with program service objectives different from those of a commercial station, had been operating during certain presunrise and postsunset hours since 1943 pursuant to a year-to-year special service authorization—a makeshift arrangement which was unsatisfactory to all concerned. In adopting Note 2 to § 73.25 (then § 3.25), the Commission sought to provide for an ultimate regularization, one way or another, of WNYC's operating schedule. Nothing in either the governing statutes or the Commission's own rules and practices obligated the Commisdon, under these circumstances, to especially encourage applications competitive to WNYC's by also requiring that WNYC concurrently file, for consolidation with its above-captioned applications, an application for renewal of the broadcast license then in its possession. Needless to say, any potential applicants seeking to supplant WNYC entirely, with a new station of their own, could still file a competing application at WNYC's regular license-renewal time.

17. WCCO's construction permit application for 750 kw operation[4] is accompanied by a petition for waiver of the Commission's rules barring acceptance of the application.[5] In support of its request for waiver, WCCO asserts that 750 kw operation by Station WCCO would provide improved and expanded skywave and groundwave broadcast service to wide areas which now receive insufficient service, and notes the fact that the Commission has designated 830 kc as one of the 12 frequencies on which it may, at some future time, authorize broadcast service with power in excess of 50 kw. It points out that in 1963, WCCO (like other stations on those 12 frequencies) filed a petition for institution of rule-making looking towards 750 kw operation, that in 1964 it filed a 750 kw developmental station application, and that the Commission has not yet acted on either of these submissions. However, WCCO continues, in 1965 the Commission, did (over WCCO's objections) accept for filing the above-captioned WNYC application which would cause objectionable interference to a large part of WCCO's present nighttime secondary service area, and to an even larger part of WCCO's proposed service area. WCCO's proposed 750 kw operation, it adds, would impose a high limitation upon WNYC's proposed 50 kw nighttime operation. Thus, WCCO argues, the WNYC and WCCO power-increase proposals are mutually exclusive; and, therefore, since the Commission waived its rules to permit acceptance of the WNYC application, failure to do the same for WCCO would be discriminatory and, in addition, would negate the Commission's previous decision to refrain generally from actions prejudicial to the possibility of future utilization of the 830 kc frequency by broadcast stations with more than 50 kw of power.

18. WCCO's petition for waiver, and for acceptance of its 750 kw construction permit application, will be denied.[6] We have no doubt that a grant of authority to WCCO to operate with 15 times as much power as any other Commission-licensed standard broadcast station in the United States would enable WCCO to improve the quality and enlarge the range of its broadcast signal. The Commission has made it abundantly clear, however, that the matter of 750 kw clear channel licensing will not be settled on a piecemeal, case-by-case basis. The issues involved, affecting as they do the entire fabric of standard broadcast service in the United States, are too broad and far-reaching for such a haphazard approach to be permissible. Though the Commission has not formally acted thus far on requests for the institution of rule-making proceedings, this does not mean that the question of "superpower" has been lying fallow. The matter is definitely under study at this time, and if the pace of our preliminary exploration seems too slow for WCCO, we can only urge it to reflect upon the complexity of the issues involved. Regarding WCCO's contention that failure to consider its 750 kw proposal in the WNYC proceeding would be prejudicial to the future prospects of that proposal, note should be taken of the fact that the intent of the Clear Channel decision with respect to the "specific problem" concerning utilization of the 830 kc frequency—as demonstrated by the discussion in it of that frequency, and Note 2 to § 73.25(a) of the rules[7]—was to give priority treatment to the question of regular New York City 830 kc broadcast operations, in isolation from the question of possible impact upon potential higher-power operations by WCCO; and then, at some later date, to consider the question of superpower on 830 kc in the light of, among other things, the conclusions reached in the WNYC proceeding.

19. In view of the foregoing, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the WNYC construction permit application would serve the public interest, convenience, and necessity, and is of the opinion that the application must be designated for hearing in the proceeding in Docket No. 11227 on the issues set forth below.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System application is designated for hearing in the present proceeding in Docket No. 11227 together with the above-captioned amended application for extension of a special service authorization.

[1] WCCO criticizes the Commission's decision to consolidate consideration of WNYC's special service authorization and construction permit applications on the ground that it prevented potential rivals of WNYC from knowing, prior to acceptance of the WNYC application for filing, whether the Commission would accept any applications for the facilities sought by WNYC. In this argument, WCCO would seem to be accusing the Commission of unfairness, discrimination, et al. because the Commission adopted a procedure which had the incidental effect of placing potential rivals for the facilities sought by WNYC in the same uncertain position, prior to our acceptance of the WNYC application, that WNYC was in when it undertook to prepare its construction permit application.

[4] Tendered in the form of an amendment to a previously tendered developmental station application for authority to operate WCCO with 750 kw.

[5] Cited in particular by WCCO are §§ 73.35(a), 73.21(a)(1), 73.41, and 73.182(a)(1) of the Commission's rules.

[6] As indicated in note 1 supra, WCCO's construction permit "application" was tendered in the form of an amendment to a previously tendered WCCO 750 kw development station application. Our decision to deny WCCO's request for waiver and to return its amendment will of course in no way change the status of WCCO's previously tendered developmental station application.

[7] Clear Channel decision, pars. 75 and 76, and ordering clause 6. In particular, note the explicit statement, in the first sentence of par. 76, that the clear channel decision is not intended to have a prejudicial effect upon the ultimate decisions in the WNYC adjudicatory proceeding.

It is further ordered, That the issues in the aforementioned proceeding are modified to read as follows:[1]

1. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the proposed (a) daytime, and (b) presunrise and postsunset, operations of WNYC and the availability of other primary service to such areas and populations.

2. To determine whether the proposals of the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System would cause objectionable interference to Station WCCO, or any other existing standard broadcast stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other primary and secondary service to such areas and populations.

3. To determine whether, in light of the interference that it would receive, the proposed 50 kw nighttime operation of Station WNYC would be consistent with the requirements of the note to § 73.24(b) of the Commission's rules and, if not, whether circumstances exist which would warrant a waiver of that section.

4. To determine whether the 50 kw proposal of the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System would seriously prejudice future consideration of the 820 and 840 kilocycle Class I–A channels.

5. To determine whether the 50 kw transmitter site proposed by the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System is satisfactory with particular regard to any conditions that may exist in the vicinity of the antenna system which would distort the proposed antenna radiation pattern.

6. To determine whether the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System will be able to adjust and maintain the 50 kw directional antenna system as proposed in the instant application.

7. To determine the type and character of the program services respectively proposed to be rendered by Stations WNYC and WCCO; whether and to what extent WNYC daytime and nighttime proposed programing would serve special needs and requirements of the population and areas proposed to be served; and whether and to what extent WCCO's programing, during the hours of interference to it from WNYC, would meet special needs and interests of residents of those areas in which such interference would occur.

8. To determine whether or not there is any unusual and temporary need for the requested special service authorization, and if there is, the nature and extent thereof.

9. To determine whether or not a grant of either proposal would tend towards a fair, efficient, and equitable distribution of radio service among the several States and communities, as contemplated by section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

10. To determine which of the proposals would best serve the public interest.

11. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced with respect to the foregoing issues, which, if either, of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the Midwest Radio-Television, Inc., "Petition for Reconsideration" of our November 17, 1965, memorandum opinion and order accepting for filing the City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System application for a construction permit and amendment to an application for extension of a special service authorization, is denied.

It is further ordered, That Midwest Radio-Television, Inc.'s "Petition for Waiver" of the rules concerning acceptance of its application for a construction permit for 750 kw operation of standard broadcast Station WCCO, Minneapolis, Minn., is denied, and that the amendment tendered December 29, 1965, to its 750 kw experimental application shall be returned as unacceptable for filing.

It is further ordered, That Midwest Radio-Television, Inc., is made a party with respect to the above-captioned City of New York Municipal Broadcasting System construction permit application.

It is further ordered, That the requests, petitions, et al. filed in this matter are granted to the extent indicated above, and are denied in all other respects.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant and party respondent herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall, within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicant herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

[Docket No. 10834, etc.; FCC 67-798]

FLORIDA-GEORGIA TELEVISION CO., INC., ET AL.

Memorandum Opinion and Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Florida-Georgia Television Co., Inc., Jacksonville, Fla., Docket No. 10834, File No. BPCT–1624; Community First Corp., Jacksonville, Fla., Docket No. 17582, File No. BPCT–3681; The New Horizons Telecasting Co., Inc., Jacksonville, Fla., Docket No. 17583, File No. BPCT–3731; Florida Gateway

Television Co., Jacksonville, Fla., Docket No. 17584, File No. BPCT-3732; for construction permit for new television broadcast station.

1. The Commission has before it for consideration the above-captioned applications, each requesting a construction permit for a new television broadcast station to operate on Channel 12, Jacksonville, Fla. The applications are mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference.

2. The Commission also has before it a Petition for Hearing and Audit, filed by Harold S. Cohn, Sr., a director and 19 percent stockholder of Florida-Georgia. No certification of service was filed with the petition. If we treat the petition as a Petition to Deny, it was not timely filed in accordance with the requirements of § 1.580(i) of the Commission's rules. The petition asks the Commission to order an audit of the books of Florida-Georgia when designating the application. The petition also asks that issues be raised in the hearing order on whether the majority of stockholders have improperly diverted funds and mismanaged the business affairs of the corporation. No factual allegations of fraud have been made by Mr. Cohn. The relief he seeks can be applied for in the appropriate state court. The petition will therefore be dismissed.

3. Ordinarily, the Commission requires applicants for a new broadcast station to show the availability of sufficient funds to construct and operate the proposed station for 1 year. Where an applicant relies, in whole or in part, on advertising revenues to meet its costs of operation in the first year, the Commission requires that the applicant demonstrate the validity of its estimate of revenues by a comprehensive showing.[1] In the present case, however, each of the applicants (except Florida-Georgia), seeks to replace a station which has an established record of advertising revenues stretching over a prolonged period of time; the availability of revenues is beyond dispute. For this reason, we do not believe that it is necessary to require the applicants to meet the requirements of the Ultravision decision. We will, therefore, apply our former standard which required an applicant to show that it had sufficient funds to construct and operate the proposed station for three months without revenues.[2]

a. In connection with the application of Community First Corp.:

(1) Based on information contained in the application, cash of approximately $995,000 will be required for the construction and operation of the proposed station.[3] To meet these requirements, the applicant relies upon existing capital of $33,100, stock subscriptions of $100,000, a bank loan of $2,000,000, for a total of $2,133,100.

(2) It appears that the applicant has $33,100 available to it in existing capital and not more than $10,000 available in funds from financially qualified subscribers. Except for Mr. Ernest A. Allsopp, none of the other subscribers has submitted a balance sheet or financial statement as required by section III, paragraph 4(d), FCC Form 301.[4] The letter from the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville, dated February 25, 1966, upon which the applicant relies to support the availability of a loan of $2 million does not set forth the terms or conditions upon which the loan is to be made, but states that financing will be arranged "under appropriate and legal conditions." In addition, the letter fails to mention the security to be required, if any.

b. In connection with the application of Florida Gateway Television Co.:

(1) Based on information contained in the application, cash of approximately $863,000 will be required for the construction and operation of the proposed station.[5] The exact amount of cash required cannot be determined because the bank letter fails to set forth the terms and conditions under which the loan is to be made. To meet these requirements, the applicant relies upon existing capital of $44,469 and a bank loan of $2 million for a total of $2,044,469.

(2) It appears that the applicant has $44,469 available to it in existing capital. The letter from the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville, dated February 25, 1966, upon which the applicant relies to support the availability of a loan of $2 million does not set forth the terms or conditions upon which the loan is to be made or the security to be required, if any.

c. In connection with the application of New Horizons Telecasting Co.:

(1) Based on information contained in the application, cash of approximately $1,891,800 will be required for the construction and operation of the proposed station.[6] The exact amount of cash required cannot be determined because the bank letter fails to set forth the terms and conditions under which the loan is to be made. To meet these requirements, the applicant relies upon existing capital of $17,171, a bank loan of $2 million, and stock subscriptions of $107,892 for a total of $2,125,063.

(2) It appears that the applicant has available to it, $17,171, in existing capital. None of the proposed stockholders has filed a balance sheet or financial statement to show current and liquid assets (as defined in paragraph 4(d), section III, FCC Form 301) in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amount to meet his commitments to the applicant. Of the thirteen subscribers only Mr. Bernard E. Karlen has submitted a balance sheet, but it does not indicate current and liquid assets in excess of current liabilities sufficient to meet his commitment to the applicant. The letter from the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville, dated April 19, 1966, upon which the applicant relies to support the availability of a loan of $2 million does not set forth the terms and conditions upon which the loan is to be made, or the security required, if any.

4. Since Federal Aviation Administration approval has not been obtained for New Horizons Telecasting Co.'s proposed tower height and location, an air menace issue will be specified, and the Federal Aviation Administration will be made a party thereto.

5. In connection with the statement concerning commercial practices made in the application of New Horizons Telecasting Co., an issue has been specified to determine under what circumstances the applicant may depart from its general commercial practices and the limitations which will be applicable in those circumstances.

6. Except as indicated by the issues specified below, the Commission finds that the applicants are qualified to construct, own and operate the proposed television broadcast station. The applications are, however, mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference. The Commission is, therefore, unable to make the statutory finding that grant of the applications would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity and is of the opinion that the applications must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding on the issues set forth below.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-captioned applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. In connection with the application of Community First Corp. to determine:

(a) Whether the subscribers, other than Mr. Ernest S. Allsopp, have current and liquid assets (as defined in section III, paragraph 4(d), FCC Form 301), in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amount to meet their commitments to the applicant.

(b) The terms, conditions and security, if any, required in connection with the proposed loan from Florida National Bank of Jacksonville.

(c) Whether, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing, the applicant is financially qualified.

2. In connection with the application of Florida Gateway Television Co., to determine:

(a) The terms, conditions and security, if any, required in connection with the proposed loan from Florida National Bank of Jacksonville.

(b) Whether, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing, the applicant is financially qualified.

3. In connection with the application of New Horizon Telecasting Co., to determine:

(a) Whether the subscribers have current and liquid assets (as defined in section III, paragraph 4(d), FCC Form 301) in excess of current liabilities in sufficient amount to meet their commitments to the applicant.

(b) The terms, conditions and security, if any, required in connection with the proposed loan from Florida National Bank of Jacksonville.

(c) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing, the applicant is financially qualified.

(d) Under what circumstances the applicant may depart from its general commercial practices and the limitations which will be applicable in those circumstances.

(e) Whether there is a reasonable possibility that the tower height and location proposed would constitute a menace to air navigation.

4. To determine which of the proposals would best serve the public interest.

5. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That the Federal Aviation Administration is made a party to this proceeding with respect to the application of New Horizons Telecasting Co.

It is further ordered, That the Petition Harold S. Cohen, Sr., is dismissed.

It is further ordered, That, to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicants and the party respondent herein, pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney, shall within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

TRI-CITIES BROADCASTING CORP. AND PALMER-DYKES BROADCASTING CO.

Order Designating Applications for Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In re applications of Tri-Cities Broadcasting Corp., Gate City, Va., Docket No. 17575, File No. BPH-5654, requests: 104.9 mc, No. 285; 1.175 kw; 449 feet; Paul Dykes and Basil J. Palmer, doing business as Palmer-Dykes Broadcasting Co., Kingsport, Tenn., Docket No. 17576, File No. BPH-5701, requests: 104.9 mc, No. 285; 3 kw (horizontal) 2.58 kw (vertical); 298 feet; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has under consideration the above captioned and described applications which are mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference.

2. The respective proposals are for different communities. Consequently, it will be necessary to determine pursuant to section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

3. Consideration of the programming proposals under the contingent comparative issue is required because of the substantial and material difference between the proposals in the amount of AM programming to be duplicated. Tri-Cities proposes substantial duplication (initially 60.31 percent while Palmer-Dykes proposes independent operation. Therefore, evidence regarding program duplication will be admissible under the standard comparative issue. The showing permitted under the standard comparative issue when duplicated programming is proposed will be limited to evidence concerning the benefits to be derived from the proposed duplication, and a full comparison of the applicants' program proposals will not be permitted in the absence of a specific programming inquiry—Jones T. Sudbury —— FCC 2d ——, FCC 67–814, (1967). Nevertheless, the parties are free to seek enlargement of the issues to include a special programming issue—see Chapman Radio & Television Co., 7 FCC 2d 213, FCC 67–234 (1967) and Jones T. Sudbury, supra.

4. According to its application, Palmer-Dykes will require $60,453 to construct and operate the proposed station for one year without revenue. To meet this requirement, Palmer-Dykes is relying on a $1,000 bank deposit, a $30,000 line of credit and contributions from the two partners of $11,000 (which their balance sheet show they have available in cash and life insurance surrender value). Thus, a total of only $42,000 is shown to be available. Therefore, we will specify an issue to determine whether the additional $18,453 is available.

5. Except as indicated below, the applicants are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, because of their mutual exclusivity, the Commission is unable to make the statutory finding that a grant of the applications would serve the public interest, convenience and necessity, as is of the opinion that the applications must be designated for hearing on the issues set forth below.

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine whether Palmer-Dykes Broadcasting Co. has available to it the additional $18,453 necessary to construct and operate for one year without revenue and thus demonstrate that it is financially qualified.

2. To determine, in the light of section 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, which of the proposals would better provide a fair, efficient and equitable distribution of radio service.

3. To determine, in the event it is concluded that a choice between applications should not be based solely on considerations relating to section 307(b), which of the proposals would better serve the public interest.

4. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues which, if either, of the applications should be granted.

It is further ordered, That to avail themselves of the opportunity to be heard, the applicant(s), pursuant to § 1.221(c) of the Commission's rules, in person or by attorney shall, within twenty (20) days of the mailing of this order, file with the Commission in triplicate, a written appearance stating an intention to appear on the date fixed for the hearing and present evidence on the issues specified in this order.

It is further ordered, That the applicants herein shall, pursuant to section 311(a)(2) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, and § 1.594 of the Commission's rules, give notice of the hearing, either individually or, if feasible and consistent with the rules, jointly, within the time and in the manner prescribed in such rule, and shall advise the Commission of the publication of such notice as required by § 1.594(g) of the rules.

Adopted: July 5, 1967.

FEDERAL MARITIME COMMISSION

[No. 65–5]

OVERCHARGE CLAIMS

Time Limit on the Filing; Notice of Hearing

JULY 21, 1967.

On June 28, 1966, the Federal Maritime Commission issued a report and order in the subject proceeding in which it declined to promulgate a proposed rule which would have prohibited the limitation of time within which claims for adjustment of freight charges may be presented to carriers to less than 2 years after date of shipment. By order served March 1, 1967 (FEDERAL REGISTER of Mar. 7, 1967, p. 3792), the Commission reopened and assigned this proceeding for public hearing. A prehearing conference was held July 6, 1967. The hearing will be held before the undersigned beginning at 10 a.m., September 25, 1967, in Room 705, 45 Broadway, New York, N.Y.

An initial decision will be issued.

JOHN MARSHALL,
Presiding Examiner.

Supplement No. 9 contains a cancellation notice stating:

The local All Water rates published in this tariff subject to the jurisdiction of and filed with the Federal Maritime Commission are hereby canceled. For local all water rates see Sea-Land Tariff No. 127, FMC-F No. 14.

Joint motor water, water motor or motor water motor rates subject to the jurisdiction of and filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission remain in effect.

Sea-Land publishes a tariff which the aforementioned supplement would amend, jointly filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) and the Federal Maritime Commission (FMC) which contains local, joint and proportional, class and commodity rates, between Oregon and Washington, on the one hand, and Alaska on the other. The tariff bears joint numbers; i.e., ICC No. 23, FMC-F No. 5, and provides therein (Item No. 101):

The rates between points in Oregon and Washington making reference to this Item and points in Alaska taking Rate Group A are port-to-port rates subject to the jurisdiction of the Federal Maritime Commission.

Rate Group A provides for rates between Seattle, Washington and Anchorage, Alaska.[1] These port-to-port rates include incidental motor pickup and delivery service within the port cities of Anchorage and/or Seattle, Wash.

Effective July 30, 1967, Sea-Land would withdraw the majority of these rates from FMC's jurisdiction.[2] Specifically, Sea-Land has chosen to file with the ICC a tariff which provides for a "joint" arrangement,[3] between Sea-Land and its incidental port service motor carrier rather than maintain its "local" port-to-port services which have embodied, up to now, these identical terminal services. Local "port-to-port" tariffs are filed with and are under the control of the FMC while joint rates between FMC water carriers and ICC motor carriers are filed with the ICC. There are no apparent physical changes in Sea-Land's operation, the change merely representing a change in the tariff mechanics of publication. The tariff is now called a "joint" tariff rather than a "local and joint" tariff. This "joint" tariff has not been filed with this Commission and the FMC number designation (No. 5) has been deleted.

The FMC has jurisdiction over port-to-port rates between the State of Alaska and the contiguous states, and has long accepted port-to-port rates (as opposed to pier-to-pier) which provide for incidental pickup and delivery services within the port area.[4]

The FMC is of the belief that Congress did not intend that port-to-port services which embody incidental port services be subject to change in regulatory forum.[5] The FMC is of the belief that the rates proposed to be removed from FMC jurisdiction are port-to-port rates fully subject to its jurisdiction regardless of the publishing device seeking to escape that jurisdiction.

Moreover, the cancellation of this tariff from FMC jurisdiction would severely limit the FMC's pending general investigation of Sea-Land, instituted with good cause against its practices and rates in the Alaska trade.[6] That order (see footnote 6) provides that all "changed matter in Sea-Land's tariffs applicable from, to and between Alaska be included in the investigation." Many of the rates which are presently under investigation by the FMC could be changed in a manner which would remove them from the pending investigation, contrary to the Commission's order in that proceeding if a change in regulatory forum by Sea-Land is successful.[7]

Upon consideration of said Supplement No. 9 and the cancellation matter shown thereon, there is reason to believe that the new tariff practice to be accomplished by the proposed supplement, if permitted to become effective, would result in Sea-Land engaging in transportation subject to the jurisdiction of this Commission without the filing of tariffs required by section 18(a) of the Shipping Act, 1916 and section 2 of the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933.

The issues raised herein do not present any disputed issues of fact which necessitate an evidentiary hearing and require a prompt determination by the Commission. Should any of the parties to this proceeding consider that there are disputed issues of fact which are relevant

[1] Rate Group A also includes Anchorage International Airport, Elmendorf Air Force Base, Fort Richardson, Mountain View, Spenard, Alaska, Bellevue, Wash., Kirkland, Wash., Renton, Wash., Tukwila, Wash., Tacoma, Wash., and Portland, Oreg. (via direct water service of Sea-Land only).

[2] The only rates that Sea-Land would be filing with the FMC are those applicable to operations which do not include pickup and delivery services and which represent a minor portion of its port-to-port services, namely, airplanes, airplane parts, camper bodies, boats, empty return carriers, household goods, vehicles, and salt.

[3] Public Law 87-595, enacted Aug. 24, 1962, permits common carriers by water, including water common carriers subject to the Shipping Acts, and motor carriers subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, to enter into through routes and joint rates. The joint rates so established are subject to the applicable provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act.

[4] Matson Navigation Co./Container Freight Tariff, 7 FMC 480 (January 1963).

[5] Alaska Statehood Act (enacted July 7, 1958) (72 Stat. 339 (351)) provides in pertinent part:

(b) Nothing contained in this or any other Act should be construed as depriving the Federal Maritime Board of the exclusive jurisdiction heretofore conferred on it over common carriers engaged in transportation by water between any port in the State of Alaska and other ports in the United States, its territories or possessions or as conferring upon the Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction over transportation by water between any such ports.

[6] In Sea-Land Service, Inc., General Investigation West Coast/Alaska Trade, First Supplemental Order, Docket No. 67-7 (served April 27, 1967), FMC instituted an investigation into the lawfulness of all of Sea-Land's rates and practices in the Seattle/Alaska trade.

[7] For example, Sea-Land, effective July 30, 1967, proposes to amend its tariff FMC-F No. 5 by increasing class rates which, among other places, applies between Seattle and Anchorage, Alaska. In the event the cancellation notice becomes effective, these rates, too, would be automatically transferred to the jurisdiction of the ICC.

to this proceeding, such facts shall be specified with particularity by means of affidavits setting forth such facts, together with a statement of their relevance to the issues in question. Should any other parties dispute these facts by a similar affidavit, the disputed issues of fact, if relevant, will be set down for an evidentiary hearing, if such hearing is requested.

Therefore, it is ordered, That pursuant to the authority of section 22 of the Shipping Act, 1916 and section 3 of the Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933, an investigation is hereby instituted into (1) the lawfulness of the removal of port-to-port rates from Federal Maritime Commission jurisdiction where such rates embody incidental pickup and delivery services performed by or on behalf of a common carrier by water within the port area in which it holds itself out to perform such incidental pickup and delivery services in connection with its line-haul water carrier operation, according to its applicable tariffs, and (2) the lawfulness of Sea-Land's practices with respect to its application of its proposed tariff device which would permit a change in regulatory forum by redesignating a "local" port-to-port service as a "joint" port-to-port service.

It is further ordered, That pursuant to section 3, Intercoastal Shipping Act, 1933, the operation of the said Supplement No. 9 to FMC-F No. 5 is suspended and the use thereof be deferred to and including November 29, 1967, unless otherwise ordered by this Commission.

It is further ordered, That there shall be filed immediately with the Commission by Sea-Land, a consecutively numbered supplement to the aforesaid schedule which supplement shall bear no effective date, shall reproduce the portion of this order wherein the suspension matter is described and shall state that the aforesaid matter is suspended and may not be used until November 30, 1967, unless otherwise authorized by the Commission; and the rates, charges, and provisions which were to be removed from FMC jurisdiction by the suspended matter shall remain under FMC jurisdiction during the period of suspension, and the matter suspended may not be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by this Commission;

It is further ordered, That copies of this order shall be filed with the said tariff schedule in the Bureau of Domestic Regulation of the Federal Maritime Commission;

It is further ordered, That the Sea-Land Service, Inc. be named as respondent in this proceeding.

It is further ordered, That this proceeding shall be conducted by submission of affidavits and memoranda and oral argument. The affidavits of fact and memoranda of law shall be filed by respondent and any interveners supporting respondent, no later than close of business August 7, 1967, replies thereto shall be filed by Hearing Counsel and interveners, if any, opposing respondent, no later than close of business August 21, 1967. An original and fifteen (15) copies of affidavits of fact, memoranda of law, and replies are to be filed with the Secretary, Federal Maritime Commission, Washington, D.C. 20573. Copies of any papers filed with the Secretary should also be served upon all parties hereto. Oral argument before the Commission will be heard at 9:30 a.m., September 6, 1967, in Room 114, 1321 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

It is further ordered, That this order be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and a copy of such order be served upon respondent.

All persons (including individuals, corporations, associations, firms, partnerships, and public bodies) having an interest in this proceeding and desiring to intervene therein, should notify the Secretary of the Commission promptly and file petitions for leave to intervene in accordance with Rule 5(1) [46 CFR 502.72].

By the Commission, July 20, 1967.

Secretary.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. RI68-5]

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

Order Providing for Hearing on and Suspension of Proposed Change in Rate

JULY 14, 1967.

Humble Oil & Refining Co. (Humble)[1] tendered for filing a proposed change in its presently effective rate schedule for sales of natural gas subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission. The proposed change, which constitutes an increased rate and charge, is contained in the following designated filing:

Description: Notice of change, dated June 13, 1967.

Purchaser and producing area: Gas Gathering Corp.[2]

Rate schedule designation: Supplement No. 9 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120.

Effective date: July 17, 1967.[3]
Amount of annual increase: $48,534.
Effective rate: 15.75 cents per Mcf.[4] [5]
Proposed rate: 20.625 cents per Mcf.[4]
Pressure base: 15.025 p.s.i.a.

[1] Address is Post Office Box 2180, Houston, Tex. 77001, Attention: Mr. John J. Carter.

[2] Gas Gathering Corp. resells subject gas to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. under its FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 2 at a composite rate of 21.25 cents per Mcf which is effective subject to refund in Docket No. RI66-262.

[3] The stated effective date is the first day after expiration of the statutory notice.

[4] Settlement rate as approved by Commission order issued July 8, 1964, in Docket Nos. G-9287 and G-9288 et al., as amended. Moratorium for filing increased rates expired June 1, 1967.

[5] Subject to a downward B.t.u. adjustment.

Humble requests an effective date of June 1, 1967, the date of expiration of the filing moratorium for rate increases to levels in excess of the area rate ceiling pursuant to terms of company-wide settlement in Docket Nos. G-9287 and G-9288 et al., for its proposed rate increase. Humble also requests that should the Commission suspend its rate filing that the suspension period be for a maximum of 1 day, or as short a period as possible. Good cause has not been shown for granting Humble's request for an earlier effective date, or for limiting to 1 day the suspension period with respect to such rate filing and Humble's request is denied.

Humble has submitted a notice of change in rate proposing a rate increase, from 15.75 cents rate approved by the Commission in Humble's company-wide settlement, to 20.625 cents for gas sold to Gas Gathering Corp. (Gas Gathering) from the Bayou Des Glaise Field, Iberville Parish, South Louisiana Area. Humble's proposed rate exceeds the area increased rate ceiling of 14.0 cents per Mcf for the South Louisiana Area as announced in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR 2.56).

Gas Gathering resells the subject gas, together with gas it purchases from other producers in the area, to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. (Transco) pursuant to Gas Gathering's Rate Schedule No. 2 at a composite rate of 21.25 cents, effective subject to refund in Docket No. RI66-262. Gas Gathering's composite rate is based on the effective rate of each of its producer-suppliers plus its service charge for gathering, metering, dehydrating and delivering such gas to Transco.

Gas Gathering's composite 21.25 cents rate is based in part on the current 15.75 cents effective rate Humble is receiving for its share of gas. Humble's proposed rate will thus require a change in such composite rate (estimated to be approximately 22.0 cents) if Gas Gathering is to maintain the existing spread for the services it performs between its purchased gas costs and the composite rate it collects from Transco. Under these circumstances, we conclude that Humble's proposed rate increase should be suspended for 5 months from July 17, 1967, the date of expiration of the statutory notice.

The proposed changed rate and charge may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the provisions of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the proposed change, and that Supplement No. 9 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120 be suspended and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR Ch. I), a public hearing shall be held upon a date to be fixed by notice from the Secretary concerning the lawfulness of the proposed increased rate and charge contained in Supplement No. 9 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120.

(B) Pending such hearing and decision thereon, Supplement No. 9 to Humble's FPC Gas Rate Schedule No. 120 is hereby suspended and the use thereof deferred until December 17, 1967, and thereafter until such further time as it is made effective in the manner prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Neither the supplement hereby suspended nor the rate schedule sought to be altered thereby, shall be changed until this proceeding has been disposed of or until the period of suspension has expired, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before August 29, 1967.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

SIGNAL OIL & GAS CO. ET AL.

Order Providing for Hearings on and Suspension of Proposed Changes in Rates[1]

JULY 18, 1967.

The Respondents named herein have filed proposed increased rates and charges of currently effective rate schedules for sales of natural gas under Commission jurisdiction, as set forth in Appendix A hereof.

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is in the public interest and consistent with the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings regarding the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the supplements herein be suspended and their use be deferred as ordered below.

The Commission orders:

(A) Under the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15, the Regulations pertaining thereto (18 CFR Ch. I), and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, public hearings shall be held concerning the lawfulness of the proposed changes.

(B) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the rate supplements herein are suspended and their use deferred until date shown in the "Date Suspended Until" column, and thereafter until made effective as prescribed by the Natural Gas Act.

(C) Until otherwise ordered by the Commission, neither the suspended supplements, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered, shall be changed until disposition of these proceedings or expiration of the suspension period.

(D) Notices of intervention or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37(f)) on or before September 1, 1967.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] GORDON M. GRANT,
Secretary.

[Docket No. CP68-9]

CONSOLIDATED GAS SUPPLY CORP.

Notice of Application

JULY 18, 1967.

Take notice that on July 10, 1967, Consolidated Gas Supply Corp. (Applicant), 445 West Main Street, Clarksburg, W. Va. 26301, filed in Docket No. CP68-9 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the replacement, construction, and operation of certain interstate pipeline facilities located in Nicholas County, W. Va., for the transportation and sale of natural gas in interstate commerce, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant proposes to replace 6.4 miles of 6-inch and 8-inch pipeline with 13.6 miles of 6-inch and 8-inch pipeline. The pipelines to be replaced are (1) the northernmost 5.4 miles of the 6-inch Line H-183 between its junctions with Lines H-19457 and H-144, and (2) the southernmost 1.0 mile of the 8-inch Line H-144 between its junction with Line H-183 and the former site of a compressor station referred to as Meek Station. The pipelines to be replaced will be retired in place and not salvaged.

The replacement pipeline to be constructed and operated will consist of (1) 9.1 miles of 8-inch pipeline extending from a connection to be made with Line H–144 near the site known as Meek Station to a connection to be made with Line H–20036 at State Route 41 near Summersville, and (2) 4.5 miles of 6-inch pipeline extending from the junction of pipelines H–20036 and H–19457 near Persinger to a connection to be made with Line H–183 near Beaver.

The total estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $490,735, which cost is to be financed from funds on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 14, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

GORDON M. GRANT,
Secretary.

[Docket No. CP68–12]

EL PASO NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 18, 1967.

Take notice that on July 10, 1967, El Paso Natural Gas Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 1492, El Paso, Tex. 79999, filed in Docket No. CP68–12 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to The Washington Water Power Co. (Water Power) for transportation to and resale and general distribution in the community of Asotin, Wash., and environs, all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant requests authorization to sell and deliver natural gas to Water Power at the outlet of Applicant's existing Lewiston-Clarkston Meter Station.

Applicant states that Water Power will transport the natural gas to points of resale and distribution in the community of Asotin, Wash., through the facilities to be constructed by Water Power at a cost of $201,985. Applicant further states that no additional facilities need be constructed by itself.

The total third year peak day and annual requirements of the proposed new service are 154 Mcf and 12,757 Mcf, respectively.

The proposed sale and delivery by Applicant to Water Power will be initiated by Applicant in accordance with and at rates contained in its Rate Schedule DL–1 of Applicant's FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 3.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 14, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

MICHIGAN GAS AND ELECTRIC CO. AND NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 18, 1967.

Take notice that on July 10, 1967, Michigan Gas and Electric Co. (Applicant), 100 South Main Street, Three Rivers, Mich. 49093, filed in Docket No. CP68–11 an application pursuant to section 7(a) of the Natural Gas Act for an order of the Commission directing Northern Natural Gas Co. (Respondent) to construct and operate natural gas transmission facilities and to sell and deliver natural gas in interstate commerce for resale and distribution in Ontonagon County, Mich., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission.

Specifically, Applicant requests that Respondent be ordered to extend its transportation facilities to the facilities to be constructed by Applicant and to sell and deliver volumes of natural gas for resale and distribution by Applicant to the White Pine Copper Co. and to the Village of White Pine in Carp Lake Township, Ontonagon County, Mich. For this service three points of delivery are requested by Applicant in the application and the exhibits thereto.

The total estimated third year peak day and annual requirements of Applicant's proposed service are as follows:

Customer	Daily winter service quantity (Mcf)
Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric Co.....	6,711
Iowa Power & Light Co.....	386
Northern Indiana Public Service Co..	13,763
The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Co....	31,140
Total	[1] 52,000

[1] "Equivalent to 50,000 Mcf on an as metered basis."

Applicant states that no additional facilities are required to render the service proposed above.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 9, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP68–3]

NATURAL GAS SERVICE, INC.

Notice of Application

JULY 14, 1967.

Take notice that on July 3, 1967, Natural Gas Service, Inc. (Applicant), 1630 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Ind. 46202, filed in Docket No. CP68–3 an application pursuant to section 7(b) of the Natural Gas Act for permission and approval to abandon certain natural gas facilities or, as an alternative, pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the operation of certain natural gas facilities, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks permission and approval to abandon by sale or transfer the following natural gas facilities:

(1) Approximately 8.35 miles of 6-inch pipeline extending from a point of connection with Texas Gas Transmission Corp. (Texas) approximately 8 miles east of the Madison-Milton Bridge to a point of connection with Applicant's distribution system in the city of Madison, Ind., by sale to Ohio River Pipeline Corp. (Pipeline);

(2) Approximately 0.46 of a mile of 5-inch pipeline looping the 6-inch pipeline described in (1) above, by sale to Pipeline;

(3) A regulator and metering station near the sales metering station of Texas at the interconnection described in (1) above, by sale to Pipeline;

(4) A metering station near the connection with Applicant's distribution system in the city of Madison, Ind., as described in (1) above, by sale to Pipeline;

(5) Line connections between the 5-inch and 6-inch pipelines described in (1) above, by sale to Pipeline;

(6) Approximately 7.60 miles of 5-inch transmission pipeline extending from the point of interconnection with Texas described in (1) above to a point just north of the city of Milton, Ky., by sale to Ohio River Gas Co., Inc. (Ohio); and

(7) Approximately 0.32 of a mile of 5-inch pipeline extending from a point of connection with the city of Madison distribution system to a point at the Indiana end of the Madison-Milton Bridge, by transfer to Indiana Gas & Water Co., Inc. (Indiana).

Applicant states that the natural gas facilities proposed to be sold to Pipeline are now used exclusively to serve Applicant's Indiana and Kentucky local distribution systems and after the proposed sale will continue to be used by Pipeline exclusively for such service. Applicant further states that the facilities proposed to be sold to Ohio are now used as a part of Applicant's Kentucky local distribution system and will continue to be used as such after the proposed sale. Applicant further states that the facilities proposed to be transferred to Indiana are now a part of Applicant's Indiana local distribution system and will continue to be used as such after the proposed transfer. Applicant also states that the proposed abandonments are a part of a program to simplify Applicant's operations and enable it to establish lower retail distribution rates.

Applicant states that it has agreed to sell and Pipeline and Ohio have agreed to purchase the respective natural gas facilities at the net book cost thereof. Applicant further states that it has agreed to transfer its remaining properties and assets, including the natural gas facilities described in (7) above, to Indiana, its parent company, under a plan of reorganization in exchange for the surrender of all its outstanding capital stock owned by Indiana, after which it is proposed that Applicant will be dissolved.

In the event that permission and approval for Applicant's proposed abandonments is denied, Applicant seeks authorization to operate the above-set-forth natural gas facilities, previously constructed, to serve its local distribution systems in Indiana and Kentucky.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 9, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate or permission and approval for the proposed abandonment is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket Nos. CP67–194, CP66–98]

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Petition To Amend

JULY 17, 1967.

Take notice that on July 10, 1967, Northern Natural Gas Co. (Petitioner), 2223 Dodge Street, Omaha, Nebr. 68102, filed in Docket Nos. CP67–194 and CP66–98 a petition to amend the orders of the Commission issued May 19, 1967, and December 13, 1965, respectively, by authorizing Petitioner to relocate certain natural gas facilities, change distributors for initial natural gas service to nine communities and relocate a measuring station, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the above-mentioned order in Docket No. CP67–194, petitioner was authorized, inter alia, to construct and operate approximately 1.6 miles of 2-inch pipeline and a town border station to serve the community of New Providence (Providence), Hardin County, Iowa. Petitoner was further authorized, inter alia, by the above-mentioned order in Docket No. CP66–98, to construct and operate a measuring station on its 20-inch pipeline to Waterloo, Iowa, which is used for the sale of natural gas to Iowa Electric Light & Power Co. (Iowa) for resale to Lawn Hill Elevator (Hill). By the instant filing, Petitioner seeks authorization to relocate the proposed pipeline to serve Providence by purchasing and utilizing the 4,000 foot pipeline presently owned and operated by Iowa and used to serve Hill, said pipeline extending from Petitioner's measuring station to Hill which is 1 mile from Providence. Petitioner also proposes to construct an additional mile of 2-inch pipeline branch from Hill to Providence and relocate its measuring station at the site of Hill.

Petitioner also seeks authorization to transfer distributors for nine of the communities, all located in Minnesota, certificated for initial natural gas service in Docket No. CP67–194 as follows:

Community	Certificated distributor	Proposed distributor
Appleton	Great Plains Natural Gas Co. (Great Plains).	Peoples Division of Northern Natural Gas Co. (Peoples).
Cottonwood	Great Plains	Peoples.
Hancock	Great Plains	Peoples.
Lamberton	Great Plains	Peoples.
Madison	Great Plains	Peoples.
Sanborn	Great Plains	Peoples.
Cyrus	Peoples	Minnesota Natural Gas Co. (Minnesota).
Lowry	Peoples	Minnesota.
Morris	Minnesota Western Gas Co.	Minnesota.

Petitioner states that the above proposed changes will not result in any change in contract demand as previously authorized nor will there be any change in service rendered.

Petitioner estimates the total cost of the facilities proposed to serve the community of Providence at approximately $17,920, which includes $13,520 for the proposed 1 mile of pipeline and $4,400 for the purchase of the pipeline from Iowa, said cost being $980 less than the cost of the facilities originally proposed in Docket No. CP67–194 for said natural gas service.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 14, 1967.

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Application

JULY 18, 1967.

Take notice that on July 10, 1967, Northern Natural Gas Co. (Applicant), 2223 Dodge Street, Omaha, Nebr. 68102, filed in Docket No. CP68–10 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to the Northern Helex Co. (Helex), all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant proposes to sell and deliver to Helex up to 7,500 Mcf per day at a price of $900 per annum plus 28 cents per Mcf for gas delivered. The natural gas is to be delivered on a standby basis for use in Helex's helium extraction plant near Bushton, Kans.

The standby gas is to be used for plant fuel during the periods of interruption or curtailment of Helex's intrastate source of gas.

Applicant states that the service will be provided through existing facilities with no additional facilities needed.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 14, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

OHIO RIVER PIPELINE CORP.

Notice of Application

JULY 14, 1967.

Take notice that on July 3, 1967, Ohio River Pipeline Corp. (Applicant), 1630 North Meridian Street, Indianapolis, Ind. 46202, filed in Docket No. CP68–3 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the acquisition and operation of certain natural gas facilities, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Specifically, Applicant seeks authorization to acquire and operate the following natural gas facilities presently owned by Natural Gas Service, Inc. (Natural):

(1) Approximately 8.35 miles of 6-inch pipeline extending from a point of interconnection with Texas Gas Transmission Corp. (Texas) approximately 8 miles east of the Madison-Milton Bridge, to a point of connection with Natural in the city of Madison, Ind.;

(2) Approximately 0.46 of a mile of 5-inch pipeline looping the line described in (1) above;

(3) A regulator and metering station near the sales metering station of Texas at the interconnection set forth in (1) above;

(4) A metering station near the interconnection with the city of Madison distribution system; and

(5) Line connections between the 5-inch and 6-inch pipelines set forth in (1) and (2) above.

Applicant states that the natural gas facilities described above are now used exclusively to serve the Indiana and Kentucky local distribution systems of Natural and Applicant further states that after acquisition and purchase, said facilities will continue to be used for the exclusive service of such systems. Applicant also states that the proposed acquisition is part of a program to simplify the operations of Natural and enable Natural to lower their retail distribution rates.

Applicant states that it has agreed to purchase and Natural has agreed to sell said natural gas facilities at the net book cost thereof.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 7, 1967.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no protest or petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a protest or petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

[Docket No. CP66–43]

TEXAS EASTERN TRANSMISSION CORP.

Notice of Petition to Amend

JULY 18, 1967.

Take notice that on July 7, 1967, Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. (Petitioner), Post Office Box 2521, Houston, Tex. 77001, filed in Docket No. CP66–43 a petition to amend the order issued by the Commission April 29, 1966, by authorizing Petitioner to provide additional storage service to an existing storage customer and to provide storage service to three new storage customers, all as more fully set forth in the petition to amend which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

By the abovementioned order, Petitioner was authorized to provide storage service to certain customers and to construct and operate certain natural gas facilities necessary to provide such storage service. By the instant filing, Petitioner seeks authorization to provide natural gas storage service to three new storage customers and additional natural gas storage service to an existing storage customer as follows:

Customer	Maximum daily quantity (Mcf)	Maximum annual quantity (Mcf)
Huntingdon Gas Co.	242	16,922
Lewistown Gas Co. (Joint Buyers)	778	54,460
Philadelphia Electric Co.	10,200	714,019
New Jersey Natural Gas Co.[1]	24,481	1,713,646
Total	35,701	2,499,067

[1] These volumes are in addition to those previously authorized in this docket.

Petitioner proposes to initiate the service proposed above November 1, 1967. Petitioner states that the storage facilities originally authorized in this docket will permit it to render natural gas storage service in an aggregate amount of a maximum daily quantity of 158,000 Mcf and a maximum annual storage volume of 10,700 MMcf. By the order issued by the Commission in this docket April 29, 1966, Petitioner was authorized to provide natural gas storage service to its customers totaling 116,658 Mcf of maximum daily quantity and 8,095,600 Mcf of maximum annual storage volume. Petitioner states that it therefore has the uncommitted storage capacity to render the natural gas storage service proposed above. Petitioner further states that no new or additional facilities are proposed to render the service proposed above.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (§ 157.10) on or before August 14, 1967.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

DESCRIPTION OF CENTRAL AND FIELD ORGANIZATION

JULY 13, 1967.

The current description of the central and field organization of the Interstate Commerce Commission published on page 8690 of the June 16, 1967, issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, is amended as follows:

1. In Item 2, entitled "Public Information," paragraph (d) is revised to read as follows:

2. Availability of Information.

* * * * *

(d) Inspection of Records. The following specific files and records in the custody of the Secretary are available to the public (secs. 16, 204, 316, and 417, of the Act, 49 U.S.C. 16, 304, 916, and 1017), and may be inspected at the Commission's office in Washington upon reasonable request:

(1) Copies of tariffs, rate schedules, Section 22 quotations or tenders, classifications, powers of attorney, concurrences and contracts filed with the Commission pursuant to sections 6, 22, 217, 218, 306, 405, and 409 of the Act (49 U.S.C. 6, 22, 317, 318, 906, 1005, and 1009).

(2) Annual and other periodic reports filed with the Commission pursuant to sections 20, 220, 313, and 412 of the Act (49 U.S.C. 20, 320, 913, and 1012).

(3) Annual reports, maps, profiles, and other data filed with the Commission pursuant to section 19a.

(4) All docket files, including pleadings, depositions, exhibits, transcripts of testimony, recommended and proposed reports, exceptions, briefs, and reports and orders of the Commission in any proceedings.

(5) File of instruments or documents recorded pursuant to section 20c and index thereto.

(6) Other files and records, depending on their nature may be available for public inspection where the disclosure would be consistent with the public interest and duties of the Commission. Request to inspect such records when such request is not made during a formal proceeding, shall be addressed to the Secretary. If the Secretary rules that such records cannot be made available because they are exempt under the provisions of P.L. 90–23 (sec. 1, 81 Stat. 54; 5 U.S.C. 552), appeal from such ruling may be addressed to the Chairman whose decision shall be administratively final.

(7) Requests to inspect public records should be made at the Secretary's Office or at one of the public reference rooms, in the Commission's Washington Office. Copies of certain rate schedules, tariffs, reports and operating authorities filed by and applicable to motor carriers are available for inspection at field offices where personnel of the Bureau of Operations are located.

(8) Copies of and extracts from public records will be certified by the Secretary, under the seal of the Commission. Persons requesting the Commission to prepare such copies should clearly state the material to be copied, and whether it shall be certified. A charge will be made for certificate and for the preparation of copies.

2. In Item 3, entitled "Bureau and Office Organization," the functional statements of the Office of Proceedings, appearing as paragraph (f) and the Bureau of Accounts, appearing as paragraph (g) are revised to read as follows:

3. Bureau and Office Organization.

* * * * * *

(f) Office of Proceedings. This Office performs duties in connection with the quasi-judicial administrative proceedings which come before the Commission pursuant to the various provisions of the Interstate Commerce Act and other related Acts. Such proceedings generally involve rail carriers, motor carriers, water carriers, freight forwarders, brokers, and pipelines subject to the Commission's jurisdiction and relate to: authority to construct, acquire, or abandon lines of a railroad or the operation thereof; proposed discontinuance or changes in the operation by railroads of trains or ferries; contracts and agreements for the pooling or division of traffic and earnings; authority to consolidate, merge, transfer ownership, or acquire control of carriers; authority for a railroad to acquire trackage rights over, or joint ownership or use of, railroad lines and terminals and the use by one railroad of terminal facilities of another, authority to issue securities or to assume obligations and liabilities with respect to securities of others; authority to sell securities without competitive bidding; authority to alter or modify outstanding securities and obligations; transfers of broker's licenses and of certificates and permits of motor carriers and water carriers, and permits of freight forwarders; authority to hold position of officer or director of more than one railroad; the guaranty of loans to railroads in financing additions or betterments or other capital expenditures, or for the financing of expenditures for maintenance of property; under provisions of the Uniform Bankruptcy Act, the approval of plans of reorganization, the submission thereof to creditors and stockholders for acceptance or rejection, the recommendation of formulas for the segregation of earnings, the ratification of trustees, the fixing of maximum limits of allowances to trustees and other parties in interest, and the authorization of persons, including protective committees, to solicit and act under proxies, authorizations, or deposit agreements in connection with railroad reorganization or receivership proceedings; applications for certificates, permits, and licenses to perform services as motor common and contract carriers, brokers of motor carrier transportation, water carriers, and freight forwarders; requests for exemptions under the various sections of the Act relative to operating authority matters; the suspension, change, or revocation of certificates, permits, and licenses; applications for Certificates of Registration under section 206(a) (6) and (7) of the Act; requests for authority under the deviation rules; proceedings relative to rates, fares, charges, and practices; applications for relief from anti-trust laws relative to collective ratemaking agreements; proceedings arising under a number of miscellaneous provisions of the Act and other acts such as the Railway Mail Service Pay Act, Railroad Retirement Act, etc., which require Commission findings and determinations; investigations looking to the prescription of rules and regulations governing operations of carriers; and formal complaints and investigations concerning failure of carriers to comply with the Act or any requirements established thereunder.

The Director's Office is responsible for overall effective management of the Office of Proceedings, including direction of the operating sections and employee boards; maintaining case processing and other statistical records; providing case status information; performing special studies and projects; handling Joint Board appointments; performing necessary administrative support functions for the Office; examining applications for operating rights; and preparing certificates, permits, and licenses specifying permanent grants of authorities approved by the Commission and related orders reissuing, vacating, or amending such authorities after action by the Commission.

(1) Policy Review Committee. This Committee provides the Commission with top-level staff analyses and review of major transportation policy issues; provides advice and assistance both in connection with those policy issues which are embodied in specific formal cases and those which transcend individual cases or anticipate potential future developments in the transportation industry; reviews and recommends disposition of appeals filed with the Commission seeking substantive review of Commission decisions.

(2) Section of Hearings. This Section schedules hearings in all proceedings processed by the Office which require an oral hearing; handles procedural questions arising in connection therewith at all processing steps up to and including service of a report and recommended order; conducts hearings; prepares initial reports; and releases for service all initial reports and recommended orders.

(3) Section of Opinions. This section performs all processing steps other than oral hearing and preparation of reports and recommended orders in cases handled by the Office of Proceedings including initial receipt and handling of cases processed under the modified procedure; the preparation of draft final reports and orders for consideration by the Commission, a division or an Employee Board in cases handled under modified procedure and cases submitted on exceptions to, or orders staying, reports and recommended orders of hearing officers or joint boards; preparation of memoranda of recommendations on petitions filed with the Commission; and handling of requests for extensions of dates for filing pleadings and other procedural matters involving any of the processing steps for which this Section is responsible.

After analysis of the record and consideration of briefs, exceptions, other pleadings, and oral argument, if any, report writers assigned to this section prepare draft final reports and orders under the direction and supervision of the Commissioner or Board Member to whose personal docket the case has been assigned or, in cases which have not been assigned to individual Commissioners or Board Members, independently prepare draft reports and orders for circulation to the Commission, a division, or an Employee Board for consideration and adoption. Report writers assigned to this section also independently prepare and review memoranda recommending the action the Commission, a division, or an individual Commissioner should take on petitions for rehearing, reargument, or reconsideration, and petitions for other relief.

(4) Review Board No. 1. See Item 7.12 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(5) Review Board No. 2. See Item 7.12 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(6) Review Board No. 3. See Item 7.12 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(7) Review Board No. 4. See Item 7.12 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(8) Review Board No. 5. See Item 7.12 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(9) Finance Board. See Item 7.6 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(10) Operating Rights Board. See Item 7.11 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(11) Temporary Authorities Board. See Item 7.4 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(12) Transfer Board. See Item 7.5 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

(g) Bureau of Accounts. Performs the accounting, cost finding, valuation and reporting functions necessary in the regulatory work of the Commission to bring about accurate, uniform and comprehensive disclosure of financial data by carriers in the public interest. This includes the development of uniform systems of accounts, valuation regulations, regulations governing the destruction of carrier records, statistical and accounting reporting requirements of annual and periodic reports, and other related regulations for all transportation companies subject to the Act; examining the accounts, records, reports, and financial statements filed by such companies to ascertain compliance with Commission accounting and related regulations; compilation and publication of transportation statistics; development of equitable and reasonable depreciation rates for carrier property; preparing studies and analyses of the costs and revenues of transportation service of carriers subject to the Act; maintaining inventories of railroad and pipeline properties, and developing property valuation data; preparing accounting, cost and valuation data for use in proceedings before the Commission; and analyzing cost evidence presented by other parties in rate proceedings. Rendering assistance in accounting matters in finance proceedings; preparation of financial analyses in connection with Commission's proceedings involving authority to construct, acquire, or abandon lines of railroads, approval for regulated industry to enter into contracts for the pooling or division of traffic in earnings; to consolidate, merge, transfer ownership or acquire control of carriers. Also responsible for the administration of the loarr guaranty program provided for by the Transportation Act of 1958.

(1) Section of Accounting. Prepares uniform systems of accounts and general accounting rules applicable to carriers in the several modes of transportation subject to Commission regulation; prepares modifications and revisions of such systems and rules; furnishes interpretations of accounting and related rules as required; renders assistance in proceedings before the Commission, the courts and Congressional Committees involving the application of accounting rules and principles; prepares regulations governing the destruction of carrier records, and forms and recording of passes; and prepares correspondence relating theseto. Reviews and evaluates all reports and related working papers pertaining to general accounting and valuation examinations made by the Bureau's field staff. Reviews and disposes of accounting entries submitted by carriers pursuant to Commission orders in finance proceedings. Reviews for approval by the Commission agreements between common carriers with persons furnishing protective services.

(2) Section of Cost Finding. Prepares cost formulas and studies to reflect the cost of transportation by railroads; motor carriers; inland, coastal and intercoastal water carriers. Furnishes cost data for use in considering rate proposals. Analyzes cost evidence submitted by carriers in petitions for vacation of suspension orders and in rate proceedings, and evaluates the adequacy of the studies in relation to the issues. Prepares cost exhibits and supplies witnesses in a variety of cases when directed by the Commission.

(3) Section of Financial Analysis. Prepares accounting and financial analyses for use by Commissioners and their immediate staffs, members of employee boards, hearing examiners, attorney advisors, adjudicators and other officials of the Commission in connection with pending applications involving railroads, motor carriers and other carriers subject to the Commission's jurisdiction for authority to purchase, lease, merger, consolidate or acquire stock control; to issue securities or assume obligation and liability in respect thereof; for modification of capital structures; for reorganizations; for abandonment of a line of railroad; and for discontinuance of a passenger train. Also administers the Commission's Part V loan program involving the receipt and analysis of reports showing the financial and operating condition of the debtor raifroads, and the analysis of and recommendation of action to be taken by the Commission on petitions for modification of the outstanding loans such as extension of maturities and release or substitution of collateral.

(4) Section of Reports. In cooperation with other bureaus and offices prepares the statistical and accounting reporting requirements of carriers subject to the IC Act, and Clayton antitrust Act; sets forth policies and practices to be followed in filing the annual and periodic reports, examines and certifies carrier reports to determine accuracy, completeness and compliance with reporting requirements and conducts correspondence with carriers regarding same; performs accounting review of annual reports for adequacy and compliance with accounting provisions, rules and regulations; initiates action leading to institution of appropriate proceedings against carriers failing to observe reporting requirements; compiles and prepares for publication, transportation statistics based on reports submitted by the carriers covering such matters as finances and operations; prepares special tabulations based on reports for the Commission, Congress, and other governmental agencies; and advises industry, Government agencies, and others regarding the scope and content of the reports and related matters.

(5) Section of Valuation and Depreciation. Performs work necessary to ascertain the value of railroad and pipeline properties and to determine equitable and reasonable depreciation rates for carrier property as required by the Interstate Commerce Act. This includes maintaining current inventories of carrier property; ascertaining the original and current reproduction cost of carrier property; ascertaining the present value of land and the development of other pertinent information for finding final property values.

(6) Field Staff. Examines accounts and records of carriers to ascertain compliance with accounting, valuation and related regulations prescribed by the Commission. Ascertains that the payments made by railroads or express companies are just and reasonable and in accordance with agreements with persons furnishing protective services. Provides expert testimony in courts of law and proceedings before the Commission with respect to matters developed in field examinations and investigations.

(7) Accounting and Valuation Board. See Item No. 7.13 of the Organization Minutes as amended for functions and duties.

MOTOR CARRIER APPLICATIONS AND CERTAIN OTHER PROCEEDINGS

JULY 21, 1967.

The following publications are governed by Special Rule 1.247 of the Commission's rules of practice, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, which became effective May 20, 1966.

The publications hereinafter set forth reflect the scope of the applications as filed by applicant, and may include descriptions, restrictions, or limitations which are not in a form acceptable to the Commission. Authority which ultimately may be granted as a result of the applications here noticed will not necessarily reflect the phraseology set forth in the application as filed, but also will eliminate any restrictions which are not acceptable to the Commission.

APPLICATIONS ASSIGNED FOR ORAL HEARING

MOTOR CARRIERS OF PROPERTY

No. MC 25798 (Sub-No. 153) (Republication), filed June 23, 1967, published in FEDERAL REGISTER issue of July 13, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: CLAY HYDER TRUCKING LINES, INC., 502 East Bridgers Avenue, Post Office Box 1186, Auburndale, Fla. 33823. Applicant's representative: Tony G. Russell (same address as applicant). Authority sought to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, transporting: Candy and confectionery products, from Dunn, N.C., to points in Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Michigan, Missouri, North Dakota, Ohio, and Oklahoma. NOTE: Common control may be involved. This republication is to reflect the hearing information.

HEARING: August 8, 1967, at the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., before Examiner Robert L. Irwin.

No. MC 35107 (Sub-No. 2) (Republication), filed February 23, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of March 9, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: GLEN FLOYD, Beattie, Kans. 66406. Applicant's representative: Arthur L. Claussen, 303 New England Building, Topeka, Kans. 66603. By application filed February 23, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes, of the commodities specified below (except in tank vehicles), between Home, Kans., and St. Joseph, Mo., and Home, Kans., and Kansas City, Mo., serving all intermediate points and points in Nebraska and Kansas within 15 miles of Home, Kans. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 30, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of processed mill feeds, soybean meal, bran, shorts, alfalfa meal, and alfalfa pellets, in bulk, from Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo., to points in Marshall County, Kans.; that applicant is fit, willing and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 66562 (Sub-No. 31) (Republication), filed March 9, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of March 23, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: ORANGE & BLACK BUS LINES, INC., 419 Anderson Avenue, Fairview, N.J. Applicant's representative: Edward F. Bowes, 1060 Broad Street, Newark, N.J. 07102. By application filed March 9, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes, of passengers and their baggage, in the same vehicle as passengers, between points in Fort Lee, N.J., as follows, from junction Marginal Highway and Fletcher Avenue, in Fort Lee, N.J., over Fletcher Avenue, to junction Main Street, thence over

Main Street, to junction Anderson Avenue, in Fort Lee, N.J., and on return from junction of Center Avenue, and Main Street in Fort Lee, N.J., over Main Street, to junction Fletcher Avenue, thence over Fletcher Avenue, to junction Cross Street, serving all intermediate points in Fort Lee, N.J. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 29, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, as amended, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes, of passengers and their baggage in the same vehicle with passengers, between points in Fort Lee, N.J., as follows: (1) From junction Cross Street and Linwood Avenue over Linwood Avenue to junction Main Street, thence over Main Street to junction Anderson Avenue, thence over Anderson Avenue to junction Center Avenue, and return over the same route serving all intermediate points, (2) from junction Center Avenue and Tremont Avenue, over Tremont Avenue to junction Anderson Avenue and return over the same route, serving all intermediate points; and (3) from junction Main Street and Anderson Avenue over Main Street to junction Center Avenue, and return over the same route, serving all intermediate points; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 101010 (Sub-No. 19) (Republication), filed February 16, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of March 9, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: ERIE-LACKAWANNA RAILROAD COMPANY, a corporation, 101 Prospect Avenue NW., Cleveland, Ohio 44115. Applicant's representative: J. R. Clark, 1336 Midland Building, Cleveland, Ohio 44115. By application filed February 16, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes, of the commodities, between the points, and in the manner substantially as indicated below, except that applicant seeks to operate between Buffalo and Alexander, N.Y., over U.S. Highway 5. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 29, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes, of general commodities, except those of unusual value, classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and those requiring special equipment, between Buffalo, N.Y., and Rochester, N.Y.; from Buffalo over New York Highway 130 to junction U.S. Highway 20, thence over U.S. Highway 20 to Alexander, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 98 to Batavia, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 5 to East Avon, N.Y., thence over U.S. Highway 15 to Rochester, and return over the same route, serving the intermediate points of East Buffalo, Cheektowaga, Depew, Lancaster, Town Line, Alden, Darien Center, Alexander, Batavia, Stafford, Le Roy, Caledonia, Avon, Industry, West Henrietta, and Mortimer, N.Y., and the off-route points of Fargo and Ray, N.Y., subject to the following conditions: (1) The service to be performed by carrier shall be limited to service which is auxiliary to, or supplemental of, its rail service, (2) the carrier shall not serve, or interchange, traffic at any point not a station on its rail lines, (3) the shipments transported by carrier by motor vehicle shall be limited to those which it receives from, or delivers to, its rail lines under a through bill of lading covering, in addition to a motor carrier movement by carrier, an immediately prior or immediately subsequent movement by rail; and (4) such further conditions as the Commission, in the future, may find it necessary to impose in order to restrict the carrier's operation to service which is auxiliary to, or supplemental of, rail service; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 111729 (Sub-No. 188) (Republication), filed January 30, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of February 16, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: AMERICAN COURIER CORPORATION, 222–17 Northern Boulevard, Bayside, N.Y. 11361. Applicant's representative: Claude J. Jasper, 111 South Fairchild Street, Madison, Wis. By applications filed January 30, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of (1) cameras, projectors, tape recorders, electronic flash units, light meters, electronic components, and parts related to photographic equipment, limited to shipments not to exceed 75 pounds in weight per shipment between Cleveland, Ohio, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Illinois, and Philadelphia, Pa., (2) ophthalmic goods and commercial papers (excluding plant removals), limited to shipments not to exceed 75 pounds in weight per shipment between Mansfield, Ohio, and Fort Wayne, Ind., (3) proofs, cuts, copy, photoengraving, art boards, type, supplies, and related commodities used by typesetting, between Indianapolis, Ind., on the one hand, and, on the other, Chicago, Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Louisville, Ky., (4) drugs, narcotics, pharmaceuticals, and drug products, between Cleveland, Ohio, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Kentucky, and West Virginia, and Marietta, Ohio, (5) business papers, records, and audit and accounting media of all kinds (excluding plant removals) (a) between Detroit, Mich., and Erie, Pa., (b) between Evansville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., (c) between Columbus, Ohio, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Marion County, Ind., (d) between Detroit, Mich., on the one hand, and, on the other, Rochester, N.Y., and Covington and Louisville, Ky., (6) small operative appliance parts, between Evansville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., (7) business papers, records and audit and accounting media of all kinds (excluding plant removals) advertising material and samples moving therewith, between Milwaukee, Wis., and Elmhurst, Ind. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 30, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of (1) cameras, projectors, tape recorders, electronic flash units, light meters, electronic components, and parts related to photographic equipment, restricted against the transportation of packages or articles weighing in the aggregate more than 75 pounds from one consignor to one consignee on any one day, between Cleveland, Ohio, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Illinois, and Philadelphia, Pa., (2) ophthalmic goods and commercial papers (except cash letters), restricted against the transportation of packages or articles weighing in the aggregate more than 75 pounds from one consignor to one consignee on any one day, between Mansfield, Ohio and Fort Wayne, Ind., (3) proofs, cuts, copy, photoengraving, art boards, type, supplies, and related commodities used by typesetting, between Indianapolis, Ind., on the one hand, and, on the other, Chicago, Ill., Cincinnati, Ohio, and Louisville, Ky., (4) pharmaceuticals, between Cleveland, Ohio, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Kentucky and West Virginia and Marietta, Ohio, (5) business papers, records, and audit and accounting media (except cash letters), (a) between Detroit, Mich., and Erie, Pa., (b) between Evansville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky., (c) between Columbus, Ohio, on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Marion County, Ind., (d) between Detroit, Mich., on the one hand, and, on the other, Rochester, N.Y., and Covington, and Louisville, Ky., and (6) business papers, records, and audit and accounting media (except cash letters), advertising material and samples moving therewith, between Milwaukee, Wis., and Elmhurst, Ind.; that the holding by applicant of the certificate authorized to be issued in this proceeding and of the permits in No. MC 112750 and subs thereunder, will be consistent with the public interest and the national transportation policy; and that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other persons, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 116273 (Sub-No. 86) (Republication), filed January 30, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of February 16, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: D & L TRANSPORT, INC., 3800 South Laramie Avenue, Cicero, Ill. 60650. Applicant's representative: Robert G. Paluch (same address as applicant). By application filed January 30, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operations, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of flour, in pneumatic tank vehicles, from Chicago, Ill., to points in Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, and Ohio. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 29, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, as amended, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of flour, in tank vehicles, from Chicago, Ill., to points in Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 118127 (Sub-No. 6) (Republication), filed February 24, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of March 9, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: HALE DISTRIBUTING COMPANY, INC., 1315 East Seventh Street, Los Angeles, Calif. 90021. Applicant's representative: William J. Augello, Jr., 2 West 45th Street, New York, N.Y. 10036. By application filed February 24, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of frozen poultry products, when moving at the same time and in the same vehicle with commodities which are otherwise partially exempt from economic regulation under section 203(b)(6) of the Interstate Commerce Act, from Moorefield, W. Va., to Flagstaff, Phoenix, and Tucson, Ariz., Denver, Colo., Las Vegas and Reno, Nev., Albuquerque, N. Mex., Portland, Oreg., Salt Lake City, Utah, Seattle, Wash., and points in California. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 30, 1967 and served July 13, 1967, as amended, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of (1) Frozen poultry products, when moving in the same vehicle and at the same time with commodities, the transportation of which is otherwise exempt from economic regulation under section 203(b)(6) of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended, and (2) commodities, the transportation of which is otherwise exempt from economic regulation under section 203(b)(6) of the act when moving in the same vehicle and at the same time with the commodities authorized in (1) above, from Moorefield, W. Va., to Flagstaff, Phoenix, and Tucson, Ariz., Denver, Colo., Las Vegas and Reno, Nev., Albuquerque, N. Mex., Portland, Oreg., Salt Lake City, Utah, Seattle, Wash., and points in California, with the authority in (1) above, restricted to the transportation of traffic originating at Moorefield, W. Va., that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 120157 (Sub-No. 1) (Republication), filed December 22, 1966, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of January 26, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: PURDIE EXPRESS LINES, INC., Stanley, N.Y. Applicant's representative: Morton E. Kiel, 140 Cedar Street, New York, N.Y. By application filed December 22, 1966, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over regular routes, of foodstuffs, in containers: A. (1) From Holley, N.Y., to Rochester, N.Y., over New York Highway 31; (2) from Holley, N.Y., to Niagara Falls, N.Y., over New York Highway 31; (3) from Hamlin, N.Y., to Rochester, N.Y., over New York Highway 18; (4) from Hamlin, N.Y., to Niagara Falls, N.Y., over New York Highway 18; (5) from Williamson, N.Y., to Rochester, N.Y., over U.S. Highway 104; (6) from Williamson, N.Y., to Oswego, N.Y., over U.S. Highway 104; B. thence via Rochester, Niagara Falls, and Oswego, N.Y., over the following routes: (1) From Niagara Falls, N.Y., to Binghamton, N.Y., from Niagara Falls over New York Highway 384 to Buffalo, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 5 to junction U.S. Highway 20, thence over U.S. Highway 20 to Westfield, N.Y., thence over New York Highways 17, 17C and 17E to Binghamton; (2) from Buffalo, N.Y., to junction New York Highways 17 and 62 over New York Highway 62 to junction New York Highways 17 and 62; (3) from Rochester, N.Y., to Buffalo, N.Y., from Rochester over New York Highway 33 to Batavia, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 5 to Buffalo; (4) from Buffalo, N.Y., to Albany, N.Y., from Buffalo over U.S. Highway 20 and New York Highway 5 to Auburn, N.Y., thence over U.S. Highway 20 and New York Highway 5 to Albany; (5) from Batavia, N.Y., to Andover, N.Y., from Batavia over New York Highway 63 to Dansville, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 36 to Hornell, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 21 to Andover; (6) from Pine Tavern, N.Y., to East Aurora, N.Y., over U.S. Highway 20A; (7) from Avon, N.Y., to Wellsville, N.Y., from Avon over New York Highway 39 to Fillmore, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 19 to Wellsville, N.Y.; (8) from Rochester, N.Y., to Painted Post, N.Y., from Rochester over U.S. Highway 15 and 15A to Springwater, N.Y., thence over U.S. Highway 15 to Painted Post; (9) from Geneva, N.Y., to Wayland, N.Y., from Geneva over New York Highway 245 to Wayland; (10) from Rochester, N.Y., to Waterloo, N.Y., over New York Highway 96; (11) from Rochester, N.Y., to junction New York Highways 31B and 5, from Rochester over New York Highway 31 to Weedsport, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 31B to junction New York Highway 5; (12) from Geneva, N.Y., to Bath, N.Y., from Geneva over New York Highway 14A to Penn Yan, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 54A to Bath; (13) from Penn Yan, N.Y., to Elmira, N.Y., from Penn Yan over New York Highway 14A to Watkins Glen, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 14 to Elmira; (14) from Geneva, N.Y., to Watkins Glen, N.Y., from Geneva over New York Highway 96A to Ovid, N.Y., thence over New York Highway 414 to Watkins Glen; (15) from Ovid, N.Y., to Oswego, N.Y. A corrected order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated May 31, 1967, and served July 14, 1967, finds that the president and owner of 99 percent of the outstanding capital stock of applicant also controls Howard's Express, Inc., which holds certificates Nos. MC 97006 (Sub-Nos. 1, 4, and 5), said common control or management not having been subject to prior Commission approval; that a grant of irregular-route authority here rather than the regular-route authority sought would be more appropriate in view (a) of the fact that only a single specified commodity is proposed to be transported, (b) of the limited number of origins, and (c) of the prolixity and complexity of the proposed regular-route. Cf. Motor Common Carriers of Property—Routes and Service, 88 M.C.C. 415, at 430; that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of foodstuffs, in containers, from Hamlin, Holley, and Williamson, N.Y., to those points in that part of New York on and west of U.S. Highway 9, on and south of New York Highway 49 and on and north of New York Highway 17; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder; and that a certificate authorizing such operations should be granted, subject to the condition that the person or persons who control or manage the operations both of applicant and any other carrier operating in interstate or foreign commerce shall first obtain approval of such control or management under the provisions of section 5(2) of the Act. Because it is possible that other persons, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 123920 (Sub-No. 1) (Republication), filed January 30, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of February 24, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: ELDON H. RIESCK, Bay City, Wis. Applicant's representative: Clinton R. Bently, Goodhue County National Bank Building, Red Wing, Minn. 55066. By application filed January 30, 1967, applicant seeks a permit authorizing operations, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a contract carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of sand, machinery, machinery parts, consisting of screens used in processing and mining of sand, empty cloth bags used in packing and shipping of sand, and oil for lubricating machinery, from points in Pierce County, Wis., to points in Minnesota and Wisconsin, under contract with Malden Rock Silica Sand Co., Malden Rock, Wis. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 30, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, finds that operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a contract carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of (1) sand, from points in Pierce County, Wis., to points in Dakota, Goodhue, Hennepin, Ramsey, Wabasha, and Washington Counties, Minn., and points in Wisconsin, and (2) machinery, machinery parts, tools and supplies used in the mining and treating of sand, from points in Dakota, Goodhue, Hennepin, Ramsey, Wabasha, and Washington Counties, Minn., to points in Pierce County, Wis., under a continuing contract with Malden Rock Silica Sand Co., of Malden Rock, Wis., will be consistent with the public interest and the national transportation policy; that applicant is fit, willing and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other persons, who may have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a permit in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 128468 (Republication), filed July 20, 1966, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of August 18, 1966, and republished this issue. Applicant: HERBERT C. WHITE, doing business as WHITE'S TRUCKING CO., 1308 Starhaven Street, Duarte, Calif. 91010. By application filed July 20, 1966, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operations, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of steel corrugated culvert pipe, and rejected pipe, (1) between Irwindale, Calif., and construction sites in Arizona, and (2) between Irwindale, Calif., and construction sites in Nevada. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 30, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, as amended, finds that operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a contract carrier, by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of steel corrugated culvert pipe, from Irwindale, Calif., to points in Arizona and Nevada, under a continuing contract with Pacific Corrugated Culvert Co., of Irwindale, Calif., will be consistent with the public interest and the national transportation policy; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a permit in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

No. MC 128927 (Republication), filed March 6, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of March 23, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: ALLAN L. MARTIN AND NORMAN V. MARTIN, doing business as VERN A. MARTIN & SONS, Wilton, Wis. 54670. Applicant's representative: Edward Solie, Executive Building, Suite 100, 4513 Vernon Boulevard, Madison, Wis. 53705. By application filed March 6, 1967, applicant seeks a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing operation, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of wood pallets, moving on flat bed semitrailers, from Kendall, Wis., to points in Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 29, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, as amended, finds that the present and future public convenience and necessity require operation by applicant, in interstate or foreign commerce, as a common carrier by motor vehicle, over irregular routes, of wood pallets, from Kendall, Wis., to points in Michigan, Illinois, and Iowa (except Council Bluffs), and Minnesota, that applicants are fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder. Because it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a certificate in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

APPLICATION FOR BROKERAGE LICENSE

MOTOR CARRIER OF PASSENGERS

No. MC 130033 (Republication), filed February 20, 1967, published FEDERAL REGISTER issue of March 16, 1967, and republished this issue. Applicant: SCANDINAVIAN SKI SHOP TOURS & RENTALS, INC., 45 East 59th Street, New York, N.Y. Applicant's representative: Morris Honig, 150 Broadway, New York, N.Y. By application filed February 20, 1967, applicant seeks a license to engage in operations as a broker at White Plains, N.Y., in arranging for transportation, in interstate or foreign commerce, of passengers and their baggage and ski equipment, in round-trip, all expense tours from October 1 to June 1 of each year, beginning and ending at points in Westchester County, N.Y., and extending to points in New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut. An order of the Commission, Operating Rights Board No. 1, dated June 29, 1967, and served July 13, 1967, finds that operation by applicant at White Plains, N.Y., as a broker in arranging for transportation by motor vehicle, in interstate or foreign commerce, of passengers, their baggage, and their, ski equipment, in round-trip tours, in special and charter operations from October 1 to June 1, both inclusive of each year, beginning and ending at points in Westchester County, N.Y., and extending to points in New York, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut will be consistent with the public interest and the national transportation policy; that applicant is fit, willing, and able properly to perform such service and to conform to the requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act and the Commission's rules and regulations thereunder; and that a license authorizing such operations should be issued, subject to the right of the Commission, which is hereby expressly reserved, to impose, after final determination of the proceeding in Ex Parte No. MC–29 (Sub-No. 2), such terms and conditions, if any, as may be deemed necessary to insure that the operations of applicant are limited to bona fide operations, as a broker of transportation by motor vehicle of passengers, their baggage, and their ski equipment in special and charter operations, in round-trip tours. Because it is possible that other persons, who have relied upon the notice of the application as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the authority described in the findings in this order, a notice of the authority actually granted will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and issuance of a license in this proceeding will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file a petition to reopen or for other appropriate relief setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been so prejudiced.

APPLICATIONS FOR CERTIFICATES OR PERMITS WHICH ARE TO BE PROCESSED CONCURRENTLY WITH APPLICATIONS UNDER SECTION 5 GOVERNED BY SPECIAL RULE 1.240 TO THE EXTENT APPLICABLE

How To Find U.S. Statutes and United States Code Citations

[Revised Edition—1965]

This pamphlet contains typical legal references which require further citing. The official published volumes in which the citations may be found are shown alongside each reference—with suggestions as to the logical sequence to follow in using them. Additional finding aids, some especially useful in citing current legislation, also have been included. Examples are furnished at pertinent points and a list of references, with descriptions, is carried at the end.

This revised edition contains illustrations of principal finding aids and reflects the changes made in the new master table of statutes set out in the 1964 edition of the United States Code.

Title 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

[Docket No. C–1250]

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Angora Corporation of America and Sam Flomenhaft

Subpart—Furnishing false guaranties: § 13.1053 Furnishing false guaranties: 13.1053–90 Wool Products Labeling Act. Subpart—Misbranding or mislabeling: § 13.1185 Composition: 13.1185–90 Wool Products Labeling Act; § 13.1212 Formal regulatory and statutory requirements: 13.1212–90 Wool Products Labeling Act. Subpart—Neglecting, unfairly or deceptively, to make material disclosure: § 13.1852 Formal regulatory and statutory requirements: 13.1852–90 Wool Products Labeling Act.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; secs. 2–5, 54 Stat. 1128–1130; 15 U.S.C. 45, 68) [Cease and desist order, Angora Corp. of America et al., New York, N.Y., Docket C–1250, June 30, 1967]

Consent order requiring a New York City importer and processor of fabrics to cease misbranding and falsely guaranteeing its wool products.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Angora Corp. of America, a corporation, and its officers, and Sam Flomenhaft, individually and as an officer of said corporation, and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the introduction into commerce, or the offering for sale, sale, transportation, distribution, delivery for shipment or shipment in commerce, of wool products, as "commerce" and "wool product" are defined in the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939, do forthwith cease and desist from:

A. Misbranding such products by:

1. Falsely or deceptively stamping, tagging, labeling, or otherwise identifying such products as to the character or amount of constituent fibers included therein.

2. Failing to securely affix to, or place on, each such product a stamp, tag, label, or other means of identification showing in a clear and conspicuous manner each element of information required to be disclosed by section 4(a)(2) of the Wool Products Labeling Act of 1939.

3. Affixing thereto labels whereon the term "Mohair" is used in lieu of the word "Wool," in setting forth the required information, unless the percentage of fibers designated as "Mohair" are entitled to that designation and are present in at least the amount stated.

B. Furnishing a false guaranty that their wool products are not misbranded under the provisions of the Wool Products Labeling Act, where there is reason to believe that the wool products so guaranteed may be introduced, sold, transported, or distributed in commerce.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Issued: June 30, 1967.

By the Commission.

distribution of furniture and furniture products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Clayton Act, as amended, do on and after December 1, 1967, cease and desist from: Discriminating, directly or indirectly, in the price of such products of like grade and quality by selling such products to any purchaser at net prices higher than the net prices charged any other purchaser who in fact competes in the resale or distribution of such products with the purchaser paying the higher price.

It is further ordered, That respondent Herman Miller, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in, or in connection with, the offering for sale, sale, or distribution of furniture and furniture products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Putting into effect, maintaining or enforcing any merchandising or distribution plan or policy under which contracts, agreements, or understandings are entered into with its customers which have the purpose or effect of requiring or inducing, directly or indirectly, any of its customers to refrain from bidding or otherwise quoting prices which are effectively designed to secure for such customers the sale of respondent's products.

2. Entering into, continuing, or enforcing, or attempting to enforce, any contract, agreement or understanding with any of its customers for the purpose or with the effect of establishing or maintaining any merchandising or distribution plan or policy prohibited by paragraph 1 of this order.

3. Engaging, either as part of any contracts, agreements, or understanding with any of its customers, or individually or unilaterally, in the practice of:

(a) Notifying, or otherwise communicating to, its customers, directly or indirectly, that one or more of its customers will be favored, in terms of price or otherwise, with respect to bargaining with, or submitting bids or otherwise quoting prices to, particular consumers or users of such products.

(b) Requiring or inducing, directly or indirectly, its customers to confirm with it the prices it will charge such customers for such products in the event that such customers make sales to particular consumers or users of such products.

It is further ordered, That respondent shall, within sixty (60) days after service of this order upon respondent, serve by mail on all maximum discount dealers of its products a copy of this order.

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with this order.

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Midwestern Chinchilla Corp. et al.

Subpart—Advertising falsely or misleadingly: § 13.60 Earnings and profits; § 13.70 Fictitious or misleading guarantees; § 13.175 Quality of product or service; § 13.190 Results; § 13.225 Services. Subpart—Misrepresenting oneself and goods—Goods: § 13.1608 Dealer or seller assistance; § 13.1615 Earnings and profits; § 13.1647 Guarantees; § 13.1715 Quality; § 13.1730 Results.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Midwestern Chinchilla Corp. et al., Harlan, Iowa, Docket C-1246, June 30, 1967]

In the Matter of Midwestern Chinchilla Corp., a Corporation, and Grant D. Rice, Lowell G. Schmidt, John F. Sawin, and Ronald R. Davis, Individually and as Officers of Said Corporation, and Richard W. Pauley, Donald E. Morgan, and Fred Wollschlager, Individually and as Directors of Said Corporation.

Consent order requiring a Harlan, Iowa, seller of chinchilla breeding stock to cease making exaggerated profit claims, exaggerating the number of live offsprings, deceptively guaranteeing its stock, and falsely stating the extent of seller service to purchasers in selling its chinchilla animals.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Midwestern Chinchilla Corp., a corporation, its officers and directors and Grant D. Rice, Lowell G. Schmidt, John F. Sawin, and Ronald R. Davis, individually and as officers of said corporation, and Richard W. Pauley, Donald E. Morgan, and Fred Wollschlager, individually and as directors of said corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the advertising, offering for sale, sale or distribution of chinchilla breeding stock or any other products, in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

A. Representing, directly or by implication, that:

1. It is practicable to raise chinchillas in the home or that large profits can be made in this manner.

2. Breeding chinchillas for profit can be achieved without previous knowledge or experience in the feeding, care, and breeding of such animals.

3. The initial chinchilla breeding stock of six females and one male chinchilla purchased from respondents will produce live offspring of 18 the first year, 33 the second year, 69 the third year, 144 the fourth year, 303 the fifth year, or 778 the sixth year.

4. Chinchillas will produce live offspring in any number: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that the represented number of offspring are usually and customarily produced by the chinchillas sold by respondents or by the offspring of said chinchillas.

5. All of the offspring of chinchilla breeding stock purchased from respondents will produce pelts selling for the average price of $25 each.

6. Purchasers of respondents' breeding stock will receive for chinchilla pelts any price or prices: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that the represented price or prices per pelt are usually received for pelts produced by chinchillas purchased from respondents, or by the offspring of said chinchillas.

7. Each female chinchilla purchased from respondents and each female offspring produce at least three live young per year.

8. The number of live offspring produced per female chinchilla is any number: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that the represented number of offspring are usually and customarily produced by female chinchillas purchased from respondents or the offspring of said chinchillas.

9. Pelts from the offspring of respondents' breeding stock generally sell for $21.60 to $60 each.

10. Chinchilla pelts produced from respondents' breeding stock will sell for any price or range of prices per pelt: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that the represented price or range of prices are usually received for pelts produced by chinchillas purchased from respondents or by the offspring of said chinchillas.

11. A purchaser starting with six females and one male will have, from the sale of pelts, an annual income, earnings or profits $16,814.80 in the sixth year after purchase.

12. Purchasers of respondents' breeding stock will realize earnings, profits or income in any amount or range of amounts: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that the represented amount or range of amounts of earnings, profits or income are usually realized by purchasers of respondents' breeding stock.

13. Breeding stock purchased from respondents is warranted or guaranteed without clearly and conspicuously disclosing the nature and extent of the guarantee, the manner in which the guarantor will perform and the identity of the guarantor.

14. Purchasers of respondents' chinchilla breeding stock are given guidance in the care and breeding of chinchillas or are furnished advice by respondents as to the breeding of chinchillas.

15. Purchasers of respondents' chinchilla breeding stock will receive service calls from respondents' service personnel every 90 to 120 days or at any other interval or frequency: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that the represented service calls are actually furnished.

16. Purchasers of respondents' chinchilla breeding stock will receive select or choice or any other grade or quality, of chinchillas: Provided, however, That it shall be a defense in any enforcement proceeding instituted hereunder for respondents to establish that purchasers do actually receive chinchillas of the represented grade or quality.

B. 1. Misrepresenting in any manner, the assistance, training, services or advice supplied by respondents to purchasers of their chinchilla breeding stock.

2. Misrepresenting, in any manner, the earnings or profits of purchasers of respondents' chinchilla breeding stock.

C. Failing to deliver a copy of this order to cease and desist to all present and future salesmen or other persons engaged in the sale of the respondents' products to purchasers; and failing to secure from each such person a signed statement acknowledging receipt of said order and agreeing to abide by the requirements of said order and to refrain from engaging in any of the acts or practices prohibited by said order; and for failing so to do, agreeing to dismissal or to the withholding of commissions, salaries and other remunerations or both to dismissal and to withholding of commissions, salaries and other remunerations.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Issued: June 30, 1967.

In the Matter of National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Jasper National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Cincinnati National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Huntington National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Saginaw National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Tyler National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Charlotte National Mattress Co., a Corporation, Youngstown National Mattress Co., a Corporation, and James F. Edwards, Carter W. Wild, and Ernest C. Ghrist, Individually and as Officers and Directors of Said Corporations

Consent order requiring a Huntington, W. Va., mattress and bedding manufacturer and its seven wholly owned subsidiaries, to cease misrepresenting that its products have any health or therapeutic benefits, that they are built to specifications promulgated by any health organization or are approved by any such organization.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents National Mattress Co., Jasper National Mattress Co., Cincinnati National Mattress Co., Huntington National Mattress Co., Saginaw National Mattress Co., Tyler National Mattress Co., Charlotte National Mattress Co., and Youngstown National Mattress Co., corporations, and their officers, and James F. Edwards, Carter W. Wild, and Ernest C. Ghrist, individually and as officers and directors of said corporations, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the manufacturing, advertising, offering for sale, sale or distribution of mattresses, box springs, bedding products or any other article of merchandise in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Representing, directly or by implication, that any stock mattress or box spring has been specially designed or constructed so as to, or will in fact, prevent, correct or afford relief with respect to a body deformity or deformities.

2. Misrepresenting, in any manner, the therapeutic properties or health benefits of any of respondents' said products.

3. Representing, directly or by implication, that any of respondents' mattresses or box springs are designed or constructed in accordance with specifications or standards established by any organization unless the organization so referred to has prescribed the number of coils, composition and gauge of wire, tensile strength, flexibility and other similarly specific engineering characteristics for said mattresses or box springs and respondents' mattresses and box springs so described have in fact been designed and constructed in accordance therewith.

4. Representing, directly or by implication, that any association of practitioners of the healing arts has established mattress or box spring design or construction standards or specifications known to or readily available to those competitors of respondents whose mattresses and box springs are sold in the area of said association's existence.

5. Representing, directly or by implication, that any nonexistent standards or specifications, or any standards or specifications which do not describe and establish with detail and particularity the design, construction, quality and performance of mattresses and box springs are a measure of quality for mattresses or box springs.

6. Representing, directly or by implication that respondents' mattresses or box springs have been designed or constructed in accordance with any nonexistent standards or specifications, or in accordance with any standards or specifications which do not prescribe and establish with detail and particularity the design, construction, quality and performance of mattresses and box springs, or that the products of others do not meet said standards or specifications.

7. Representing, directly or by implication, that any of respondents' products have been approved or endorsed by any member, members or association of members of the healing arts, without clearly and conspicuously revealing the fact of any remuneration or other consideration given, directly or indirectly, by respondents to said member, members or association for said approval or endorsement.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

In the Matter of Sol Rattner, Inc., a Corporation, and Sol Rattner Also Known as Sol Ratner, Individually and as an Officer of Said Corporation

Consent order requiring a New York City manufacturing furrier to cease misbrandings and falsely invoicing its fur products.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondents Sol Rattner, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, and Sol Rattner also known as Sol Ratner, individually and as an officer of said corporation, and respondents' representatives, agents and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the introduction, or manufacture for introduction, into commerce, or the sale, advertising or offering for sale in commerce, or the transportation or distribution in commerce, of any fur product; or in connection with the manufacture for sale, sale, advertising, offering for sale, transportation or distribution of any fur product which is made in whole or in part of fur which has been shipped and received in commerce, as the terms "commerce", "fur" and "fur product" are defined in the Fur Products Labeling Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

A. Misbranding any fur product by:

1. Falsely or deceptively labeling or otherwise falsely or deceptively identifying any such fur product as to the country of origin of furs contained in such fur product.

2. Falsely or receptively labeling or otherwise falsely or receptively identifying any such fur product as to the name or designation of the animal or animals that produced the fur contained in such fur product.

3. Failing to affix a label to such fur product showing in words and in figures plainly legible all of the information required to be disclosed by each of the subsections of section 4(2) of the Fur Products Labeling Act.

4. Failing to set forth the term "Dyed Broadtail-processed Lamb" on a label in the manner required where an election is made to use that term in lieu of the term "Dyed Lamb."

5. Failing to set forth information required under section 4(2) of the Fur Products Labeling Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder on a label in the sequence required by Rule 30 of the aforesaid rules and regulations.

6. Failing to set forth on a label the item number or mark assigned to such fur product.

B. Falsely or deceptively invoicing any fur product by:

1. Failing to furnish an invoice, as the term "invoice" is defined in the Fur Products Labeling Act, showing in words and figures plainly legible all the information required to be disclosed by each of the subsections of section 5(b)(1) of the Fur Products Labeling Act.

2. Setting forth on an invoice pertaining to such fur product any false or deceptive information with respect to the name or designation of the animal or animals that produced the fur contained in such fur product.

3. Failing to set forth the term "Persian Lamb" in the manner required where an election is made to use that term instead of the word "Lamb."

4. Failing to set forth the term "Dyed Broadtail-processed Lamb" in the manner required where an election is made to use that term instead of the words "Dyed Lamb."

5. Failing to set forth the term "natural" as part of the information required to be disclosed on an invoice under the Fur Products Labeling Act and rules and regulations promulgated thereunder to describe such fur product which is not pointed, bleached, dyed, tip-dyed, or otherwise artifically colored.

6. Failing to set forth on an invoice the item number or mark assigned to such fur product.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Title 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter VII—Department of the Air Force

SUBCHAPTER W—AIR FORCE PROCUREMENT INSTRUCTION

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS TO SUBCHAPTER

Subchapter W of Chapter VII of Title 32 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

PART 1003—PROCUREMENT BY NEGOTIATION

Subpart F—Small Purchases

1. Section 1003.608–6 is amended by revising paragraphs (b) and (d)(5)(ii); and § 1003.608–7 is revised to read as follows:

§ 1003.608–6 Use of DD Form 1155 as a delivery order.

• • • • •

(b) The responsibility for scheduling deliveries under indefinite delivery contracts rests with the procurement office. However, the nature of certain supplies and services makes it advisable to permit requiring activities to schedule such deliveries. These supplies are usually items that do not lend themselves to normal warehouse storage and requisitioning procedures. These services are those that are not susceptible to planned scheduling because the frequency of need for the service varies from day to day. To provide for expeditious ordering of such supplies and services under indefinite delivery contracts, the contracting officer may issue a delivery order that delegates the scheduling of deliveries to a member of the requiring activity, if authorized by paragraph (d)(1) of this section. Such delivery orders may be referred to as Blanket Delivery Orders (BDO). Blanket delivery orders against indefinite delivery contracts may be issued for periods equal to fund availability, e.g., month, fiscal quarter, annual. Succeeding orders, if appropriate, may be placed by change order (containing the information required by paragraph (d)(5)(i) of this section) against the initial blanket delivery order.

• • • • •

(5) • • •

(ii) The activity scheduling deliveries will maintain records to insure that designated monetary limitations are not exceeded. AFPI Form 3F will be used for this purpose. Orders will be placed in numerical sequence and recorded. The sequence of recording scheduled deliveries will run for the duration of the delivery order.

• • • • •

§ 1003.608–7 Shipment shortages.

A final shipment may be accepted and the order completed without issuance of a modifying document when variation in quantity is not authorized if the shortage is negligible and the action will not impair the operation of the base (see paragraph 20704, AFM 177–102 (Commercial Transactions at Base Level)).

PART 1007—CONTRACT CLAUSES

Subpart NN—Special Clauses

§ 1007.4064 [Deleted]

2. Section 1007.4064 Financial management report is deleted.

3. Present Subpart PP is deleted and the following substituted therefor:

Subpart PP—Clauses for Contracts Issued by Foreign Procurement Activities

§ 1007.4200 General.

The clauses and instructions set forth in Subchapter A, Chapter I of this title and this subchapter for supplies, services, and construction contracts should be used where applicable in contracts issued by foreign procurement activities. In addition, in order to cope with any special procurement problems peculiar to their geographical area, overseas activities are authorized to issue their own necessary implementing instructions and clauses for their respective procurement programs.

(Sec. 8012, 70A Stat. 488, secs. 2201–2314, 70A Stat. 127–133; 10 U.S.C. 8012, 2201–2314)

PART 1016—PROCUREMENT FORMS

Subpart B—Forms for Negotiated Procurement

§ 1016.202 [Deleted]

4. Section 1016.202 Negotiated contract forms (DD Form 1261 and DD ASPR Form 1270) is deleted.

5. Section 1016.207–50 is amended by revising the introductory paragraph to read as follows:

§ 1016.207–50 Price Redetermination Forms (AFPI Forms 4A and 4B).

The following AFPI forms will be used as applicable:

• • • • •

Subpart H—Miscellaneous Forms

§ 1016.815–2 [Deleted]

6. Section 1016.815–2 Supplemental agreement (DD Form 1320) is deleted.

PART 1054—CONTRACT ADMINISTRATION

Subpart H—Contract Technical Services Contracts

§ 1054.804 [Deleted]

7. Section 1054.804 Responsibilities of AFSC contracting officers is deleted.

Subpart DD—Administration of Base Procurement Contracts

8. In § 1054.3004, paragraph (a) is amended by revising the introduction and subparagraphs (2) (i) and (iv) and (3)(ii); a new § 1054.3005 is added; and § 1054.3006 is revised. These sections now read as follows:

§ 1054.3004 Contract administration procedures.

(a) Purchase and delivery orders (AFPI Form 93), requests against blanket purchase agreements, and all definite quantity contracts other than construction, service orders for commercial warehousing, utility service contracts, and credit card purchases. Following is the procedure to be followed in connection with proper administration of the documents referenced in this paragraph.

• • • • • •

(2) Review and follow-up action: (i) Files should be suspended for the sixth calendar day following the: (a) Scheduled date indicated on the AFPI Form 93 (see § 1.305 of this title and § 1001.305 of this subchapter); (b) the scheduled delivery date indicated on the calls placed against Blanket Purchase Agreements; or (c) the specific date(s) established for delivery based upon date of receipt and acceptance of the document by the contractor, as evidenced by AFPI Form 20 or certified mail procedure.

• • • • • •

(iv) On bona fide contracts (other than request against Blanket Purchase Agreements or Purchase Orders on AFPI Form 93 where acceptance has not been received), if the contractor fails to make delivery or take action to cure the delinquency as a result of this initial notification and has not adequately justified such delay (for example: Delinquent delivery being wholly due to contractor's fault or negligence), then the contracting officer will immediately take the action required to either: (a) Terminate for default when the default clause is included in the contract (see Part 8, Subpart F of this title and Part 1008, Subpart F of this subchapter); or (b) terminate for Breach of Contract when a default clause is not included in the contract.

(3) Action against habitual delinquent contractors:

• • • • • •

(ii) Purchase orders issued on AFPI Form 93: Individual and complete action will be taken on each delinquent contract according to subparagraph (2) (iv) of this paragraph. In addition, periodic reports of current delinquent purchase orders should be reviewed to establish trends of possible habitual delinquents. After a trend is established from these reports, all purchase orders (completed and delinquent) placed with this contractor over a period of no less than 2 months should be reviewed and analyzed. If this review substantiates habitual delinquency: (a) All buyers within the procurement office will be notified that future purchase orders on the AFPI Form 93 with said delinquent contractor will contain the following statement: "Payment will not be made on partial deliveries accepted by the Government under this contract. Only one payment will be made upon completion of the contract pursuant to General Provision 4 entitled 'Payments'"; (b) vendors written acceptance will be obtained on AFPI Form 93B in view of the change in the payment provision; and (c) contractor will be notified of the detailed findings of the review and of action being taken on future procurements on AFPI Form 93.

• • • • • •

§ 1054.3005 Contract modifications.

(a) and (b) No implementation.

(c) Modification to contracts. (1) Any change required which is outside the scope of the provisions of the contract and may affect the price, terms, quantity, or other conditions of the contract will be effected by supplemental agreement. The contractor has no authority to proceed with performance of work contemplated by the change nor does the Government have authority to direct the contractor to proceed with the performance of work contemplated by the change until the Supplemental Agreement is fully executed and all necessary approvals obtained.

(2) Any change required which is within the scope of the provisions of the contract and where an agreement is reached on the adjustment of price or delivery schedule prior to issuing written direction to the contractor will be effected by supplemental agreement.

(3) Any change required which is within the scope of the provisions of the contract but time is of the essence not permitting negotiations of an adjustment in price or delivery will be directed by change order. At the earliest possible time after issuing the change order, negotiations will be conducted to establish an adjustment in price or delivery schedule for the direct change. Such mutual agreement will be accomplished on a supplemental agreement. Where mutual agreement proves impossible, the contracting officer will prepare and process a findings and decision under the disputes clause according to § 1.314 of this title and § 1001.314 of this subchapter.

§ 1054.3006 Extension of delivery schedules.

(a) Contractor's fault or negligence: Extension of delivery, service, or construction schedules where the delinquency concerned was wholly due to the contractor's fault or negligence, represents the Government giving to the contractor certain rights and benefits that he was not otherwise entitled to under the original contract. To do so, without receiving consideration therefor, has been declared by the Comptroller General to be beyond the authority of any officer or agent of the Government. The amount of consideration obtained from the contractor in any particular case depends upon the facts involved, e.g., the contract price of the unfinished work or items, the length of extension desired, the availability of other contractors in the area in the event of a default termination, whether it is practical for the Air Force to default the contract at the present stage of the work, etc. A reasonable starting point for establishing "legal consideration" is to seek consideration sufficient to recompense the Government for the administrative expense and inconvenience involved in granting the extension. A nominal consideration may suffice when an extension of the delivery schedule is in the best interests of the Government, but normally the amount of consideration received should represent the fair value of the benefit being received by the contractor. Prior to issuing a contractual modification amending the delivery schedule, the contracting officer will effect coordination with his staff judge advocate to determine whether or not legal consideration exists. The staff judge advocate's determination will be final concerning the existence of legal consideration. The contracting officer is responsible for determining the adequacy or amount of consideration. The foregoing will not be used in lieu of cure and/or show cause notices, default investigations and, when necessary, default or breach of contract terminations. Contractors should not be permitted to buy a new or revised delivery schedule for some very nominal amount related solely to the administrative expenses incurred by the Government for processing a contractual modification. Should the contractor become either potentially delinquent or delinquent, cure or show cause notices will be used to keep the contractor on schedule, rectify the delinquency, and protect the Government from waiver situations. Extension of schedules in return for legal consideration should normally be used only when there is not sufficient time remaining in the schedule to cure the delinquency.

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL

PART 1—REGULATIONS FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE FEDERAL FOOD, DRUG, AND COSMETIC ACT AND THE FAIR PACKAGING AND LABELING ACT

Miscellaneous Amendments

Correction

In F.R. Doc. 67-8457 appearing at page 10729 in the issue for Friday, July 21, 1967, the following corrections are made:

1. On page 10729, in the 17th line of the first paragraph in the third column, the word "additional" should read "traditional".

2. On page 10733 § 1.8b(m)(1) should read:

(1) A declaration of 1½ pounds weight shall be expressed as "Net Wt. 24 oz. (1 lb. 8 oz.)," "Net Wt. 24 oz. (1½ lb.)," or "Net Wt. 24 oz. (1.5 lb.)".

3. On page 10733 in the third column in the paragraph following paragraph (h), the ninth line which reads "tions adversely affected by the order and" should be deleted.

PART 8—COLOR ADDITIVES

Subpart D—Listing of Color Additives for Food Use Exempt From Certification

CARROT OIL

In the matter of listing and exempting from certification the color additive carrot oil for general use in foods in amounts consistent with good manufacturing practice:

No comments were received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking in the above-identified matter published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 6, 1967 (32 F.R. 8094), and it is concluded that the amendment should be adopted as proposed. Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 706 (b), (c) (2), (d), 74 Stat. 399-403; 21 U.S.C. 376 (b), (c) (2), (d)), and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120): It is ordered, That Part 8 be amended as set forth below.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing, and such objections must be supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof. All documents shall be filed in six copies.

Effective date. This order shall become effective 60 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, except as to any provisions that may be stayed by the filing of proper objections. Notice of the filing of objections or lack thereof will be announced by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 706 (b), (c) (2), (d), 74 Stat. 399-403; 21 U.S.C. 376 (b), (c) (2), (d))

Dated: July 20, 1967.

J. K. KIRK,
Associate Commissioner for Compliance.

Part 8 is amended by adding to Subpart D the following new section:

§ 8.324 Carrot oil.

(a) Identity. (1) The color additive carrot oil is the liquid or the solid portion of the mixture or the mixture itself obtained by the hexane extraction of edible carrots (Daucus carota L.) with subsequent removal of the hexane by vacuum distillation. The resultant mixture of solid and liquid extractives consists chiefly of oils, fats, waxes, and carotenoids naturally occurring in carrots. The definition of carrot oil in this paragraph is for the purpose of identity as a color additive only and shall not be construed as setting forth an official standard for carrot oil or carrot oleoresin under section 401 of the act.

(2) Color additive mixtures for food use made with carrot oil may contain only those diluents listed in this Subpart D as safe and suitable in color additive mixtures for coloring foods.

(b) Specifications. Carrot oil shall contain no more than 25 parts per million of hexane.

(c) Uses and restrictions. Carrot oil may be safely used for coloring foods generally, in amounts consistent with good manufacturing practice, except that it may not be used to color foods for which standards of identity have been promulgated under section 401 of the act unless the use of added color is authorized by such standards.

(d) Labeling requirements. The label of the color additive and any mixtures prepared therefrom intended solely or in part for coloring purposes shall conform to the requirements of § 8.32.

(e) Exemption from certification. Certification of this color additive is not necessary for the protection of the public health, and therefore batches thereof are exempt from the certification requirements of section 706(c) of the act.

[F.R. Doc. 67-8742; Filed, July 26, 1967; 8:49 a.m.]

PART 8—COLOR ADDITIVES

Subpart D—Listing of Color Additives for Food Use Exempt From Certification

Subpart F—Listing of Color Additives for Drug Use Exempt From Certification

Carmine; Confirmation of Effective Date

In the matter of establishing regulations listing and exempting from certification the color additive carmine for use in foods and drugs:

1. Three objections were received in response to the order in the above-identified matter published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of April 19, 1967 (32 F.R. 6131). The Meer Corp., 318 West 46th Street, New York, N.Y. 10036, proposes that the regulations promulgated by that order include cochineal and an aqueous extract of cochineal. The Vick Division of Richardson-Merrell, Inc., 1 Bradford Road, Mount Vernon, N.Y. 10553, makes a similar proposal. The Leeben Color & Chemical Co., Inc., 103 Lafayette Street, New York, N.Y. 10013, proposes that the regulations include a magnesium aluminum lake of carminic acid and that the limit for lead and arsenic be changed. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs has concluded that reasonable grounds for objection have not been presented.

The subject regulation was issued pursuant to a petition and accurately describes the product that was the subject of that petition. No representations have been made otherwise. No data have been submitted indicating that the level of lead and arsenic set forth in the specifications are unreasonable and cannot be met. Procedures are available to the objectors for securing listings of the color additives they are interested in on presentation of adequate data to support such listings.

Therefore, pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 706(b), (c)(2), (d), 74 Stat. 399, 402; 21 U.S.C. 376(b), (c)(2), (d)), and under the authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), notice is given that the regulations promulgated by the subject order became effective June 18, 1967.

2. In paragraph (b) of § 8.317 Carmine, published in the subject order, the beginning portion of the second sentence inadvertently set forth as "Carminic acid shall be pasteurized" is changed to read "Carmine shall be pasteurized", effective June 18, 1967.

3. Effective June 18, 1967, § 8.501 Provisional lists of color additives is amended by deleting from paragraph (e) the item "Carmine".

(Sec. 706(b), (c)(2), (d), 74 Stat. 399, 402; 21 U.S.C. 376(b), (c)(2), (d))

Dated: July 19, 1967.

Proposed Rule Making

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Fish and Wildlife Service

[50 CFR Part 13]

IMPORTATION OF WILDLIFE OR EGGS THEREOF

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in section 42, Title 18, United States Code (62 Stat. 687), as amended, it is proposed to revise Part 13, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, as set forth below. The purpose of this revision is to prescribe regulations which will govern the importation into the United States of live or dead specimens of those species of wild mammals, wild birds, fish, mollusks, crustaceans, amphibians, and reptiles, and the eggs thereof, which have been determined to be injurious or potentially injurious to human beings, to the interests of agriculture, forestry, horticulture, or to the native wildlife or wildlife habitat of the United States.

Part 13, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, is amended as follows:

PART 13—IMPORTATION OF WILDLIFE OR EGGS THEREOF

1. Section 13.7 in the table of contents is amended to read:

Sec.
13.7 Importation of live or dead fish, mollusks, and crustaceans, or their eggs.

2. The authority citation for Part 13 is amended to read:

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 13 issued under sec. 42, 62 Stat. 687, as amended, 18 U.S.C. 42; 77A Stat. 29, 19 U.S.C. 1202 (Sch. 1, pt. 3, hdnote 1–4, pt. 48, hdnote 1).

3. Section 13.6(a) is amended to read:

§ 13.6 Importation of live wild birds or their eggs.

(a) The importation, transportation, or acquisition is prohibited of any live specimen or egg of (1) the species of so-called "pink starling" or "rosy pastor" Sturnus roseus; (2) the species of dioch (including the subspecies black-fronted, red-billed, or Sudan dioch) Quelea quelea; (3) any species of Java sparrow, Padda oryzivora; (4) the species of red-whiskered bul-bul, Pycnonctus jocosus: Provided, That the Director shall issue permits authorizing the importation, transportation, and possession of such live birds under the terms and conditions set forth in §§ 13.10 through 13.11.

* * * * *

4. Section 13.7 is amended to read:

§ 13.7 Importation of live or dead fish, mollusks, and crustaceans, or their eggs.

(a) Upon the filing of a written declaration with the District Director of Customs at the port of entry as required under § 13.13, all species of live or dead fish or parts thereof except live or dead fish or parts thereof or eggs of salmonids of the fish family Salmonidae; mollusks and crustaceans, or their eggs may be imported, transported, and possessed in captivity, without a permit, for scientific, medical, educational exhibition, or propagating purposes, but no such live fish, mollusks, and crustaceans, or any progeny or eggs thereof may be released into the wild except by the State wildlife conservation agency having jurisdiction over the area of release or by persons having prior written permission for release from such agency.

(b) Notwithstanding authority granted Federal agencies in § 13.4, all live or dead fish or eggs of salmonids of the family Salmonidae are prohibited entry into the United States for any purpose unless such importations are by direct shipment, accompanied by a certification signed in the country of origin by a Government official approved by the Chairman of the Disease Committee of the American Fisheries Society as being qualified in fish pathology, or in the United States, by a qualified federally approved fish pathologist designated for this purpose by the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, that the importation is free of viral and bacterial diseases and parasitic infections.

(c) Nothing in this part shall restrict the importation and transportation of dead fish or dead eggs of salmonids of the fish family Salmonidae when such fish or eggs have been processed by canning, pickling, smoking, or otherwise prepared in a manner whereby all spores of the protozoan Myxosoma cerebralis or so-called "whirling disease," and the virus causing viral hemorrhagic septicemia or so-called "Egtved disease" have been killed.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendments to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 60 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PEE DEE NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, N.C.

Hunting of Migratory Birds in Pee Dee River; Proposed Designation of Closed Area

Notice is hereby given that it is proposed to designate an area closed to the hunting of migratory birds, as set forth below. The purpose of this designation is to aid administration of the Pee Dee National Wildlife Refuge and to improve the effectiveness of the refuge for the purposes for which it was established by the United States.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposal to the Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Washington, D.C. 20240, within 30 days of the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The text of the proposed designation is as follows:

This action is taken by virtue of and pursuant to section 3 of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918 (40 Stat. 755, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 704), and by virtue of the Reorganization Plan II (53 Stat. 1431) and in accordance with section 4(a) of the Administrative Procedure Act of June 11, 1946 (60 Stat. 238, 5 U.S.C. 1003).

Having due regard to the zones of temperature and to the distribution, abundance, economic value, breeding habits, and times and lines of migratory flight of migratory birds included in the terms of the Convention between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds, concluded August 16, 1916, and the Convention between the United States and the United Mexican States for the protection of migratory birds and game mammals, concluded February 7, 1936, I hereby designate as a closed area in or on which pursuing, hunting, taking, capturing, or killing of migratory birds, or attempting to take, capture, or kill migratory birds is not permitted, that land and water area in Richmond and Anson Counties, North Carolina, within the Pee Dee National Wildlife Refuge more particularly described as follows:

All the area of the bed of the Pee Dee River, bank to bank, submerged or exposed, including the water thereof, from the confluence of Pressley Creek and the Pee Dee River to approximately 5 miles downstream to the confluence of Brown Creek and the Pee Dee River. Included also are the waters surrounding Buzzard Island and that part of the Pee Dee River on the northeast side of Leak Island beginning approximately one-fourth mile downstream from the head of Leak Island (at the head of a small unnamed island), and continuing downstream to the main channel of the Pee Dee River and containing, in all, a total of 230 acres.

COLOR ADDITIVES

Logwood, D&C Blue No. 9, D&C Red No. 30, D&C Green No. 5; Order Denying Proposed Color Additive Regulations

In the matter of color additive petitions (CAP 10, 11, 30, 31) submitted by Ethicon, Inc., Somerville, N.J. 08876, proposing issuance of regulations to provide for the safe use of: Logwood (CAP 10) for coloring silk and nylon sutures including ophthalmic sutures (petition filed March 3, 1966, and amended January 4, 1966; respective notices published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 20, 1966 (30 F.R. 3724), and February 3, 1966 (31 F.R. 1265)); D&C Blue No. 9 (CAP 11) for coloring cotton sutures (filed July 1, 1965; notice published August 3, 1965 (30 F.R. 9622)); D&C Red No. 30 (CAP 30) for coloring cotton surgical sutures (filed June 17, 1965; notice published July 17, 1965 (30 F.R. 9019)); and D&C Green No. 5 (CAP 31) for coloring nylon surgical sutures (filed November 9, 1965; notice published November 20, 1965 (30 F.R. 14536)):

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 706(b), 74 Stat. 399–403; 376(b)) and under the authority delegated to him by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), the Commissioner of Food and Drugs hereby issues his findings, conclusions, and order in the above-identified matter:

Findings. 1. In each of the above-identified color additive petitions, the petitioner submitted certain toxicological data as evidence of the safety of the proposed uses. The data have been reviewed and found to be inadequate to support the requested listings.

2. No new data of any significance have been received.

Conclusion. Sufficient data are not available to support the promulgation of color additive regulations in this matter pursuant to section 706(b) of the act. In view of the long history of use of the subject colors in dyed sutures without hazard to the public health, the provisional listings of these colors in § 8.501 of the provisional color additive regulations (21 CFR 8.501) should be continued pending completion of data to support permanent listings.

Order. Based on the aforesaid findings and conclusion, the proposals of the petitioner to establish regulations pursuant to section 706(b) of the act to permit the use of logwood to color silk and nylon sutures, D&C Blue No. 9 and D&C Red No. 30 to color cotton sutures, and D&C Green No. 5 to color nylon sutures are denied without affecting the provisional listings of these colors in § 8.501 (21 CFR 8.501); and It is so ordered.

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time within 30 days from the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER file with the Hearing Clerk, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Room 5440, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, written objections thereto preferably in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing, and such objections must be supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Dated: July 19, 1967.

JAMES L. GODDARD,
Commissioner of Food and Drugs.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[17 CFR Parts 240, 249]

[Release No. 34-8126]

REGISTRATION AS BROKER-DEALER

Application

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration a proposal under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the Act) to amend Form BD (17 CFR 249.501), the form of application for registration as a broker-dealer under section 15(b) of the Act and for amending such application, and a proposal to amend Rule 15b3–1 (17 CFR 240.15b3–1) to require each registered broker and dealer, by way of amendment to his application for registration presently on file, to file the new Form BD (17 CFR 249.501) furnishing all the information required therein.

The principal reasons for the proposed revision are (1) to provide additional information to assist the Commission in carrying out its regulatory functions, (2) to achieve substantial uniformity between the Commission forms and comparable forms in use by State regulatory authorities, and (3) to modernize procedures to conform with technological advances in the maintenance and retrieval of records.

The form would contain additional information to facilitate the Commission's functions and, at the same time, be of benefit to persons interested in inspecting the filing. Specifically, more detailed information would be furnished respecting the proprietary interests in the applicant or registrant of each officer, director, partner (general, special, or limited), and all persons with similar status or functions, as well as all persons owning a 10 percent or greater interest in the applicant or registrant. Disclosure would be required of certain types of disciplinary action by any State or foreign authority, national securities exchange, or the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., against persons associated with the applicant or registrant if such action resulted in the denial, barring, suspension, or revocation of a State or foreign license or registration, or in the denial, barring, suspension, or expulsion from membership in any such exchange or such association. The proposed form would also elicit (1) whether the applicant or registrant directly or indirectly controls any partnership, corporation, or other organization which is engaged in the securities or investment advisory business, (2) whether persons other than the named principals of the applicant or registrant will or do finance the business directly or indirectly, and (3) the nature of any other business conducted or to be conducted by the registrant or applicant, together with pertinent details if such activities account for 10 percent or more of the applicant's or registrant's gross income.

A further reason for the proposal to adopt the revised form is the desire to achieve substantial uniformity as between the Commission's forms and those of other regulatory bodies in such a manner as to render the filing of applications and amendments more convenient for applicants and registrants than at present. Over an extended period of time, the North American Securities Administrators have been working on the preparation of a single form for the filing of applications and amendments which may be acceptable to the various State regulatory bodies. The Commission has been informed that 32 State regulatory bodies have already agreed to adopt or are considering the adoption of a form designated as Form U–3, under which the State could accept Form BD (17 CFR 249.501) and amendments thereto as meeting the State's registration or amendment filing requirements, supplemented only by such additional information as is required by state law or regulation. It is envisioned that this will measurably ease the filing burden of applicants and registrants.

The proposed revision would also effect a change in format in order to make fuller use of available electronic data processing facilities. Procedures for amendment of the application would be changed to require that, in addition to the amended item, all items on the same page must be filled in and the complete page filed under cover of a new, completed first page bearing the execution of the document by an appropriate official of registrant. It is contemplated that the new amended page as well as the new first page which includes the execution would be inserted in the current public file in place of the pages they have superseded. The superseded pages would then be placed in a separate noncurrent section of the public file. In addition, this proposed revised format is so arranged that the data concerning the applicant or registrant would be furnished in the body of the form under the applicable numbered items, whereas the data concerning individuals connected with the applicant or registrant would be given in separate schedules appended to the body of the form but keyed to the numbered items calling for such data. This change would facilitate review and public inspection of information concerning such individuals through the facilities of the Commission's automatic retrieval system and would provide ample space on the form for applicants and registrants to set forth the required information.

The principal reason for amending Rule 15b3–1 (17 CFR 240.15b3–1) is to require every broker and dealer whose registration is effective, or who has an application for registration pending on the date the new rule becomes effective, to file a complete new Form BD (17 CFR 249.501) as an amendment, the first time an amendment otherwise is required, and in no event later than _____.

The proposed amendments would be adopted pursuant to the provisions of sections 15(b), 17(a), and 23(a) of the Act.

A copy of Form BD (17 CFR 249.501) as proposed to be amended is attached hereto.[1] The text of new Rule 15b3–1 (17 CFR 240.15b3–1) as it is proposed to be adopted is as follows:

§ 240.15b3–1 Amendments to applications.

(a) Every broker or dealer whose registration is effective, or whose application for registration is pending, on (the effective date of this rule) shall file as an amendment to the application a complete Form BD (17 CFR 240.501) as revised as of (the effective date). This shall be filed the first time an amendment is required to be filed under paragraph (b) of this section, but in no event later than _____.

(b) If the information contained in any application for registration as a broker or dealer, or in any amendment thereto, becomes inaccurate for any reason, the broker or dealer shall promptly file an amendment on Form BD (17 CFR 240.501) correcting such information.

(c) Every amendment filed pursuant to this rule shall constitute a "report" within the meaning of sections 15(b), 17(a), and 32(a) of the Act.

(Secs. 15(b), 17(a), 23(a), 48 Stat. 895, 897, 901, as amended, secs. 3, 4, 8, 49 Stat. 1377, 1379, secs. 2, 4, 52 Stat. 1075, 1076, sec. 6, 78 Stat. 570, 15 USC 78o(b), 78q, 78w)

All interested persons are invited to submit their views and comments on the proposal in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549 on or before September 1, 1967. All such communications will be available for public inspection.

By the Commission.

REGISTRATION AS INVESTMENT ADVISER

Application

Notice is hereby given that the Securities and Exchange Commission has under consideration a proposal under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (the Act) to amend Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1), the form of application for registration as an investment adviser under section 203 of the Act, and for amending such application as well as a proposal to amend Rule 204–1 (17 CFR 275.204–1) to require each registered investment adviser, by way of amendment to his application for registration presently on file, to file the new Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1) furnishing all the information required therein.

The principal reasons for the proposed revision are (1) to provide additional information to assist the Commission in carrying out its regulatory functions, (2) to achieve substantial uniformity between the Commission forms and forms in use by state regulatory authorities, and (3) to moderize procedures to conform with technological advances in the maintenance and retrieval of records.

The form would contain additional information to facilitate the continuous regulatory needs of the Commission's functions and, at the same time, be of benefit to persons interested in inspecting the filing. Specifically, more detailed information would be furnished respecting the proprietary interests in the applicant or registrant of each officer, director, partner (general, special or limited), and all persons with similar status or functions, as well as all persons owning a 10 percent or greater interest in the applicant or registrant. Disclosure would be required of certain types of disciplinary action by any state or foreign authority, national securities exchange, or the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., against persons associated with the applicant or registrant if such action resulted in the denial, barring, suspension, or revocation of a State or foreign license or registration, or in the denial, barring, suspension, or expulsion from membership in any such exchange or such association. The proposed form would also elicit whether the applicant or registrant directly or indirectly controls any partnership, corporation, or other organization which is engaged in the securities or investment or advisory business.

A further reason for the proposal to adopt the revised form is the desire to achieve substantial uniformity as between the Commission's forms and those of other regulatory bodies in such a manner as to render the filing of applications and amendments more convenient for applicants and registrants than at present. Over an extended period of time, the North American Securities Administrators have been working on the preparation of a single form for the filing of applications and amendments acceptable to the various State regulatory bodies. The Commission has been informed that 32 State regulatory bodies have already agreed to adopt or are considering the adoption of a form, designated as Form U–3, under which the State could accept Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1) and amendments thereto as meeting the State's registration or amendment filing requirements, supplemented only by such additional information as is required by State law or regulation. It is envisioned that this will measurably ease the filing burden of applicants and registrants.

The proposed revision also would effect a change in format in order to make fuller use of available electronic data processing facilities. Procedures for amendment of the application would be changed to require that, in addition to the amended item, all items on the same page must be filled in and the complete page filed under cover of a new, completed first page bearing the execution of the document by an appropriate official or registrant. It is contemplated that the new amended page as well as the new first page which includes the execution would be inserted in the current public file in place of the pages they have superseded. The superseded pages would then be placed in a separate noncurrent section of the public file. In addition, this proposed revised format is so arranged that the data concerning the applicant or registrant would be furnished in the body of the form under the applicable numbered items, whereas the data concerning individuals connected with the applicant or registrant would be given in separate schedules appended to the body of the form but keyed to the numbered items calling for such data. This change would facilitate review and public inspection of information concerning such individuals and would provide ample space on the form for applicants and registrants to set forth the required information.

As amended, Rule 204–1 (17 CFR 275.204–1) is to require every investment adviser whose registration is effective or who has an application for registration pending on the date the new rule becomes effective to file complete new Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1) as an amendment the first time an amendment is otherwise required and in any event not later than _____.

The proposed amendment would be adopted pursuant to the provisions of sections 203, 204, and 211(a), of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940.

A copy of Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1) as proposed to be amended is attached hereto.[1]

The text of the new Rule 204–1 (17 CFR 275.204–1) as it is proposed to be amended is as follows:

§ 275.204–1 Amendments to applications.

(a) Every investment adviser whose registration is effective, or whose application for registration is pending, on (the effective date of this rule) shall file as an amendment to the application a complete Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1) as revised as of (the effective date). This shall be filed the first time an amendment is required to be filed under paragraph (b) of this section, but in no event later than _____.

(b) If the information contained in any application for registration as an investment adviser, or in any amendment thereto, becomes inaccurate for any reason, the broker or dealer shall promptly file an amendment on Form ADV (17 CFR 279.1) correcting such information.

(c) Every amendment filed pursuant to this section shall constitute a "report" within the meaning of sections 204 and 207 of the Act.

(Secs. 203, 204, 211(a), 54 Stat. 850, 852, 855, secs. 2–5, 6, 14, 74 Stat. 885, 886, 888, 15 U.S.C. 80b–3, 80b–4, 80b–11(a))

All interested persons are invited to submit their views and comments on the proposal in writing to the Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549, on or before September 1, 1967. All such communications will be available for public inspection.

By the Commission.

Notice of Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C., 1411–18), and to the regulations in 43 CFR, Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple use management the public lands within the area described below, together with any lands therein that may become public lands within Harcuvar Planning Unit 04 in the future. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating the public land in the described area from appropriation under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C., Parts 7 and 9, and 25 U.S.C., 334); from sale under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171); and State exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(c)). The lands shall remain open to all other forms of appropriation, including the mining and mineral leasing laws. As used herein, "public lands" means any lands withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. For a period of 60 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed classification may present their views in writing to the District Manager, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

3. The public lands proposed for classification are located within the following described area and are shown on maps on file in the Phoenix District Office, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

Notice of Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C., 1411–18) and to the regulations in 43 CFR, Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple use management the public lands within the area described below, together with any lands therein that may become public lands within the Vulture Planning Unit 07 in the future. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating the public land in the described area from appropriation under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C., Parts 7 and 9, and 25 U.S.C., 334); from sale under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171); and State exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(c)). The lands shall remain open to all other forms of appropriation, including the mining and mineral leasing laws. As used herein, "public lands" means any lands withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. For a period of 60 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed classification may present their views in writing to the District Manager, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

3. The public lands proposed for classification are located within the following described area and are shown on maps on file in the Phoenix District Office, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

4. The lands involved are described as follows:

Notice of Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1411–18), and to the regulations in 43 CFR, Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple use management the public lands within the area described below, together with any lands therein that may become public lands within Little Horn Unit 08 in the future. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating the public land in the described area from appropriation under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C., Parts 7 and 9, and 25 U.S.C., 334); from sale under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171); and State exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(c)). The lands shall remain open to all other forms of appropriation, including the mining and mineral leasing laws. As used herein, "public lands" means any lands withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. For a period of 60 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed classification may present their views in writing to the District Manager, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

3. The public lands proposed for classification are located within the following described area and are shown on maps on file in the Phoenix District Office, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

4. The lands involved are described as follows:

Notice of Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1411-18), and to the regulations in 43 CFR Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple use management all of the public lands in the township described in paragraph 5, together with any lands therein that may become public lands in the future. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating all the public land in the described area from appropriation under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C. Parts 7 and 9, and 25 U.S.C. 334); from sale under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171); from private exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(b)); from State exchange (43 U.S.C. 315g(c)); and from State selection (43 U.S.C. 851, 852). The lands shall remain open to all other applicable forms of appropriation, including the mining and mineral leasing laws. As used in this order, the term "public lands" means any lands (1) withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or (2) within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. The lands are located approximately 35 road miles southeast of Phoenix, Ariz., and comprise a scenic desert mountain range between 1,500 to 2,450 feet above sea level.

3. Principal public values attributable to the lands are outstanding botanical features in the saguaro forest growth, outdoor recreation provided to urban Phoenix as well as winter visitors to the area, wildlife habitat, watershed, domestic livestock grazing, and mineral potential.

4. This proposed classification has been discussed with local and State government planning and recreation authorities, and they concur with this proposal.

5. The lands lie in Pinal County and are within T. 3 S., R. 7 E., GSR, Mer., Arizona. The area described aggregates approximately 10,020.37 acres of public land.

6. For a period of 60 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed classification may present their views in writing to the District Manager, Bureau of Land Management, 3041 Federal Building, Phoenix, Ariz. 85025.

Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

JULY 21, 1967.

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1411-18), and to the regulations in 43 CFR, Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple-use management the public lands within the areas described below, together with any lands therein that may become public lands in the future. As used herein, "public lands" means any lands withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating (a) all lands described in this notice from appropriation only under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C. Parts 7 and 9, 25 U.S.C. 334) and from sale under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171), and (b) of further segregating the public land described in paragraph 3 of this notice from the operation of the general mining laws (30 U.S.C. 20). Except as provided in (a) and (b) above, the lands shall remain open to all other applicable forms of appropriation, including the mining and mineral leasing laws.

2. Public lands proposed for classification are located within the following described areas and are shown on maps on file in the Montrose District Office, Bureau of Land Management, Highway 550 South, Montrose, Colo. 81401, and the Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, Room 15019, Federal Building, 1961 Stout Street, Denver, Colo. 80202.

NEW MEXICO

Notice of Proposed Classification

JULY 20, 1967.

Pursuant to section 2 of the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1412), notice is hereby given of a proposal to classify the lands described below for disposal through exchange, under the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269; 43 U.S.C. 315g), as amended, for lands within Valencia County, N. Mex.

The District Advisory Board, local governmental officials and other interested parties have been notified of this application. Information derived from discussions and other sources indicate that these lands meet the criterion of 43 CFR 2410.1-3(c)(4), which authorizes classification of lands "for exchanges under appropriate authority where they are found to be chiefly valuable for public purposes because they have special values, arising from the interest of exchange proponents, for exchange for other lands which we need for the support of a Federal program." Information concerning the lands, including the record of public discussions, is available for inspection and study in the Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Post Office and Federal Building, Santa Fe, N. Mex. 87501; Socorro District Office, 200 Neel Avenue, Socorro, N. Mex. 87801 and Albuquerque District Office, 1304 Fourth Street NW., Albuquerque, N. Mex. 87107.

For a period of 60 days from the date of this publication, interested parties may submit comments to the District Manager of the Socorro or Albuquerque District Office.

The lands affected by this proposal are located in McKinley and San Juan Counties, N. Mex., and are described as follows:

Notice of Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

JULY 21, 1967.

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (43 U.S.C. 1411-18), and to the regulations in 43 CFR Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple-use management the public lands within the area described below, together with any lands therein that may become public lands in the future. As used herein, "public lands" means any lands withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating the described lands from appropriation only under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C. Parts 7 and 9; 25 U.S.C. Sec. 334), and from sales under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171) and the lands shall remain open to all other applicable forms of appropriation, including the mining and mineral leasing laws.

3. The public lands proposed for classification are located within the following described area and are shown on map designated "Oregon 018616, 2411.2: 36-08: June 1967", on file in the Salem District Office, Bureau of Land Management, 3550 Liberty Road, S., Salem, Oreg. and the Land Office, Bureau of Land Management, 729 Northeast Oregon Street, Portland, Oreg. Notice of Proposed Classification of Public Lands for Multiple Use Management

1. Pursuant to the Act of September 19, 1964 (78 Stat. 986; 43 U.S.C. 1411-18), and to the regulations in Title 43 CFR, Parts 2410 and 2411, it is proposed to classify for multiple use management the public lands within the area described below, together with any lands therein that may become public lands in the future. Publication of this notice has the effect of segregating the public lands described from appropriation only under the agricultural land laws (43 U.S.C., Parts 7 and 9; 25 U.S.C. 334), and from sale under section 2455 of Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 1171), and the lands shall remain open to all other applicable forms of appropriation including the mining and mineral leasing laws. As used herein, "public lands" means any lands withdrawn or reserved by Executive Order No. 6910 of November 26, 1934, as amended, or within a grazing district established pursuant to the Act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1269), as amended, which are not otherwise withdrawn or reserved for a Federal use or purpose.

2. The lands proposed to be classified are those lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management within the following described area which lies in the extreme northeast corner of the State of Utah:

Beginning at the Three Corners Monument where the Wyoming, Colo., and Utah State lines intersect; thence south along the Utah-Colorado State line to a point on the watershed crest which divides the Pot Creek drainage and the Green River Drainage near the east quarter corner of Sec. 25, T. 1 S., R. 25 E., SLM; thence north and west along the crest of this watershed divide to where it intersects the Ashley National Forest Boundary near the southwest corner of the SE¼ NW¼ NE¼ Sec. 18, T. 1 N., R. 23 E., SLM; thence north and west along the National Forest Boundary to the south quarter corner of Sec. 29, T. 2 N., R. 22 E., SLM; thence north one-half mile; thence west about one-half mile to the west quarter corner of Sec. 29, T. 2 N., R. 22 E., SLM; thence north about 2 miles to the Wyoming-Utah State line; thence east along the Wyoming-Utah State line to the point of beginning. The area described aggregates approximately 114,427 acres of public land.

3. For a period of 60 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, all persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions or objections in connection with this proposed classification may present their views in writing to the Vernal District Manager, Bureau of Land Management, Post Office Box F, Vernal, Utah 84078, or to the State Director, Bureau of Land Management, Post Office Box 11505, Salt Lake City, Utah 84111.

4. Maps depicting these lands are on file and may be reviewed at the Bureau of Land Management's District Office at Vernal and the State Office, Federal Building, Salt Lake City, Utah.

5. A public hearing on this proposed classification will be held at 1:30 p.m. on September 7, 1967, in the Daggett County Courthouse, Manila, Utah.

DUKE POWER CO.

Notice of Hearing on Application for Provisional Construction Permit

In the matter of Duke Power Co., (Oconee Nuclear Station, Units 1, 2, and 3), Docket Nos. 50-269, 50-270, 50-287.

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, and the regulations in Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 50, Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities, and Part 2, rules of practice, notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held at 10 a.m., local time, on August 29, 1967, at the Oconee County Courthouse, Main Street, Walhalla, S.C., to consider the application filed under section 104b. of the Act by Duke Power Co. for provisional construction permits for three pressurized water reactors, each designed to initially operate at 2,452 megawatts (thermal), to be located at its site in Oconee County, S.C., approximately 8 miles northeast of Seneca, S.C.

The hearing will be conducted by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board designated by the Atomic Energy Commission consisting of Dr. John Henry Buck, Phoenixville, Pa., Dr. Hugh Paxton, Los Alamos, N. Mex., and Samuel W. Jensch, Esq., Chairman, Washington, D.C. Dr. Clarke Williams, Upton, Long Island, N.Y., has been designated as a technically qualified alternate.

A prehearing conference will be held by the Board at 10 a.m., local time, on August 15, 1967, at the Oconee County Courthouse, Main Street, Walhalla, S.C., to consider the matters provided for consideration by § 2.752 of 10 CFR, Part 2 and section II of Appendix "A" to 10 CFR, Part 2.

The Director of Regulation proposes to make affirmative findings on Item Numbers 1–3 and a negative finding on Item 4 specified below as the basis for the issuance of provisional construction permits to the applicant substantially in the form proposed in Appendices "A", "B", and "C" hereto.

1. Whether in accordance with the provisions of 10 CFR 50.35(a)

(a) The applicant has described the proposed design of the facilities, including, but not limited to, the principal architectural and engineering criteria for the design and has identified the major features or components incorporated therein for the protection of the health and safety of the public;

(b) Such further technical or design information as may be required to complete the safety analysis and which can reasonably be left for later consideration, will be supplied in the final safety analysis reports;

(c) Safety features or components, if any, which require research and development have been described by the applicant and the applicant has identified, and there will be conducted, a research and development program reasonably designed to resolve any safety questions associated with such features or components; and

(d) On the basis of the foregoing, there is reasonable assurance that (i) such safety questions will be satisfactorily resolved at or before the latest dates stated in the application for completion of construction of the proposed facilities and (ii) taking into consideration the site criteria contained in 10 CFR Part 100, the proposed facilities can be constructed and operated at the proposed location without undue risk to the health and safety of the public;

2. Whether the applicant is technically qualified to design and construct the proposed facilities;

3. Whether the applicant is financially qualified to design and construct the proposed facilities; and

4. Whether the issuance of permits for the construction of the facilities will be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public.

In the event that this proceeding is not a contested proceeding, as defined by § 2.4 of the Commission's rules of practice, 10 CFR Part 2, the Board will, without conducting a de novo evaluation of the application, consider the issues of whether the application and the record of the proceeding contain sufficient information, and the review by the Commission's regulatory staff has been adequate, to support the findings proposed to be made and the provisional construction permits proposed to be issued by the Director of Regulation.

In the event that this proceeding becomes a contested proceeding, the Board will consider and initially decide, as the issues in this proceeding, Item Numbers 1 through 4 above as the basis for determining whether the provisional construction permits should be issued to the applicant. As they become available, the application, the report of the Commission's Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards (ACRS), and the Safety Evaluation by the Commission's regulatory staff will be placed in the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., where they will be available for inspection by members of the public. Copies of the ACRS report and the regulatory staff's Safety Evalution may be obtained by request to the Director of the Division of Reactor Licensing, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545.

Petitions for leave to intervene, pursuant to the provisions of § 2.714 of the Commission's rules of practice, must be received in the Office of the Secretary, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Germantown, Md., or the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C., not later than August 11, 1967, or in the event of a postponement of the specific hearing date, at such time as the Board may specify.

Any person who wishes to make an oral or written statement setting forth his position on the issues specified, but who does not wish to file a petition to intervene, may request permission to make a limited appearance pursuant to the provisions of § 2.715 of the Commission's rules of practice. Limited appearances will be permitted at that time of the hearing in the discretion of the Board, within such limits and on such conditions as may be fixed by the Board. Persons desiring to make a limited appearance are requested to inform the Secretary, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, by August 11, 1967.

Answers to this notice, pursuant to the provisions of § 2.705 of the Commission's rules of practice must be filed by the applicant on or before August 11, 1967.

Papers required to be filed in this proceeding may be filed by mail or telegram addressed to the Secretary, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, or may be filed by delivery to the Office of the Secretary, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Germantown, Md., or the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, D.C.

Pending further order of the Board, parties are required to file, pursuant to the provisions of § 2.708 of the Commission's rules of practice, and original and twenty conformed copies of each such paper with the Commission.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 24th day of July 1967.

UNITED STATES ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION,
F. T. HOBBS,
Acting Secretary.

APPENDIX A

DUKE POWER COMPANY (OCONEE NUCLEAR STATION, UNIT 1)

DOCKET NO. 50-269

PROVISIONAL CONSTRUCTION PERMIT

Construction Permit No. -------

1. Pursuant to section 104b. of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act) and Title 10, Chapter 1, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 50, Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities, and pursuant to the order of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, the Atomic Energy Commission (the Commission) hereby issues a provisional construction permit to Duke Power Co. (the applicant) for a utilization facility (the facility), designed to operate at 2452 megawatts (thermal), described in the application and amendments thereto filed in this matter by the applicant and as more fully described in the evidence received at the public hearing upon that application. The facility, known as Oconee Nuclear Station, Unit 1 will be located at the applicant's site in Oconee County, S.C., approximately 8 miles northeast of Seneca, S.C.

2. This permit shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in §§ 50.54 and 50.55 of said regulations; is subject to all applicable provisions of the Act, and rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission now or hereafter in effect; and is subject to the conditions specified or incorporated below:

A. The earliest date for the completion of the facility is October 1, 1970, and the latest date for completion of the facility is February 28, 1971.

B. The facility shall be constructed and located at the site as described in the application, as amended, in Oconee County, about 8 miles northeast of Seneca, S.C.

C. This construction permit authorizes the applicant to construct the facility described in the application and the hearing record in accordance with the principal architectural and engineering criteria set forth therein.

3. This permit is provisional to the extent that a license authorizing operation of the facility will not be issued by the Commission unless (a) the applicant submits to the Commission, by amendment to the application, the complete final safety analysis report, portions of which may be submitted and evaluated from time to time; (b) the Commission finds that the final design provides reasonable assurance that the health and safety of the public will not be endangered by the operation of the facility in accordance with the procedures approved by it in connection with the issuance of said license; and (c) the applicant submits proof of financial protection and the execution of an indemnity agreement as required by section 170 of the Act.

Construction Permit No. -------

1. Pursuant to section 104b. of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and Title 10, Chapter 1, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 50, Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities, and pursuant to the order of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, the Atomic Energy Commission (the Commission) hereby issues a provisional construction permit to Duke Power Co. (the applicant) for a utilization facility (the facility), designed to operate at 2,452 megawatts (thermal), described in the application and amendments thereto filed in this matter by the applicant and as more fully described in the evidence received at the public hearing upon that application. The facility, known as Oconee Nuclear Station, Unit 2 will be located at the applicant's site in Oconee County, S.C., approximately 8 miles northeast of Seneca, S.C.

2. This permit shall be deemed to contain and be subject to the conditions specified in §§ 50.54 and 50.55 of said regulations; is subject to all applicable provisions of the Act, and rules, regulations, and orders of the Commission now or hereafter in effect; and is subject to the conditions specified or incorporated below:

A. The earliest date for the completion of the facility is October 1, 1971, and the latest date for completion of the facility is February 28, 1972.

B. The facility shall be constructed and located at the site as described in the application, as amended, in Oconee County, about 8 miles northeast of Seneca, S.C.

C. This construction permit authorizes the applicant to construct the facility described in the application and the hearing record in accordance with the principal architectural and engineering criteria set forth therein.

3. This permit is provisional to the extent that a license authorizing operation of the facility will not be issued by the Commission unless (a) the applicant submits to the Commission, by amendment to the application, the complete final safety analysis report, portions of which may be submitted and evaluated from time to time; (b) the Commission finds that the final design provides reasonable assurance that the health and safety of the public will not be endangered by the operation of the facility in accordance with procedures approved by it in connection with the issuance of said license; (c) the applicant submits proof of financial protection and the execution of an indemnity agreement as required by section 170 of the Act.

For the Atomic Energy Commission.

INTERAGENCY TEXTILE ADMINISTRATIVE COMMITTEE

CERTAIN COTTON TEXTILES PRODUCED OR MANUFACTURED IN MALAYSIA

Limitation on Entry or Withdrawal From Warehouse

JULY 24, 1967.

On May 24, 1967, after discussions with the Government of Malaysia, the U.S. Government requested the Government of Malaysia to restrain for the 12-month period, beginning May 24, 1967, its exports to the United States of cotton textiles in Category 22 produced or manufactured in Malaysia. In furtherance of objectives of, and under the terms of the Long Term Arrangement Regarding International Trade in Cotton Textiles done at Geneva on February 9, 1962, including Article 6(c) relating to nonparticipants, the U.S. Government is establishing restraints in accordance with that request. These restraints do not apply to cotton textiles produced or manufactured in Malaysia and exported to the United States prior to the beginning of the applicable 12-month period designated above.

There is published below a letter of July 21, 1967, from the Chairman of the President's Cabinet Textile Advisory Committee to the Commissioner of Customs, directing that the amount of cotton textiles in Category 22 produced or manufactured in Malaysia which may be entered or withdrawn from warehouse for consumption in the United States for the 12-month period beginning May 24, 1967, be limited to the designated level.

STANLEY NEHMER,
Chairman, Interagency Textile Administrative Committee, and Deputy Assistant Secretary for Resources.

THE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE

PRESIDENT'S CABINET TEXTILE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, D.C. 20230,
July 21, 1967.

COMMISSIONER OF CUSTOMS,
Department of the Treasury,
Washington, D.C. 20226.

DEAR MR. COMMISSIONER: Under the terms of the Long-Term Arrangement Regarding International Trade in Cotton Textiles done at Geneva on February 9, 1962, including Article 6(c) thereof relating to nonparticipants, and in accordance with the procedures outlined in Executive Order 11052 of September 28, 1962, as amended by Executive Order 11214 of April 7, 1965, you are directed to prohibit, effective as soon as possible after July 23, 1967, and for the 12-month period beginning May 24, 1967, and extending through May 23, 1968, entry into the United States for consumption and withdrawal from warehouse for consumption, of cotton textiles in Category 22, produced or manufactured in Malaysia, in excess of a level of restraint for the period of 220,000 square yards.

In carrying out this directive, entries of cotton textiles in Category 22 produced or manufactured in Malaysia and which have been exported to the United States prior to May 24, 1967, shall not be subject to this directive.

A detailed description of Category 22 in terms of T.S.U.S.A. numbers was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 7, 1966 (31 F.R. 9310).

In carrying out the above directions, entry into the United States for consumption shall be construed to include entry for consumption into the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

The actions taken with respect to the Government of Malaysia and with respect to imports of cotton textiles and cotton textile products from Malaysia have been determined by the President's Cabinet Textile Advisory Committee to involve foreign affairs functions of the United States. Therefore, the directions to the Commissioner of Customs, being necessary to the implementation of such actions, fall within the foreign affairs exception to the notice provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553. This letter will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Sincerely yours,

A. B. TROWBRIDGE,
Secretary of Commerce, Chairman, President's Cabinet Textile Advisory Committee.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[70-4514]

AMERICAN ELECTRIC POWER CO., INC., AND OHIO POWER CO.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of Notes to Banks and Capital Contributions by Parent

JULY 21, 1967.

In the matter of American Electric Power Co., Inc., 2 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10004, and Ohio Power Co., 301 Cleveland Avenue SW., Canton, Ohio 44702.

Notice is hereby given that American Electric Power Co., Inc. ("AEP"), a registered holding company, and one of its electric utility subsidiary companies, Ohio Power Co. ("Ohio"), have filed a joint declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating sections 6, 7, and 12 thereof and Rules 42, 45, and 50(a)(3) promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

By order dated October 6, 1966, the Commission authorized Ohio (Holding Company Act Release No. 15595) to issue and sell from time to time prior to December 31, 1966, its promissory notes to ten banks in an aggregate principal amount not to exceed $58,600,000 outstanding at any one time. Such promissory notes were issued and sold by Ohio to such banks on December 27, 1966.

By another order dated March 30, 1967, the Commission authorized Ohio (Holding Company Act Release No. 15697) to issue and sell, within 60 days, at competitive bidding $50 million principal amount of its first Mortgage bonds, ____ percent series due 1997 ("Bonds") and $20 million principal amount of its ____ percent sinking fund debentures due 1997 ("Debentures"). By supplemental order dated May 18, 1967 (Holding Company Act Release No. 15739), the Commission extended to August 1, 1967, the time within which those transactions might be consummated. Ohio subsequently filed a post-effective amendment No. 2 to its Form U-1 to extend the time within which such transactions may be consummated to December 15, 1967.

The declaration states that the $58,600,000 promissory notes which Ohio issued mature by their terms on September 25, 1967, and that market conditions have been and may continue to be such that it would not be propitious for Ohio to proceed with the sale of its Bonds and Debentures at competitive bidding on August 16, 1967, the date on which it is currently contemplated that proposals will be submitted for such Bonds and Debentures. To afford Ohio necessary flexibility in arranging its financing program, it is proposed that if the sale of such Bonds and Debentures at competitive bidding is not consummated by September 15, 1967, Ohio will issue and sell on or before September 25, 1967, its promissory notes in the aggregate principal amount not to exceed $61,100,000 to the following banks in proportion to the respective amounts shown:

Irving Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	$9,275,000
The First National City Bank of New York, N.Y.	9,275,000
Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	7,300,000
Continental Illinois National Bank & Trust Co., Chicago, Ill.	7,300,000
Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., of New York, N.Y.	6,775,000
Mellon National Bank & Trust Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.	6,050,000
The Chase Manhattan Bank (N.A.), New York, N.Y.	6,050,000
Bankers Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	3,025,000
Chemical Bank New York Trust Co., New York, N.Y.	3,025,000
The Northern Trust Co., Chicago, Ill.	3,025,000
Total	61,100,000

Each note will be dated as of the date of issue, will bear interest at the then current prime rate (currently 5½ percent per annum), will mature December 15, 1967, and will be prepayable at any time, in whole or in part, without penalty or premium. Ohio proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of the proposed notes, to the extent necessary, to pay, or prepay, all of the then outstanding promissory notes issued pursuant to the order of the Commission dated October 6, 1966.

AEP proposes, in the event that Ohio does not consummate the sale of its Bonds and Debentures at competitive bidding on or before August 24, 1967, to make one or more cash capital contributions to Ohio prior to December 31, 1967, in an amount not exceeding $10 million. Any cash capital contributions so received by Ohio would, together with any balance of the proceeds realized from the issuance of its promissory notes remaining after the payment or prepayment of promissory notes, be used by Ohio to pay a part of the cost of its current construction program. It had been anticipated that, pursuant to the Commission's order dated June 30, 1967 (Holding Company Act Release No. 15779), Ohio would sell, on or about July 6, 1967, to Buckeye Power, Inc., a 615,000 kilowatt steam electric generating unit, located at its Cardinal Station, and associated properties, for an aggregate consideration in excess of $65 million. The declaration states that in related proceedings before the Federal Power Commission (Docket No. E-37555) hearings have been requested but the Federal Power Commission has not yet acted in that proceeding and that it is uncertain, in view of the foregoing, whether or when Ohio will consummate the proposed transaction with Buckeye Power, Inc. It is anticipated, however, that if Ohio does not consummate the sale of its Bonds and Debentures as proposed but, in lieu thereof, Ohio consummates the transactions herein proposed and receives from American a cash capital contribution or contributions aggregating $10 million additional financing will not be required by Ohio prior to January 1, 1968.

The declaration further states that there will be no fees, commissions, or expenses incident to the proposed transactions and that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than August 9, 1967, request in writing that a hearing be held in respect of such matters, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues of fact or law which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified should the Commission order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective in the manner provided by Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof, or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission (pursuant to delegated authority).

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[Notice No. 1089]

MOTOR CARRIER, BROKER, WATER CARRIER, AND FREIGHT FORWARDER APPLICATIONS

JULY 21, 1967.

The following applications are governed by Special Rule 1.247[1] of the Commission's general rules of practice (49 CFR, as amended), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, effective May 20, 1966. These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with § 1.247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one (1) copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of § 1.247(d)(4) of the special rule, and shall include the certification required therein.

[1] Copies of Special Rule 1.247 (as amended) can be obtained by writing to the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423.

Section 1.247(f) of the Commission's rules of practice further provides that each applicant shall, if protests to its application have been filed, and within 60 days of the date of this publication, notify the Commission in writing (1) that it is ready to proceed and prosecute the application, or (2) that it wishes to withdraw the application, failure in which the application will be dismissed by the Commission.

Further processing steps (whether modified procedure, oral hearing, or other procedures) will be determined generally in accordance with the Commission's general policy statement concerning motor carrier licensing procedures, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of May 3, 1966. This assignment will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record.

The publications hereinafter set forth reflect the scope of the applications as filed by applicants, and may include descriptions, restrictions, or limitations which are not in a form acceptable to the Commission. Authority which ultimately may be granted as a result of the applications here noticed will not necessarily reflect the phraseology set forth in the application as filed, but also will eliminate any restrictions which are not acceptable to the Commission.

No. MC 1375 (Sub-No. 13) (Amendment), filed April 26, 1967, published in FEDERAL REGISTER issue of May 18, 1967, amended July 5, 1967, and republished as amended this issue. No. MC 58923 (Sub-No. 36), filed June 5, 1967. Applicant: GEORGIA HIGHWAY EXPRESS, INC., 2090 Jonesboro Road SE., Atlanta, Ga. 30315. Applicant's representative: Robert C. Dryden, (same address as applicant). Authority sought (A) to operate as a common carrier, by motor vehicle, over regular routes in addition to those presently authorized in MC 58923 (Sub-No. 31), and (B) to amend existing gateway restrictions as to regular and irregular routes in MC 58923 (Sub-No. 31), as follows: (a) Over regular routes, transporting: General commodities (except those of unusual value, classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and those requiring special equipment), (1) between Atlanta, Ga., and Heflin, Ala., over U.S. Highway 78, serving all intermediate points, (2) between Atlanta, Ga., and Gadsden, Ala., over U.S. Highway 278, serving all intermediate points. Restriction: The authority sought under the regular routes in (A) (1) and (2) above is restricted to the transportation of traffic moving from, to, or through Atlanta, Ga., or La Grange, Ga. (B) Over regular routes and irregular routes: (1) Amend presently existing gateway. Restriction in MC 58923 (Sub-No. 31) as to regular routes contained therein to read as follows: All services authorized herein above are restricted to the transportation of traffic moving from, to, or through Atlanta, Ga., or La Grange, Ga. (2) Amend presently existing gateway restriction in MC 58923 (Sub-No. 31) as to irregular routes contained therein to read as follows: General commodities (except those of unusual value, classes A and B explosives, household goods as defined by the Commission, commodities in bulk, and those requiring special equipment), (1) between Atlanta, Ga., or La Grange, Ga., on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Alabama; (2) between Atlanta, Ga., or La Grange, Ga., on the one hand, and, on the other, points in Georgia. Restriction: Carrier shall not, pursuant to the irregular route authority sought to be amended herein, transport shipments moving between any points authorized to be served by it in the regular route authority sought in (A) herein, or as sought to be amended in (B) herein. NOTE: Applicant states that by the instant application it seeks to add Atlanta, Ga., as an alternate gateway to the existing La Grange, Ga., gateway, as to both the regular routes and irregular routes contained in MC 58923 (Sub-No. 31) with the further restriction that carrier shall not, pursuant to the irregular route authority sought to be amended, transport shipments moving between any points authorized therein to be served by it in the regular routes authority contained therein, or sought herein. Applicant further states that the grant of this authority would not enable tacking at any new points not now able to be tacked except at Heflin, Ala., and Gadsden, Ala., and except as to the added gateway point. This authority would be tacked to present and pending authority so as to permit through service to areas sought and through interchange to points beyond. If a hearing is deemed necessary, applicant requests it be held at Atlanta, Ga.

How To Find U.S. Statutes and United States Code Citations

[Revised Edition—1965]

This pamphlet contains typical legal references which require further citing. The official published volumes in which the citations may be found are shown alongside each reference—with suggestions as to the logical sequence to follow in using them. Additional finding aids, some especially useful in citing current legislation, also have been included. Examples are furnished at pertinent points and a list of references, with descriptions, is carried at the end.

This revised edition contains illustrations of principal finding aids and reflects the changes made in the new master table of statutes set out in the 1964 edition of the United States Code.

SUBCHAPTER B—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PART 27—CANNED FRUITS AND FRUIT JUICES

Frozen Concentrate for Artificially Sweetened Lemonade, Identity Standard; Confirmation of Effective Date of Order re Additional Permitted Artificial Sweeteners

In the matter of amending the standard of identity for frozen concentrate for artificially sweetened lemonade (21 CFR 27.103) to provide for the use in that food of the artificial sweeteners (including calcium saccharin) listed in and complying with the food additive regulations (21 CFR Part 121):

Pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 70 Stat. 919, 72 Stat. 948; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371) and in accordance with the authority delegated to the Commissioner of Food and Drugs by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare (21 CFR 2.120), notice is given that no objections were filed to the order in the above-identified matter published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of May 27, 1967 (32 F.R. 7769). Accordingly, the amendments promulgated by that order will become effective on July 26, 1967.

(Secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055, as amended 70 Stat. 919, 72 Stat. 948; 21 U.S.C. 341, 371)

Title 16—COMMERCIAL PRACTICES

Chapter I—Federal Trade Commission

SUBCHAPTER D—TRADE REGULATION RULES

PART 413—FAILURE TO DISCLOSE THAT SKIN IRRITATION MAY RESULT FROM WASHING OR HANDLING GLASS FIBER CURTAINS AND DRAPERIES AND GLASS FIBER CURTAIN AND DRAPERY FABRICS

The Federal Trade Commission, pursuant to the Federal Trade Commission Act, as amended, 15 U.S.C. 41, et seq., and the provisions of Subpart F, Part 1 of the Commission's procedures and rules of practice, 16 CFR 1.61, et seq. (amended June 13, 1967, as Subpart B, Part 1, 32 F.R. 8444), has conducted a proceeding for the promulgation of a Trade Regulation Rule regarding the failure to disclose that skin irritation may result from washing or handling glass fiber curtains and draperies and glass fiber curtain and drapery fabrics. Notice of this proceeding, including a proposed rule, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 15, 1966 (31 F.R. 14599). Interested parties were thereafter afforded opportunity to participate in the proceeding through the submission of written data, views and arguments and to appear and orally express their views as to the proposed rule and to suggest amendments, revisions and additions thereto.

The Commission has now considered all matters of fact, law, policy and discretion, including the data, views and arguments presented by interested parties in response to the Notice and has determined that the adoption of the Trade Regulation Rule and statement of its basis and purpose set forth herein is in the public interest.

THE RULE

413.6 The rule.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 413 issued under 38 Stat. 717, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 41-58.

STATEMENT OF BASIS AND PURPOSE

§ 413.1 Basis of the proceeding.

This proceeding was initiated by the Commission after consideration of statements by members of the consuming public that they had experienced skin irritation after washing or handling glass fiber curtains and draperies and glass fiber curtain and drapery fabrics.

§ 413.2 The practice involved.

Marketers of glass fiber curtains and draperies and glass fiber curtain and drapery fabrics usually furnish washing instructions for such products in the form of package inserts, labels, or tags. Normally these instructions, among other things, advise the purchaser to hand wash the products separately and rinse the container thoroughly after each washing. Purchasers are not cautioned, however, that skin irritation may result when the products are handled without protective covering, as by washing, sewing or hanging, or that such irritation may also occur when the skin is exposed to articles, such as clothing or bed sheets, which have been washed with glass fiber products, or in a container previously used for washing glass fiber products unless such container has been thoroughly cleansed of glass particles which may remain in the container.

§ 413.3 Deceptive character of the practice.

(a) Most glass fibers currently used in weaving fabrics for producing curtains and draperies become increasingly brittle with enlargement of the denier of such fibers. When such fabrics are handled, as by washing, sewing, or hanging, minute glass particles may break off and become lodged in the exposed skin of persons handling them. Likewise when certain articles, such as garments or bed sheets, are washed with glass fiber curtain or drapery fabrics, or washed in a container previously used for washing such fabrics, minute glass particles may become embedded in such articles and transmitted to the exposed skin of the user or wearer thereof. In either event, skin irritation may result.

(b) Although some washing instructions advise purchasers to hand wash glass fiber fabrics separately and rinse the container thoroughly after each washing, such purchasers are not warned as to the consequences of the failure to observe this advice. Such washing instructions may serve as warnings for the care of the fabric but do not serve as warnings that skin irritation may result.

(c) The Commission concludes therefore that the failure to disclose that skin irritation may result from body contact with glass fiber drapery and curtain fabrics, and clothing or other articles which have been washed with such glass fiber products or in containers previously used for washing such products when that container has not been cleansed of glass particles, has the capacity and tendency to mislead and deceive purchasers and prospective purchasers and to divert business from competitors whose products may be washed or handled without the resulting irritation. The Commission further concludes that such practice is violative of section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act, and that the public interest in preventing this practice is specific and substantial.

§ 413.4 Data, views and arguments concerning the rule.

(a) Some interested parties claimed that the record in this proceeding has not established that severe skin irritation results from the handling of glass fiber curtains, draperies, and fabrics and argued that no rule in the matter is justified. Although the factual information does not show that the handling of, or exposure to the products involved will generally result in immediate severe skin irritation, nevertheless such information is to the effect that exposure to the products involved may cause varying degrees of skin irritation. For example, some industry members and other affected parties, and doctors who presented statements on their behalf, concede that some skin reaction or discomfort may occur when the products in question are washed or handled. Further, the record is replete with consumer statements relating their experiences with varying degrees of irritation resulting from the exposure of their skin to particles from glass fiber curtains, draperies, and fabrics. The Commission was urged to disregard such consumer statements on the basis that such statements are medically unconfirmed self-diagnoses and hearsay, and thus of little probative value. However, the Commission is of the opinion that these statements, particularly when coupled with the concession of industry members and affected parties that the products involved may cause skin reaction or discomfort, should be given consideration. Such weight as the Commission has given to expressions of consumer experiences in this proceeding is not counter to or mitigated by medical statements in the record since the consumer statements related the varying degrees of irritation experienced by the writers, while the medical statements were primarily directed to showing that the glass particles did not cause severe skin irritation.

(b) It is concluded, therefore, that skin irritation may result from the handling, as by washing, sewing or hanging, of glass fiber draperies, curtains and yard goods and from body contact with clothing or other articles which have been washed with such glass fiber products or in a container previously used for washing such products when that container has not been cleansed of glass particles.

§ 413.5 Purpose of the rule.

The purpose of this rule is to inform all members of the industry and other interested or affected parties of the Commission's position with respect to the problem at hand and, in the public interest, to eliminate the unlawful deception and unfair competition resulting from the failure to make the disclosure required by the rule.

THE RULE

§ 413.6 The rule.

The Commission hereby promulgates, as a Trade Regulation Rule, its conclusions and determination that in connection with the sale or offering for sale of glass fiber curtains and draperies and glass fiber curtain and drapery fabrics in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, it is an unfair method of competition and an unfair and deceptive act or practice to fail to disclose, clearly and conspicuously, by tag or label affixed to the products with such permanence as to remain thereon until sale to purchasers, and on containers in which the products are delivered to purchasers, that skin irritation may result:

(a) To the exposed skin of persons handling such glass fiber products; and

(b) From body contact with clothing or other articles, such as bed sheets, which have been washed (1) with such glass fiber products, or (2) in a container previously used for washing such glass fiber products unless the glass particles have been removed from such container by cleaning.

Effective date of the rule. This rule becomes effective on January 2, 1968.

Adopted: July 14, 1967.

By the Commission.

Title 14—AERONAUTICS AND SPACE

Chapter I—Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Transportation

SUBCHAPTER E—AIRSPACE

[Airspace Docket No. 67-CE-13]

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area; Correction

On May 24, 1967, a final rule was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7590), F.R. Doc. 67-5750, which included redesignation of the Oshkosh, Wis., transition area. In this redesignation, the term "V-255" was erroneously used; "V-177" should have been used. Action is taken herein to make this correction.

Since this amendment is editorial in nature and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, the redesignation of the Oshkosh, Wis., transition area, as set forth in F.R. Doc. 67-5750, is amended effective 0001 e.s.t., July 20, 1967, as follows: "V-255" is deleted and "V-177" is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Kansas City, Mo., on July 10, 1967.

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration and Designation of Restricted Area

On May 11, 1967, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 7134) stating that the Federal Aviation Administration proposed to modify Restricted Area R-2914, Valparaiso, Fla., and designate a new Restricted Area R-2917, De Funiak Springs, Fla.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through submission of comments. The only comment received, from the Air Transport Association, interposed no objection.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective September 14, 1967, as hereinafter set forth.

1. Section 73.29 (32 F.R. 2303, 5769) R-2914 Valparaiso, Fla., is amended as follows: In the designation of boundaries, delete "to point of beginning" and substitute therefore "to point of beginning, excluding that airspace 5,000 feet MSL and below within a circle with a 1¼-mile radius centered at latitude 30°34'19" N., longitude 86°12'56" W."

2. Section 73.29 (32 F.R. 2303) is amended by adding:

R-2917 DE FUNIAK SPRINGS, FLA.

Boundaries: A circle with a 1¼-mile radius centered at latitude 30°34'19" N., longitude 86°12'56" W.

Designated altitude: Surface to 5,000 feet MSL.

Time of designation: Continuous.

Using agency: Commander, Air Proving Ground, Eglin AFB, Fla.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 24, 1967.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-SW-32]

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration of Restricted Areas

The purpose of these amendments to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the time of designation of Restricted Areas R-5111A and B, Elephant Butte, N. Mex., and R-5112, Magdalena, N. Mex.

The Department of the Air Force (AF) has requested that the time of designation of Restricted Areas R-5111A, R-5111B, and R-5112, be changed from "Continuous" to "Continuous, following issuance of NOTAM by using agency at least 12 hours in advance."

Since issuance of a NOTAM indicating release of a restricted area by the using agency authorizes pilots to use the area without obtaining permission from the controlling agency, these amendments are considered less restrictive to the public and notice and public procedure are not necessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 73.51 (32 F.R. 2320, 5769) Restricted Areas R-5111A, R-5111B, and R-5112 are amended by deleting from the text, "Time of designation: Continuous." and substituting therefor "Time of designation: Continuous, following issuance of NOTAM by using agency at least 12 hours in advance."

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., on July 24, 1967.

[Airspace Docket No. 67-EA-62]

PART 73—SPECIAL USE AIRSPACE

Alteration of Restricted Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 73 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to modify Restricted Area R-6606, Pendleton, Va.

Review of utilization reports indicated that the maximum altitude used in R-6606 was 51,000 feet above mean sea level. The present altitude designation of this area is "Unlimited." The Department of the Navy has agreed to change this unlimited designation to 51,000 feet MSL.

Since this amendment will restore airspace to the public use, notice and public procedure are unnecessary and this amendment may be made effective on less than 30 days notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, § 73.66 (32 F.R. 2334) Restricted Area R-6606 Pendleton, Va., is amended, effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, as follows: "Designated altitudes: Unlimited." is deleted and "Designated altitudes: Surface to 51,000 feet MSL." is substituted therefor.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958; 49 U.S.C. 1348)

Issued in Washington, D.C., July 24, 1967.

SUBCHAPTER F—AIR TRAFFIC AND GENERAL OPERATING RULES

[Reg. Docket No. 8286; Amdt. 546]

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Miscellaneous Amendments

The amendments to the standard instrument approach procedures contained herein are adopted to become effective when indicated in order to promote safety. The amended procedures supersede the existing procedures of the same classification now in effect for the airports specified therein. For the convenience of the users, the complete procedure is republished in this amendment indicating the changes to the existing procedures.

As a situation exists which demands immediate action in the interests of safety in air commerce, I find that compliance with the notice and procedure provisions of the Administrative Procedure Act is impracticable and that good cause exists for making this amendment effective within less than 30 days from publication.

In view of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (24 F.R. 5662), Part 97 (14 CFR Part 97) is amended as follows:

1. By amending the following automatic direction finding procedures prescribed in § 97.11(b) to read:

ADF STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURE

Bearings, headings, courses and radials are magnetic. Elevations and altitudes are in feet MSL. Ceilings are in feet above airport elevation. Distances are in nautical miles unless otherwise indicated, except visibilities which are in statute miles.

If an instrument approach procedure of the above type is conducted at the below named airport, it shall be in accordance with the following instrument approach procedure, unless an approach is conducted in accordance with a different procedure for such airport authorized by the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency. Initial approaches shall be made over specified routes. Minimum altitudes shall correspond with those established for en route operation in the particular area or as set forth below.

RADAR STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURE

Bearings, headings, courses and radials are magnetic. Elevations and altitudes are in feet, MSL. Ceilings are in feet above airport elevation. Distances are in nautical miles unless otherwise indicated, except visibilities which are in statute miles.
If a radar instrument approach is conducted at the below named airport, it shall be in accordance with the following instrument procedure, unless an approach is conducted in accordance with a different procedure for such airport authorized by the Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency. Initial approaches shall be made over specified routes. Minimum altitude(s) shall correspond with those established for en route operation in the particular area or as set forth below. Positive identification must be established with the radar controller. From initial contact with radar to final authorized landing minimums, the instructions of the radar controller are mandatory except when (A) visual contact is established on final approach at or before descent to the authorized landing minimums, or (B) at pilot's discretion if it appears desirable to discontinue the approach, except when the radar controller may direct otherwise prior to final approach, a missed approach shall be executed as provided below when (A) communication on final approach is lost for more than 5 seconds during a precision approach, or for more than 30 seconds during a surveillance approach; (B) directed by radar controller; (C) visual contact is not established upon descent to authorized landing minimums; or (D) if landing is not accomplished.

Title 7—AGRICULTURE

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Agriculture

[Amdt. 19]

PART 5—DETERMINATION OF PARITY PRICES

Prunes and Plums; Sour Cherries

Beginning in May 1967, production and disposition estimates for prunes and plums were changed to (1) discontinue publication of Michigan plum estimates, (2) discontinue publication of Idaho, Washington, and Oregon prune estimates, and (3) combine Michigan, Idaho, Washington, and Oregon estimates in a new category called "prunes and plums". This change was made in order to provide comparable statistics for commodities which are more nearly alike in utilization. Parity prices should be computed on the same commodities. Accordingly, the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture with respect to the determination of parity prices (21 F.R. 761, as amended; 7 CFR 5.1–5.6) are amended as hereinafter specified, effective July 31, 1967, in order to make these changes in the list of commodities for which parity prices shall be calculated. Since it is not practicable to determine the average prices received by farmers for these commodities on a calendar year basis for purposes of computing the adjusted base prices of these commodities for use in making parity calculations, marketing season average prices will be used for these purposes. The term "tart cherries" is also substituted for "sour cherries".

1. In § 5.2, the paragraph under the centerhead "Deciduous and other Fruit" is amended to read as follows:

§ 5.2 Marketing season average price data.

* * * * *

DECIDUOUS AND OTHER FRUIT

Apples for processing; apricots for fresh consumption; apricots for processing (except dried); dried apricots; avocados; blackberries; boysenberries; gooseberries; loganberries; black raspberries; red raspberries; youngberries; tart cherries; sweet cherries; cranberries; dates; figs for fresh consumption; figs for processing (except dried); dried figs; grapes, raisins, dried; all grapes excluding raisins, dried; nectarines for fresh consumption; nectarines for processing; olives for processing (except crushed for oil); olives, crushed for oil; olives for canning; peaches for fresh consumption; clingstone peaches for processing (except dried); freestone peaches for processing (except dried); dried peaches; pears for fresh consumption; pears for processing (except dried); dried pears; persimmons; plums (California), for fresh consumption; plums (California), for processing; pomegranates; dried prunes (California); prunes and plums (excluding California), for fresh consumption; prunes and plums (excluding California), for processing (except dried); strawberries for fresh consumption; and strawberries for processing.

2. In § 5.4, the paragraph under the centerhead "Deciduous and Other Fruit" is amended to read as follows:

§ 5.4 Commodities for which parity prices shall be calculated.

SUBCHAPTER C—SPECIAL PROGRAMS

PART 751—LAND USE ADJUSTMENT PROGRAM

Subpart—1967 Cropland Conversion Program

Sec.
751.150 Purposes and objectives.
751.151 Applicability of the program.
751.152 Terms and conditions of the program.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this subpart issued under sec. 16(e), 76 Stat. 606; 16 U.S.C. 590p(e).

§ 751.150 Purposes and objectives.

The general purposes and objectives of the 1967 cropland conversion program are to improve family farm income by promoting better economic use and conservation of farmland through agreements with farmers providing for (a) conversion of land regularly used in the production of crops to other economic uses, (b) changes in cropping systems, and (c) practices or measures needed to conserve and develop soil, water, forest, wildlife, and recreation resources.

§ 751.151 Applicability of the program.

Agreements may be entered into only with producers who filed a request for a 1967 cropland adjustment program agreement and were entitled to priority under such program but who were not awarded agreements because of the limitation of funds. The program will be further limited to counties for which the State committee establishes an allocation of funds. A list of such counties may be obtained from the State committee.

§ 751.152 Terms and conditions of the program.

(a) Except as provided in this section, the terms and conditions of the 1967 cropland conversion program shall be the same as those prescribed in the regulations which are applicable to the 1967 cropland adjustment program, §§ 751.101–751.141, as amended, and such regulations shall be applicable to the 1967 cropland conversion program.

(b) The acreage ceilings prescribed in § 751.110 shall not be applicable.

(c) The rates of annual adjustment payment determined in accordance with § 751.115 shall be reduced by an amount equal to one-half the nonallotment rate established for the farm.

(d) The tame hay base for the farm shall not be designated as diverted where the producer requests authority to harvest hay from the designated acreage.

(e) The provisions of § 751.113 (a) and (d) relating to length of agreement period and extending agreements shall not be applicable. Agreements approved under the subpart shall be for a period of 3 years.

(f) The authority in § 751.115(b) to increase the annual adjustment payment rate for permitting access to the general public for hunting, trapping, fishing, and hiking, shall not be applicable.

(g) The provisions of § 751.115(c), relating to the 40 per centum limitation on the annual adjustment payment rate shall not be applicable.

(h) Section 751.118(b)(2)(xiii) shall not be applicable. Land with respect to which the ownership has changed during the 3-year period preceding the first year of the agreement period shall not be eligible for designation unless the new ownership was acquired by will or succession as a result of the death of the previous owner. This provision shall not prohibit the continuation of an agreement by a new owner after an agreement has once been entered into under this subpart.

(i) The designated acreage may be grazed and, except where the tame hay base is designated as diverted, hay may be harvested from such acreage.

(j) In addition to the eligible conservation practices eligible to be carried out under § 751.118(e), the Director may approve other practices if they are determined to be needed to accomplish the objectives of the program.

(k) A farm currently under a cropland conversion program agreement or a cropland adjustment program agreement shall not be eligible for this program.

Effective date: Upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on July 25, 1967.

Chapter IX—Consumer and Marketing Service (Marketing Agreements and Orders; Fruits, Vegetables, Nuts), Department of Agriculture

[Area No. 3]

PART 948—IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN COLORADO

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

Notice of rule making regarding the proposed expenses and rate of assessment for Area No. 3 (Northern Colorado), to be effective under Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 948, both as amended (7 CFR Part 948), was published in the June 27, 1967, FEDERAL REGISTER (32 F.R. 9084). This regulatory program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The notice afforded interested persons an opportunity to file written data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto not later than the 15th day after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. None was filed, however, the Committee reported that its expenses for the fiscal period ended May 31, 1967, totaled $2,848.66 which total is in excess of the $2,500 approved for last year's expenses.

After consideration of all relevant matters, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice which were recommended by the Area Committee for Area No. 3, established pursuant to the said marketing agreement and order, it is hereby found and determined that § 948.251, expenses for the fiscal period ended May 31, 1967, be increased to $2,848.66, and that the rate of assessment and expenses for the fiscal period ending May 31, 1968, shall be as set forth in the aforesaid notice, as follows:

§ 948.251 Expenses and rate of assessment, Area No. 3.

(a) The reasonable expenses incurred by the Area Committee for Area No. 3 to perform its functions during the fiscal period ended May 31, 1967, amounted to $2,848.66. The budget for such fiscal period is hereby amended, pursuant to § 948.77(c) and the recommendation of the Committee, to approve such expenses for a total of $2,848.66. No change in the rate of assessment is necessary.

* * * * *

§ 948.254 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) The reasonable expenses that are likely to be incurred by the Area Committee for Area No. 3, established pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 948, both as amended, to enable such committee to perform its functions pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid amended agreement and order during the fiscal period ending May 31, 1968, will amount to $2,750.

(b) The rate of assessment to be paid by each handler in Area No. 3 pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 97 and Order No. 948, both as amended, shall be $0.00125 per hundredweight of potatoes handled by him as the first handler thereof during said fiscal period.

(c) Unexpended income in excess of expenses for the fiscal period ending May 31, 1968, may be carried over as a reserve.

(d) Terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 97, as amended, and this part.

It is hereby found that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553 (1966)) in that: (1) The relevant provisions of this part require that the rate of assessment for a particular fiscal period shall be applicable to all assessable potatoes from the beginning of such period, and (2) the current fiscal period began on June 1, 1967, and the rate of assessment herein will apply to all assessable potatoes beginning with such date.

(Secs. 1–19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601–674)

Dated: July 24, 1967.

SUBCHAPTER C—FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN SYSTEM

[No. 20,704]

PART 544—CHARTER AND BYLAWS

Age Limitation on Directors

JUNE 29, 1967.

Resolved that the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, upon the basis of consideration by it of the advisability of amending § 544.6 of the rules and regulations for the Federal Savings and Loan System (12 CFR 544.6), to permit Federal savings and loan associations to provide an age limitation applicable to the directors of such associations, and for the purpose of effecting such amendment hereby amends said § 544.6 by adding, immediately after paragraph (g), a new paragraph, paragraph (h), to read as follows, effective August 28, 1967:

§ 544.6 Amendment to bylaws.

* * * * *

(h) Age limitation on directors. Except as provided herein, no person shall be eligible for election, reelection, appointment or reappointment to the board of directors of the association who is more than (fill in any age from 65 to 70) years of age. Unless otherwise provided by the board of directors by resolution, the provisions of this paragraph shall not be applicable to any person who has served continuously as a director of the association from and after (date of adoption) until that person has been reelected to another full or partial term as a director of the association.

(Sec. 5, 48 Stat. 132, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 1464. Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1947, 12 F.R. 4981, 3 CFR, 1947 Supp.)

Resolved further that, since the foregoing amendment is designed merely to provide a uniform format for an optional bylaw provision establishing an age limitation for directors, the Board finds that notice and public procedure on said amendment are unnecessary under the provisions of § 508.12 of the general regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (12 CFR 508.12) and 5 U.S.C. 553.3(b), and for the same reason, the Board hereby finds that deferral of the effective date of the said amendment pursuant to the provisions of § 508.14 of the general regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (12 CFR 508.14) and 5 U.S.C. 553(d) is not required, and the Board provides that the said amendment shall be effective as hereinbefore set forth.

PART 544—CHARTER AND BYLAWS

Age Limitation on Officers

JULY 20, 1967.

Resolved that the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, upon the basis of consideration by it of the advisability of amending § 544.6 of the rules and regulations for the Federal Savings and Loan System (12 CFR 544.6), to permit Federal savings and loan associations to provide an age limitation applicable to the officers of such associations, and for the purpose of effecting such amendment hereby amends said § 544.6 by adding, immediately after paragraph (h), a new paragraph, paragraph (i), to read as follows, effective August 28, 1967:

§ 544.6 Amendment to bylaws.

* * * * *

(i) Age limitation on officers. Except as provided herein, no person shall be eligible for election, reelection, appointment or reappointment to the board of directors of the association who is more than (fill in any age from 65 to 70) years of age. Unless otherwise provided by the board of directors by resolution, the provisions of this paragraph shall not be applicable to any person who has served continuously as an officer of the association from and after (date of adoption) until that person has been reelected to another full or partial term as an officer of the association.

(Sec. 5, 48 Stat. 132, as amended; 12 U.S.C. 1464. Reorg. Plan No. 3 of 1947, 12 F.R. 4981, 3 CFR, 1947 Supp.)

Resolved further that, since the foregoing amendment is designed merely to provide a uniform format for an optional bylaw provision establishing an age limitation for officers, the Board finds that notice and public procedure on said amendment are unnecessary under the provisions of § 508.12 of the general regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (12 CFR 508.12) and 5 U.S.C. 553.3(b), and for the same reason, the Board hereby finds that deferral of the effective date of the said amendment pursuant to the provisions of § 508.14 of the general regulations of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board (12 CFR 508.14) and 5 U.S.C. 553(d) is not required, and the Board provides that the said amendment shall be effective as hereinbefore set forth.

Title 19—CUSTOMS DUTIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Customs, Department of the Treasury

[T.D. 67-174]

PART 16—LIQUIDATION OF DUTIES

Countervailing Duties; Sugar Content of Certain Articles From Australia

The following information is published pursuant to T.D. 54582 dated April 29, 1958 (23 F.R. 3034).

The Treasury Department is in receipt of official information that the rates of bounties or grants paid or bestowed by the Australian Government within the meaning of section 303, Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1303), on the exportation during the first 6 months of 1967 of approved fruit products and other approved products containing sugar are the amounts set forth in the following table:

MERCHANDISE—APPROVED FRUIT PRODUCTS AND OTHER APPROVED PRODUCTS

1967	Net amount of bounty per 2,240 lbs. of sugar content
	Aus.
January	$102.80
February	109.20
March	92.20
April	96.80
May	81.70
June	75.90

The net amounts of bounties or grants on the above-described commodities which are manufactured or produced in Australia are hereby ascertained, determined, and declared to be the amounts set forth in the above table. Additional duties on the above-described commodities, except those commodities covered by T.D. 55716 (27 F.R. 9595), whether imported directly or indirectly from that country, equal to the appropriate net amount of the bounty shown in the above table shall be assessed and collected.

The table in § 16.24(f) of the Customs Regulations is amended by inserting after the last line under "Australia—Sugar content of certain articles" the number of this Treasury decision in the column headed "Treasury Decision" and the words "New rates" in the column headed "Action." Since it has been determined that the retention of references to Treasury decisions publishing countervailing duty orders for a longer period than 1 year serves no real need (T.D. 56258, 29 F.R. 12961), the table is further amended by deleting therefrom under "Australia—Sugar content of certain articles" the number 66–257 in the column headed "Treasury Decision" and the words "New rates" appearing opposite such number in the column headed "Action."

Title 29—LABOR

Subtitle A—Office of the Secretary of Labor

PART 2—GENERAL REGULATIONS

PART 70—EXAMINATION AND COPYING OF LABOR DEPARTMENT DOCUMENTS

Pursuant to authority in 5 U.S.C. 301, 552, 559, 65 Stat. 290, and in Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR, 1949–53 Comp., p. 1004), 29 CFR Part 2 is revised and 29 CFR Part 70 is established to read as set out below. As the changes made by this document relate solely to interpretative rules, general statements of policy, and to rules of agency procedure and practice, neither notice of proposed rule making nor public participation therein is required by 5 U.S.C. 553. Since the changes made by this document either relieve restriction or they are interpretative rules, no delay in effective date is required by 5 U.S.C. 553(d). I do not believe such participation or such delay would serve a useful purpose here. These rules shall, therefore, be effective immediately.

1. The new 29 CFR Part 70 reads as follows:

Sec.
70.1 Scope and purpose.
70.2 Labor Department documents which may be inspected and copied.
70.3 Documents exempt from disclosure.
70.4 Procedure for disclosure.
70.5 Indices.
70.6 Copies.
70.7 Withdrawal of originals.
70.8 Availability of documents containing statistical information or information concerning labor-management relations.
70.9 Officers authorized to sign and issue certificates of authentication.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 70 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, 552, 559; 65 Stat. 290; Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (3 CFR, 1949–53 Comp., p. 1004), unless otherwise noted.

§ 70.1 Scope and purpose.

This Part 70 provides the regulations implementing section 3 of the Administrative Procedure Act as revised by the Act of July 4, 1966 (P.L. 89–487, 80 Stat. 250), requiring disclosure of certain information. It also implements the policy of the Department of Labor to disclose all other information on request so far as is compatible with the discharge of its responsibilities.

§ 70.2 Labor Department documents which may be inspected and copied.

(a) Except as to documents exempted from disclosure pursuant to § 70.3, any person may inspect and copy any document in the possession and custody of the U.S. Department of Labor in accordance with the procedure provided in § 70.4.

(b) To the extent required to prevent a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, the custodian may delete identifying details when he makes available or publishes an opinion, statement of policy, interpretation, or staff manual or instruction, provided that in every case the justification for the deletion is fully explained in writing.

§ 70.3 Documents exempt from disclosure.

The officer authorized to disclose a document as provided in § 70.4(b) may decline to disclose matters that are: (a) specifically required by Executive order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy; (b) related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of any administration, bureau, or office of the Department of Labor; (c) specifically exempted from disclosure by statute; (d) trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from any person and privileged or confidential; (e) interagency or intra-agency memoranda or letters; (f) personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy; and (g) investigatory files compiled for law enforcement purposes. Such officer may, nonetheless, make any such document, other than those referred to in paragraph a of this section or specifically required by statute to be kept secret, available for inspection and copying, if he determines that such availability furthers the public interest and does not impede the discharge of any of the functions of the Labor Department.

§ 70.4 Procedure for disclosure.

(a) Request. Any person who desires to exercise the right to inspect or copy any document as provided in § 70.2(a) shall make a written request to the administration, bureau, or office of the Department of Labor which has custody of the document he desires to inspect or copy. The request shall be directed to the chief of the administration, bureau, or office unless the document is in the custody of one of its field offices. If the document is in the custody of a field office, the request shall be directed to the chief of the regional office (or, if there are no regional offices, the chief of the highest field office) which has custody of the document or supervisory authority over the field office which has such custody. The administrations, bureaus, and offices referred to are: Office of the Secretary of Labor; Office of the Solicitor; Office of Information, Publications and Reports; Office of Federal Contract Compliance (EEO); Office of the Plans for Progress; Employees' Compensation Appeals Board; Labor-Management Services Administration; Manpower Administration; Wage and Labor Standards Administration; Bureau of International Labor Affairs; Bureau of Labor Statistics. For this purpose only, the Chief of the Office of the Secretary shall be considered to be the Assistant Secretary for Administration; and the Chief of the Office of the Solicitor shall be considered to be the Deputy Solicitor. The organization of the Department of Labor, its principal officers, and addresses of its regional and other field offices are found in the "U.S. Government Organization Manual," published annually by the Office of the Federal Register, and available for purchase from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. The request shall identify the document with the symbols provided for it in the index referred to in § 70.5, unless the request is by mail or the document is not referred to in such index, in which case the request shall identify the document as fully as is possible by reference to subject matter, dated, author, addressee, and otherwise so as to permit its convenient selection from among the many documents likely also to be in the possession and custody of the officer to whom the request is directed.

(b) Action on request. Except with respect to matters specifically required by Executive order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy and with respect to matters specifically required by statute to be kept secret, the officer to whom the request is made has authority to grant it to the extent that he is able to find the document described in his possession or custody. Such action shall not be subject to review. He may deny the request to the extent such denial is authorized by § 70.3. In any event, he must either grant or deny the request promptly after he is able to ascertain whether the document is in his possession or custody. Should he deny the request, the person making the request may present the matter to the Solicitor of Labor if he feels that he has a right to inspect or copy the document under the terms of this Part 70 or section 3 of the Administrative Procedure Act. Such presentation may contain such data, views, and argument as the person presenting it considers pertinent and helpful. The officer denying the request shall, either at the request of the person making the initial request or at the request of the Solicitor of Labor, transmit the original request to the Solicitor of Labor. The Solicitor shall review the matter and submit a recommendation for disposition of the request to the Under Secretary of Labor. The decision of the Under Secretary shall be the final one for the Department of Labor.

§ 70.5 Indices.

Each officer identified in § 70.4(a) shall maintain and make available for public inspection and copying a current index providing identifying information for the public as to any material in his possession and custody which is issued, adopted, or promulgated by him after July 4, 1967, which is a final opinion (including concurring and dissenting opinions) or an order made in the adjudication of a case, a statement of policy or interpretation which has been adopted by him and not published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, or administrative staff manual or instruction that affects any member of the public. Each such officer shall forward a copy of each page of his index (including information as to pages which have become obsolete) to the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Administration in the Main Labor Building, 14th Street and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., who will serve as central repository for, and make available for public inspection, all such indices compiled by such officers.

§ 70.6 Copies.

(a) Made by the requesting party. Persons whose requests for permission to examine documents are approved under § 70.4 will, on request, be provided facilities for making manual copies of such documents.

(b) Made by the Department of Labor. Any document which has been released for inspection pursuant to § 70.4 will be copied by the Department of Labor on the request and at the expense of the requesting party. Except for copies duplicated for distribution for no fee and except as otherwise provided in § 70.8(b), the fee of 25 cents will be charged for each facsimile page reproduction in a maximum size of 10½" x 15½". Where such copying by the Department of Labor at the expense of the requesting person is requested, the request filed pursuant to § 70.4 may be by mail. In such case, such postal fees in excess of domestic first-class postal rates as are necessary for the type of transmittal of copies requested will be added to the per-page fee specified, unless appropriate stamps or stamped envelopes are furnished with the request.

§ 70.7 Withdrawal of originals.

No document or other paper in the possession and custody of the Department of Labor, or of any administration, bureau, office, or officer thereof, shall on any occasion be taken or withdrawn by any agent, attorney, or other person not officially connected with the Department; no exception will be made without the written consent of the Secretary or the Solicitor of Labor.

§ 70.8 Availability of documents containing statistical information or information concerning labor-management relations.

(a) The documents described in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph are in the possession and custody of the offices indicated below. The right of inspection and copying provided in this Part 70 may be exercised at such offices.

(1) Bureau of Labor Statistics. Collective bargaining agreements and other available agreements and actions thereunder settling or adjusting labor disputes, maintained by the Department of Labor pursuant to section 211(a) of the Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947 (61 Stat. 156; 29 U.S.C. 181); other available statistical information, tables, studies, and reports, collected, collated, and published or reported by the Bureau of Labor Statistics pursuant to the provisions of Title 29, Chapter I of the United States Code. As required by the governing statute and as provided in § 70.3, requests to inspect or copy any such document shall be denied with respect to any specific information submitted to the Department in confidence.

ADDRESS

U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, General Accounting Office, 441 G Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20212.

(2) Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports. (i) Copies of the descriptions of welfare or pension benefit plans, amendments or modifications thereto, and entire or individual pages of annual financial reports thereon, filed pursuant to section 8(b) of the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act (72 Stat. 1002, 29 U.S.C. 307).

(ii) Data and information contained in any report or other document filed pursuant to sections 201, 202, 203, 211, and 301 of the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1959 (73 Stat. 524–528, 530, 79 Stat. 888; 29 U.S.C. 431–433, 441, 461).

(iii) The contents of reports and documents filed pursuant to subsections 9 (f) and (g) of the National Labor Relations Act, as amended (61 Stat. 143; 29 U.S.C. 159; 73 Stat. 575) prior to the repeal of those subsections.

ADDRESS

U.S. Department of Labor, Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports, Public Documents Room, 6701 Georgia Avenue, Silver Spring, Md. 20910.

(b) Upon request of the Governor of a State for copies of any reports or documents available under paragraph (a)(2) of this section or for information and data contained therein, which have been filed by any person whose principal place of business or headquarters is in such State, the Office of Labor-Management and Welfare-Pension Reports shall:

(1) Make available without payment of a charge to the State agency designated by law or by such Governor, such requested copies or information and data, or;

(2) Require the person who filed such reports or documents, to furnish such copies or information and data directly to the State agency thus designated.

(61 Stat. 156, 72 Stat. 1002, 73 Stat. 520, 530; 29 U.S.C. 181, 307, 438, 461)

§ 70.9 Officers authorized to sign and issue certificates of authentication.

Authority is hereby given to any officer or officers of the Department of Labor designated as Authentication Officer or officers of said Department to sign and issue certificates of authentication under the seal of the Department of Labor. The form of authentication shall be as follows:

I hereby certify, that _____ who signed the foregoing attestation, is now and was at the time of signing (title) _____ and has legal custody of the official documents of the U.S. Department of Labor therein attested and that full faith and credit should be given to his act as such.

In witness whereof, I _____ duly designated by the Secretary of Labor as Authentication Officer of the Department of Labor, have hereunto subscribed my name and caused the seal of the Department of Labor to be affixed this _____ day of _____ 19__.

(Authentication Officer, Department of Labor)

2. The revised 29 CFR Part 2 reads as follows:

Sec.
2.1 Employees attached to regional offices.
2.2 Employees attached to Washington office.
2.3 Consent of the Secretary.
2.4 Bureau of Labor Statistics.
2.5 Claims under the Federal Tort Claims Act for loss of or damage to property or for personal injury or death.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 2 issued under 5 U.S.C. 301, unless otherwise noted.

§ 2.1 Employees attached to regional offices.

No person who has been an employee of the Department and attached to a Regional office of any bureau, board, division, or other agency thereof, shall be permitted to practice, appear, or act as attorney, agent, or representative before the Department or any branch or agent thereof in connection with any case or administrative proceeding which was pending before such Regional office during the time of his employment with the Department, unless he shall first obtain the written consent thereto of the Secretary of Labor or his duly authorized representative.

§ 2.2 Employees attached to Washington office.

No person who has been an employee of the Department and attached to the Washington office of any bureau, board, division, or other agency thereof, shall be permitted to practice, appear, or act as attorney, agent, or representative before the Department or any branch or agent thereof, in connection with any case or administrative proceeding pending before such bureau, board, division, or other agency during the time of his employment with the Department, unless he shall first obtain the written consent thereto of the Secretary of Labor or his duly authorized representative.

§ 2.3 Consent of the Secretary.

The consent of the Secretary or his duly authorized representative may be obtained as follows:

The applicant shall file an application in the form of an affidavit. Such application, directed to the Secretary should:

(a) State the former connection of the applicant with the Department;

(b) Identify the matter in which the applicant desires to appear, and

(c) Contain a statement to the effect that the applicant gave no personal consideration to such matter while he was an employee of the Department.

The application will be denied if the statements contained therein are disproved by an examination of the files, records, and circumstances pertaining to the matter, or if, in the opinion of the Secretary or his duly authorized representative, the public interest so requires. If the Secretary or his duly authorized representative is satisfied that the applicant gave no personal consideration to the matter in question while employed by the Department, and if he is satisfied that it is lawful and consistent with the public interest to do so, he may grant his consent, in writing, to the request of the applicant, subject to such conditions, if any, as he deems necessary and desirable. Any function of the Secretary under this section may be performed by the Under Secretary of Labor.

§ 2.4 Bureau of Labor Statistics.

(a) No investigator, statistician, economist, or other officer or employee of the Bureau of Labor Statistics shall testify on behalf of any party at any cause pending in any court or before any board, commission, or other administrative agency of the United States or of any State, Territory or the District of Columbia, with respect to any information, facts or other matter entrusted to him in confidence in such a manner as to reveal the identity of the person, firm, or corporation to whom the information, facts or other matters pertain, whether in answer to a subpoena or otherwise.

(b) Whenever any subpoena shall have been served upon any such investigator, statistician, economist, or other officer or employee of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, he will, unless otherwise expressly directed, appear in court in answer thereto and respectfully decline to give the testimony called for, on the ground of being prohibited therefrom by the regulations of the Labor Department.

(c) No exceptions will be made without the written consent of the Secretary.

§ 2.5 Claims under the Federal Tort Claims Act for loss of or damage to property or for personal injury or death.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 2672, any claim under the Federal Tort Claims Act for loss of or damage to property or on account of personal injury or death, in an amount of $25,000 or less, caused by the negligent or wrongful act or omission of any employee of the Department of Labor while acting within the scope of his office or employment under circumstances where the United States, if a private person, would be liable to the claimant for such damage, loss, injury, or death in accordance with the law of the place where the act or omission occurred may be presented in writing to the Solicitor of Labor, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington 25, D.C., or to any regional or branch office of the Solicitor, by the claimant in his own right or through an attorney at any time within 2 years after such claim has accrued. If the claim is presented through an attorney, such presentation should be accompanied by duly authenticated powers of attorney.

Each claim presented should include a sworn detailed statement of the facts and such affidavits, vouchers, bills, and other documents as the claimant deems appropriate for the proper determination of his claim. If, after investigation, the Solicitor determines on the basis of all the evidence that compensation is due the claimant under the Federal Tort Claims Act, the amount so found, together with such reasonable attorney's fees as may be allowed, will be paid by the Secretary of Labor.

(Interpret or apply 28 U.S.C. 2672)

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 24th day of July 1967.

W. WILLARD WIRTZ,
Secretary of Labor.

Title 50—WILDLIFE AND FISHERIES

Chapter I—Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fish and Wildlife Service, Department of the Interior

PART 32—HUNTING

Waubay National Wildlife Refuge, S. Dak.

The following special regulation is issued and is effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 32.32 Special regulations; big game; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

SOUTH DAKOTA

WAUBAY NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Public hunting of deer on the Waubay National Wildlife Refuge, S. Dak., is permitted only on the area designated by signs as open to hunting. This area, comprising 4,591 acres, is delineated on a map available at refuge headquarters, Waubay, S. Dak., and from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 1006 West Lake Street, Minneapolis, Minn. 55408. Hunting shall be in accordance with all applicable State regulations covering the hunting of deer subject to the following conditions:

(1) Firearms season—November 25, 1967 through December 3, 1967, both dates inclusive.

(2) Hunting with bows and arrows is not permitted.

(3) Hunters will not be allowed to drive on refuge-maintained trails but may park their vehicles and hunt on foot.

(4) All deer taken on the refuge must be checked in at a designated checking station.

The provisons of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern hunting on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 32, and are effective through December 3, 1967.

ROBERT R. JOHNSON,
Refuge Manager, Waubay National Wildlife Refuge, Waubay, S. Dak.

PART 33—SPORT FISHING

Waubay National Wildlife Refuge, S. Dak.

The following special regulation is issued and is effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

§ 33.5 Special regulations; sport fishing; for individual wildlife refuge areas.

SOUTH DAKOTA

WAUBAY NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Sport fishing on the Waubay National Wildlife Refuge, S. Dak., is permitted only on the areas designated by signs as open to fishing. This open area, comprising 320 acres or 16 percent of the total water areas of the refuge, is delineated on a map available at refuge headquarters and from the office of the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, 1006 West Lake Street, Minneapolis, Minn. 55408. Sport fishing is subject to the following conditions:

(a) Species permitted to be taken: Northern pike, perch, bullheads, and other minor species permitted by State regulations.

(b) Open season: Daylight hours from December 1, 1967, through February 28, 1968.

(c) Daily creel limits: Northern pike—8; perch—50; bullheads—50; creel limits for other minor species are as prescribed by State regulations.

(d) Methods of fishing:

1. Tackle—anglers may use a maximum of two lines, and a maximum of three hooks on each line. Artificial lures constitute one hook, regardless of the number of gang hooks attached.

(e) Other provisions:

1. The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern fishing on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 33.

2. A Federal permit is not required to enter the public fishing area.

3. The provisions of this special regulation are effective through February 28, 1968.

CONDITIONS OF DELIVERY

Delivery to Mail Receiving Agency

Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making consisting of a revision to paragraph (a)(2) in § 154.2 of Title 39, Code of Federal Regulations. The proposed revision to paragraph (a)(2) would clarify conditions under which mail is to be delivered to a mail receiving agency.

Although the procedures in 39 CFR Part 154 relate to a proprietary function of the Government, it is the desire of the Postmaster General voluntarily to observe the rule making requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U.S.C. 553) in order that patrons of the Postal Service may have an opportunity to submit written data, views, and arguments concerning the proposed revisions. Such written comments may be submitted to the Director, Classification and Special Services Division, Bureau of Operations, Post Office Department, Washington, D.C. 20260 at any time prior to the 30th day following the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Accordingly, it is proposed that paragraph (a)(2) of § 154.2 read as follows:

§ 154.2 Delivery of addressee's mail to another.

(a) Delivery to addressee's agent. • • •

(2) When mail is to be delivered to a commercial mail receiving agency, Form 1583, "Application for Delivery of Mail Through Agent," must be signed by both the commercial agent and the addressee. The original of the completed Form 1583 must be filed with the postmaster and a duplicate copy of the completed Form 1583 must be kept on file by the commercial agency. In consideration of delivery of the mail to the commercial agent, the addressee and the agent are deemed to agree that:

(i) No change of address order will be filed with the post office when the agency relationship is terminated;

(ii) The forwarding of mail intended for the addressee is the responsibility of the agent; and,

(iii) When remailed by the commercial agent, the mail is subject to payment of new postage since delivery is deemed to have been made when the mail was delivered to the commercial agent.

IRISH POTATOES GROWN IN SOUTHEASTERN STATES

Expenses and Rate of Assessment

Consideration is being given to the approval of the expenses and rate of assessment, hereinafter set forth, which were recommended by the Southeastern Potato Committee established pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 104 and Order No. 953 (7 CFR Part 953). This marketing order regulates the handling of Irish potatoes grown in certain designated counties of Virginia and North Carolina effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with these proposals shall file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

§ 953.204 Expenses and rate of assessment.

(a) The reasonable expenses that are likely to be incurred by the Southeastern Potato Committee, established pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 104 and Order No. 953 to enable such committee to perform its functions pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid agreement and order during the fiscal period ending October 31, 1967, will amount to $3,900.

(b) There shall be no assessments charged during said fiscal period.

(c) Terms used in this section shall have the same meaning as when used in Marketing Agreement No. 104 and this part.

CELERY GROWN IN FLORIDA

Marketable Quantity for 1967–68 Season; Uniform Percentage; and Limitation on Handling

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary of Agriculture is considering the approval of a limitation of shipments regulation, hereinafter set forth, which was recommended by the Florida Celery Committee, established pursuant to Marketing Agreement No. 149 and Order No. 967 (7 CFR Part 967) regulating the handling of celery grown in Florida. This program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with this proposal should file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the 15th day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)). The proposal is as follows:

§ 967.303 Marketable quantity for 1967–68 season; uniform percentage; and limitation on handling.

(a) The Marketable Quantity for the 1967–68 season is established, pursuant to § 967.36(a), as 7,837,375 crates.

(b) As provided in § 967.38(a), the Uniform Percentage for the 1967–68 season is determined as 84.231 percent.

(c) During the season August 1, 1967, through July 31, 1968, no handler may handle, as provided in § 967.36(b)(1), any harvested celery unless it is within the Marketable Allotment for the producer of such celery.

(d) It is determined that pursuant to § 967.37(d), no reserve for Base Quantities for the 1967–68 season is established.

(e) Terms used herein shall have the same meaning as when used in the marketing agreement and order.

DOMESTIC DATES PRODUCED OR PACKED IN CALIFORNIA

Expenses of Date Administrative Committee and Rate of Assessment for 1967–68 Crop Year

Notice is hereby given of a proposal regarding expenses of the Date Administrative Committee for the 1967–68 crop year and rate of assessment for that crop year, pursuant to §§ 987.71 and 987.72 of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 987, as amended (7 CFR Part 987), regulating the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in a designated area of California. The marketing agreement and order are effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674).

The Date Administrative Committee has unanimously recommended for the 1967–68 crop year beginning August 1, 1967, a budget of expenses in the total amount of $36,970 and an assessment rate of 8 cents per hundred pounds of assessable dates. Expenses in that amount and the assessment rate are specified in the proposal hereinafter set forth. The assessable poundage is estimated by the Committee at 33.712 million pounds.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposal should file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the eighth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

The proposal is as follows:

§ 987.312 Expenses of the Date Administrative Committee and rate of assessment for the 1967–68 crop year.

(a) Expenses. Expenses in the amount of $26,970 are reasonable and likely to be incurred by the Date Administrative Committee during the crop year beginning August 1, 1967, for its maintenance and functioning and for such other purposes as the Secretary may, pursuant to the applicable provisions of this part, determine to be appropriate.

(b) Rate of assessment. The rate of assessment for that crop year which each handler is required, pursuant to § 987.72, to pay to the Date Administrative Committee as his pro rata share of the expenses is fixed at 8 cents per hundredweight on all dates he has certified during the crop year as meeting the requirements for marketable dates, including the eligible portion of any field-run dates certified and set aside or disposed of pursuant to § 987.45(f).

Dated: July 24, 1967.

DOMESTIC DATES PRODUCED OR PACKED IN CALIFORNIA

Free and Restricted Percentages and Withholding Factors for 1967–68 Crop Year

Notice is hereby given of a proposal to establish, for the 1967–68 crop year beginning August 1, 1967, free and restricted percentages and withholding factors applicable to marketable dates of the Deglet Noor, Zahidi, Halawy, and Khadrawy varieties. The proposed percentages and withholding factors would be established in accordance with the provisions of the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 987, as amended (7 CFR Part 987), regulating the handling of domestic dates produced or packed in a designated area of California, effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601–674). The proposal was recommended by the Date Administrative Committee.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments in connection with the aforesaid proposal should file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than the eighth day after the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Estimates pertinent to the establishment of such proposed percentages and withholding factors are as follows:

Factors	Deglet Noor	Zahidi	Halawy	Khadrawy
		1,000 pounds
1. Unacertified handler carry-over (July 31, 1967)	13,400	363	55	51
2. Production of marketable dates (1967–68 crop year)	31,026	1,517	231	336
3. Total available supply of marketable dates subject to regulation	47,026	2,080	286	386
4. Trade demand [1]	21,250	1,200	111	426
5. Plus: Allowance for handler carry-over (July 31, 1968)	13,300	220	10	50
6. Less: Certified handler carry-over (July 31, 1967)	4,017	22	26	86
7. Requirements for free dates	30,533	1,398	295	390
8. Marketable dates in excess of requirements for free dates (item 3 minus 7)	16,502	575	(2)	(1)

[1] The Date Administrative Committee included no countries other than the United States and Canada in its determination of trade demand.

On the basis of the foregoing estimates, free and restricted percentages and a withholding factor for Deglet Noor dates of 65 percent, 35 percent, and 53.8 percent, respectively, and for Zahidi dates of 72 percent, 28 percent, and 38.9 percent, respectively, appear to be appropriate for the 1967–68 crop year.

For the Halawy variety and also the Khadrawy variety, the estimated total available supply of marketable dates subject to regulation approximates the estimated requirements for free dates. A free percentage of 100 percent, therefore, is proposed for each variety.

The proposal is as follows:

§ 987.215 Free and restricted percentages, and withholding factors.

The various free percentages, restricted percentages, and withholding factors applicable to marketable dates of each variety shall be, for the crop year beginning August 1, 1967, and ending July 31, 1968, as follows: (a) Deglet Noor variety dates: Free percentage, 65 percent; restricted percentage, 35 percent; and withholding factor, 53.8 percent; (b) Zahidi variety dates: Free percentage, 72 percent; restricted percentage, 28 percent; and withholding factor, 38.9 percent; (c) Halawy variety dates: Free percentage, 100 percent; restricted percentage, 0 percent; and withholding factor, 0 percent; and (d) Khadrawy variety dates: Free percentage, 100 percent; restricted percentage, 0 percent; and withholding factor, 0 percent.

Dated: July 24, 1967.

Acting Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Consumer and Marketing Service.

[Docket No. AO 160-A84]

MILK IN DELAWARE VALLEY MARKETING AREA

Notice of Recommended Decision and Opportunity To File Written Exceptions on Proposed Amendments to Tentative Marketing Agreement and to Order

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of the filing with the Hearing Clerk of this recommended decision with respect to proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and order regulating the handling of milk in the Delaware Valley marketing area. Interested parties may file written exceptions to this decision with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, by the 3d day after publication of this decision in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The exceptions should be filed in quadruplicate. All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Preliminary statement. The hearing on the record of which the proposed amendments, as hereinafter set forth, to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order as amended, were formulated, was conducted at Philadelphia, Pa., on June 12–13, 1967, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on May 29, 1967 (32 F.R. 7976), and supplemental notice issued on June 2, 1967 (32 F.R. 8176).

The material issues on the record of the hearing relate to:

1. Providing a base and excess plan for payment of producers and need for emergency action with respect to this plan.

2. Diversions of milk to other Federal order plants for Class II use.

3. Modification of the point of pricing of diverted milk.

4. Shipping requirements for supply plants to attain pool plant status.

A recommended decision (32 F.R. 9836) has been issued dealing with Issue No. 1. This recommended decision deals with each of the remaining issues.

Findings and conclusions. The following findings and conclusions on the material issues are based on evidence presented at the hearing and the record thereof:

Issue No. 2. Diversion of milk to other Federal order plants for Class II use. The order should be amended to permit producer milk to be diverted to an other Federal order plant for Class II use by agreement if such milk would not acquire producer status under the other order in view of its status under this order.

Under the individual-handler pooling arrangement which was effective prior to June 1 diversions were not restricted since each handler was in a position to add or release producers to accommodate his particular operation. If the handler's blend price became unfavorable compared to that of other handlers with whom he competed in procurement, he would likely lose his better producers to other handlers. Therefore, there was little likelihood that any handler would increase his producer receipts solely for the purpose of obtaining a supply of milk for manufacturing uses.

With the recent change to marketwide pooling certain diversion privileges were provided to permit the efficient handling of the market's necessary reserve. It was concluded, however, that milk moved directly from the farm to an other Federal order plant appropriately should not acquire producer milk status under this order, since under Federal orders generally milk received directly from the farm at a pool plant is accorded producer milk status in the receiving market. Therefore, no provision was made in the Delaware Valley order for diversions to plants regulated under other Federal orders.

Prior to the June 1 effective date of the amended order Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc., requested a hearing to consider modification of the diversion provisions in light of changes in the market structure and also requested that suspension action be taken to permit diversions to other order plants pending consideration of their proposals to modify the provisions. The requested suspension was taken effective June 1, 1967 (32 F.R. 8063).

A primary outlet for reserve milk normally received at city bottling plants and not needed for fluid use is the Laurel, Md., plant of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Association, a Washington, D.C., order pool plant. Under that order, milk delivered to the Laurel plant for the account of a cooperative with no producer-members delivering to other Washington order pool plants is designated as "dairy farmer for other markets" (other source) milk. Such milk may not acquire producer milk status under the Washington order. Thus, unless the Delaware Valley order permits diversion of producer milk to such a plant, milk so moved would be denied pooling status under either order. However, the more likely result would be that Delaware Valley cooperatives would find it impractical to use the Laurel plant as an outlet for reserve milk supplies.

To better accommodate the handling of reserve milk, Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, Inc., proposed that the order be amended to permit the diversion of producer milk to an other Federal order plant for manufacturing uses under an agreed Class II classification.

The suspension previously referred to permits milk diverted to other order plants to be pooled under the Delaware Valley order. However, it leaves unresolved the status of milk diverted from Delaware Valley pool plants to other Federal order pool plants when both orders would treat the diverted milk as producer milk. The orderly and efficient handling of the reserve milk in the market may at times require the direct movement of milk of individual producers to nonpool plants. The direct movement from the farm to the plant of ultimate disposition avoids the expense and handling which would otherwise result if the milk were first delivered to the pool plant where normally received and then transferred to the nonpool plant. When such movements are to unregulated plants or for manufacturing uses to other Federal order plants, they should be treated as diversions if so requested by the responsible handler.

When milk is diverted to unregulated plants or for Class II use to an other Federal order plant and is not mandatorily producer milk under the terms of the other order it can reasonably be presumed to be a part of the diverting market's reserve milk supply. Such diverted milk from Delaware-Valley pool plants should appropriately be pooled as producer milk under the Delaware Valley order.

By requiring a Class II agreement between the diverting and receiving handlers when milk is diverted to other order plants the possibility of any portion of the milk being assigned to Class I will be minimized. However, in the event that the receiving handler does not have sufficient Class II utilization to cover the requested Class II assignment, a portion of the milk so moved would necessarily be assigned to Class I. In such a situation, it can no longer be reasonably presumed that the diverted milk is in fact a part of the Delaware Valley reserve supply. When part or all of the milk so moved is used for fluid purposes in the receiving plant, the milk obviously is needed for fluid use in the receiving market and appropriately should be considered a part of that market's fluid supply.

In addition to the above conclusions it is appropriate in this decision to remove the obvious misunderstanding evidenced in the first month of operation under the amended order with respect to the Assistant Secretary's conclusion relative to the application of the producer definition when milk is received from Order 2 pool bulk tank units.

In his decision of April 7, 1967, the Assistant Secretary stated: "Under the New York-New Jersey order a dairy farmer may have status as a producer by virtue of being included as a part of a designated pool bulk tank unit. In such event the fact that the milk of such dairy farmer was moved directly from the farm to a Delaware Valley pool plant would not change its status as producer milk under the New York-New Jersey order." He concluded: "It is necessary therefore to exclude from the producer definition a dairy farmer whose milk is received directly at a pool plant and who notwithstanding his status under this order would nevertheless be a producer under another Federal order with respect to such milk."

After the initial month of operation under the amended order it is apparent that some handlers have misinterpreted these conclusions as intended to permit continuing pool milk status under Order 2 of pool bulk tank unit milk which is received directly at a Delaware Valley pool plant. In this regard official notice is taken of §§ 1002.17(d), 1002.25(c)(2), and 1002.25(d) of the New York-New Jersey order which clearly provide that pool unit milk which is received at an other order plant and which meets the producer milk definition under such other order will not be included as pool milk under the New York-New Jersey order. Accordingly, such milk clearly does not come within the exception noted by the Assistant Secretary in his decision since its producer status under this order would be recognized by the New York-New Jersey market administrator in administration of his order.

Issue No. 3 Modification of the point of pricing of diverted milk. Milk diverted from a Delaware Valley pool plant located within 45 miles of any one of the basing points specified in § 1004.52 to a nonpool plant or an other order plant located within 125 miles from the nearest of the basing points should be priced at the location of the diverting plant. Milk diverted from a plant within 45 miles of a basing point to a plant in excess of 125 miles distance from such point or from a pool plant located in excess of 45 miles of the nearest basing point to a plant at which a greater location adjustment credit is applicable should be priced at the latter location.

In his decision of April 7, 1967 (32 F.R. 5876) the Assistant Secretary concluded that diverted milk should be priced at the plant of physical receipt if a greater location adjustment credit was applicable at such plant location than at the location of the diverting plant. He found that "Unless this procedure is followed there is a strong incentive for any handler operating an unregulated manufacturing plant in the country to associate an excessive quantity of milk with city distributing plants and then regularly receive the milk at his manufacturing plant as diverted milk up to the limits allowed. Without appropriate safeguards distant producers then could receive the city blended price when, in fact, their milk was moving on an almost regular basis to a nearby manufacturing plant. Pricing diverted milk at the plant of physical receipt will tend to deter the association of milk intended solely for manufacturing uses and will insure that the pool will not subsidize transportation costs which, in fact, are not incurred."

Prior to the June 1 effective date of the amended order the principal cooperative representing producers on the market, also requested a hearing to consider a proposed modification of this provision which they contended was necessary to accommodate particular circumstances in the market. At the same time they requested suspension action to permit continued pricing of diverted milk at the location of the diverting plant pending full consideration of the matter at a hearing. This suspension was taken effective June 1, 1967 (32 F.R. 8063).

At the hearing the spokesman for the cooperative requested modification of the pricing provisions with regard to diverted milk in the manner herein adopted. In support of his position he pointed out that much of the producer milk on the market is directly associated with city bottling plants and regularly moves directly from the farm to city plants. By and large, milk associated with city plants has historically been closely correlated to the fluid needs of the market. For this reason the facilities for handling reserve milk at the city are very limited with the result that little if any transportation savings can be realized when producer milk must be diverted to available manufacturing facilities. In recognition of this fact suspension action was taken on June 1, 1967, with the result that diverted milk is currently being priced at the location of the diverting plant in all circumstances.

The Laurel, Md., plant previously referred to, as well as several other nonpool manufacturing plants in eastern and central Pennsylvania, all within 125 miles of Philadelphia, are the most potential outlets for the market's reserve milk supply associated with city bottling plant. The location of these manufacturing plants is such that no significant transportation savings result when milk is moved directly to such plants rather than to the city. Each of these plants is located beyond the 45-mile zone and a location differential would be applicable on any milk priced at their locations. Handlers' costs for Class II milk would be reduced 6 cents a hundredweight in most instances, whereas producers, whose milk was diverted, would receive from 23 to as much as 35 cents less per hundredweight for such milk than would otherwise be the case if the milk were priced at the location of the diverting plant.

The manufacturing facilities referred to above are not operated by fully regulated handlers. There is little likelihood that additional milk supplies would be associated with city plants for the purpose of providing additional supplies for manufacture at such plants. Since no significant transportation savings accrue when producer milk is diverted to such plants, there is no apparent reason why individual producers should be required to take a lesser price for their milk so diverted than they would otherwise receive when their milk is received at city plants. In fact, such a result would force on such individual producers the primary burden of carrying the necessary market reserve which burden appropriately should be equitably shared by all producers.

In order to avoid this burden individual producers would be impelled to seek outlets where their milk would not be diverted. The resulting changes in outlets would bring about uneconomical movements of this reserve milk and could create an unstable supply situation. Such a situation would interfere with maintaining the reserves necessary to assure that the Class I market will be adequately supplied at all times. Therefore, pricing such diverted milk at the location of the diverting plant is essential to assure continued orderly marketing of the Class I and necessary reserve milk which must be associated with plants located within the 45-mile area (the major Class I consumption area).

By pricing milk diverted from within 45 miles of a basing point to a plant beyond 125 miles, or from a pool plant beyond 45 miles to a more distant plant, at the plant of physical receipt, operators of distant manufacturing plants, several of whom are pool handlers, will be deterred from associating milk of distant producers with their city distributing plants and then regularly diverting it, up to allowable limits, to such manufacturing plants. In such situations substantial transportation savings are probable and such saving which would accrue to handlers, individual producers, or haulers, dependent on the marketing arrangement, should not be permitted at the expense of producers generally.

The operator of a nonpool manufacturing plant located at York, Pa., which is within 125 miles of Philadelphia contended that the pricing of milk herein adopted would result in his having to pay 6 cents per hundredweight more for any diverted milk that he might acquire from Delaware Valley pool than would have been the case under the order adopted by the Assistant Secretary in his decision of April 7, 1967. He further contended that the surplus pricing under the Delaware Valley order was not in appropriate alignment with the Upper Chesapeake Bay and Washington, D.C., orders.

The modifications herein adopted, in fact, reflect no change in the order prices from those which would have been applicable under Order 4 on milk which such plant operator might have acquired prior to June 1, 1967, or under the order, as suspended, since June 1. The basic level of Class II price was not an issue noticed for this hearing and if there is any problem with respect to interorder price alignment it appropriately should be considered at a hearing called for such purpose. In this regard official notice is taken of the fact that supplemental notice issued June 15, 1967 (32 F.R. 8720) makes this matter an issue for consideration at the joint hearing which opened in New York City on June 19, 1967, and which was later recessed until July 31, 1967.

Issue No. 4. Shipping requirements for supply plants. The pool supply plant definition should be amended to count as qualifying shipments, shipments to other order plants which meet prescribed performance standards (including route disposition in the marketing area) and to provide pool status for any plant meeting the prescribed shipping requirements if the qualifying shipments made to pool plants under this order exceed those made to pool plants under any other order. In addition provision should be made to insure pool plant status through October 1967 for any supply plant which has continuously been a fully regulated plant under the Delaware Valley order in the months of January 1967 to the effective date of this order, but which failed to meet the prescribed shipping requirements solely because greater qualifying shipments are made to other order plants.

On request of a cooperative association which has operated a fully regulated supply plant in the Delaware Valley market over an extended period of time, which plant could not meet applicable shipping requirements, the restrictions on shipments to other order plants were suspended for the months of June and July 1967. A proposal to modify the supply plant pooling requirements to accommodate the current operations of this supply plant was considered at the hearing.

Proponent contended that in view of the previous association of its plant with the Delaware Valley market it should not be denied pooling status under the amended order as long as the qualifying shipments of the plant were made to plants which had sufficient Class I distribution in the market to substantially offset such shipments even though the preponderance of such shipments were to Order 2 pool plants. Both at the hearing and in its brief the cooperative suggested various modifications of the pool plant provisions which would insure the pooling of its plant under this order.

In support of its position the cooperative pointed out that the plant in question had historically shipped the preponderance of its receipts to an Order 4 distributing plant. However, in the month of May 1967, the route business of that handler was sold to an Order 2 handler who now operates these routes out of his Order 2 plant. The supply plant in question continues to supply the milk for such sales but the milk is now shipped to the Order 2 plant. In addition the cooperative has an account with at least one Order 4 handler and a signficant, but minor, volume of the plant's output regularly moves to that handler's plant.

The problem at hand is complicated by differences in pooling requirements between adjacent orders. Under specified circumstances, permanent pool plants under the New York-New Jersey order hold status without specific performance. Plants which are not permanent pool plants even though shipping their entire supply to fully regulated plants under that order can avoid pooling at the option of the handler if the shipments are not assigned to Class I sales in the marketing area. These differences in pooling requirements are basic to the present problem.

It is not appropriate to pool milk under the Delaware Valley order simply because a handler elects options under the New York-New Jersey order which avoid pooling of his plant under that order even though the preponderance of the plant's milk is delivered to regulated plants under that order. Nevertheless, a plant should not be denied pooling status under the Delaware Valley order simply because some of its qualifying shipments are made to an Order 2 plant.
